IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of
SARAH JANE WIGHT
Who Died Oct. 6, 1927

We cannot think of her idle,
She must be a home-maker still,
God giveth that work to the Angels
Who fitest the task fulfill.
And somewhere yet in the hill tops
Of the country that hath no pain
She will watch in her beautiful doorway,
To bid us a welcome again.

Signed:
HUSBAND, CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN.

NEW RECORD BY JUSTICE OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes has established a new record in the annals of the United States supreme court.

Yesterday he became the oldest man to sit on that exalted bench, breaking the record previously held by Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, who died October 10, 1864, at the age of 87 years, 6 months and 25

Justice Holmes was born March 8, 1841, and yesterday reached the age of 87 years, 6 months and 26 days. He is actively engaged in the discharge of his judicial duties, enjoying better health than in recent years and able to attend not only ever session of the court but also its frequent conferences.

Recognized generally as one of the greatest jurors who has ever sat on the supreme bench, Justice Holmes despite his age is one of the most active members of the court. Nothing in its proceedings escapes his attention. For years he has made it a practice to keep notes of all motions and other details with extensive memeranda covering points made in the arguments of cases, never failing to record decisions cited by counsel in support of their arguments. These notes he keeps in a handsomely bound volume under lock for his eyes alone.

LOCOMOTIVE REPORTED TO HAVE EXPLODED

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 5.—(AP)—The locomotive which later was to have picked up the two special cars of Senator Joe Robinson, democratic vice presidential nominee, to draw them from here to Clovis, N. M., was reported to have exploded this afternoon 30 miles east of Amadillo, where Mrs. Robinson was at the time, killing the engineer and derailing the baggage cars.

After receiving the report, Santa Fe officials here arranged to run the Robinson cars as a special to Clovis where the candidate speaks tonight.

Still Rustle Cattle

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., (AP)—Cattle rustlers ride the range again, this time in Florida. Porterhouse steaks at a dollar a pound in metropolitan areas are blamed by cattlemen near here for heavy losses they are suffering due to cattle thefts.

Offering For Red Cross.

A special offering will be received at the service of morning worship at the Universalist church on Sunday on behalf of the Red Cross work in the south recently devastated by hurricane.

BUS CROWDED THROUGH FENCE; BLAME PLACED ON TRUCK DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 5—The 5:15 north-bound Connecticut bus from Jewett City, which left Norwich at 4:45, left the road about two miles south of Plainfield this evening. The driver, George Stewart, overtook a heavy truck and pulled over to the left to pass. There is plenty of evidence that the operator of the truck did not see fit to allow the passenger vehicle to get by. The bus went through the fence and turned partly over on its side. Two of the heavy top rails of the fence were forced through the front of the car, and rammed down several feet each side of the driver, missing him by the narrowest margin. There was no report made to the driver by any of the passengers that they were injured. Mrs. Mary Kinney, one of the passengers, who lives a few rods north of the place where the accident occurred, was sitting on the left side of the car, immediately behind the driver. She told The Bulletin correspondent, when called upon this evening, that she was thrown from the seat, and while nothing struck her, she found herself considerably bruised, and was bathing a swollen place on the side of her head.

She said she was mostly concerned about not being able to work for some time. She, being thrown to the floor, was not hit by the flying glass.

The driver of the truck will have to tell the court about his road behavior. Tonight no blame seemed to be attached to the driver of the Connecticut bus. State police and Connecticut officials were in charge of the wreck and traffic operations.

DIVORCES GRANTED IN FIVE UNCONTESTED SUITS

Seven uncontested divorces, five of which were granted, were on the list of the short calendar day of the superior court in New London Friday before Judge John Richards Booth. One of the cases was continued for a week and the other postponed until Oct. 11.

Lottie C. Sawyer of Groton was granted a divorce from Sidney E. Sawyer of Groton. The suit was based on a charge of adultery and the plaintiff was granted permission to resume the use of her maiden name, Lottie Crandall. The couple was married on Dec. 4, 1912.

Lucille Kless of this city, was granted a divorce from William A. Kless, Norwich, on grounds of cruelty. The custody of three minor children was given to Mrs. Kless. They were married on March 27, 1913, and cruelty is alleged since Jan. 1, 1915.

Catherine Taylor of New London, was granted a divorce from Robert Taylor on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Catherine O'Connor. The couple was married on July 19, 1919, and desertion was alleged since March 1, 1922.

Ernest A. Emery of New London, formerly of Willimantic, Putnam and Baltic, was granted a divorce from Ida A. B. Emery on grounds of desertion. The couple were married in Nov., 1914, and desertion is alleged since March, 1924.

Elizabeth G. McPartland of New London was granted a divorce from Hugh D. McPartland of New London on grounds of desertion, alleged since Nov. 1, 1924. The couple were married in Feb., 1920. Mrs. Edna Clark and Mrs. Minnie V. Chapman both of Groton, testified for Mrs. McPartland.

After hearing testimony in the suit brought by Mrs. Marion C. Clark of New London, against Guy B. Clark of Colchester, Judge Booth continued the case until next Friday. Intolerable cruelty is alleged. The couple was married on May 2, 1916. The petitioner desires the custody of an 11-year-old daughter.

The case of Irene H. Zimmerman against Henry C. Zimmerman was postponed until Oct. 11.

SPECIAL WEEK TO URGE FIRE PREVENTION

A statement relative to Fire Prevention week, which starts today (Saturday) was issued Friday by Chief Howard L. Stanton of the local fire department. In the statement Chief Stanton asks the cooperation of the citizens of Norwich in the effort to carry out the purposes and aims of the fire prevention week programme. In his statement Chief Stanton says:

"We should begin our Fire Prevention week effort this year by clearing out all useless material and rubbish. The cleaner Norwich is the fewer fires we need expect. Then if everyone will take the precaution to dispose of rubbish daily, there will be no new accumulations and dangerous conditions will be avoided.

"During Fire Prevention week we should also inspect our stoves and furnaces, as well as their pipes and the chimneys. Once a year, at least, they should be cleaned and all defects repaired. Make certain, also, that hot ashes are not kept in wooden containers. Many disastrous fires start from this source and these precautions will bring fire safety to thousands. At the same time it would be well to inspect the entire house, looking for any hazardous conditions, whether due to structural defects or furnishings, that might cause fire or facilitate its spread. Pay special attention to electrical equipment. On request, this department will gladly aid in such an inspection.

"Above all we must learn the habit of carefulness toward fire. In this respect matches and cigarettes require the closest observation as they cause the greatest losses. Yet how simple the remedy! Just make sure the butt or match is out of the reach of children. Respect fire and keep it in its place!

"If you will follow these suggestions now and all year, the chief is certain that the fire demon will not strike you down."

During the coming week, members of the local department will inspect the business places and cellars of houses about the city and the officers of the fire department will go to the various schools about the city to address the children on the purposes of Fire Prevention week and what may be done to make it a success.

GIFT OF GOLD PIECES PRESENTED AT RECEPTION

Members of the Central Baptist church school enjoyed a rally social Friday evening in the assembly room at the church which had a pleasant feature was a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Emery H. Davis, who were married in Portland, Me., on Sept. 8 last. Mr. Davis being superintendent of the church school and his bride having been pastor's assistant at the church.

The early part of the evening was occupied by a novelty entertainment by Charles Dexter Weeks of East Lyme, with musical numbers by the school orchestra, following which Judge Allyn L. Brown addressed the newly married couple with a graceful expression of the warm regard in which they are held in the church and school and presented them a gift of five $20 gold pieces, which Mr. Davis suitably acknowledged.

A well rendered selection by the church quartette, Mrs. William Crowe, Jr., Mrs. Olive A. Potter, Frederick J. Maples and Frank Steinke, was followed by further entertainment by Mr. Wicks and refreshments were served under the direction of the domestic committee, Mrs. Henrietta Tefft chairman.

Barnes are the ministers, is to have an "Old Home" day on Sunday, October 21, with an all-day program, which will open with the service at 11 in the morning when the sermon will be by Rev. William Douglas Mackenzie, president of Hartford Theological seminary. Dinner will be served at 12.30 in the chapel by the Ladies' union.

In the afternoon at 2.30 the "Old Home Day" special service is to be held with an address by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First church, New London, and choir music will be rendered by the quartet of that church consisting of Gladys V. Pettigrew, soprano; Helena M. T. Church, contralto; W. Everett Eagles, tenor; A. B. Lambdin, baritone and director; Herbert D. Fengar, organist.

The Old North church, after 206 years of service, still conducts worship, provides religious education, maintains social life, strives for the world-wide Kingdom of God, and invites attendance and co-operation.

MRS. ROBT. D. BEARDSLEY RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

It is encouraging to Norwich friends of Mrs. Robert D. Beardsley, of Naugatuck, to learn that she has been able to leave St. Mary's hospital, Waterbury, and return to her home, after a critical illness. Mrs. Beardsley, (Cecelia Sullivan), a former teacher, is sister of Roderick F. Sullivan and Miss Elizabeth A. Sullivan, of Norwich. One of her three children, Rev. Robert A. Beardsley was in the class of subdeacons at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, advanced to the order of deacon Sept. 23th. He will be ordained a priest the coming spring.

THE BLINDFOLDED CHRIST SUGGESTS MISSION THEME

An unmistakable gauge of the success of the week's mission for the parish women being given in St. Patrick's church by three Fathers of the Passionist Order, from Baltimore, was the great number receiving holy communion at the masses Friday morning at 6 and 8. Up to Friday, the missionaries had heard over 900 confessions. Two priests were required to administer communion at each mass.

Friday at 5 o'clock, Rev. Father Gilbert continued his instruction on the subject to which these missionaries have vowed their life and labor—setting forth the great love Christ bore to men as proved by His passion, or suffering. At 8 o'clock mass, Rev. Father Conon touched the hearts of his hearers by his forcible depiction of the anguish and sorrow heaped upon the Saviour following His condemnation by Caiphas, through the five hours in the garden when He was subjected to the mockery, insults and cruelty of the brutal soldiers of the guard. Unable to stand His reproachful eyes they finally blindfolded Him, while some struck His face, as they jeered in ignorance and malice, "Prophesy unto us, O Christ, who is he that struck Thee?"

The soldiers in their folly blindfolded Christ; but His divine eyes were not blinded. We know that God's eye pierces even the darkness of night—that there is no past, no future to Him; He knows the inmost thoughts and secrets of our hearts. His omnipresence always follows us, as it pervades this world. We may blindfold the eyes of the world to our real selves, but we can never blind the eyes of God to our defects.

The constant thought of God's holy presence, kept before our minds, will help us to avoid sin.

Friday evening, Rev. Father Mark preached on Christ's love for us as manifested through His passion. The children's three-day mission ended Friday and they will receive communion this (Saturday) morning.

There will be a service this (Saturday) evening as usual, with a brief sermon by Father Mark, with the rosary and litany.

All women of the congregation have been asked to go to communion at one of the four masses Sunday morning. The mission will close Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with the Rosary, a sermon, renewal of baptismal vows, the papal blessing bestowed by one of the mission fathers and benediction.

Sunday evening the week's mission for the men will open, the exercises to continue as they have been during the women's special week. These morning and evening services are not restricted to parish lines, but are for all men interested.

DEMONSTRATION GIVEN BY NEUROPSYCHIATRIC CLINIC

The neuropsychiatric clinic committee entertained the executive committee of the United Workers Wednesday afternoon with a demonstration in the clinic rooms at the Wm. W. Backus hospital followed by tea served in Miss Mitchell's apartment at "Pinehurst." Dr. Ella I. Duff of the state hospital staff conducted the demonstration assisted by Miss Betsy Mitchell, social worker of the clinic. Dr. Marta Tretter Vol, Dr. Victor Farland and Dr. Ferdinand Rieneon were also present from the state hospital.

Dr. Duff showed little games with children which really serve as a test of intellectual ability when rightly understood and interpreted by an expert and explained the difficulties when feelings of inferiority, shyness, fears, anger or any emotional disturbance interferes. She mentioned types of problems met and answered questions as to plans and methods of treatment.

In the clinic rooms was a display of charts, posters, pamphlets and a lending library of books, covering every phase of work both with children and with adults where nervous and emotional problems are involved. It is the purpose of this clinic to recognize and to treat these with preventive measures.

Autumn flowers were the decorations in Miss Mitchell's apartment. Mrs. Louis H. Waldell, Mrs. William W. Parks and Mrs. Alfred Allen as officers of the committee receiving the guests. Miss Elizabeth Huntington presided over the tea table being assisted in serving by Mrs. William W. Parks, Mrs. Alfred Allen, Mrs. A. J. Bailey, Mrs. Ronald Nelson and Miss Ruby Vaughn.

548 MOTOR ACCIDENTS IN WEEK IN STATE

Motor vehicle fatalities in Connecticut in the week ending Saturday, Sept. 29, numbered eight, while 548 accidents were reported, according to the weekly report of the motor vehicle commissioner issued Thursday. The number killed in automobile accidents in Connecticut during 1928 was increased to 308.

In the same week in 1927 there were nine fatal accidents in the state and 494 accidents reported to the motor vehicle department. Last week 328 of the 548 accidents occurred in the cities while a year ago 267 of all of the accidents in the corresponding week occurred in the large towns.

The fatal accidents during the week were: Bristol, Robert Bradley; East Hartford, John Hensen; Fairfield, John J. Gleason; Hartford, Paul Mattirs; Milford, Ralph De Catrio; New Haven, Dominick Gaetano; Orange, Michael Mathews, and Stamford, Alfred Albonski.

The largest number of accidents during the week occurred on Sunday, Sept. 23, when 118 accidents were reported. On Monday there were 68, Tuesday 73, Wednesday 72, Thursday 72, Friday 65 and Saturday 80.

TOMBARI VICE PRESIDENT OF STORRS JUNIORS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 5—Junior and sophomore class elections were held at Connecticut Agricultural college last night in which Daniel O. Sayers of Hartford was chosen sophombre president and Ray Ryan of New Haven the junior class head. The remaining officers of the junior class are as follows:

Vice president, Seraphino Tombari of Norwich; secretary, Miss Arline Hegewald of New Haven; and treasurer, Richard Attridge of Hartford. Morris Levsen of Middletown and Alan D. Ashcroft of Stratford were elected vice president and treasurer respectively of the sophomore class. The secretaryship of the second year men was tabled until a further meeting because of a deadlock.

Seraphino Tombari, the Norwich representative in the list of junior class officers, is a two letter man at college having earned his letter in varsity football and baseball. In his freshman year he also earned two sets of numerals in the same sports. He is a member of Alpha Phi fraternity.

Boy Scouts Held Debate

Troop 1, Boy Scouts, met at the Community house Friday evening. After the business meeting a debate was held on Hoover and Smith. Forty-two tests, three merit badges and two awards were passed by scouts of the troop at Camp Wakenah.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

Under an especially appointed committee a motor corps was organized—one of its purposes being to take for drives patients who otherwise would be unable to go out, and a number of men from the chronic ward were given rides.

The nurses greatly appreciated the bath houses at the beach, provided by the recreation committee, also drives to the beach made possible by members of the committee.

With the return of the members of the executive committee from their summer outings, the machinery of the auxiliary has been set in motion. Evidence of renewed interest is shown in plans for even more efficient work than in the past.

The first event of the season will be the annual meeting on October 10th. An interesting program has been prepared, anticipating a good attendance.

Donations of magazines, macaroons, lady fingers, Fourth of July favors, flowers for wards, ice cream and cookies for the children's ward, roses for women's ward, linen, papers for wards, napkins and rides for men of chronic ward have been received from the following friends:

Mrs. J. A. Bellefleur, Prospect street, Mrs. Frederick T. Sayles, Mrs. F. L. Woodard, Ladies' auxiliary, Ladies' auxiliary, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Angus Park, Hanover, Mrs. Dean, Towne street, Mrs. Lyons, Phoenixville, Mrs. Fannie Grieve, Yantic, Mrs. Chamberlain, Taftville, Mrs. Flint Brayton, Mrs. Flint Brayton, Central Baptist church, (Ladies' auxiliary), Dr. K. DRY DEMOCRAT URGES ELECTION OF HOOVER

By casting a ballot for Herbert Hoover for president of the United States, the voter comes nearer the heart of democracy than if he votes for Alfred Smith, stated Robert P. Carson, Colorado dry democrat, in an address entitled Why I Shall Scratch My Ballot in 1928, given before an assemblage of more than 200 at the Methodist Episcopal church in New London Thursday night.

Mr. Carson, who was the principal speaker at an informal supper given by the manufacturer and business committee of the Anti-Saloon league of America at the church, is a firm advocate of the principles, ideals and platform of the democratic party. He said, however, that Smith failed by every standard of democracy when after his nomination he repudiated his party platform and established a platform of his own and when he selected a wet republican as his campaign manager.

He said further that not the democrats but Smith and Raskob were responsible for the injection of the prohibition question into the present political campaign. The votes must let the world know that neither America nor the democratic party is wet and must warn the democratic party against ever nominating a wet candidate in the future.

With the republican candidate a man of such broad vision and independence the voters must rally forces, disregard party and defeat the wet element, he maintained.

If Mothers Only Knew

Thousands of Children Suffer from Worms, and Their Mothers Do Not Know What the Trouble Is.

Signs of Worms are: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach with pains, pale face, eyes heavy, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red pores on the tongue, starting during sleep with troublesome dreams, slow fever.

Mrs. H. N. Roberts, 502 Asylum St., Flint, Mich., wrote: "My little girl is relieved of her worms." And in a later letter wrote: "Baby is fine and it was your Dr. True's Elixir that helped her."

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

YANKS SMOTHER CARDS UNDER 9 TO 3 SCORE IN SECOND GAME

Wrecking Crew of Ruth, Meusel and Gehrig and Co. Drive Alexander to the Showers—Mitchell Also Proves Ineffective Against the Yanks—George Pipgras Lets Cards Down With But Four Hits Which He Kept Scattered—Attendance is Slightly Less Than For First Game.

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 5—(AP)—Having shattered the illusion that they were not able bodied enough to go through a ball game and win, the New York Yankees staggered out today and destroyed another myth—the notion that they couldn't beat old Pete Alexander.

With an attack that was short but crusily savage, the rapidly recuperating champions of the American league leaped upon old Pete, drove him from the box in the third inning with a barrage of base hits and trounced the St. Louis Cards for the second successive day.

Final score was 9 to 3. The margin of Yankee superiority was even greater than in the opening game and the indications, as a result, point to another world's championship for the men of Miller Huggins. Unless the Cardinals take a sudden and decided brace, it may not take long to end the battle that will be resumed, in the third game, at St. Louis Sunday.

A Colorful Crowd

Another colorful crowd, totaling 60,714 in paid admissions and numbering slightly less than the opening day's throng, saw the Yankees capture their sixth straight world's series game in decisive but none the less usual fashion. They saw the New Yorkers jump upon Alexander from the start, driving him to cover in short order but they also saw George Pipgras, the youthful Yankee right hander, emerge spectacularly from a close call in the early innings that nearly forced him to share the same fate as old Pete.

Pipgras in Early Trouble

Pipgras not only got off to as wild and wooly a start as he has ever experienced, yielding three runs in the second inning, but his support by the crippled cast also was shaky. Whether it was his bolstering effect of his own team's attack, the fate of old Alex or just a sudden return to form, Pipgras turned over a new leaf and blanked the National league champions for the rest of the game.

Pipgras let the slugging Cardinals down with four hits altogether in spite of a bad getaway, but for the last seven innings he yielded only two safe blows and permitted no one but Frankie Frisch to get beyond first base. Where he had been as wild as a hawk to begin with, Pipgras had marvelous control through the last seven innings. Where he had been unsteady and obviously nervous he was as cool as a Mathewson or Hoyt. With monotonous regularity he turned back the invaders, featuring one of the best pitching comebacks the series has ever known by striking out eight men, including the slugging Jim Bottomley no less than three times.

Alexander Less Effective

Perhaps the only thing that saved the Yankees, as well as Pipgras, in the early stages of this melee, was the fact that Alexander was even less effective than his young rival. Certainly hope beckoned to the Cardinals in the first two innings, without being capitalized as much as it might have been, but meanwhile old Pete was meeting his doom in unceremonious if also somewhat tragic fashion.

A Terrific Smash

A rousing home run smash into the right field bleachers by Lou Gehrig in the first inning, with Cedric Durst and Babe Ruth on base, started the downfall of Alexander. The shutes were still greased for him in the second, when the Yankees put over another run, and he slid out of the picture entirely in the third, yielding the mound to the veteran southpaw, Clarence Mitchell, as the Yanks scored four runs with an attack led by Babe Ruth.

Old Pete didn't have a thing. The marvelous control that has always been his forte and the stuff that had enabled him to baffle the entire Yankee array two years ago were gone. Forty-one years, it seemed had finally taken their toll. The weather-beaten Nebraskan, fidgeting and fumbling on the same mound from which he walked off, acclaimed one of the greatest of world's series heroes two years ago at the end of the deciding game of the 1926 series.

The Beginning of the End

The first man to face Alexander, young Durst, slashed out a single that Frankie Frisch jumped for and barely missed with his gloved hand. The third man, Ruth, walked on four pitched balls and the fourth, Gehrig, drove the first ball pitched deep into the right field bleachers. The end for old Pete was in sight right there. In the pinch, his control had failed him and the crack of Gehrig's bat sounded impending doom for the veteran.

Alex weathered the second inning with no more than a run produced by a pass to Bengough, sacrifice by Pipgras, and Durst's second single, and the climax came in the third. Facing old Pete was the Babe. It was a situation that had all the well known elements of drama. These two had been the last two to match wits in the final game of the 1926 series, in which Ruth failed to get a hit of any sort off Alexander's delivery in the three games the latter pitched.

Alex worked the count to two strikes and one ball, but Ruth caught the next pitch on the end of his bat and punched it to center for a single.

Alex Slips

It was revenge for Ruth and the beginning of the end for Alexander. Gehrig was walked and Bob Meusel, again holding up his end of the heavy Yankee firing, drove a long fly down the left field line that bounded into the boxes, off the foul line, for a two-bagger under the ground rules. Ruth trotted home. Lazzeri was retired on a nice play by Andy High but Robertson walked. Bengough singled to right, scoring Gehrig, and Alexander's work for the day was over.

There was anything but a pleasant situation facing Motchell when the southpaw spitball artist took the hill with the bases full. He did not improve it by hitting the first man to face him, Pipgras. This forced in Meusel. Ben Paschal, taking the place of Durst, because of the shift in pitchers, smashed a single to center that scored Robertson, but Bengough was caught at the plate on the throw in and Koenig retired to end the inning.

Mitchell Checks Yanks Too Late

Mitchell put an abrupt check to the Yankee attack after that, allowing only one hits in the three runs for the remaining five innings he toiled but sufficient damage had been done to decide the game and the southpaw's fine relief efforts were wasted, so far as any effect on the outcome was concerned. The only other run he permitted came in the seventh when Meusel walked, stole second and came in on successive sacrifices by Lazzeri and Joe Dugan.

The Cardinals aided by the wildness of Pipgras as well as loopholes in the Yankee defense, collected all their runs in the second inning. They missed other opportunities to take advantage of their rivals mistakes in the first and third. Their big guns, Bottomley and Hafey, didn't have a solid shot to fire all afternoon, whether there were men on bases or not. After the third inning, only four men got to first base and the opportunities to scor were correspondingly scarce. With one out in the first Pipgras walked High and Frisch in succession, but Bottomley fouled out weakly and Hafey struck out. The Yankee pitcher was constantly in the hole and it looked as though his stay on the mound would be brief when he walked Harper to start the second frame. In succession, Wilson doubled, Maranville singled and Lazzeri threw wild on Alexander's grounder, letting in two runs. Maranville scored the third run when Douthit hit into a double play, Lazzeri to Koenig and High popped out to end the inning.

Frisch opened the third with a sharp hit that Lazzeri mishandled. The Fordham flash stole second as Koenig let the throw from the plate slip through his fingers. Bottomley fanned and Frisch got to third on Hafey's infield out but Harper struck out.

Pipgras Steadies Down

Pipgras had finally struck his stride. Safely past this crisis he mowed the Cardinals down from then on. Frisch singled and stole second again in the eighth, Maranville was safe on Koenig's error in the fourth and walked in the ninth but otherwise not a man got safely to first.

The Yankee defense that seemed about to go to pieces at the start rallied, along with Pipgras, to hold safe the margin that their bats had provided. In the last few innings Huggins again shuffled his cast, replacing Lazzeri with Dorocher and Robertson with Dugan. The other cripples stuck to their posts, among them Babe Ruth, who now has five hits for the series and leads both clubs at bat by a big margin. With a day of rest tomorrow on the way to St. Louis, they appear able to muster at least a full team for the third game likely to find Tom Zachary, veteran left hander on the firing line for the Yankees and Jess Haines for the Cardinals.

BRIAN BELL TELLS OF FALL OF ALEXANDER

By BRIAN BELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Old Pete Alexander never had a chance in the second game of the world's series today. The ancient mariner of the St. Louis Cardinals misplaced his control somewhere between the bench and the mound and never found it. Without his almost perfect control Alexander is just a pitcher. He was hardly that today.

A hint came in the first inning, was emphasized in the second and grew to a positive fact in the third when Alex retired from the scene.

The veteran started like the Alexander two other world series have known. He whipped over a strike almost before Cedric Durst, lead off man for the Yankees, had planted his feet in the batsmen's box, tried to get him to fall for a lazy curve on the outside of the plate, and then sent another side arm curve, but faster, across the corner of the plate.

With the count two strikes and a ball he fired a pitch straight through the heart of the plate and Durst made his first world series hit—a single to right. That was not Alexander. The crafty artist, who has pitched major league baseball for 17 years in spite of taking his fun where he found it, never meant to give a batsman a ball he could hit with the count two strikes and one ball.

He refused to give the menacing Ruth a good ball and passed him but slipped again by giving Gehrig one he could hit. He saw Lou crash it more than 430 feet for a home run into the right field bleachers. He returned to form long enough to force Meusel to miss a third strike and end the inning, but he could not get them over for Bengough in the second and after the catcher moved to second, he let Durst hit again.

The collapse, impending since it was seen that the balls supposed to cut the corner were missing the plate by feet or going down the middle, came in the third. Ruth started the inning with the first hit he has made from Alexander's delivery in competition and Gehrig detected a Meusel dropped a double into waited for the pass that was not long left field but the ball was not solidly hit so it was not enough evidence that Alexander was through for the day. There was a suspicion that all he had was his heart with his arm refusing to give him a chance to use his well known head.

The proof followed in full. With one out Robertson was passed in the third and Bengough smashed a line hit into right. That was enough. Clarence Mitchell, a veteran himself, but four years Alexander's junior, took up the burden, hit Pipgras and allowed Pinch Hitter Paschal to hit but after that pitched adequately.

George Pipgras, who was in grammar school when Alexander entered the major leagues, in the meantime, had started finely as inauspiciously as the elder baseball statesman. He escaped in the first inning when he was charged with two passes because the Cardinals insisted on hitting at bad balls. The three Yankee runs in the first were matched by the Cardinals in the second but after that Pipgras found himself, allowing only two hits for the rest of the game.

The game was started two minutes ahead of time which seemed a good thing to do by the 50,000 or more already in the stands and bleachers. Less than 10,000 others arrived after the contest was under way so the majority was satisfied.

Rabbit Maranville disappeared from the field for a time in the second inning developing something of a mystery for a minute or so. Maranville's stature makes him adaptable to disappearances. He was on first base when Alexander gave Lazzeri a chance to make a weird throw to first. The Rabbit dashed to third, was seen to reach the base and was not immediately identified again. The Yankee catcher and infielders had gathered about Pipgras to tell him to "stay in there" and the umpires authorized time out for this advice. The dash from first to third had made Maranville thirsty and he was finally located in the Yankee bench, getting a drink of water.

Gene Robertson made the feature fielding play of the game in the fifth inning, Robbins his rival third baseman, only high of a hit by sliding on his nose to grab his sizzling grounder and peg to first from a recumbent position.

SOX TRIM CUBS IN WEIRD AND HECTIC GAME

CHICAGO, Oct. 5—(AP)—Baseball at its best and worst was on exhibition today, as the White Sox defeated the Cubs, 13 to 11 in the third game of the series for the city baseball title before a crowd of 20,000 at Wrigley field.

Nine pitchers, four Sox and five Cubs, paraded from the bullpen to the mound and back again. Young Ed Walsh finally received credit for the victory. Percy Lee Jones, the third Cub hurler, was the loser. The Cubs outslugged the Sox 18 to 15, but they also out-errored them at the critical moments. Included in the features of the game was a double steal in the seventh by the Sox, in which Reynolds stole home.

The Cubs have won two of the three games played.

WINS $5 ON HUNCH ON MEUSEL'S HOMER

MANCHESTER, Conn., Oct. 5—(AP)—Either faith in Meusel's hitting ability or the coming instantly to the surface of the sporting instinct brought $5 to Dr. C. H. Weldon, one of the oldest practitioners here, yesterday afternoon, during the game between the Yankees and the St. Louis Cards.

Dr. Weldon came into a radio store where a group were listening to radio returns of the game in the fourth inning. Ruth was on second and Gehrig on first.

"Who bats next?" Asked the doctor.

"Meusel," was the answer. "Five dollars says he makes a home run," said the doctor, and as the bat cracked someone offered a $5 bill to cover doctor's money.

TAFTVILLE AND VELVETMEN HOLD FORTH IN SERIES OVER THE WEEK END

With the count standing at one each the Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin baseball clubs clash today and tomorrow in the third and fourth games of their series to decide the diamond supremacy of Norwich. The game this afternoon will be played at the Providence street grounds and the game on Sunday will take place at the J. B. Martin diamond in the lower village. For those interested in the results of the St. Louis-New York game at St. Louis Sunday, Manager Erlbeck has made arrangements to have radio returns at the field.

There being no world series game today the fans can center their undivided attention on the baseball struggle that will be enacted at the Providence street diamond. It is safe to say that the contest this afternoon will hold the attention of those present as two more evenly matched clubs would be hard to find even in the major circuits. In two games 21 innings have been played, the Velvetmakers winning the first contest 8 to 7 in eleven innings, while last Saturday Taftville nosed out the Martin boys 4 to 3 in the tenth. This is mighty close baseball with a thrill in every inning let alone the comedy that always accompanies the battle from the sidelines.

Today's game is badly wanted by both managers and Manager Troland has apparently stolen a march on the Velvetmakers' plot by getting the services of Mack Hillis, Pittsburgh's utility infielder. Hillis played here last season and was one of the stars. He has improved since his appearance last season. In his first trip to the plate in a Pirate uniform Hillis covered himself with plenty of glory. It was in a game with the New York Giants and the famed Larry Benton was doing his usual stuff of mowing down the opposition. Among comes Hillis. Hillis himself says he was plenty nervous and had trouble in keeping his knees from knocking together. He faced Benton and on the Giant pitcher's first offering, Hillis laid into the ball with all he had with the result that it sailed far out into the blue and over the centerfield fence—a home run. Such a debut gave Hillis plenty of confidence and after playing in 16 games his batting average was .350 which is plenty good enough for a rookie in his first time in the big show. Hillis will play second base in today's and Sunday's games.

Johnny Tillman will again ascend the mound for Taftville this afternoon with Russ Fisher as his opponent. Last Saturday's game was a pretty pitching duel between these two boys, Johnny needs no introduction to Norwich fans. Other than the selection of Tillman to pitch, Eccleston, catch, and Hillis at second, Manager Troland has not selected his team.

Manager Erlbeck has his club all lined up with Fisher pitching today's game and McElroy, Providence college hurler, slated for the assignment for Sunday. The Velvetmen feel confident that they can take both games which is simply a reflection of the spirit that prevades the Taftville camp.

Taftville will be represented by the following: Eccleston, Tillman, Dugas, Hillis, Dabrowski, Normandin, Christy, Moore, Jarvis, Sipples, Mills, Lamorey, Belair and Gingre.

The J. B. Martin lineup is: Couillard rf, Ryan cf, Liberty 3b, King c, Campbell 2b, Smith lf, Krauss ss, Joubert 1b, Murphy 1b, Fisher p, McElroy p, Pepin p, Martin, utility.

The game Saturday is slated to be called at 2.15 as is Sunday's game at the Martin diamond. Simcox and Muller will be the umpires handling the game.

WHAT THE BIG FOUR DID IN YESTERDAY'S GAME

(By The Associated Press)

The Yankee home run twins, Ruth and Gehrig, again enjoyed a big margin over their St. Louis rivals, Bottomley and Hafey, in the second game. The Yankee pair got three hits, one Gehrig's home run, against nothing at all for the St. Louisans, Bottomley fanning three times.

Here is what they did:

Ruth—First inning: Walked and scored on Gehrig's homer.

Third inning: Singled to center, and scored on Meusel's double.

Fourth inning: Doubled to center, and was left.

Sixth inning: Called out on strikes.

Gehrig—First inning: Hit a home run into right center seats, scoring Durst and Ruth.

Third inning: Walked and scored later on Bengough's single.

Fourth inning: Flied to Douthit.

Sixth inning: Filed to Douthit.

Bottomley—First inning: Fouled to Bengough.

Third inning: Fanned.

Fifth inning: Fanned.

Eighth inning: Fanned.

Hafey—First inning: Fanned.

Third inning: Grounded to Koenig.

Sixth inning: Filed to Meusel.

Eighth inning: Filed to Meusel.

BOUSSUS TURN BACK VAN RYN AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 5—(AP)—Christian Boussus, member of the French Davis cup tennis team, this afternoon advanced to the finals of the mens' singles in the Pacific southwest tennis championships, turning back John Van Ryn, former Princeton tennis champion in a hard fought four set match by the scores of 8-11, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Henri Cochet, ace of the French Davis cup team, advanced into the semi-finals round of play by defeating Gerald Stratford of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1. Stratford forced the Frenchman to extend himself in the first set but Cochet was never seriously endangered.

ACADEMY MEETS WILBY HERE TODAY

The local football season opens this afternoon when the Academy tackles the strengthened Wilby high eleven from Waterbury at the campus. It is the second game for both teams. The locals won, 2 to 0, from Chapman Tech last Saturday, at New London while the Brass City outfit had a wider margin, 15 to 0, in beating Ansonia high.

While it seems a bit too early to expect baseball locally to move out of the spotlight what with the Taftville series on and the world series around yet a good-sized audience is expected to greet the Wildcats in their first start in home territory. Wilby is always a good drawing card on the Academy sport schedules and the fact that this team looks a bit better than the home products on pre-season reckonings should tend for more interest than usually hinges on an opening attraction.

Coach Whitney has five veterans from his 1927 team to play alongside Capt. Buck LaCroix, former end and now a halfback, Jack Marks, captain last year and fullback, Kahn tackle and Fox and Mish, guards are the boys that were rated as regulars last fall who are back to battle for the Red and White. To support this cast are several from last year's second team who look quite promising.

Cruickshank, who worked as guard and tackle last year is at center for this season with Chet Bergbinzo and Anso Tombari at the ends and Herts at the vacant tackle position. In the backfield Archie Brock is being used at quarter with Fagan or Alex Arico teaming up with Capt. LaCroix at the halves.

Jimmy Lee is bringing over almost an entire veteran club for today's clash. And when memories of the 19-13 close shave at Brasco park last year flit into mind Academy followers will realize that their team has a tough nut for this day. Wilby, by winning from Ansonia, already has the state title bug and of course, mean to win today and keep on "bugging." But things may shape out different before the evening shadows embrace the historic battlefield in the rear of the Academy.

The game will start at 3 o'clock.

WORLD'S SERIES RETURNS WILL BE MEGAPHONED

As has been the custom for many years the play by play returns of the world's series will be given to the fans by megaphone at The Bulletin office. The series now being played will be broadcast starting at 2:30 o'clock. A large staff of writers are covering the game and the detail will be more complete than ever.

DELANEY GIVEN BIG WELCOME AT DANIELSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 5— About 700 fans roared an enthusiastic welcome to Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion of the world, when he appeared at the state armory tonight in a three-round exhibition as a feature at the opening show of the season. Delaney appeared to be in wonderful condition and his happy manner and attractive personality made him a great favorite with the crowd. Henry Landers, light heavyweight champion of Worcester, was the sparring partner of Delaney for the occasion. In introducing Delaney Announcer George A. Dunn of Hartford reminded the crowd that this was not to be a $100,000 fight but merely a demonstration of highly developed skill in boxing and it proved to be just that for Delaney is a master of his art.

The show was opened with a four round bout between Young Allaire of Providence, 140 1-2, and Alex Socquet of Danielson, 141. Allaire was given the decision and near the close of the bout Socquet was groggy and hanging on, although the match was fairly even for the first three rounds.

Young Moran, 112, of Moosup, got a decision over George Deforest, 114, of Danielson, in what was a fairly even battle, although Deforest took a count of three in the first round after being walloped with a haymaker right swind. This decision did not go so well with the crowd and there was more or less booing about it.

Another four round go was between Joe Bemis, 129 1-2, of Worcester, and Young Caprio, 131 1-2, of Pawtucket. This was a close and interesting bout, Caprio getting the decision.

Billy Herman, 124, of Worcester, and Artie Lurgio, 121 1-2 of Providence, fought a hard and very even six round bout, the decision going to Herman and here again the crowd yelled the disagreement at the official decision.

The final, a six round affair, was won by Eddie Williams, 137 1-2, of Worcester, from Sammy Brown, 136 1-2 of New York. This was the fastest and best bout of the evening, full of mix-ups and slam-bang fighting. Although the decision went to Williams, Brown got a great hand.

Billy Conway of Hartford was the referee, excepting for the Delaney exhibition when Dr. J. M. Perreault of Danielson was the third man in the ring. P. O. Armington of Danielson was timekeeper. Bobby Mays of New London, lightweight champion of the state was introduced to the audience and the fact made known that he would like some bouts in Danielson. Among those at the show was Boxing Commissioner Thomas A. Donahue of New London.

PENN TEAM STEPS INTO LEAD FOR LESLIE CUP

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Oct. 5—(AP)—The Pennsylvania team stepped into a long lead in the first 18 holes of the International Leslie cup match today scoring 14 1-2 points out of a possible 15. New York took second place in the standing with 6 1-2 points, Canada was third with 5 1-2, while the Massachusetts team, winner last year, was last with 3 1-2 points.

John G. Anderson and Dick Jones were the only members of the New York team who could make any headway against the Pennsylvanians in the Scotch foursome competition and the best they could do was halve the 18 holes of play with their keystone state opponents, Maxwell and Graham. The rest of the Pennsylvania team, led by Max Marston, turned in a string of victories.

Captain Jess Sweetser and Watts Gunn failed to score a point for New York, while Eugene Homans and George Dawson scored a brilliant recovery on their second nine to defeat the Bay Staters and Canadians but lost to the Pennsylvania team of Platt and Sargent.

ANALYSIS SHOWS HOW FAST PIPGRAS RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Analysis of the pitching performances in the second world's series game today reveals how rapidly George Pipgras, the victorious Yankee flinger, regained control after a wild start. He pitched the astonishing number of 37 balls in the first inning and 29 in the second but worked his figure down to a minimum of nine by the time the eighth inning rolled around.

All told Pipgras pitched 157 balls for nine innings while Alexander hurled 52 for two and one third innings and Mitchell only 62 for five and two thirds inning. The comparison follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T.
Pipgras	37	29	16	12	13	11	12	9	18	157
Alexander	16	12	24	x	x	x	x	x	x	52
Mitchell	x	x	9	12	6	16	14	5	x	62

TWO GOVERNORS SEE RACES AT DANBURY

DANBURY, Oct. 5—(AP)—Two New England governors were spectators at the last of the dirt track races held at Danbury fair today. They were Gov. Brewster, of Maine, and Gov. John H. Trumbull who was accompanied by his staff. Tomorrow automobiles will displace horses on the track.

Latzo Gets Verdict

DETROIT, Oct. 5—(AP)—Pete Latzo, Scranton, Pa., light heavyweight, won the decision over Charlie Belanger of Vancouver, B. C., in a gruelling ten round boxing contest here tonight. Belanger set the pace in the early rounds but slowed down in the later sessions under the vicious body attack of the former welterweight champion.

Jones Kayoes Leonard

AKRON, O., Oct. 5—(AP)—Gorilla Jones of Akron knocked out Billy Leonard, New York city, after two minutes and ten seconds of their scheduled ten round bout here tonight. Chet Smallwood, Terre Haute, Ind., defeated young Billy Wallace, Youngstown, in six rounds.

BURNS SIGNS SUPPORTING CAST FOR CORBETT-PAUL GO

Jackie Burns, promoter of the card slated for the Olympia arena next Thursday night has signed his preliminary bouts that furnish the amusement before the two star bouts between Eddie Paul of New London and Eddie Corbett of Bridgeport and the Shiek—Leonard Barnes—McQuade bouts. For the first six rounder he has matched Young Charlie Belizzi, former Norwich boy, against Jimmy Clinch of Meriden, one of Red Kapp's stablemates. For the other six rounder Young Lubeck of Bridgeport clashes with Max Maravetch, another of Kaplan's understudies. Vic Darr of Norwich, as previously stated meets Wildman Goola of Worcester in a four-round bout while Babe Janis of New London and Johnny Ryan of the Coast Guard will open the show.

TWO NORWICH BOYS ON AGGIE TEAM IN GAME WITH WESLEYAN TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 5—Rain did not keep the Nutmeg eleven from outdoor signal practice this afternoon at the camp of the Connecticut Aggies as they wound up the week of strenuous drilling for the annual Wesleyan game, tomorrow afternoon on the Gardner Dow field. The Blue and White machine will open the 1928 campaign against Wesleyan before a large crowd of visitors who are expected to witness the game since it is "Dad's Day."

Coach Sumner A. Dale has finally decided after a week of much rearranging as to what possible combination he will use from the three full teams that he has drilled all week. It is very certain that from the list of eleven warriors that the Aggie mentor is expecting a stiff struggle with the Cardinal and Black and is going to use his full strength against the eleven from Middletown. A likewise apparent situation is seen in the team that has drawn the assignment for the week end contest from Coach Bill Wood of Wesleyan. The visitors, however, have a slight advantage, having defeated Bates last week and giving them a one game lead over the Aggies who have as yet not played in any intercollegiate scrap. The Nutmeggers have defeated the Middletown eleven in the last three consecutive years and last year, which was Wesleyan's big year, the Blue and White won easily by a wide margin of 19-0.

The kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 and the probable starting lineups are as follows:

Connecticut		Wesleyan
Wilson		Steege
Hawkins	Left End	Schmerk
Gilman	Center	Miller
Sayers, Capt.	Right Guard	Coffin or Smith
Tombari	Right Tackle	Silloway, Capt.
Ray Ryan	Right End	Peck or Tetley
McCoombe	Quarterback	Millspaugh
Flydal	Right Halfback	Lockwood or Thomas
	Fullback

Referee, H. W. French (Hamilton); umpire, A. G. Johnson, (Springfield); linesman, L. L. Hardy, (Rhode Island State). Time, four twelve minute periods.

DIEGEL MEETS ESPINOSA TODAY IN P. G. A. FINALS

FIVE FARMS COURSE, BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 5—(AP)—Leo Diegel defeated Gene Sarazen, 9 and 8, in the semi-final round of the professional golf championship here today. Diegel yesterday eliminated Walter Hagen, the defending champion.

Sarazen, usually the finished master of the putting rod, literally putted himself out of the tournament. The score for the 28 holes necessary to complete the match was 16 strokes over par. Diegel, meanwhile played nearly perfect golf, picking up four holes in the afternoon after finishing the morning round five up.

INDIANAPOLIS WINS FROM ROCHESTER FOR 4TH TIME

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 5—(AP)—The sterling pitching of Steve Swetonic and the heavy hitting of Reb Russell was too strong a combination for Rochester to overcome, and Indianapolis won its fourth game of the Little World series here today 6 to 4.

KOZIOL GETS DECISION OVER TROY; K. O.'S ANOTHER

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 5—Al Koziol, of Norwich, lightweight amateur champion of Rhode Island, won two more victories at the Arcadia arena here tonight before a record breaking crowd, one being a decision and the other a knockout. Koziol was forced to give away several pounds to Mike Troy of Worcester and then proceeded to give the Massachusetts lad a fine pasting. In the second round Koziol flattened Troy but the bell saved him just before the tenth round. Troy came out refreshed for the third round and managed to weather the storm although absorbing plenty of punishment.

In his next bout Koziol took on Charlie Dennis of Newport and after a minute of fighting, most of which was done by the champion, Denis went down for the count from a left hook and a right cross to the jaw. Koziol was slated to mix with a Brockton boy but the Brockton lad thought better of his bargain and refused to go on.

This was Koziol's last appearance in Providence for several weeks as he will go to New York to compete in the amateurs at Madison Square Garden. The matchmakers in looking over the list of eligibles in the lightweight division said that Koziol had the best knockout record of any amateur in the United States.

E. J. NEIL DESCRIBES CLUBHOUSE SCENES

(By Edward J. Neil, Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—The strains of "Alexander Rag Time Band," a song the Yankees never had a chance to sing in 1926, throbbed in boisterous fashion from the throats of two dozen athletes in the dressing room of the world baseball champions today. It was a song of triumph, rendered so heartily and close to pitch as to be almost recognizable.

Across a narrow hallway, Grover Cleveland Alexander, "Old Pete" to his teammates, slowly dragged on his socks and cocked an ear at the bellowing chorus of self-styled tenors, baritones, and bassos. Around him the St. Louis Cardinals muttered wrathfully to themselves. Two years ago this time, there hadn't been a sound from that rival dressing room after Alexander had finished his day's work.

It seemed as though the ring of some of those basehits that drove Alexander from the pitching hill in the third inning of the Yankees' 9 to 3 victory in the second game of the world series still echoed through the veteran's mind. He shook his head slowly.

"Just wasn't going today," he said, "but still I don't understand it. Two years ago that same gang got four hits off me. Today I pitched them exactly the same balls in the same places and they knocked me out of the box. They didn't touch them then. Today they got some handle hits and a few real smashes.

"That ball Lou Gehrig hit into the right field stands in the first inning was exactly the kind of a pitch he couldn't touch the year we beat the Yanks for the championship. I threw him a screw ball, low on the outside. It went exactly where I wanted it to go. I couldn't have asked for anything better. And he hit it into the bleachers."

Cocky over their two straight victories, the Yankees talked of ending the series with four successive triumphs, as they smothered the Pirates last fall. The Cards are fighting mad, e

MOONSHINE IS FOUND IN TWO LIQUOR RAIDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 5—Local police officers, Henry Vegiard and Harvey Haynard made two liquor raids this evening. At Delphis Cotes, off Main street, in the rear of the Anthony block, nine soda bottles containing moonshine also four jugs partly filled with the same liquor were seized. At Sophie Povemba's house, one gallon and one pint of moonshine were taken. These offenders will appear before Judge J. T. Barry Saturday morning.

STORM-UPROOTED TREES MAY YIELD TO PALMETTO

COLUMGIA, S. C.—(AP)—The tropical storm which recently swept this state, blowing down hundreds of trees and inflicting other property damage, may result in the planting of an array of palmetto trees on the state house grounds at the Palmetto state. For many years citizens have been insisting that the tree that is South Caroling's emblem should adorn the capitol grounds.

Fifteen large trees, the majority of them hackberries that stood on the state house park were uprooted by the storm, leaving the ground almost barren. Now, advocates of the palmetto trees are urging the state house commission not only to replace the trees with palmettos but to cover the park with the state tree.

At present one full-grown palmetto stands in the park. It is flanked by two or three young trees and a life-sized statue of a palmetto tree erected to the memory of the state's dead in the Mexican war.

PIONEER CLOCK MAKER ALSO A CABINET MAKER

WATERBURY, Conn.—(AP)—Chauncey Jerome's name appears in Connecticut history as a pioneer clock maker of the country. To his local fame as a maker of clocks is now added the prestige of a cabinet maker. Some notes he left, have revealed an old chapter in the history of his life.

Although Jerome was successful and famous when he died, it was different in 1816 when, with a wife and babe to support, he bought a house. That year was known as "eighteen-hundred-and-froze-to-death" because its summer was the coldest in New England history. Jerome found himself unable to pay for the house at his trade. So he took the job of finishing the interior of the old Fenn homestead, a three-story house having 27 doors and a white oak floor. Te received $85 for the work.

The Fenn house, now being repaired, is still in good condition. The original oak floors are still in service and the 27 doors are still doing duty with their paneling in the original state.

SKYSCRAPER BRACING TO RESIST WINDSTORMS

CHICAGO—(AP)—Braces to be used in the construction of the Chicago Tower, which will be the world's tallest building when it is completed, will reduce the sway of the skyscraper to nine inches, or less than one-tenth of an inch to each of the 75 floors, in the face of an 80-mile gale, such as the recent West Indian hurricane.

Napoleon Picard, president of the corporation building the skyscraper, says one-seventh of the 86,000 tons of structural steel will be devoted to bracing.

An 80-mile wind develops a pressure of 25.6 pounds a square foot, and buildings must have a resistance considerably greater, for a margin of safety, if they are to withstand storms. Under the stress of such pressure, the theoretical deflection in a building similar to the Woolworth in New York would be 7.7 inches, or a total vibration amplitude or sway of 15.4 inches

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were eight sales of real estate as compared to 13 sales for the corresponding week in 1927. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $90,716 and $81,050.

There were ten sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of four sales over the same week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $17,624 and $19,450.

New London

The past year has been a record-breaker in building for the city. From Sept. 30, 1927, to Oct. 1, this year, the city has granted building permits that represent, in the cost of construction $2,376,982, the largest ever obtained in the history of New London and going over the figure for the previous year by more than a million dollars, the figure for the previous year being $1,276,815. There were 578 permits granted.

These computations are according to the annual report completed by Building Inspector William Gunn, Jr. The comprehensive report shows that permits were granted for 112 single family dwellings, representing an estimated cost of $868,600, and housing 112 families; 26 two-family dwellings, at the estimated cost of $149,800, housing 52 families; six three-family houses, at an estimated total cost of $86,000 and housing 18 families; eight four-family houses, at an estimated cost of $122,000; four apartment houses, at an estimated cost of $220,000; and three apartment houses with stores, representing a cost of $59,000.

The report further shows that permits were granted for 11 public garages, at an estimated cost of $81,500; 168 private garages, at an estimated cost of $87,805; three gasoline and service stations, at a cost of $10,000; and two institutions at a cost of $190,000.

Building Inspector Gunn in his report shows that permits were granted for 33 stores and other mercantile buildings, at an estimated cost of $131,700; one shed, at a cost of $200; one stable, at a cost of $275; one store with dwelling, at a cost of $6,500, and 61 additions, alterations and repairs on non-residential buildings, at a cost of $129,230; and 137 additions, alterations and repairs on residentia buildings, at an estimated cost of $145,372, and a permit for the erection of one lodge building, at a cost of $70,000.

There were 26 sign permits granted and 18 certificates of occupancy granted.

AMERICAN RECORD SALE BOOMS AS CHINA DANCES

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The growing popularity of dancing among the Chinese has resulted in an increased demand for English and American phonograph records, Perry N. Jister, United States vice consul at Hong Kong, informs the department of commerce.

Pister estimates that the phonograph market in Hong Kong will absorb from 250,000 to 275,000 records a year, of which about 30,000 will be records in the English language or with occidental music. The larger stores carry stocks from 6,000 to 8,000 pieces at a time, he says.

Soft Pedal For Peddlers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—(AP)—Birmingham's night workers don't object to the shriek of locomotive whistles nor the roar of the steel mills, but they have complained strenuously about hucksters, ice men and peddlers whose cries keep them awake during the day.

WOMEN AERIALISTS ARE NUMEROUS IN FRANCE

PARIS—(AP)—Eighteen women pilots now are licensed to fly in France. Twelve of them however, have given up aviation for marriage.

All the French women-pilots on the active list have qualified since the war. Maryse Bastie, distance record-holder for light areplanes in straight-line flights; Mlle. Bollan, Denise Collin Louise Faure-Favier Villa de la Tapia and Line Bernstein are the six unmarried women who have the right to pilot airplanes.

Then other young women are licensed to pilot balloons. But only one is of rank to command a dirigible. She is Miss Gaby Morlay star of the stage. Parachutists are innumerable.

Lightning Breaks Rule.

TUCSON, Ariz.—(AP)—Lightning may never strike twice in the same place, as the saying goes, but the forest service lookout cabin atop Mount Baldy near here is one exception. In a recent storm the cabin survived eight distinct electric shocks, a lightning rod saving it each time.

Racers Must Pay

DENISON, Iowa, (AP)—Horse racing in Crawford county is restricted to horse owners who pay taxes in the county, the fair officials havae decided. The ruling is intended to guard against any litigation that might arise under the state racing law.

CITY COLLECTS JUNK TO ENRICH TREASURY

FERNDALE, Mich., (AP)—This city is in the junk business.

Tin cans, papers and pieces of scrap iron discarded by the inhabitants are collected and taken to the municipal junk yard to be turned into cash for the city treasury.

Carl H. Peterson, city manager, reports that last year the city shipped 13 cars of junk including six cars of tin cans, two of steel and five of sheet metal.

The profit was $2,000. Besides, the city was cleared of rubbish.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY

The Face Upon the Floor

'Twas a balmy sumer evening and a goodly crowd was there,
Which well nigh filled Joe's barroom on the corner of the square.
And as song and witty stories came through the open door,
A ragabond crept stoutly in and posed upon the floor.
"Where did it come from?" someone said.
"The wind blew it in."
"What does it want?" another cried,
"some whiskey, rum or gin?"
"Here, Toby, seek him, if your stomach's equal to the work—
I wouldn't touch him with a fork, he's as filthy as a Turk."

This badinage the poor wretch took with stoical grace.
In fact, he smiled, as tho' he thought he'd struck the proper place.
"Come boys, I know there's kindly hearts among so good a crowd—
To be in such good company would make a deacon proud.

Give me a drink—that's what I want I'm out of funds you know.
When I had cash to treat the gang, this hand was never slow,
What? You laugh as if you thought this pocket never had a sou.
I once was fixed as well my boys, as any one of you.
There, thanks, that's braced me nicely, God bless you one and all.
Next time I pass this good saloon, I'll make another call.
Give you a song? No, I can't do that, my singing days are past,
My voice is cracked, my throat's worn out
And my lungs are going fast.
Say, give me another whiskey and I tell you what I'll do,
I'll tell you a funny story, and a fact I promise too,
That I was once a decent man, not one of you would think,
But I was, some four or five years back, say give us another drink?

Fill her up Joe, I want to put some life into my frame,
Such little drinks to a bum like me are miserably tame;
Five fingers—that's the scheme—and corking whiskey, too.
Well, here's luck boys and land lord, by best regards to you.
You've treated me pretty kindly and I'd like to tell you how
I came to be the dirty sort you see before you now.
As I told you, once I was a man with muscle, frame and health,
And but for a blunder ought to have made considerable wealth.

I was a painter—not one who daubed on brick and wood,
But an artist, and for my age was rated pretty good.
I worked hard at my canvas and was bidding fair to rise,
For gradually I saw the star of fame before my eyes.

I made a picture, perhaps you've seen,
'Tis called the "Chase of Fame."
It brought me fifteen hundred pounds and added to my name
And then I met a woman—
Now comes the funny party;
With eyes that petrified my brain
And sunk into my heart

Why don't you laugh. It is funny that the vagabond you see
Could ever love a woman, and expect her love for me.
But 'twas so and for a month or two her smiles were freely given,
And when her loving lips touched mine, it carried me to heaven.

Boys did you ever see a girl for whom your soul you'd give,
With a form like the Milo Venus, too beautiful to live;
With eyes that would heat the Kohi-noor, and a wealth of chestnut hair?
If so, 'twas she, for there never was another half so fair.

I was working on a portrait, one afternoon in May,
Of a fair-haired—a friend of mine who lived across the way;
And Madeline admired it and much to my surprise
Said that she'd like to know the man that had such dreamy eyes.

It didn't take long to know him, and before the month had flown
My friend had stolen my darling and I was left alone.
And ere a year of misery had passed above my head,
The jewel I had treasured so had tarnished and was dead.
That's why I took to drink, boys, why I never saw you smile;
I thought you'd be amused, and laughing all the while.
Why, what' the matter friend, there's a teardrop in your eye.
Come, laugh, like me; 'tis only babes and women that should cry.

Say, boys, if you give me just another whiskey, I'll be glad,
And I'll draw right here a picture of the face that drove me mad.
Give me that piece of chalk with which you draw the baseball score;
You shall see the lovely Madeline upon the barroom floor.

Another drink and with chalk in hand the vagabond began
To sketch a face that well might buy the soul of any man.
Then as he placed another lock upon the shapely head,
With a fearful shriek he leaped and fell across the picture—dead.

One of the Social Corner sisters asked for this poem, so I am sending it. Mrs. J. P. BISHOP,
Springfield, Mass.

THAT BABY!

I'm a married man of forty, and my wife is forty one;
She'd a daughter when I spliced her, who to womanhood had grown.
Now this daughter's my stepmother!
My old dad, aged sixty-three,
Has married her; they's got a babe—now, what is babe to me

Then my father's now my stepson, by his marriage, that is plain;
But his wife is my stepmother—oh, 'twill soon drive me insane!
For if I'm my father's father, then it follows I must be,
Why, my blessed own grandfather, thats quite evident, you see.

I've thought baby was my grandson; but, again, that cannot be;
I cannot be grandfather to a brother, you will agree.
But if it is my brother, then it is very plain to me
That my wife must be grandmother to her husband, don't you see?

Oh, what pretty complications, little baby, have you made!

ANSWERS AND INQUIRIES

The letter which appeared in the Corner columns unsigned last week was written by Nonesopretty. The name was omitted by error.

GERILDA: Your name has been added to the Social Corner list.

You have boxed up all relations, and that, too, of every shade!
Am I brother, am I cousin, am I granddad, or, in fine,
Can I be your aunt or uncle, or is it that you are mine?

VISIONS

Upon the old man's knees the old book lay
With leaves aflutter; but how far away
His thoughts! For something on the yellowed page
Had drawn time's curtain and, as on a stage,
He saw strange figures in a setting strange
That had been near and dear before the change
The years with slow, relentless skill can trace
Upon the mind and soul, as on the face.
Old friends, old loves, old fears and fancies gay
From that old volume rose, as all the day
He sat, divested of the cloak of age,
And read loved tales, not on the printed page.

HOW IS PORCELAIN CLEANED?

Dear Editor and Sisters: I thought by the looks of the Social Corner page in last week's Bulletin that the Shore Line sisters had gone on a vacation, so decided it was about time I awoke from my long sleep.

If it is not too late, I want to thank the editor for the yellow slip. It was a great surprise and much appreciated.

Tish and I took a trip over to Stonington last week. Carried flowers to the cemetery, after that called on several Social Corner sisters. Was glad to find Tatting feeling so well.

I certainly do enjoy this fall weather, and love to spend the day outdoors. One day this week I walked about five miles and came home feeling fine.

But don't mention walking to me in hot weather. It was about all I could do this year to exist. Wish I didn't mind the heat so much.

Will some one please tell me what to use for cleaning porcelain in bathrooms" I have tried several things, but the dark marks come off very hard.

Will send a recipe for layer cake which never fails:

Layer Cake: One cup sugar, four tablespoons melted shortening, two tablespoons molasses, one beaten egg, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda dissolved in one tablespoon water, one teaspoon each of nutmeg and cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 cup of chopped raisins, two cups flour. Any kind of drippings may be used for shortening.

Frosting: Two cups confectioners' sugar, one tablespoon butter; wet with milk and beat very light; use maple flavor and add 1-2 cup chopped raisins. Spread coarsely ground nuts on top.

Best wishes to all the sick and shut-ins. TOPSY.

ON SHORT CAMPING TRIP

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Suppose most of you are in the midst of housecleaning. I am just starting, and it will be some time before I am through. Have been canning this week, corn, lima beans, green tomato preserve and chilli sauce. What a change in the weather, but nice and comfortable to work in.

What lovely trips some of you have had, and I think it's nice of you to write about them so some one else can get some enjoyment out of them. I don't expect to get any trip this year. We went to Springfield fair. We planned to camp, but it rained so hard we got a room instead and did not go to the fair until the next day. That night we camped near a filling station between Stafford Springs and Willington. We had just had our car fixed so we can sleep in it, so were very comfortable, and in the morning we cooked potatoes, eggs, bacon and coffee on our gasoline stove, and it sure tasted good! We went over a road that was new to us, to East Hartford, and then home, so all in all we had a good time and it was so nice to get away if only for a cuple of nights.

Club 6 will have its first fall meeting on Tuesday, the 16th, at the Wequetequock chapel on the road between Westerly and Stonington. Come all who can. Bring dishes and something good to eat. E. L. M.

SCHOOL DAYS IN HAMPTON

Dear Social Corner Members: My story of Hampton continues. From the Pomfret house in Hampton we find a small house occupied by Michael Clark. In looking over old school papers recently, found name of Sophia Clark. I recalled her daughter but being younger and not in our class she was nearly forgotten. There was a son who used to come from Canada to the Foster reunions, had a position on some railroad—was fine looking and dressed faultlessly. Next we come to the town hall up stairs,-school room down stairs. In the dictionary was written "C. C. Foster good kind teacher." I'd never seen the noted teacher there. First teacher I went to in that building was G. A. Hammond of Hampton, later Conantville and Putnam. As a prize he gave me the history of Queen Elizabeth, the binding, printing and illustrations were very nice. I still have the book but at the time it was given to me could not read it. Have often thought of his consideration for the future. Mr. Hammond was a fine penman and used to write German text. None of my other teachers equalled him in this art. I then had not commenced to write.

Frances Tiffany taught a summer term. She gave me a book about Fairy stories for spelling and improving the most in writing. She married Christopher Clapp of Hampton. Delia Button taught spelling different from anyone else in Hampton. When class was called out we took our positions on the floor, toes on the line—some copper toed. We spelled for the head, the one being at the head had the pleasure of wearing the medal home. It consisted of a ten cent silver piece with a hole in it, put on a string and worn around our neck. We could keep it over night and return it in the morning and the pupil when class called for next day who had worn the medal home must go to foot of class and get up to head again. The pupil at the head the most had the medal tied onto card with teacher's name on it. Adelaide Williams gave a 25 cent silved coin under same conditions.

The way Miss Button taught spelling and caused the pupils to pay attention was as follows: When in position she put out the word to be spelled. If not spelled correctly she put out the next word—the pupil knowing the words were misspelled would pick up the first word misspelled, spell it and go up above the one who misspelled it. Sometimes we had three or four words to remember but must take them in order that the words were given out and missed or it did not count on going up the line. She had us learn Webster's speller from cover to cover. Latin phrases and abbreviations for the medal too. We learned the ten commandments—and to teach emphasis had a very old book with words marked or printed to be emphasized by one, two and three marks as the words required. All I recall now is "What! Warder!! No!!! let the Port Cullis fall." I did not have the slightest idea of the meaning but just enjoyed the piece and it gave us a chance to raise our voices. We had songs and exercises connected with them. I just mention "The Shoemaker."

The Shoemaker toils that our feet may be Protected from dampness and cold you see.
He cuts off the leather proper size and form,
The Shoemaker keeps our feet all warm.

There were other verses but do not recall them in order. If ever a teacher tried to have children advance it was Della Button. She married John Hamond of Hampton. There was one son by the union. We pupils were called one morning early to see the town building and our school room in flames. Some people thought the bell that had called us together would fall whole, but disapointment awaited them.

I must not forget to mention Miss Backus of Hebron who gave me a picture of a little girl by Currier, saying beneath, "Only Daughter—Pet of the Family." I had whooping cough and lung fever as it was called then and being winter did not know much about her as a teacher. She boarded round as teachers used to do and when at our house loved to play back gammon. Think George Holt taught one winter term. They used to change often and each one comenced at the beginning of book, consequently we never got through the book. When the new town hall and school building was erected they did not change as often. It is so long ago that if I am in error I would be pleased to be corrected.

Rochia: I certainly enjoyed the call, and again seeing Glasgo where Mr. Thorn and my husband were engaged in making paper in 1879. We followed your directions and landed in a door yard as we did not see sign quick enough. Then came to Beach pond as we judged and thought for at least I did we'd never get out of sand there. Pleased some of the elderly ladies in our "Home" with pieces of samples you gave me.

Ola: I wonder who you are. Can not write as well or as often as I'd like as it tires me and as to evenings I want my eyes to hold out.

CRETIA

ECONOMY IN GOOD CLOTHES

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters:—Did you ever think about good clothing being good economy?

I want to tell you it is true. I kept an account, an accurate account, for ten years and the average was $81.15, one year, going as high as $102.94. This included everything in the way of clothing, shoes, underwear, as well as dresses, ribbons, gloves and hats.

Some years one naturally spends more than others as a good suit costs quite a little, but by all means buy good suits. I know of nothing that pays better A question that has been put to me so many times is whether or not a ready-made suit is better than one made to order I rather think not, because the linings are almost invariably better in the latter case.

Of my sons three-year-old suit, which was made to order, one of his friends remarked a few weeks ago, "What a nice looking suit?" When I told her how old it was she insisted that her sons couldn't afford to have their suits made And when I counted up the different suits they had had they had worn out three ready-to-wear suits, and they had always looked like cheap suits, where my son's looked like new ones, or well all the time.

I always had my own made to order by a good tailor or myself. Of course dress depends very much on one's surroundings. I try to make my clothes carefully so there are no rips to be sewed up, but of course, darning and mending are needed.

When one's clothes begin to show the shine on the under part of the men's coat sleeves, I have the sleeves turned if both sides of the cloth are alike, then have new sleeve linings put in, a new collar put on and the coat sleeves linings may need to be renewed. I rip out the bottom rounds of the coats, remove all dust collected therein. If the sleeve is worn a little at the hand I cut the hem off and put a new seam in the bottom of the sleeve. Now that coat will wear as long as a new one. You can't do that to a ready-to-wear coat. My own is fixed over the same way.

One of the main things to make up your mind to is simplicity. Naturally good taste is a great help. Have the extras that are not really necessities, good or else leave them alone. I say good but, that does not mean expensive.

Don't waste your money on cologne, powders, etc., but keep clean. That is another secret of economical dressing. I have seen beautiful dresses laid aside as of no use, when a thin washable, high necked slip underneath, next to the skin, would have absorbed most of the perspiration and dirt that had ruined the dress.

Have two pairs of pants made to one gent's coat and insist on him wearing one pair a week, and clean the pair he leaves off, and send to the tailors and have pressed.

To keep one's clothes clean, use water, good soap, ether, ammonia, salt peter combined. It keeps them spotless. Keep your clothes brushed, and folded carefully. Folded and put away when not in use.

A good tailor made winter coat will outwear two store coats and they do not cost as much in the end. I know whereof I speak for I have tried. My son has his winter coat tailor made as does my daughter and myself. Ann Tenna and Bella Dee, forgive my long letter this week. All good wishes for you all

KITTY LOU.

WANTS HELP WITH PRIMROSE

Dear Social Corner Editor: Would like to join the Corner sisters.

May I ask some of the flower lovers what to do with my primrose so it will bloom this winter. Many thanks for any help.

Will take for my pen name GERILDA

"TWO WEEKS IN THE LAND OF THE SKY"

Dear Corner friends: The superb peaks of the Blue Ridge and the great Somkies are in truth the delectable mountains of the wonder and inspiration seeker.

As we look east we see the far off peaks of the Black range, in which Mount Mitchel is located. We look north at a distance of eight miles over the top of Sillers Bald, 5400 feet high, to the second highest peak in this wonder world, Clingman's Dome, 6650 feet above tide water. Mt. Mitchel, 6,711 feet high, is the highest mountain east of the Rockies and but 31 feet higher than Clingman's Dome.

The history of the two mountains may interest the readers as to how and why they got their names. This is the story as told my by an old resident of Knoxville:

Judge Clingman aspired to the office of representative to the national house of representatives at Washington from his North Carolina district. To be eligible to a high office one must be a realty owner, was then the law of North Carolina. Thus to qualify, the judge bought the mountain and named it Clingman's Dome. Then rose the question between him and Professor Mitchel, as to which was the higher mountain. The survey was made and the difference declared in favor of Mt. Mitchel, 31 feet. In making the survey Professor Mitchel lost his life by falling over a precipice. Darkness coming on, he was obliged to spend the night on the mountain top. While looking for a suitable location to pitch his tent he ventured too near the cliff and fell to his death. His monument is seen where it occurred.

As the afternoon was far spent and by the gathering clouds our guide thought it "best and more pleasanter fur we uns tew get down offer hayr tew night afore dark while we can see the trail down to Bob Pickin's, as he said as how he'd stow us away fur tonight, arter which we'll git a very startin the mornin. I reckon we'll take a different course down the mountaing than we cum, as hit air safer."

Loath to leave a place so charming we take a long lingering look to the wonder world spread out before us. We follow the guide in a northerly direction until we strike the timber line, then another direction for two miles, zig zagging down steep descent then on to get clear of a long precipice and then doubling back until we come to the wagon road that leads to the Perkins cabin, where we arrive just as the long shadows of the Chilhowlees reach across the cove that lay 2,000 feet below us. "Wal, heow has hit ben with yew all tur day. Seen any varmints? (Meaning deer or bear). What do ye think old bald? Wait—that hain't nuthin aside the old Dome; why, frum thar ye can see all over creation. Nothin but mountings an heow an then the smoke of some moonshiner tryin tew make an honest livin agin the law.

"Been a pretty pleasant tur day. Bout time fur em tew be disturbin the quiet and peace of we-uns. We seem tew have a sorter uv a presentment of their comin an put things outern ther way.

"Glittin things about ready fur supper, you-uns thar in the house I rekon these air mounting climers air powerful hungry.

"Yes, yes, hit air ready afore shortly. Dorindy have just put a clean cloth down tu the branch whar you-uns can wash, then everything will be smokin on the table."

The guide had stabled and fed the horses, and stood ready to join us in sampling some of Mr. Perkin's peach and honey, after which we took seats at the table, loaded down with boiled ham, snap beans, corn dodger and fried chicken.

"Wol, Jim, I hain't nothin on sayin grace, so I'll turn the job over tew yeou."

"I'm tew durned hungry tew waste any time sayin grace so I'll say pass that air feller critter (ham) an sich, an I rekon the Lord will forgive us this onced fur not bothérin him," replied Jim.

"Our coffee have clare giv out, so I rekon you-uns will have tu make out on sasfras tea. Bud will run down in the morning an borry a bit er coffee from Aunt Jinny."

After our supper, which four hungry men enjoyed as only hungry men can, we seated our selves out side by the door and listened for two hours or more to Mr. Perkin's recital of the hardships the moonshiner endures in trying to get an honest living. "The amount of hit air, them pesky reviewers hunt us as we dew the beasts in the mountings."

Just as we were to retire for the night, in comes two tall powerfully built fellows of 30 or 35 years, clad in the customary butternut brown jeans, each with his constant companion, the rifle. They seated themselves at the table that had been replenished with clean dishes, and another invoice of eatables. Introduction was given by Mr. Perkins in this way: "These air my two boys, Bud and Ted, and these air men frum the north (pointing to us) who come to view our mountings. Yew by course know Jim Trew. Heow air things goin on tew the still? Don't reduce them air doublins below 90 proof. Fur ye know Jim Horn wants hit full strength so as he can fix hit tew suit hisself. That air the way he got rich, sellin more water than old corn.

"Have ye got that air 10 gallons run off? I want tew git an early start so as tew git intow Knoxville by midnight cause Jim will be thar on time tew take care of hit jist as soon as Ben Swift's stable nigger gits the corn blades pitched off so as tew onload the barl. Yew know them air perlice and revenuers air ated and sleep at that er itme, so don't hinder me."

After a good night's rest and breakfast eaten we started down the road that leads to the north part of Cades cove. As we leave the Perkins cabin we turn to the right and follow for several hours under the shadow of Sillers Bald. After which the road turns sharp to the left through a gorge beside a rapid mountain stream, a tributary to Little river being the county line between Blount and Sevier county.

Here we are 1,000 feet above Cades cove and in the gap where we make another turn to the right and after an hour's ride we enter Tucksleechee cove at Lane's spring, through a gorge 50 feet wide between two perpendicular cliffs where the sun never shines.

My next article will be far more interesting and wonderful as we shall make the ascent of Clingman's Dome after visiting Trundles cross roads for supplies, as we shall be for some time out of reach of any habitation in the wildest part of the Great Smokies on the Tennessee side.

FLOWERS

Dear Social Friends and Editor:—This is September last, another month gone but not without a three-night visit from Mr Jack Frost who has certainly made sad havoc among the flowers. I had only a small collection and each plant had its history, each one being reminders of some pleasant association.

The poets of all ages have paid tribute to the flowers and sang their sweetest songs for them. Poets are, by nature, great lovers of flowers. It would be strange if they were not, since flowers are "the poetry of earth" as the stars are "the poetry of heaven." Wardsworths favorite was one of which I am entirely unfamiliar, the celandine, but he sings so sweetly of it that I am tempted to quote the lines with which he gives it his preference.

"Long as theres a sun that sets
Primroses will have their glory,
Long as there are violets,
They will have a place in story.
There's a flower that shall be mine,
'Tis the little celandine'

Perhaps some of the readers of the Social Corner will describe the celandine for me. We may know it by another name, but certainly not a prettier one

Why is H the most popular letter in the alphabet

Answer:—Because it is the beginning of Hoover and the end of Smith.

46TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Social Corner Folks, one and all: I hope I am not forgotten or crossed off the books. It's been so very long since I wrote to the Corner, now I will try to do so. I went lately to several gatherings in different places and so many different ones came to me and said why here is "Ma of Greene Gables." Why don't you write to the corner? We always look for your letters. I couldn't recall their names but their faces were familiar so I thought if any one was looking for my letters I would try and write one even if it was not so very interesting.

One week this summer was spent at the shore with friends and we had a very nice time. We have had lots of company and are also making some changes out around and with my dreadful lame knee and back it takes me much longer to do things than it used too. I get so very tired I don't feel like writing. Today is cold and windy, can't sit on the veranda so will take a little time and write. Last night it was real cold so I got out all the blankets I could find to cover our flowers, to save them from the frost and for some reason those that we didn't cover looked as well this morning as those we did. We have a great lot of flowers and they are still very beautiful but I cannot carry coverings to put over them any more as I have to put them all on the line to dry the next day. After all, we are lucky to have the flowers now, the very last of September. Most every year there comes a frost early, then it comes warm again.

Bug has been away for a nice trip Glad for her.

Blue Bird is busy going to fairs, demonstrating a "kitchen aid" which she makes lovely things with, and Nixie has been coaching a play which was put on with good success. But I don't see why they can't send a bit of cheer to the Corner once in a while Rural Aunty has a son recently married and as she has some help now she ought to write once in a while. We see few lines from Evelyn Burr.

Small Daughter joined the corner. Then I saw she had her pen name changed to A. Why don't she write and tell why she is called A and by whom. I've looked for a letter every week from her.

Well, tomorrow is my 46th wedding anniversary. It doesn't seem possible I've lived in this house so many years and I sure don't feel old, only when my lameness gets the best of me. Then I feel about a hundred. I've seen many happy days and many sad ones but on the whole have very much to be thankful for.

I rather dread the winter but it will soon pass as time seems to fly when we get older. I have enjoyed the summer very much and certainly enjoyed our flowers and we had lovely ones and a lot of them. Will close now with best wishes to one and all from

CLUB 6 MEETS OCT. 16

Dear Editor and Sisters: In my last letter I made a very bad mistake, and how I came to I don't know. The date of Club No. 6 meeting has not changed but remains the third Tuesday of each month. I hope all those reading my letter which said the last Tuesday in October will read this and see that it was a mistake We hope for a better day than he one we had in June. Pyrathrum and I will be hostesses as before. The part of the roof that leaked the worst has been covered and we hope to have the east side of the main part shingled and the belfry removed before long.

The ladies of the community with Beers as chairman served a bean and salad supper last Thursday night and cleared nearly $60. We hope for a chance before cold weather to have another.

Sister Barbara: It is too bad you were unable to see the inside of the church at Storrs. I went there during Farm and Home week and it was open then. It is decorated in white with red cushions and carpets and the light fixtures are btautiful. There is a large chandelier and side wall lights with glass pendants of every shape and size. It must be beautiful when lighted. There is a built-in pipe-organ but as I don't know much about them I won't try to describe it. Perhaps some of the sisters could explain it further.

Don't forget, the third Tuesday in October at the Wequetequock chapel, and as usual bring dishes and something for the dinner.

Best wishes to everybody and, please, everyone who can, go to the polls on election day. SUMAC.

CLUB NO. 2 MEETS OCT. 9

Dear Corner Sisters: Club No. 2 meets in Buckingham memorial Oct. 9, (Tuesday) Laleet will be the hostess and will be glad to help up to serve the dinner.

As a usual thing on going back to the memorial from out-door picnics the first attendance is usually small in number but our first one in September was well attended, with plenty of food and a jolly good time for the first one.

I hope our hostess will have a large gathering and that those who were not able to attend the first one will be on hand to greet all old and any new member joining us.

Blue Bird: Was glad to meet you at the fair. Seems as if Social Corner writers are everywhere.

Rye Brock: You will be welcome at any time at Buckingham. Was glad to see Buddie.

Patches: Come and bring the baby.

Mawb: Have you learned to talk to yourself when doing dishes

Whirlwing: Hope to see you at G session of P. S., in Willimantic, Oct. 15-16.

White Dawn: How are you? Trust you are lots better.

Hope: So glad to know New York doctor has such encouraging report. Trust your weekly trips to New York will show big results for you.

Hope to see all clubs represented on Oct. 9, to make a full house.

CALLA LILY.

GINGER COOKIES

Social Corner Editor and Friends: Hope we have many more like this fine day. Was sorry I could not attend the lovely flower show. Here is a recipe for old-fashioned

Ginger Cookies: One cup molasses, one cup sugar one cup cream, two eggs, one teaspoon ginger, one cup milk, flour enough to roll thin. Bake in a quick oven. VELVIE

EXPERIENCES IN FLORIDA.

To the Social Corner Sisters: I want to say "Howdy" to all of you. I had some Social Corner pages sent me by "Whirlwind" and saw you want letters from old writers. I joined while in Connecticut and living in Taftville in 1921. I must say I always enjoy the page whenever I can get one down here in Florida. I do, during the tourist season, from friends here, and "got them from "Aries" as well as "Whirlwind."

For this time I will tell of small happenings to me, since my stay of five years in the wonderful state of Florida.

Our first place was in a garage apartment, then we went to a house in a 20-acre grove of oranges. There I saw oranges, blossom, grow and ripen, learned the different varieties and how they are shipped. But best of all is the southern hospitality I had always read about. Saw my first real range cattle, foxes, wild hogs, snakes, chameleons, gray owls and horned owls, wild pigeons, mourning doves, mocking birds, eagles and hawks. Then the big black buzzards which eats all dead things and creatures in the wild, ranges and woods. Have learned to look, when a blue jay or squirrel gives warning of danger, to tell, if a snake or something else is coming, to make a mocking bird give me a thrilling song of his own, by whistling and making imitations of his song, and to take honey on my finger and keep perfectly quiet, so a butterfly will come to me and eat that honey. We have the most beautiful butterflies in the world, from the size of a pea, to as big as my two hands. Those are gorgeous, black and gold beauties, to silver and black night moths which come to the lamplight. Have quails and wild doves which know we won't harm them. They feed in my back yard where I throw them food. The wise ones go to my garden peas when ripe, and bite them sharply so the dry pods open and they get the peas. The fox squirrels and common squirrels are chattering all day long in my oak trees. They tease my cats and dogs all the time. They climb down to three or four feet from one of the cats, then chatter away, go in circles around the trees, even from one tree to another on the ground to tease them. I love to watch it all. Just now there's no hunting till Nov. 4th, but the hunters have a new sport to train their dogs, young and old ones. They come right in my yard to start off, as many of the men know my husband. They have four of the famous southern bed bone hounds besides other breeds of dogs to train. They let them loose in the woods (we are three miles from town). All the stories I've ever read of Englishmen hunting with packs of dogs, to our own countrymen with them, have never thrilled me, as experiences right here in my own house.

Then other dogs, coon and 'possum, Sisters, no one can believe, until they hear or see those Negroes and dogs at work, now they sound or look. Then in the winter, the sportsmen with their bird and quail dogs. Their sound cannot be duplicated. I've heard and seen them all. Also the trap shooters. I've seen cowboys and girls at play and work. They are the most reserved and stern looking people you ever saw. They also have cattle dogs. Those dogs can work cattle at command like human beings. I've seen roundups, cutting of cattle from others to ship, and branding done right here nearby. But last August they passed a no-fence law. The cattle are a thing of yesterday. Miller brothers, of the 101 Ranch, came to Florida and bought cattle by the thousands and they were shipped to Louisiana, Georgia and other states. That's too bad, with so much range land doing nothing.

Now for the experiences in the hurricane. We of this county all thank the Lord for not getting the full force of it. The wind and rain deprived us of everything for three days. All power, telephone and light lines were down. One of the roofs on my house and garage was pulled off and only about ten feet square in the center of the house was dry. It rained and blew for two days and no one slept in this section on Sunday and Monday night. But south Florida got hit hard. Don't think that the Palm Beach cities alone got hit. No one can imagine how it is. No one will ever find out either, for many will never be found in the swamps and drained land around the big 40 by 80 mile Lake Ockachobee.

Whole villages of Negroes were wiped out. 600 Negro children are in Pahoke without folks, homes, clothes, etc. All of you sisters who have plenty, please give to the Florida folks, and to Porto Rico funds. Send clothes for men, women and children, of all kinds. Send them to West Palm Beach through your Red Cross, American Legion and National Welfare people. There have been 12 trucks full from our city of Deland. More is going and and $3,500 by subscription, with all kinds of benefit affairs to come for more. But our doctors and nurses, Elks, Masons, American Legion, Veterans of Overseas say that nothing over on the battlefields looked or was so awful as this has been. Here, we are 180 miles from Palm Beach, but it was awful here while it lasted. But the sun shines again, the Lord has been merciful to us all who escaped, and we have hopes that it won't happen again.

Best wishes to all the Social Corner sisters. E. M. R. C. P.

GROWING SWEET POTATOES

Dear Editor and Friends: We are having some fine weather but I hate to see the green leaves turn brown. It looks like a cold winter.

Rural Delivery: Glad to see you have found your pen once more. As for that drum will tell you about it. I live sweet tones When I was a small child, about seven. I used to go to my grandmother's to play in the attic. Uncle had a snare drum that was in the Civil war. My brother would put me down on the floor and my cousin put the old drum on my head and pounded it as hard as ever he could, so that is why I love its sweet sounds.

One of the sisters asked about growing sweet potatoes in water. Fill a glass jar with water, then take a small sweet potato that shows signs of life, put a hat pin through it about two inches from the top drop it into the jar, the hat pin or a piece of wire keeping the potato from going entirely into the jar. In a few days you will see little green sprouts start and later it makes a pretty vine for winter

Aries: Will answer soon. Hope you are better and trust all the others are fine. NONESOPRETTY (Club 4)

GOOD APPLE RECIPES

Dear Cornerites: It being the apple season, these recipes offer variety:

Apple Popovers: Beat 2 eggs until light and add to them 2 cups of milk and a level salt spoon of salt. Pour this very gradually into 2 cups of flour, stirring constantly. Half fill deep, flat bottomed patty pans, which have been buttered and heated, and bake in a very quick oven about 20 to 25 minutes (The oven must be hot or they will not puff up properly) When done slip them out of the pans, and with a very sharp knife quickly cut off the tops where they rise above the pans. The inside should be hollow. Put in each a heaping tablespoon of hot apple sauce, replace the tops, set the popovers on individual plates and serve immediately as a dessert with hard sauce. This recipe makes eight popovers.

Apple Tart: Line a deep round pie tin with rich pie paste, and fill 3-4 full of quick-cooking apples, pared, cored and thinly sliced. Dredge them generously with sugar, put a twist of crust around the edge, well fastened on. Place in a hot oven to bake. When nearly done spread with a thin layer of orange marmalade and pour over it a custard made of 1 cup of milk, 1 table spoon of sugar and 2 egg yolks. Return to the oven which should be moderately hot and bake until the custard is set. Should be served cold.

Creamed Sweet Apple Pie: Pare and core several sweet apples. Put them into a pudding dish with a little water. Cover closely and cook till tender but not broken. Add 2 teaspoons of sugar to each cup, and let them get cold in the syrup. Then cut into thin slices. Roll but some pie paste, quite thin. Line a pie plate, sprinkle with flour, lay on another crust and bake until brown. When ready to serve, open the crusts, spread the lower with the stewed apple, sprinkle with cinnamon, and a little nutmeg. Cover with whipped cream, put on the top crust, sprinkle with sugar (powdered).

Apple Peanut Salad: Pare, core and chop slightly acid apples, and mix with them half as much white celery. Mix a dressing of peanut butter, using 3 table spoons of lemon juice, to 1 table spoon of peanut butter. Mix well through the apples and celery, and season with salt to taste and a dash of cayenne pepper. Chill the salad on ice and serve in little nests of lettuce and garnish with halves of peanuts.

Chocolate and Apple Custard: Peel and cut into small pieces 2 cooking apples; put in a pan with a small quantity of water and cook until reduced to a pulp. Sweeten with 1-4 cup of sugar and dust with cinnamon Scrape 1-2 pound of chocolate into a boiler with 1-2 cup of sugar and 1 pint of milk. Beat the yolks of 3 eggs and the white of one. When the mixture is hot and smooth add the eggs, stirring gently all the time. Pour the chocolate over the apple pulp; set the dish in a pan of water and bake until firm.

COFFEE BREWING IN VARIETY

Dear Sisters: The joy of coffee begins before the golden brown stream, hot and fragrant, comes from the coffee pot. That first aroma that steals along the air arouses delicious anticipations, sends a happy stimulation to the brain. Little wonder that the beverage has such a far-flung reputation.

Percolated Coffee: Allow 2 level table spoons of coffee, medium ground coffee, to each cup of water. Either hot or cold may be put in the lower part of the percolator. Place the coffee in the upper section and allow to percolate slowly. The secret of success is not to percolate too fast or too long—five to eight minutes over gas and eight to 10 over coal or burners and 15 minutes if an electric percolator is used—are the periods which give results if the full capacity of the coffee is insured.

Boiled Coffee: I allow 1 heaping tea spoonful to a cup. Beat 1 egg, and add the coffee to the egg. If I make 10 cups of coffee I add 9 cups of water and put it over in cold water and boil 10 minutes. Then remove from the fire, add a pinch of salt and 1 cup of cold water, let stand 3 minutes and strain.

Here is another way to make boiled coffee. Allow 2 level table spoons of coffee to 1 cup of boiling water. Mix the coffee with an additional 1-2 cup of cold water. Put this into the pot and add the boiling water. When it comes to a boil, boil 3 minutes. Remove from the fire and add 1-4 cup cold water. Let stand a few minutes and serve.

Filtered or Drip Coffee: This coffee is made in a pot which has a bag of several thicknesses at the top in which the ground coffee is placed Pour hot water over the bag to heat it thoroughly. Then place the coffee in the bag and pour the boiling water over it. Use 2 table spoons of finely ground coffee to each cup of water (boiling). Put in a hot place when dripping but do not allow to boil. Pour the liquid over the grounds the second time but keeping it hot meanwhile.

After-Dinner Coffee: This when served in small cups, is an aid to digestion. After a hearty dinner one should have greater strength than a simple breakfast beverage. Allow about 1-2 the amount of water used in the foregoing recipes. Serve without cream or sugar.

Coffee Penuchie is especially delicious—and is one of the most unusual ways of introducing the coffee flavor. One cupful granulated sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, 1-4 cup of cream, 1-2 cup strong coffee. Bring to a boil while stirring constantly, then cook without stirring until a little dropped in cold water will make a soft ball. Remove from the fire, place the pan in another pan of cold water, let stand until the outside water in the sauce pan is thoroughly cool to the hand. Add 1 table spoon of butter, 1-4 tea spoon salt, 1 cup of chopped nut meats. Beat until thick and creamy. Mold on a buttered plate and mark into squares and cool.

GUESS WHO.

FACING OUR DUTIES

Dear Sisters, one and all: Well, here I am at last. I guess you all will think my word isn't worth much as I promised to write oftener, but owing to different things that have been coming my way, didn't see much time to write. I first want to say I have been on the sick list for several days and didn't feel like writing but have enjoyed all of the letters very much. No I am feeling very much better, for which I am thankful. I enjoyed very much Olga's letter. I only wish she might write oftener.

Well, it begins to feel much like fall, real chilly, but am in hopes to have some more warm days yet. The days are getting much shorter but we must try to face our duties serenely. While the clamor of the world beats about you, march bravely on. Even though your heart may be burning, as harrowing fears oppress, press on resolved to win, and win you surely will. In whatever station in life you may be compelled to cast your lot let no load of care retard your progress towards the top of the peaks where the air is sweet, the sunshine is bright. Think not of the weight upon your shoulders but rather of the strength that is yours compared with those lagging behind. In many cases your annoyance, vexation and discontent are what you make in the heyday of life and until the racing tide reaches its height and begins to slacken, keep to the right. Then as the waters turn back to the great sea they will leave you unfettered and free, happy in the thought that you have kept the faith.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

The convention of the Catholic Ladies of Columbus which is to be held in South Manchester this coming week, will open at eight o'clock Friday evening in the Knights of Columbus home on Bissell street. Mrs. James J. Dutton, state president, will preside during the formal business session which will be attended by delegates from every assembly in the state. The degree will be exemplified this year by Mercier assembly degree team of this city. The gypsy minstrels which have furnished many pleasing programs both in Norwich and surrounding towns will furnish part of the entertainment during the social part of the evening. A pleasing program has also been arranged by the assembly in South Manchester. Convention high mass will be sung Saturday morning at 9 o'clock by Rev. Francis May of Mount Carmel in St. James' church in South Manchester and the business session begins at 10:30. The afternoon session will be called to order at 1:30 and the election of state officers will be held at that time. During the evening a banquet will be given all delegates attending the convention.

Mercier assembly is sending an unusually large delegation to the convention this year and two buses have been chartered. All members of the assembly are urged to attend this convention. The buses are to leave Norwich about 5:30 Friday evening and will return the same evening. Reservations may be secured by calling 3206 before 9 o'clock Sunday evening. The members who attended the convention last year still recall the pleasant evening enjoyed by so many and the committee in charge is again making an effort to reach every member extending an invitation to attend. The regular meeting of Mercier assembly which was postponed one week on account of the mission which is being held this week in St. Patrick's church will be held this coming Tuesday in the assembly rooms on Broadway. There will be a meeting of the degree team in the hall of St. Mary's Memorial church on Monday and Wednesday evenings of the coming week. Rehearsals are in progress for the gypsy minstrel which are to be given at the convention in South Manchester.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

The regular meeting of Clara Barton tent, No. 7, Daughters of Union Veterans, was held in Buckingham Memorial, Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. Lillian B. Newbury, in the chair.

Two applications for membership were received.

The members will join with the G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Union Veterans in a pilgrimage to the Nathaniel Lyon birthplace on Sunday October 7th. The program will begin at 2 p. m. and will be followed by a basket lunch. It is hoped by the officers that a large number will participate in this pilgrimage.

In the attendance contest, the "Wave Aboves" are still in the lead.

The meeting closed in usual manner with the salute to the flag.

FORESTERS OF AMERICA

Court Sprague, No. 90, will hold its first regular fall meeting Tuesday night in Caron's hall at 7:30 p. m. It is expected that all good Foresters of this court will find themselves attending this meeting after their summer vacation, as there is a great deal of business to be transacted which could not be done during the summer months. There are various committees to be appointed to work out the winter schedule, the by-laws will have to be revised, preparations will have to be made for the election and installation of officers. This shows that there will be a great deal of work to be done at this meeting so that all Foresters interested in the court will make every effort to try to be present at this meeting. The officers trust that the hall will be filled as they have not seen it filled during the past year and the members show them that they are with them in their work so that this may be one of the best years this court has seen within the last few years.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Wauregan lodge, No. 6, opened its season Monday night at the Buckingham Memorial with a social session that followed the business meeting. A Norwich trio of entertainers, Edward Connelly, Nicholas J. Spellman and M. P. Farrell, gave a varied programme that was thoroughly enjoyed and was followed by refreshments.

On behalf of the lodge, Max Hanover made the presentation of a past chancellor commander's charm to Fred Herman with complimentary words for Mr. Herman's services to the lodge while he was in office. The arrangements committee for the evening consisted of Dr. Paul A. Schwartz, chairman; Earl Taggart, Gene Lackenback, Morris Epstein and Charles Jacobson.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

A meeting of Loyal Victory lodge, M. U. was held in Steiner's hall Thursday evening with Noble Grand Emma Lamphere in the chair. Regular routine of business was transacted after which one candidate was initiated. After the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the social committee. Visitors were present from Loyal Liberty lodge, Baltic.

ELKS

Norwich Elks made the meeting of the lodge on Thursday evening at the Elks' home a Fred Hutchinson night in honor of this popular member who for so long has been tyler of the lodge until he decided to relinquish the place. During the regular meeting of the lodge, it was voted to present Brother Hutchinson an honorary life membership in the order and to provide a gold case for life membership card.

After the business meeting an entertainment was presented by Edward T. Connelly, Nicholas J. Spellman and Michael J. Farrell, consisting of music and monologues which was enthusiastically received. A buffet luncheon was served.

DECREE OF POCAHONTAS

Sebequonash council, No. 11, voted in three rebekahs at its last regular meeting at the Buckingham Memorial and there was a considerable delegation from Hiawatha council of New London who attended the meeting. Two members of Sebequonash council were reported very sick.

After the meeting much sport was afforded by an auction which was conducted by Sister Mame Thompson of New London and the opening of the parcels produced a lot of fun. Ice cream and cake were served by the social committee.

Connecticut Council of Catholic Women

The annual luncheon of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women will be held at Hotel Bond, Hartford, on Saturday, October 20th. The luncheon meeting will be preceded by a business meeting at 10 o'clock at which reports will be given by the county representatives and chairmen of standing committees.

Rt. Rev. Maurice F. McAuliffe will address the gathering. Miss Sarah Weadick, assistant director of the National Bureau of Immigration of the National Catholic Welfare conference, Washington, will address the meeting on "The Importance of Immigration Follow-up Aid Work." Miss Weadick has just returned from Holland where she attended the annual meeting of the International Union of Catholic Women's Organizations. Miss Weadick will also bring to the meeting a report of this international conference. Miss Weadick was the representative of the National Immigration Bureau at the International Conference and explained the work that is being carried on by the National Bureau of Immigration in this country. Miss Weadick has been associated with the National Bureau of Immigration since its organization and is well qualified to speak on this very vital subject.

All members of the council and their friends are invited to attend the annual meeting and may secure reservations for the luncheon through the local office, 126 Main street.

American automobiles are receiving credit for development of the Philippine islands because of their contributions to the cause of good roads, opening of sparsely settled areas with resulting creation of additional sources of wealth and the closer contact assured the island peoples. Average annual income of the population is only $34 per capita but the islands have increased automobile imports from fewer than 250 in 1910 until nearly 30,000 now are registered.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

DAIRY COWS NEED SUCCULENT FEED WHEN PASTURE IS POOR

During the late summer pastures in most sections are short because of dry weather and because they are grazed too closely. If there is any grass, it is not succulent and is unpalatable. Consequently, cows will not consume enough for high milk production.

Experienced dairymen know that if the production of their cows has decreased during the hot, dry weather because of insufficient feed, it is difficult and practically impossible to bring the production back to normal during that milking period.

The summer silo, according to the United States department of agriculture, is probably the best means of supplementing short, dried-up pastures. For a herd of 12 to 20 cows, a silo from 10 to 12 feet in diameter is best suited for this purpose, because the silage can then be fed out fast enough to prevent spoiling. If, however, all the silage is not fed during the summer it can be fed during the winter or the next summer. Silage will keep for several years. Dairymen frequently fill two silos, one for winter feeding and one for summer use.

Where it is not feasible to erect a silo for summer feed the short pasture may be supplemented by certain pasture crops instead of summer silage.

In many sections sweet clover has proved very satisfactory for this purpose. It does well at this season and has the advantage of being a legume and consequently contains a large amount of protein. Alfalfa can also be pastured at this time and will assist materially in preventing the mid-summer drop in milk flow.

Many combinations of legumes, such as peas, vetches, and soy beans, with grains, such as corn, wheat, oats, barley, and rye, can be grown and fed green. Successive plantings of these crops will often provide succulent feeds over an extended period. Sudan grass is also well suited for grazing purposes throughout the central west.

In addition to good pasture high producing cows need to be fed grain to supply the required nutrients. Cows producing more than 20 pounds of milk daily should be given 1 pound of grain to each 4 to 6 pounds of milk produced. The grain feed may be a mixture of corn, oats, wheat, bran, or barley, and should always be ground. For cows producing more than 35 pounds of milk daily the grain mixture should contain one high-protein concentrate, such as the oil meals.

STARTING THE ASPARAGUS BED

This is just the right time to start an asparagus bed, a perennial investment, making greater returns for the space occupied than nanyn other section of the garden. The main factor in establishing an asparagus bed in deep and rich soil which will retain moisture without being soggy. Asparagus delights in sandy soil with a liberal supply of decayed vegetable matter.

Fall is the ideal time to get the bed going. With the soil in shape, dig a hole a foot deep and wide enough to permit the spreading out of the roots of the asparagus. It will require considerable digging to do the job right. The roots of the asparagus radiate like the spokes of a wheel. In the bottom of the hole heap up a six-inch tee, spot the asparagus plant on the top of it and spread the roots, then fill in the soil, giving the crown of the plant a covering of six inches. Tramp the soil down firmly and if it is dry, water thoroughly. If the soil is moist, the watering may be dispensed with.

Buy two or three-year old roots. They are dormant in the fall and, many gardeners believe, take hold more quickly than when dug in the spring. Set the plants three feet apart each way as each plant develops a big root system and is a voracious feeder. Give the bed a good covering of stable manure, if available. If not, use pulverized sheep manure, shredded cow manure, or the commercial chemical fertilizers.

There are a number of varieties of asparagus from which to select but the new rust-proof variety developed by the department of agriculture breeders at Washington may be regarded as an excellent choice. Bonvallet's Giant, Conover's Colossal are other well-known and popular varieties.

If a large planting is to be made and a gardener wishes to raise his plants from seed, fall is an excellent time to start. Sow the seed thinly in drills about an inch deep. The chawing and freezing over winter will stir the germs in the seed so that it will be ready to germinate in a hurry when nit warms up in the spring.

START WORK ON THE LAWNS

Fall seeding of lawns is now a recognized and established practice and an efficient method of getting a good growth of sod started. The seeding and preparation of the soil remove just that much work from the spring rush. The grass seed germinates as soon as conditions are right, the seed having been moisture soaked and swollen to the germinating point by winter rains and thawing snows. Germination is quicker from fall or winter sown seed than from that sown in the spring.

The main factor in securing a good lawn is the foundation. Depth and richness of soil are the requisites. The soil must be well and deeply dug and plenty of fertilizer incorporated with it. Stable manure is the best if it can be obtained as it not only furnishes the needed plant food but gives the moisture retentive humus so necessary to enable the young grass to withstand summer droughts. Lacking stable manure the compost heap will furnish the humus. Prepared humus can now be bought at fairly reasonable rates. Peat moss to dig into the soil is also an adequate means of furnishing humus.

The humus problem is an important one in light sandy soils, usually deficient in vegetable matter. It is not so important in black, heavy soils which already are well supplied. For these, other fertilizers such as bone meal and the balanced commercial fertilizer, will serve every purpose.

With the soil fertilized, dug or plowed to good depth, reduced to fine tilth and leveled, the seed may be sown and rolled in and the lawn making is done. Next spring the home owner can watch the green velvet gradually spread over his domain. Tested seed from reliable sources is the most important factor next to adequate soil preparation. There are cheap grass seed mixtures that will give quick effect but they do not provide a permanent sod as they contain many annual grasses.

Get seeds from a seedhouse of established reputation and get a mixture to fit your conditions of soil and shade. Grass seed is mixed by prescription by experts in lawn making. Different varieties are used to suit different conditions. The same seed for a shady lawn and a sunny lawn should not be used if the best success is expected. Grass for acid and alkaline soils is also furnished. Grass to stand the wear and tear of much usage is put up as well as grass for lawns that will not be subjected to much tramping. Get the soil into good shape and sow the best seed and the lawn is well on its way.

CONNECTICUT CROP PROSPECTS MORE FAVORABLE IN 1928

August weather conditions were quite favorable to tobacco and other Connecticut crops, according to a report released by the Connecticut department of agriculture.

The outlook on Sept. 1 was for a tobacco crop of 33,930,000 pounds compared with 28,886,000 pounds last year. Condition of the crop is rated at 87% against 80% last month and 75% last year. Shade tobacco has a 90% condition: Broadleaf 87%; and Havana Seed 84%. In Massachusetts the crop is expected to total 10,162,000 pounds compared with 8,683,000 pounds last year. Generally, hail has done very little damage this season and the crop is expected to turn out satisfactorily.

Potatoes in Connecticut are almost an average crop despite the moderate per acre yields whic hare expected. The Sept. 1 forecast is 2,161,000 bushels compared with 1,635,000 bushels last year and 2,260,000 bushels the five year average. For New England the crop is expected to total 46,213,000 bushels compared with 45,598,000 bushels harvested last year and 47,240,000 bushels the 1923-27 average. Owing to the wet season, late blight has become general throughout New England and is expected to affect yields materially. A study of weather data and potatoes provided a good indication of this effect more than a month ago, therefore, moderate yields have been forecast from the beginning of the season.

Connecticut apples have a condition of 65%, the highest of the New England states. Apple production is forecast at 233,000 barrels compared with 180,000 barrels last year and 263,000 barrels the five year average. Of the varieties reported, only Wealthy and McIntosh show prospects below those of last year while all except Northern Spy are below two years ago. Production in New England as a whole is expected to total 1,575,000 barrels compared with 1,635,000 barrels last year and 1,922,400 barrels the five year average. Peaches forecast at 223,000 bushels are an average crop while pears are slightly below last year and the average.

Frank Gervaerts and his wife were electrocuted in Sudbury, Ont., as neighbors looked on. Gervaerts was removing a radio aerial wire from a power line with a broom handle when one end of the dangling wire swung upward and dropped across his wrist. As he fell his wife grasped his hand and she also received the full force of the electric current and dropped dead.

SOCIAL CORNER

Social Corner page even if we have no special topic in view; or would it be wiser to refrain from writing and give the space to some one who has an interesting topic? Let's hear your opinion.

I agree with Bella Dee that shorter letters and more of them would be better, although the letters, long ones or short ones, have all been interesting.

I was very glad to see the poetry printed last week. One sister spoke of Epitaphs. About eight years ago the Corner had quite a number sent in.

From Foster, R. :

Patience Randall was my name.
America my nation.
Foster was my dwelling place
And Christ was my salvation.

When I am dead and in my grave
And all my bones are rotten.
Christ the Lord will think of me
When I am quite forgotten.

From Essex, Conn :

Here under these trees
Lies the body of Jonathan Pease.
He is not here but only his pod.
He checked out his soul and gone to his God.

Here lies old Ebenezer Jutt.
Who called himself a botanist.
He thought he'd eaten mushrooms, but
His judgment was the rottenest.

Some on asked, "what are the seven deadly sins in modern life?" An answer:

Politics without principle.
Riches without work.
Recreation without conscience.
Business without morality.
Science without humanism.
Worship without sacrifice.
Knowledge without common sense.

Brick-top and Bella Dee: More limericks.

Red Indians in Pilgrim dress
Got hooze in the usual ways.
Bootleggers lived then
And, according to "Hoss"
Will continue the trade while it pays

It's more blessed to give than receive,
We've always been led to believe.
But the "sweetest" joy
To a girl of a boy,
Is to have the gifts up their own sleeve.

There is a good dame some call Kitty
Who is modest, warm-hearted and witty;
We read all the love
In her letters galore
And thank her for them in this ditty.

Olga: What would we do without your fine letters telling of the parties? Good scout.

Nonesopretty: The beautiful show dahlias you sent me were much admired. Two of them are still on my desk.

L. T. H.: Have rooted all slips and roots you sent. Thank you. Would like a few slips of fuchia in exchange for any slips I may have.

Comfort: Hope to see you soon.

As a new fumigating mixture to control insects in stored grain and other products, ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride gas is effective, cheap, non-inflammable, and non-explosive. The mixture is used at the rate of 3 volumes of ethylene dichloride to 1 of carbon tetrachloride, and is about 5 times as poisonous to insects as carbon tetrachloride alone, but is not dangerous to human beings.

WESTERLY

BOY SET HIMSELF AFIRE TO KEEP FROM STATE SCHOOL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 5—William Lussie, 14, of Westerly, who has been twice to the Rhode Island Boys school in Cranston, admitted setting fire to his sweater, about 7 o'clock this evening in the detention room at police headquarters, to prevent being taken back to the school. While waiting for George Trainer, of the state school to return, his chauffeur rushed in, to tell Judge Williams, who was in the court room offices above, that the boy was on fire. Chief Brown and Lieut. Champlin were called to investigate. Dr. Scanlon treated the boy for his burns. Later Lussie, who has been before the court was returned to the state school. The smoke from the burning sweater filled the corridors and rooms of the town building. It is thought the boy received the matches from boys outside. It was only recently that the city fathers made an inspection of the detention rooms to plan for improvements and the fact was stressed that some person should be in the building at all times.

NEITHER SIDE SCORES IN GAME WITH CENTRAL FALLS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 5—A scoreless tie, 0 to 0, resulted in the second football game of the season played Friday afternoon on the athletic field, when the Westerly high school eleven had as opponents the Central Falls, R. I., high school team. The teams seemed to be about evenly matched when the ground gained was considered, although the up-state players had the edge on the W. H. S. in weight. In the final quarter of play Westerly had approached a point nearer their objective goal line than had been accomplished by their opponents.

No cases were tried by Judge Oliver H. Williams at the Friday morning session of the Third district court. Following was the criminal docket: State, James E. Norman, state police department, vs. Clary V. Palmer. Continued one month, on Palmer's court appearance. State, Thomas E. Brown, vs. William M. McGarvie. Continued two weeks on request of defendant, who had previously entered a plea of not guilty.

Civil docket: John O. Mills vs. Mabel N. Bickelhaupt and John Hass. Continued nisi. John O. Mills vs. Curtis J. Holt, allas. Judgment was submitted to by the respondent for $349.94 and costs. Rockwell & Co., Inc., vs. Rose Joyce Wein, allas. Continued one week.

Zygmont Dobrichis, Sept. 4, pleaded guilty when charged with a violent assault on his brother, John. Town Solicitor and Prosecutor Ferguson stated that the brothers were engaged in a greenhouse business and that the complaining witness, John, had been struck down without warning and at the time his brother had been reported as under the influence of liquor. The brother had stated that the assault would probably not have been committed if liquor had not been taken, so the state recommended leniency. Judge Williams called John Dobrichis, who was in the courtroom, before the bar and admonished him that it had come to his knowledge that he had not been fair in his business dealings with his brother. In reply to the judge's question as to whether they could get along in the future, John stated that it was a doubtful question to answer. Attorney Dunn informed the court that a settlement of business affairs had been reached. Judge Williams allowed the defendant to save the court on his own recognisance, with the agreement that he should report to the probation officer.

Senator and Mrs. Howard E. Thorp of Potter Hill, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thorp, will leave Westerly today (Saturday) for Richmond, Va., on a motor trip. Senator Thorp will attend a convention of the Marris Plan bankers and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thorp will stop off in Philadelphia to visit relatives.

Charles L. Fontana and Thomas H. Morrison attended Brockton fair Thursday.

George Elmer Leonard of Pawcatuck has as his guest for a few days his father, G. E. Leonard, of Newport, R. I.

A big Smith-Robinson banner, as large as the Hoover-Curtis banner across Broad street was swung across High street Friday at the junction of Canal street, the ends being secured to the Potter-Langworthy block and the New Park hotel in the Walton building. Nearly 150 democrats attended the rally, Thursday evening, of the recently formed Westerly Smith-Robinson club in the Morrone-Castagna hall on Canal street. The president, George A. Dolan, presided.

Addresses on the political situation were delivered by William G. Troy of Providence and Samuel Mowry of Wakefield, speakers furnished by the democratic speakers' bureau in Providence.

Today (Saturday) is Tag Day in Westerly to assist the committee on the elaborate Columbus Day celebration to be held here Friday, Oct. 12. A group of girls will be in the business section throughout the day.

According to plans made by the committee, a street parade and band concert in Wilcox park will be among the features of the celebration. The 36-piece Colonial band of Providence has been engaged for the day. The final feature will be a fireworks display at the High street athletic field.

MRS. CROWTHER OVERCOME BY GAS AT HER HOME

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 5—About noon Friday, Mrs. Eleanor Crowther of 10 1-2 Summer street was overcome by gas. She was found at her home by a neighbor, in a stricken condition. Dr. J. DeVere Barber was called and attended the woman, who was resting comfortably this afternoon. Mrs. Crowther lived alone and just how the accident occurred is not known.

Three Heads Together

When something really must be done,
Three heads are thrice as good as one.
—Johnny Chuck.

When Reddy Fox left Johnny Chuck, Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat, he never once looked behind him. But they turned to watch him. They didn't take their eyes from him. Not until he had disappeared around the corner of the cornfield did they even look at each other.

"Well," said Jerry Muskrat as Reddy disappeared, "what do you make of that? He certainly was polite. It must be that he isn't hungry this morning."

"Don't you believe it! You're just fooling yourself," declared Johnny Chuck. "If you had been alone, you would have found it a very different matter. There would have been no politeness on the part of Reddy Fox. But with three of us he didn't know what to do. He didn't dare fight three of us."

"Well," declared Mrs. Muskrat, "he's gone now, so I guess we'd better finish our breakfast and get back to the water."

Johnny looked at Mrs. Muskrat and saw that she really believed what she said. Then he looked at Jerry and saw that there was a little doubt in Jerry's eyes. "I guess you don't know Reddy Fox as well as I do," he said. "Of course, I can't see Reddy this minute and so I don't know that he is where I think he is. But unless I am greatly mistaken he is over in that corn watching us this very instant. He's waiting, and he will continue to wait. He is hoping that we will separate and that he'll get a chance to get one of you two alone. I know Reddy Fox. I've known him ever since I was a little fellow at my mother's heels. He could fool me once, but he can't fool me now. If you folks take my advice you will finish your breakfast and then get back to the water."

"Perhaps we had better get back to the water right away," said Mrs. Muskrat.

"There's no hurry," explained Johnny. "You may as well finish your breakfast. You are just as safe now as you were when he came over here. As long as we stay together he won't bother us."

"That sounds like good advice," said Jerry Muskrat. "As long as I am here I should like to fill up. Do you really think he is hiding over there in the corn?"

"I'm sure of it," replied Johnny. "I think I could go right to the spot where he is. Do you see that yellow

"Don't you believe it; you're only fooling yourself," declared Johnny Chuck pumpkin over there in the corn?"

Jerry said that he saw it. "Well," replied Johnny Chuck, "I believe he is right behind that." Johnny suddenly sat up and looked long and hard. "That's where he is," said he. "When I sit up I can see him peeking around that pumpkin. I'll tell you what, we'll move over to the edge of the carrot patch nearest to the water and farthest from Reddy. Then you and Mrs. Muskrat eat your fill. As long as Reddy is alone we won't worry about him. If Mrs. Reddy, or Old Granny Fox were along with him it would be different. Then we would be in danger. I'm not afraid of Reddy alone. As I have already told you. But I would be afraid of two Foxes at the same time. Now go ahead and eat all I'll keep watch."

So Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat went on with their breakfast. They ate hurriedly, for they were nervous. And all the time Johnny Chuck sat up watching that yellow pumpkin over in the cornfield, behind which Reddy Fox was hiding. There was a sly little grin on Johnny Chuck's face. "Some folks are not so smart as they think they are," said Johnny to himself. I wonder just what he meant, don't you?

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The week in Norwich, fifty years ago, was an uneventful one. Little worthy of note occurred that week. A mass temperance meeting was held in Breed hall and a fire department wise making plans for its fall parade. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Norwich Bulletin of October 1878, are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 30, 1878—The annual meeting of the Greeneville school district for the choice of officers for the ensuing year was held in School House hall last Friday evening. Mr. David Gilmour occupied the chair. The following officers were elected by ballot: James Houston Wm. Ray Timothy Kelley committee; Merritt Dexter clerk; Thomas A. Perkins treasurer; John Wilbur, collector; Charles W. Casey, auditor. The old board of officers was reelected. The number enrolled is about 700.

The fall meeting of the Norwich Trotting park, commences tomorrow. Races for a purse of $300 for the 2:50 class and one of $400 for the 2:30 class, the first of which has 10 entries and the latter six entries, open the ball at the fairgrounds.

Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1878—A large pow-wow by the Intelligence which spread with the proverbial rapidity, of such sad news, of the sudden death of tion of the community was pained last Mrs. Henry V. Edmond.

At a meeting of the Greeneville Reform club, last evening, the following officers were elected: President, William H. Bell; vice presidents, Joseph Bartlett, Calvin Miner, George Cox; treasurer, Frank Holmes; secretary, Frederick Fuller; assistant secretary, George Cherry; librarian, Elijah Thorpe; steward and sentinel, Andrew Johnson.

The parade of the fire department which is to take place on Saturday, promi es to be one of the finest and most complete ever made in this city. The companies are all in good trim and their efficiency, either on parade or in actual service is unquestioned.

Wednesday, Oct. 2, 1878—Yesterday's races were well attended and proved quite interesting. The only particular incident of the occasion was the fining of the driver of "Delight" $10 for loud talking on the track in the 2:50 class. W. Monroe's "Victoria" took first money and in the 2:30 class, Joseph Doyles "Delight" Providence, took first money.

One of our policemen was driven all the way to Gardner's lake the other day to witness an exhibition shoot by Capt. Bogardus, but after all the captain did not appear and the officer sauntered slowly homeward.

Mr. S. D. Bradford, of Montville, presented us with a short apple bough, containing 32 Baldwin apples. It was taken from a small tree only three years in bearing from which seven bushels of apples have been picked this season.

Thursday, Oct. 3, 1878—There is to be a mass temperance meeting in Breed hall, this evening, to be addressed by the Messrs. Bacon, Davies and Palmer.

The wires for the new fire alarm boxes have been put in position.

Mrs. S. V. Pratt has removed her music school to No. 21 Union street and will re-commence lessons on Monday next.

Friday, Oct. 4, 1878—A false alarm of fire, anticipatory of the parade on Saturday, called out a part of the fire department, lastu evening. The boys ran down Union street to Shetucket street, and discovering no fire that needed to be put out, put back to their houses.

A new building is going up on the unoccupied lot beneath and south of the last Central Wharf bridge. It is to be used as a fish market.

The Rev. George W. Huntington, of Ottawa, is visiting Norwich and will remain here for a few days.

Saturday, Oct. 5, 1878—Sunday will be a general temperance day in the Baptist church of Preston City. In the morning there will be a sermon on temperance by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Hill, in the afternoon a temperance concert and in the evening a union temperance meeting.

Everybody will of course participate in the fine parade of the fire department today. Those who are not inclined to take an active part in the marching way, at least stand at the street corners and swear at the crowd. Let everyone lend his influence, not matter how humble it may be, to crown the day with success.

There was a brief but thrilling passage of arms last evening at Union square. A gang of young ruffians first stole a knife from a boy and then whipped him for losing his property. A clerk from a neighboring store then ran out and whipped the gang. This result satisfied all parties as an impartial rendition of justice and the crowd dispersed.

An auto driven by Paul Gauthier, twenty-seven, plunged over an embankment down twenty feet into a drainage canal at New Orleans. As the car was slowly sinking into the mire at the bottom of the canal bed, Gauthier managed to open the door and climb to safety, only to be arrested for reckless driving when he had regained the street.

POETRY

The Golden Silence

What though I sing no other song?
What though I speak no other word?
Is silence shame? Is patience wrong?
At least one song of mine was heard:

One echo from the mountain air,
One joyous murmur, glad and free,
One sign that nothing grand or fair
In all this world was lost to me.

I will not wake the sleeping lyre:
I will not strain the chords of thought;
The sweetest fruit of all desire
Comes its own way, and comes unsought.

Though all the bards of earth were dead,
And all their music passed away,
What Nature wishes should be said
She'll find the rightful voice to say!

Her heart is in the shimmering leaf,
The drifting cloud, the lonely sky,
And all we know of bliss or grief
She speaks, in forms that can not die.

The mountain peaks that shine afar
The silent stars, the pathless sea,
Are living signs of all we are,
And types of all we hope to be.

—William Winter.

My Dog

He's my dog.
Hair's so full of burrs
He's unpleasant to touch,
Just like other curs.
He don't amount to much.
Ears is all raggy,
Pedigree not a trace:
Eyes small, coat shaggy;
Eats all over the place.
No good habits,
Sleeps like a log;
Can't catch rabbits,
But he's my dog.

He's my dog.
Hasn't got no license tag,
Bite's worser'n his bark,
Answers to name of "Rag,"
Won't stay out after dark,
Fears his own shadder,
Couldn't learn a fancy trick
Even if he had 'ter;
Lately he's been sorta sick,
Now he's dyin',
And life's just a fog,
No use cryin',
But he's my dog.

—Hypo McLean, in the Detroit News.

Dog immigrants are barred from Prince Edward Island until the first of next year to safeguard the silver and black fox industry from diseases now prevalent among dogs in some parts of Canada.

Primitive natives in Sumatra believe that the spirit of a dead tribesman returns a few months after death for one last night of celebration with his friends, and magicians help along the belief by manipulating a wooden dummy on strings in the semi-darkness.

One business firm in New York bearing the name Lindy can truthfully tell that it was not influenced by the young American's rise to fame. Lindy Products corporation put up its sign years ago, the name being based on that of the suburb Lindenhurst.

The French republic has voted funds for the restoration and upkeep of the home in exile and the tomb of Napoleon at Saint Helena. The tomb was threatened with disappearance under a thick, almost tropical growth, but now the weeds have been removed and the willows covering the simple grave have been trimmed and the iron picket fence surrounding is repaired. Only the house, Longwood, remains as a souvenir of the exile of Napoleon.

On and after October 1, 1928, The Uncas-Merchants National Bank will be located at 29 Shetucket Street, directly opposite The Gas and Electric Office.

Edward Webster, 57, died at his home in the East district Friday morning, Sept. 28. He had been ill for a long time but was able to be up and about the house; the end was very sudden early Friday morning. The funeral was held at his residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. H. M. Lawson being the officiating clergyman. Burial was in the East cemetery. Many relatives and friends from Enfield, Mass., the former home of the Webster family, attended the funeral. Relatives also came from Springfield, Attleboro, Monson and Woodstock. Mr. Webster is survived in the home circle by his aged father, George Webster, his step-mother and his young nephew Donald Webster. His brother, Harry Webster and his half-brother, Ethelbert Webster reside in Enfield, Mass. There are sisters, nephews, nices and cousins who mourn his death. It is less than two years since the Webster family came to Union to live, having previously purchased the farm known as the Anson Corbin place. The change from Enfield, Mass., was made because the farm there was to be flooded in building a reservoir to furnish water for Boston and vicinity. Ancestors of the Webster family lived in Union for many years and in the same school district grandfathers and grandmothers of Edward Webster must have attended the East school in the long ago. Some distant cousins and one not quite so distant are the only relatives of the family now residing in Union.

The recent frosty nights killed flowers and vegetables in some parts of the town, while on the hills nothing was much injured. Wednesday was a beautiful warm day.

Mrs. Lottie A. Baker, who was taken seriously ill a few weeks ago, was removed to the home of her sisters, Mrs. Linda Burnham and Mrs. Hattie Phillips, at Southbridge, Mass., Tuesday. A doctor and nurse accompanied her on the journey to Southbridge. Her sons, Louis Baker of New York and George Baker, dean of "The College of the South" in Tennessee also came to help. Mrs. Baker's sisters had been with her most of the time since she was taken seriously ill. Miss May Baker also accompanied her mother to Southbridge.

Mrs. H. A. Coolidge attended the meeting of the home economic directors of Tolland county, held recently at the home of Mrs. Sara White Dimock at Barrow.

MAJOR SPECULATIVE OPERATIONS WERE ON THE SIDE OF RISING PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 5—(AP)—Extremely irregular price movements took place in today's stock market, but major speculative operations were again on the side of rising prices. Pools again lifted more than a score of issues to record high levels, some of the gains running from 5 to 15 points, but final quotations also disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 6 points. Total sales again crossed the 4,000,000 share mark.

Lowering of the call money rate from 7 to 6 per cent, coupled with the announcement of another shipment of $5,000,000 in gold from London to New York, helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm. On the other hand, the widespread circulation of the bearish Raskob statement brought fresh selling into the market by frightened investors and speculators. The market apparently paid little attention to the further increase of $42,000,000 in federal reserve bank loans, which now stand at a record high level.

As in most recent sessions, trading showed a tendency to pick up on the rallies and slow down on the declines. Outside the stock market, chief speculative interest centered in the abandonment of the proposed Loree merger of southwestern roads. This brought some selling into the southwestern railroad issues, but the losses were held to a point or so. Merger and dividend rumors, involving several public utility, motor, food and drug companies, also played an important part in the day's advance.

Chrysler was again the spectacular individual feature, soaring more than 9 points to a new high record at 139 on a turnover of about 325,000 shares. General Motors closed a point lower at 214 1-2. Hupp attained a new top at 78 1-4 and Studebaker advanced to within a small fraction of its top on a heavy turnover. Hudson also changed hands in large volume at advancing prices but Packard and Mack Trucks lost ground.

U. S. Steel common closed unchanged at 159 5-8 but Bethlehem crossed 70 for the first time in six years in expectation of a dividend resumption at the January meeting of directors. A sharp advance of more than 8 points in American Zinc & Lead, which touched a new top at 65 1-4, featured the non-ferrous metal stocks.

Coty soared 21 points to a new high record at 293, or 160 points above the year's low, but lost 6 points of its gain on realizing. Among the many other issues to reach new high ground were Barnsdall A, International Nickel, General Ice Cream, Universal Pipe, Freeport Steel Car, Allied Chemical and Tidewater Oil.

Murray corporation broke 6 points to 100, or 12 points below the high established earlier in the week. Advance Rumely, Curtiss Aeroplane, Fox Film, Freeport Texas, Lehigh Portland Cement, St. Joseph Lead, U. S. Leather A, Warren Bros., Warren Pipe and Woolworth sold down 2 to nearly 4 points.

In the railroad group, Atlantic Coast Line sagged to 157 1-8, the lowest price in three years. Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Louisville & Nashville, Southern Pacific and Western Pacific preferred lost 2 points or more.

Commodities were again mixed, wheat prices advanced fractionally and cotton lost about 50 to 75 cents a bale. Coffee prices were slightly higher and sugar quotations held steady.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges held fairly steady in quiet trading, with sterling cables hovering around the year's low of $4.84 13-16.

CORCORAN AND MINER NOMINATED FOR REPRESENTATIVES, NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 5—The democratic city convention was held this evening. The delegates assembled at the municipal building and nominated two representatives to the legislature and 15 justices of the peace. The meeting was called to order by Joseph Keefe, chairman of the democratic town committee. Cornelius D. Twomey placed in nomination U. S. Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran and Timothy J. Sullivan nominated Waldo L. Miner for representative. Both nominations were seconded. Justices of the peace nominated were Nathan Belcher, William T. Connor, Russell H. Corcoran, William C. Fox, Charles E. Hickey, Frank L. McGuire, G. Curtis Morgan, Thomas R. Murray, John S. Sullivan, L. Lester Watrous, Waldo L. Miner, John L. White and Richard H. Hickey. The convention, through Michael L. O'Connell, introduced a vote pending to reveal the attitude of the democratic party relative to any attempt that might be made to obtain amendments to the city charter by having such a matter handled by a referendum vote after favorable action had been taken by the cities and boroughs committee. Because of the phraseology of the motion, which was opposed by Attorney William T. Connor, an amendment was adopted changing the phraseology so that any amendment placed before the legislative committee requesting an amendment, would carry with it a provision that no amendment could be made to the charter only by a vote of the citizens. Attorney Nathan Belcher, the recently nominated candidate of the democratic party for the office of judge of probate, succeeding the present incumbent, Arthur B. Calkins, resigned, addressed the meeting and pledged himself if elected, to conduct the duties of the office, to the best of his ability and with sympathy and due reason for all who appeared before him. Professor Snow, Wesleyan university, the democratic nominee for congress, Mr. Citron, Middletown, were present and addressed the delegates and spectators. In Prof. Snow's remarks, he stated that he had come to New London for the purpose of organizing an "Al" Smith club and that club membership papers had been placed at the Connecticut College for Women for the signatures of the young ladies, on the Smith club but four signatures were received, while on another membership petition for Herbert C. Hoover, the paper was entirely filled with the names of the students.

Mrs. Sarah Sisson, in walking along Huntington street this afternoon reported to the police that she lost a handbag containing a bank book and $40.

A fellow much the worse for over indulgence in liquor, went to police headquarters this evening and requested lodging. He was given it, but instead of occupying a bunk in the tramp room, he was assigned to a cell and will be in court tomorrow.

Patrolman James McKenna reported at headquarters this evening that one of the stone pillars at the entrance to Neptune park was in a dangerous condition and that a guy wire attached to a pole of the Connecticut Power company was down, as was an overhead wire. The matter of the wires was taken up with employes of the Connecticut Power company.

Eric Tilander, musician employed at one of the local playhouses, who has been visiting relatives in Worcester, has returned.

MISS GOLDIE B. BENJAMIN DIES AFTER HEART ATTACK

(Special to The Bulletin)

Miss Goldie B. Benjamin, 46, died early today at her residence, 36 Starr street, death being caused by heart disease, from which affliction she had been ill but a brief time. She is survived by two aunts, with whom she resided, Mrs. Edward H. Ludwig and Mrs. Smith, besides a sister, Mrs. H. W. Hedden of Waterford. Miss Benjamin was stricken last Wednesday night. She was born in Preston, Sept. 8, 1928, the daughter of Elijah L. and Ella W. Benjamin. She resided in Preston and Norwich until her removal to New London a number of years ago.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the drivers' licenses of Milo W. Eshiger, United States coast guard destroyer Cassin; John W. Murphy, 38 Nameaug avenue, and John Novellina, 158 Shaw street. Commissioner Stoeckel also denied the right to drive to Thomas W. Ely, United States coast guard, and ordered the return of the licenses of Samuel Hartley, 80 Maple avenue, and Robert J. Maloy, 349 Ocean avenue.

A small girl residing on Green street, who is a cripple as the result of paralysis, was taken to Lawrence-Memorial hospital last night because of troubles at the home of the child's parents when the father and mother engaged in a serious quarrel, which resulted in the father leaving home. Health Officer Benjamin N. Pennell was called into the case and saw to it that the girl was transferred to the hospital.

John A. Walter has sold a house and lot on Woodbridge street to Guiseppi and Maria Grillo.

A deed was received for record at the office of the city clerk today, whereby William Polinsky leases the store, 134 State street, from William and Joseph Savard for a term of years.

Three cases of intoxication were tried in the police court today and in each instance the accused was penalized. One fellow, who refused to pay for a meal at a Main street restaurant was fined $10 and costs. Another was sentenced to ten days in jail, but the execution of the sentence was suspended. A woman found drunk on Ocean avenue, was fined $5 and costs.

Mrs. James O'Connor and infant son of 40 Mountain avenue; Mrs. Irving Hendel and infant son, 887 Bank street; Mrs. Henry Kuhn and infant son, 45 Truman street; Morris Wein, 17 Grand street; Harry Reynolds, U. S. S. Pequot, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Mrs. Agnes C. Winslow of Union street was hostess Wednesday night at a whist given members of the Annie Laurie club. Winners of prizes were Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. John Kane, E. G. Black, Clark Maxson, James McElroy and Raymond J. Cluett.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hanson of 23 Williams street will celebrate the 20th anniversary of their marriage Monday afternoon and evening. They were married in Nova Scotia. Mr. Hanson is a conductor on the New Haven road.

At the meeting of the Men's club of the Y. M. C. A., P. LeRoy Harwood, president of the Mariners Savings bank, was the principal speaker. His discourse traced the history of the city of New London from its founding up to the present time and was enjoyed by every member present.

Hay grown by the city on property around Lake Konomoc was sold at public auction yesterday afternoon and brought $356. Due to the fact that the hay crop this summer was particularly good, bidding was very low.

Several horses around New London have died recently, due to their having eaten grass affected by bluemold. Veterinaries are warning farmers to watch the feed they give their animals.

The float at the ferry slip at Groton sank to the bottom of the Thames last night, due to the fact that it sprung a leak and became so filled with water that the chain supporting it snapped under the excessive weight. The float was brought to the top of the water this morning by the tug Reliance, which attached a line and pumped the water from the float.

ANNUAL KICK OFF FRIDAY OF BOYS' DIVISION, Y. M. C. A.

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 5—The annual kickoff of the boys' division of the New London Y. M. C. A. was held tonight with over 300 boys attending.

There were three simultaneous performances, and the boys received invitations on one of three colors of paper. The color determined into which of these three groups the boy would first go, but as all were given three times, every boy had a chance to see all before the evening was over.

One performance was in the boys' rooms, in charge of Ralph W. Matteson as captain; another was in rooms B, C and D, where Albert C. Woodruff was captain, while George E. Fisher officiated in the gymnasium. In the boys' rooms the entertainment consisted of an orchestra of boys and reels of moving pictures, given on one of the small machines by Edmund H. Chidsey. In rooms B, C and D the banjo bugs played and James Fallat, local magician was the entertainer, while in the gym the large moving picture machine was the attraction, with an athletic film and a comedy.

In addition to the captains of the rooms, whose duties it was to see that the programs moved along on schedule, three divisions, each under a chief met the boys as they entered the rooms and continued with them during the evening, acting as guiders of traffic as the groups moved from room to room and saw the three separate programs.

Division "A" was in charge of Chief George R. Tracy with assistants C. S. Bailey, William P. Benjamin and Edgar O. Demers from the Y Men's club, and Morris Bennett, Edgar Dunn, Richard Gray, Douglas Marston, Allen Beebe, Howard Hansen and Henry Knight from the Hi-Y club.

Fred L. Newton was chief od division B and his assistants from the Y men's club were J. Morgan Adams, Thos. L. Hagerty, Jr., and Braxton Rountree, while the Hi-Y club was represented by Barnard Colby, Thos. R. N. Gardner, Walter Vogt, Joseph Quinn, Joseph G. Darrow and Graham S. Hedden.

Division C had as its chief, E. Stanley Taylor, and for the Y Men's club Arthur E. Mortensen, William O. Stuart and George A. Williams, Jr., and for the Hi-Y club, A. Moreland Cunningham, Gilbert Hansen, Leonard Schoonman, Gordon Shepler, Edward Lund and Edgar Johns.

There was also a "gangplank division" whose duties were to see that the doors were opened at 7.30 and to take from each one entering the portion of his ticket which admitted him, and make sure that the blanks on this were properly filled out. The chief of this division was G. Cameron Macdonald. Frederick J. Smith and Marshall Ferguson represented the Y Men's club and James Morrissey, Richard R. Smith, S. Aleah Welt and William J. B. Barclay, the Hi-Y club.

The plan had been carefully worked out by Herbert W. Hicks, associate secretary in charge of boys' work for the association. Refreshments were not served this year, emphasis being placed on the program instead.

NEW LONDON, Oct. —At a meeting of the delegates of the republican party from Waterford and New London, held this afternoon at the local court house, Judge S. Victor Prince was nominated for the office of judge of the probate court.

WEST MYSTIC WOMEN INJURED IN COLLISION

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 5—Mrs. Richard Crandall and Mrs. Manuel Andrews, of West Mystic, sustained serious lacerations in an auto accident last night when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into one driven by Raymond Bailey of 11 Brewer street. Both machines were badly damaged and the two women were cut with glass from the broken windshield and were bruised and shaken up. State Trooper John H. Smith of the Groton barracks, after investigating the case discovered that Bailey was under the influence of liquor. Accordingly he is charged with being responsible for the accident. He was released upon bond for appearance in the Groton town court Monday morning.

At a meeting of the auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, held last night in the post rooms, Miss Josephine Irlandi resigned as president of the organization to the regret of the other members. Miss Irlandi is teaching in Hartford this year. For the remainder of the year the office will be filled by the senior vice president, Mrs. Agnes W. Connor. Saturday the auxiliary plans a social evening with cards and dancing.

The Woman's club voted at a meeting held last night in the Y. W. C. A. to donate $20 to the Red Cross relief fund for hurricane sufferers.

Edelweiss lodge, auxiliary to the order of Hermans Sons, will hold a dance. The affair is being arranged by Mrs. Mary Sarpu, Flora Sauersopf, Emma Rothen and Helen Krauth.

The Girls Reserve of the fifth and sixth grades held an election yesterday afternoon with the following result: President, Martha Bond; vice president, Minnie Harris; secretary, Catherine Asquis; treasurer, Agnes Hanson; program chairman, Helen Egger.

Members of St. Joseph's club have accepted an invitation to hold a joint meeting with the Catholic Women's club October 25. It was voted to donate ten dollars to the Red Cross fund for hurricane sufferers.

Miss Marion Shackley gave a miscellaneous showers Wednesday night in anticipation of the marriage of her sister Margaret. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Eric Swanson of 11 Grand street.

Albert Raymond Crocker, formerly of this city, now of Warwick, R. I., married Monday, Mrs. Ethl May Chelspending a portion of their honeymoon few of Fitchburg, Mass. Mr. Crocker is a brother of Mrs. John Crandall of Waterford and he and his bride are at her home.

The Italian Ladies' Aid society held a meeting last night in the rooms of the Catholic Women's club for the purpose of making final plans for the huge Columbus day celebration to be held in this city Friday next. Fifty-five out of a membership of 67 were in attendance.

WOMAN SOLD HOME BREW, WAS ARRESTED FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 5—Mrs. Rose Allen, 14 Shaw street was arrested today charged with violation of the liquor law and was released in bail of $1,000, pending her appearance in the police court tomorrow. The police obtained evidence that Mrs. Allen was selling liquor at her home and this information being laid before Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, Judge S. Victor Prince issued a search warrant. Motorcycle Officer Clarence Martin and Patrolmen George Cockell and Cornelius Moriarty went to the Shaw street house and after having little difficulty in obtaining entrance, searched the house thoroughly. A gallon of alcohol, and two quarts of homemade whiskey were found. This was seized as evidence against Mrs. Allen.

A new traffic signal is being set up at the corner of Montauk avenue and Bank street, one of the most dangerous traffic centers in the city. The signal is of the automatic type, similar to that installed earlier in the week at the corner of Bank and Howard streets. It is the intention of City Manager William A. Holt to cause this type of signal to be installed in other points of the city and where heavy travel exists.

ALWAYS LATE MAN, MAN ASKS TARDY BURIAL

LONDON—(AP)—The only time Percy Goodban, an English dry goods merchant, was ever known to keep an appointment on time was at his funeral, and that wasn't his fault.

In his will he said, "As I have always had the reputation of being late for my appointments, my joy will be to be late at my funeral—may it long be postponed—and I hope my friends will enjoy the joke. Make me ten minutes late."

Unfortunately the undertaker did not learn of this clause in the will and the merchant was buried on time.

MEDICAL CONGRESS SEES EXHIBIT OF HERB CURES

BUDAPEST —(AP)—The international medical congress has prepared an exhibition of herb cures, witch remedies and various magic medicines in connection with its forthcoming meeting.

Approximately 6,000 species of medicinal herbs are grown in Hungary and their "healing" juices are shipped throughout the world. Originally, many of the plants are thought to have come from Asia Minor during the Turkish occupation.

Hungarian peasants cling to their superstitions. Old farmers have often been known to refuse medical help and depend on the healing power of herbs.

New Dewberry Popular.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The Young dewberry, a comparatively new variety, is rapidly becoming established in the south. Alabama growers expect to plant several hundred acres this winter for carload shipments to northern markets. A considerable acreage already is in fruit in southern parts of the state.

AMERICAN BATHING SUIT POPULAR WITH CZECHS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — American wool bathing suits, recently introduced in Czechoslovakia, are finding a wide sale, Elbert Baldwin, United States commercial attache at Prague, informs the department of commerce.

Czechoslovakia has a highly developed knit goods industry which supplies by far the greater part of the domestic exports to foreign markets, Mr. Baldwin says. Most of the imported goods, such as bathing suits, are sold on a quality basis or as a specialty.

Build Benzol Plant.

TORONTO—(AP)—Construction of a benzol plant for the Algoma Steel company is understood to form a part of the $12,000,000 building program of the Lake Superior corporation. Erection of large coal docks and improvement at Michipicoten harbor also is contemplated.

FOREST FIRE DANGERS CONQUERED BY LOGGERS

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(AP)—Forest fire due to the operation of logging equipment has been for two years an unknown experience in the national forests of New Mexico and Arizona.

Officials of the federal forest service credit the victory to many years' effort in building up strict observances of a code of preventative measures for the fire season. Above all, they say, this freedom from fires caused by lumber equipment means that a real will to prevent them has been created among the loggers.

Reports for the whole of the United States show that in 1927 the total area of protected land burned was 2,734,000 acres and the damage amounted to $4,297,000 as against 4,765,000 acres burned and a damage of $15,043,000 the year before. This was achieved in spite of the fact that the number of fires reported increased from 36,687 in 1926 to 38,300 in 1927.

The Expensive Chow

HONGKONG, (AP)—One of every 12 chow dogs sent to the United States from this port arrives there in good condition, shippers calculate. Most of the dogs die on shipboard during the voyage.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

Billie Dove is probably the only motion picture star who combines a "camera proof face" with a "costume proof figure."

The professional terms refer to a face that is never distorted by any possible camera angle, and a figure that has no weaknesses for the costumer's art to eliminate.

In her latest starring vehicle for First National Pictures, "The Yellow Lily," Miss Dove's face and figure are displayed to the greatest advantage, however, thanks to the arts of the studio photographers, electricians and costume experts. She has never appeared so beautiful on the screen; a fact due in part to the new system of incandescent lighting used throughout the production.

"The Yellow Lily" comes to the Breed theatre Sunday. In this colorful romance of Hungarian life, adapted from Lajo Biro's stage play of the same title, Clive Brook plays opposite Miss Dove, and an unusual aggregation of character artists forms the supporting cast.

Dance, Lawrence Ballroom

Everybody in town is getting ready for the monster circus and dance at Lawrence Ballroom, Bank street, New London, on Monday evening, Oct. 8. At noon sharp, Middy, the clown, will arrive to entertain before the big dance. For what circus is complete without a clown like Middy? The irresistible mirth provocator, the creator of antics and jokes, that convulse old and young with laughter is coming to town. Ringling's most noted rube cop will also be on hand to direct the traffic caused by the anxious crowd going to the big indoor circus and dance at Lawrence Ballroom, New London. Music will be furnished by the famous Miner-Doyle orchestra, direct from Roseland Ballroom, New York city. Dancing from 8 to 1 a. m. Step on the gas, all roads lead to New London, to the big circus and dance.

Next Week at First Baptist Church

Monday, 3.00 p. m. Women's Mission circle meets with Mrs. D. L. Browning, 219 Maple street. Leader, Mrs. Edward C. Dunbar. The World Wide Guild will present "Cutting the Budget Cake." 6.30 p. m. Monthly supper and business meeting of the Philathea class at the church. Hostesses Mrs. Harry Clark, Mrs. Charles Hambien and Miss Mary Delbeare.

Picture Service Sunday at Y. M. C. A.

At 4 p. m. in the large Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on the coming Sunday, the first of the fall series of moving picture services will be held. The picture is titled "Shepherd of the Hills."

This is an elaborate screening of Harold Bell Wright's famous classic depicting life among the picturesque Ozark mountains. The motion picture version carries the same human heart appeal as does the original story by this famed writer.

Alec B. Francis and Molly O'Day are prominent characters in the picture story.

To this service both sexes are cordially invited, though boys and girls under fourteen are not expected; however those eleven and over may attend if accompanied by parents.

Hugh Kinder will furnish music for the service and a brief talk in line with the picture will be given.

An offering will be taken.

Schwartz Bros. Buy Old Established Furniture Store.

A complete purchase of the entire furniture stock of the Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co., of Meriden, Conn., was announced by Schwartz Bros., of this city. The purchase was one of the largest made in the state of Connecticut in many years and involved several thousands of dollars. The Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co., was one of the most famous high grade furniture houses in New England, and has been established in the city of Meriden for 74 years, and sold its merchandise through the entire New England section. The announcement of its selling out and retirement from business came as a surprise to the entire furniture trade. Schwartz Bros., it was further announced, will dispose of the stock through its store in Norwich, preparations for its sale to the public are now in progress. During these preparations, the store will be closed to the public for three days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 8th, 9th and 10th. The Griswold, Richmond & Glock merchandise is being shipped by truck from Meriden and great loads are arriving daily at the store where it is being arranged and being prepared for the sale in the store's showrooms and warehouses.

WHAT THE NEW YORK REVIEWERS SAID ABOUT "STREET ANGEL"

"A most appealing production which will strike the fancy of the patrons at the Globe. Miss Gaynor more colorful than ever before. I think I have not in a year sat with an audience so quiet, so attentive and so apparently eager to miss nothing of what was going on before it."—Morning World.

"If you saw Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in '7th Heaven' you will not want to miss them in their latest production."—American.

"A picture of wonderful beauty. This entrancing production was directed by Frank Borzage; in it the leading roles are finely portrayed by Janet Gaynor and Chas. Farrell. Never has the camera been used quite so effectively and artistically as it is in this subject."—Times (Mordaunt Hall).

"Miss Gaynor and Mr. Farrell are just as good in this picture as they were in '7th Heaven.' "—Evening World.

"In 'Street Angel,' Miss Gaynor settles all doubts of her status by giving what is probably the finest of her portrayals." —Herald-Tribune.

GREENEVILLE

Members of No. 18, Ladies' auxiliary, A. O. H., met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Grace Mumford on North Main street to reorganize their sewing class for the coming year. The class is to be known as the K. B. club and plain and fancy sewing is to be taken up. Mrs. Carroll was appointed leader. Mrs. Mumford, assisted by Mrs. Simon Fahey and Mrs. William Carrigan, served a delicious luncheon of sandwiches, cake and coffee. A large class has enrolled and the coming meeting promises to be very busy. After the sewing, a social hour was enjoyed with radio, vocal and piano solos featuring. The class had voted to hold a meeting once a week at the home of one of its members. Besides being a help to its members in the art of learning fancy sewing and lamp-shade making, it makes an evening of enjoyment for after each meeting a social hour is held which in the past has been most successfully arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Filburn and son, Thomas, Jr., are spending a few days at the home of her sister at New York city. While there Mr. Filburn planned to attend the two games of the world's series held in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Evans and Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Smith avenue have returned to their homes after spending Thursday at Brockton, Mass. While there, they attended the Brockton fair.

Miss Jennie Supicki is spending her week-end recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Supicki, of Golden street. Mrs. J Supicki of Golden street. Miss Supicki is a student at the Willimantic State Normal Training school.

A birthday party was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Flynn in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter Lois with about 15 of her little friends present. During the afternoon many games were played and enjoyed by the children. Miss Ruth Crowe won the peanut hunting contest, while Donald Flynn was awarded the prize for pinning the tail on the donkey. The children marched into the dining room where refreshments were served, which consisted of fancy cakes, assorted cookies, candies and ice cream. Mrs. Flynn was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Harold Mansfield and Mrs. James Mara. The dining room was very prettily decorated for the occasion with the color scheme of orange and black Hallowe'en colors being used. Each guest received a favor which was of a Hallowe'en type basket filled with candies. Radio and piano solos were rendered during the afternoon. Miss Ruth Crowe, in a very pleasing manner, sang several popular songs while Peggy Mara gave a clever exhibition of the Charleston dance. The party was from 4 until 6 o'clock. Among the guests present were: Jean Perry, Mary Bray, Elizabeth Wolfenbergs, Alberta Freeman, Ruth Crowe, Ethel Disco, Doris Winterbottom, Marjorie Flynn, Peggy Mara, Lois Flynn, William Mansfield, Elmer John Flynn, Jr., and Donald Flynn. The little hostess was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts among which were gold pieces and money. A very enjoyable afternoon was had by all.

John Bowker and daughter, Alice, of Mowry avenue are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolf in Westfield, Mass.

Mrs. Andrew White and son, Thomas, of Central avenue, and Mrs. Lena Crowe of Taftville spent Wednesday in South Manchester as guests of Mrs. Robb.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Conklin of Prospect street and daughter, Miss Dorothy Conklin, with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gadbois of New London, are on a motor trip to Maine, New Hampshire and Canada.

Mrs. Lillian Mills of Sixth street is the guest of her son, William Mills, in Danielson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sweet of Central avenue were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Morgan of Lyme.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lund, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hill and daughter, Miss Viola Hill, are enjoying an auto trip to Brockton, Plymouth, Mass., and Portland, Me.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Third Baptist church held the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elmer Mullen on Boswell avenue. At the meeting it was voted by the members to donate a sum of money to be given to the Red Cross. Plans were discussed for the annual sale in December. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Comins spent the week-end as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross at Pleasure Beach.

OBITUARY

Miss Bertha Walenda

The life of Miss Bertha Walenda came to a peaceful close after a short illness, Thursday. She suffered an attack of appendicitis. The deceased was born in Scranton, Pa., and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Walenda. She is 20 years old. Most of her life was spent in Scranton but she has lived in Norwich three years. She was employed at the B. and A. silk mill where she has made many friends and acquaintances. Besides her parents the deceased is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Chapman Bruce and the Misses Nellie, Anna and Helen Walenda, and one brother, Edward Walenda. Her many friends in this vicinity will grieve to learn of her sudden death.

TAFTVILLE

The funeral of Francis McCarthy took place from the funeral parlors of George G. Grant, Monday morning. A mass of requiem was sung by the Rev. Father Chicoine at 10 o'clock at the Sacred Heart church with a large attendance of friends and relatives present from Springfield, South Manchester and Norwich. The bearers were John, James and Jeremiah McCarthy, brothers of the deceased, and James, Frank and Albert Noian. Interment was in the Baltic cemetery where Rev. Father Mandier read the committal service at the grave.

Eugene Nafis of North A street spent Friday in New York attending the world's series.

Local members of the Norwich Choral society attended the first rehearsal of Handel's Messiah, which was held in the Slater hall annex on Thursday evening under the direction of Doctor Erb of the Connecticut college.

A rehearsal for the minstrel to be given in the Lisbon community hall was held on Thursday evening with George W. Weller, Jr., in charge.

The monthly meeting of the German Shooting club was held on Friday evening in the club rooms in Ellisville.

Local people appreciate hearing the broadcasting of the innings of the world series games through the courtesy of George W. Weller, who has the loud speaker of a radio outside of his store.

A teachers' conference for the teachers of the towns of Lisbon, Canterbury, Sterling, Voluntown and Scotland was held at the new Newent school in Lisbon on Friday under the direction of Edwin B. Floyd, supervisor of schools in those towns. Because of this conference the children enjoyed a holiday.

Rally day invitations have been issued for the rally day services to be held Sunday at the Taftville Congregational church school. Rev. Mr. Reeves of Norwich Town will be the speaker for the rally day services. The home department, parents and friends are invited to attend this service. Mr. Reeves will preach at the regular Sunday morning service also.

FEW CITIZENS HAVE ANY SUGGESTIONS TO MAKE ON CHANGES IN CHARTER

In order to secure views and suggestions of the citizens of the city regarding the proposed new city charter, the charter revision committee appointed several months ago, held a public hearing Friday evening in the mayor's office at the court house. The meeting was announced for the town hall but owing to the small attendance adjournment was taken to the mayor's office. There were only four or five persons present besides the members of the commission.

Mayor Lee Roy Robbins presided. Several suggestions were offered by those present, none of them calling for any radical change in the charter. The charter commission has brought the present charter uptodate, incorporating all the numerous amendments and changes made since the original charter was drawn in 1871.

One of the suggestions offered for consideration were the changing of the city election from annually to biennially, so that the mayor and the entire list of city officers would all be elected at the same time, instead of the present practice of electing the mayor every two years and half of the common council each year. Another suggestion was that the city clerk be appointive and that it be a full time position. The suggestion was also made that the police department be placed on the same basis as the fire department, as far as appointments to the police force and promotions are concerned, instead of having to bring appointments and promotions before the common council.

There was also a suggestion made that the city employ a city engineer on a full time basis. It was also suggested by one of those present that a finance board with veto power on city meeting appropriations of $5,000 or over might work to the city's advantage.

No action was taken on any of the suggestions, as the meeting took the form of a general discussion on the various topics brought up. All of the suggestion made will receive due consideration by the charter commission.

LIQUOR RAID ARREST ON NORTH MAIN STREET

Armed with a search warrant a squad of local police raided the soft drink establishment at No. 35 North Main street about 8.30 o'clock Friday evening, and as a result of the raid, Paul Zemke, 44, alleged proprietor, was arrested on a charge of violation of the liquor law. The police found about 30 cases of allege dbeer in the place and confiscated it. The beer was transported to police headquarters. Zemke was held under bonds of $1,000 and will be presented in the city court this (Saturday) morning. The raiding squad comprised Sergt. Matthew Delaney and Officers Quinn, Pounch, Hanks and Shahan.

CAR STOLEN WHILE OWNER ATTENDS THEATRE

William James Smith of Jewett City reported at police headquarters Friday night that his Ford touring car which he had parked in Broadway while he was attending the theatre was gone when he looked for it to go home in.

The police were on the lookout for it during the night, but without results up to press time. The search was made more difficult as Mr. Smith was not able to supply the registration number of the machine.

CITIZENS ARE TO HEAR REPORT ON CONSOLIDATION

A special city meeting will be held on the evening of Monday, October 15, relative to action on the report of the special committee appointed sometime ago to consider the question of consolidation of the city and town. The committee was appointed some time ago to consider and report to a special city meeting to be held not later than the 15th of this month as to the advisability of annexing any part or all of the town to the city. The committee will have its report ready for submission to the voters of the city at the special city meeting a week from next Monday.

Patent to Groton Man

William H. Babcock of Groton has been granted a patent on a dirigible headlight for automobiles, according to the official gazette dated Sept. 11.

HORSES DIE FROM EATING MOLDY GRASS

A warning to farmers to take horses off pasture land has been sounded in the death of several horses from eating grass on which blue mold has formed.

Two horses were found dead and another was found lying down and breathing brokenly by Angelo Filosi in pasture land at the Yale Engineering camp in East Lyme Thursday. A veterinary was called and pronounced the deaths caused by the horses eating moldy grass. The sick horse was too far gone to be saved by medical attention and it was dispatched.

Mr. Filosi missed one of the horses about two weeks ago and, thinking it had strayed, issued a warning of his loss and conducted a search. No trace of the animal was found until yesterday when in thoroughly searching the pasture land near the Yale camp he discovered the dead animals. Near the two dead horses was the third, which was nearly dead.

Mrs. Andrew Beck of Flanders has also lost a horse which ate the grass with the blue mold on it, and two horses owned by a farmer in the Chesterfield section are said to have died.

According to a veterinary, the blue mold causes a depression of the heart and of the central nervous system in horses which eat it and they stagger around attempting to find something on which to lean their heads. Unless medical attention is given, the eating of a quantity of the moldy grass results fatally.

Cattle have not been affected by eating of any of the moldy grass and it is said that it is not fatal to them.

The blue mold is the result of continued periods of rainy and damp weather.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY POQUETANUCK ASSOCIATION

The Poquetanuck Parent-Teachers' association held its annual meeting for the election of officers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Appleton Main. The officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Appleton Main; vice president, Mrs. John Taylor; treasurer, Rev. Thomas Ockford; secretary, Mrs. Harry Beckwith; auditor, Mr. Appleton Main; publicity, Mrs. Raymond Beckwith; sick committee, Mrs. George Mansfield. After the business meeting a pleasing program was given as follows: Piano selections, Cabaletta Minuet in G by Clara Bogue; songs, Memories of France, by Lois Beckwith; Little Mother of Mine, by Marguerite Miller; readings by Mrs. Harry Beckwith and Mrs. Appleton Main.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by the hostess.

STATE CHAIRMAN FOR HOOVER-CURTIS LEGION

Colonel Charles H. Allen of Rockville has been appointed by J. Henry Roraback, chairman of the republican state central committee, to direct the work of the Hoover-Curtis Legion in Connecticut. The Hoover-Curtis Legion is being organized throughout the country for the purpose of aiding the campaign of the republican national ticket. The money will be used in assisting the conduct of the national campaign. The organization of state units of this work was based upon Herbert Hoover's recent statement: "Every presidential campaign is an important educational period in national issues. It is the duty of political parties to present their views and the issues to the public. This involves a legitimate expenditure of money, all of which is publicly accounted for. Therefore, all those who are interested in the issues and the republican party should assist the committee in this work."

Local committees will be organized in each community in the state as soon as contact is made with the various members of the state committee and chairmen of the town committees. Colonel Allen's office will be in Hartford.

CHILDREN ENDANGER LIVES BY STREET PLAYING

Children not only endanger their own lives by playing in the streets or crossing in violation of traffic law, but they also endanger the lives of motor vehicle drivers, according to the City Officials' organization. A large number of serious accidents occurred last year when motorists swerved from their course in order to avoid striking children, it was stated.

Parents were asked to play a part in educating the child in the principles of courtesy and caution. "It is not enough for the parents to warn children to be careful when they are sent off to school. The child must be taught the whys and wherefores of the warning in a simple and convincing manner. It should be made to appear a point of honor for children to be cautious and to encourage each other to be cautious.

"By education in the home and reiteration in the schoolroom, the children of this country should soon become more responsible while on the street and highway."

Parent-teacher associations, civic clubs and church organizations were asked by the City Officials' division to launch local movements for the protection of children.

These organizations may appeal to their individual members to set an example for their children and to call attention to that example. They may organize elaborate local movements in behalf of courtesy and caution. In these they will receive the cooperation of the American Road Builders' association through the City Officials' division at Washington, D. C.

FIRST SPIRITUAL UNION PREPARES FOR SEASON

At the recent annual meeting of the First Spiritual union of this city held at the Spiritual Academy, Park street, the usual reports of the various committees were read and approved. The regular committees were re-elected, and auxiliary committees appointed. Amendments were made to the by-laws, and various other important transactions performed. There was an unusually large attendance of members and the union was declared and proven to be in as fine a financial condition as at any former period.

This meeting was followed by the annual meeting of the Helping Hands, the auxiliary society to the First Spiritual union, and the entire board of officers was re-elected with one or two exceptions, when additional members were voted into active duties. Plans were made for the coming season and activities have already commenced, in the form of socials and sewing societies.

The Spiritual Academy opens this coming Sunday under flourishing conditions and will present as its first speaker and medium on that occasion Mrs. Harriet Hindley of Providence, R. I., who will officiate at both services. The customary sessions of the Progressive lyceum will be held at 1.30 p. m. as in former years.

Automobiles in Collision

Automobiles driven by Harold G. Averill of Cranston, R. I., and Theophile H. Pepin of Jewett City sustained minor damage when in collision Friday afternoon at the corner of North Main street and Central avenue. The accident was reported at police headquarters.

Sent to State Hospital

William Gleason, 35, of Ansonia, was taken into custody Friday afternoon by Officer Barney Keenan. The man's condition was found such that he was committed to the Norwich State hospital and was taken there by Selectman William S. Murray.

SEDAN KNOCKS DOWN POST OFFICE OFFICIALS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 5—Charles J. Mulvey of New London, postoffice inspector, and Frank Stanton, postmaster at Stonington, were struck and knocked down Friday evening about 8 o'clock on Main street by the Ford sedan driven by Patrick Collins, who was on his way to Misquamicut beach. Mulvey and Stanton, while walking from the Briggs building toward the Washington Trust Co., had reached the center of the street when the forward left mudguard of the car hit Mulvey's leg and knocked him against Stanton and both were thrown to the street.

Mulvey's clothing was torn and he suffered an abrasion of the left leg, while Stanton has an abrasion beneath the left eye, both being shaken up. They were taken to the office of Dr. John F. Helfrich. Collins, who was accompanied by Patrick Ward, Francis Collins and Patrick C. Collins, was detained at police headquarters by Lieut. George Champlin, who in investigating, found the car had been brought to a stop almost immediately after the men had been struck. Collins claimed not to have seen the men in the street. Satisfactory agreements were made between the parties involved and there were no arrests.

The topic of the evening message will be "Why Love Our Enemies?"

NORWICH TOWN

WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT MEETING AT FIRST CHURCH

In spite of the rain there was a good attendance Friday afternoon at the first program meeting of the Woman's department of the league of service of the First Congregational church. The meeting was in charge of two members of the program committee, Mrs. Charles Barber and Miss Susan Hyde. Mrs. Barber led the devotional exercises. Eight goals for the coming year were considered. Mrs. Dwight Avery gave a short report of the meeting in Hartford where the council of Congregational women was finally organized. Miss Eleanor Moore sketched briefly the Young People's movement, which they called Crusading With Christ. Miss Louise Hopping told of churches for the colored people in New Haven and Hartford. Following this part of the program Miss Louise Sterritt gave pleasure by a vocal selection, playing her own accompaniment. After interesting letters from Rev. Edward H. Smith and Mrs. Smith of China, attention was turned to Africa, when Lucile Browning told of an experience with a witch doctor. Miss Rose Durr told of a heathen wedding, while Mrs. Carlos Ricker noted what is being done to turn the enthusiasm of the young people of Africa into proper channels.

After a hymn and the Mizpah benediction, there was a social hour during which Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Ricker poured tea, assisted by the Misses Durr, Browning, Moore and Sterry. Miss Hyde accompanied for the hymn singing.

The junior C. E. society of the First Congregational church is to begin its weekly services Sunday afternoon Oct. 7.

There is to be a special public service Sunday evening at 7.15 in the Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church. The pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, with the assistance of the choir is to give a hymn talk. The subject will be "Hymns of Our Faith". Rev. Mr. Potter will tell the history of some of the favorite hymns of the church and the circumstances under which they were written. After the story is told the hymn will be sung, as solos, as duets, or by a quartet or the entire choir. Mrs. Lewis Aldrich, choir director is assigning the parts. Mrs. LeRoy Miner will be at the organ. A feature will be the singing of "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old" with pantomime by Virginia Ward.

WHITE HOUSE COFFEE
The Flavor is Roasted In!

There's somebody like him in every office

LISTLESSLY he begins the day. But he has no grip on his job. His desk piles up with unfinished work. As people help and pity him, he realizes that he might as well face the truth. He is through. The pace is too much. Something has been stealing his energy—killing his ambition. He isn't sick—and yet, somehow, he never feels well.

Thousands of men are falling behind the crowd, all because they fail to realize how deadly constipation is. Constipation can wreck the strongest body. Headaches, sleepless nights, listlessness, wan complexions are just a few of its early symptoms. In the end, it often leads to serious disease.

What a pity more people do not know there is such prompt relief from this terrible scourge! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation safely. More—to prevent it just as surely.

Only ALL-BRAN is 100% effective

It is bulk that relieves constipation. Because it is 100% bran, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies bulk in generous quantity. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is usually too small to be completely effective. That's why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN brings natural relief

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is totally different from dangerous drugs and pills whose dose must be constantly increased to be effective. It works as nature works. The health of the entire family can be maintained by serving ALL-BRAN in some form every day.

A pleasant cereal. To eat with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

But get genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

COST $500,000 TO PRESERVE PEACE IN AUSTRIA SUNDAY

Two Political Organizations Meeting at Wiener Newstadt, Although Secretly Armed, Failed to Meet in Combat—Sixty Communists Were Arrested—Extraordinary Precautions by the Army and Police Are Believed to Have Frustrated the Plans of the Communists, of Whom There Are About 3,000 in Austria—Red Cross Nurses, Doctors and Fleets of Motor Ambulances Gave the City a Warlike Appearance.

WIENER NEUSTADT, Austra, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The hure rival propaganda meetings of the social democrats and home defense leaguers today passed without disorder under the vigilant guard of thousands of armed soldiers. Sixty communists who staged a demonstration here were arrested and double that number were taken in custody at Pottendorf.

Due perhaps to the awesome presence of the troops not a shot disturbed the Sabbath quiet of this home of Austria's former kings. The two belligerent political organizations, although secretly well-armed, contented themselves with verbal broadsides.

Simultaneous gatherings of the social democrats who control the city of Vienna and the heimwehr, or home defense league of Christian socialists who control the federal government, presented a strange blending of a hilarious picnic and a kinetic military manoeuvre wholly unedifying to a foreigner. "Such a ludicrous affair," said one prominent American tourist, "could only occur among guileless Austrians."

The home defense leaguers, in dinky coats of olive green juvenile knickerbockers and green bonnets from which a large Tyrolese feather protruded, contributed to the affair a distinct circus-like aspect. Although the marchers carried pickaxes, hatchets, shovels and long metal lances, armed conflict was so far removed that religious services were actually held, the marchers pausing and bending their bare knees to the cold, damp earth to get fervently in the prayer uttered by their chaplain.

While the main show produced no fireworks several sideshows were more productive. The social democrats were dispersing after their meeting when a group of 40 communists led by Victor Stern, Moravian member of the Czechoslovak parliament, deluged the streets with inflammatory circulars calling upon the socialists to slaughter the home defense leaguers and to use violence against the national government.

They were subdued quickly and unrested by gendarmes. Among them was the Communist Editor Slansky of the Brunn Tageblatt, and Franz Lauscher, a leading Austrian communist.

The extraordinary precautions taken by the army and police are believed to have frustrated the plans of communists, of whom there are about 3,000 in Austria. At Pottendorf last night 31 were arrested while discussing subversive plans in an inn. They were cooped up in freight cars for transportation to Vienna. While en route to the capital one of them pulled the emergency bell cord of the locomotive which brought the train to a sudden halt. This was a signal for the communists to make a dash for liberty. The majority were recaptured and sent on to Vienna but others escaped.

In upper Exzendorf and Berzenland the police headed off contingents of communists who were marching in solid formation toward Wiener Neustadt.

In this city the 22,00 Heimwehr followers who had been listening for several hours to the oratory and invective of their leaders ended their meeting precisely as scheduled at noon and marched quietly off to make room for 45,000 socialists who met in the same great public square hung with flaming red bunting.

A cordon of 3,000 armed soldiers with barricades of barbed wire skept the words belligerents safely apart. On a plateau overlooking the town the army had constructed a veritable Gibraltar with howitzers trained upon the public square where the meetings were held. The town itself, which is only an hour's journey from Vienna, was alive with machine guns, mortars, bayonets and rifles held by vigilant soldiers.

Two hundred white robed Red Cross nurses and doctors equipped with first aid materials were posted at strategic points. Fleets of motor ambulances manned by stretcher bearers also contributed in making the scene more warlike than Austrians had seen since the country faced the allied armies a decade ago.

Those of the inhabitants who remained in the city took up vantage points on the roofs or at windows to watch the colorful processions.

While criticism continued against the government for permitting these gatherings, in which it cost the state $300,000 to maintain peace and order, Chancellor Seipel defends it all by saying that the right of unrestricted political assembly in Austria must not be abridged.

GOV. SMITH THIS WEEK TO CAMPAIGN IN TENNESSEE

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 7—(AP)—After a week of steady devotion to every detail connected with his next stumping tour, Governor Smith will turn southward from Albany Tuesday or Wednesday for a series of conferences with party leaders in his native city of New York and in Chattanooga and Nashville, Tenn., before making his first set speech of the trip next Saturday night at Louisville, Ky.

The complete itinerary, including stops en route for the trip to Tennessee and beyond Louisville, remained unsettled, the democratic presidential nominee deciding that it would be best to wait until all arrangements for halls, radio hook-ups and pauses for personal platform appearances had been completed before making any official announcement.

The nominee is not expected to get away from Albany before Tuesday noon at the earliest. Accompanied by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. John A. Warner, their elder daughter, several close friends and political advisors, and a group of newspapermen, he will take a regular train to New York and devote at least the better part of a day to conferences with leaders and officials at democratic national headquarters.

Thursday morning he will board his special train, which has been overhauled in the New York Central yards in New York, for the journey to the border state of Tennessee, just evacuated by Herbert Hoover, his republican opponent.

All of Friday will be spent in discussions with party chieftains at Chattanooga and Nashville and his arrival in Louisville probably will be so timed as to permit participation in a big reception before he takes the platform for his night address.

While no speeches are scheduled in the "solid south," a good part of Dixie is expected to be traversed on the way to Tennessee, and platform appearances for meeting and greeting crowds along the way probably will be made in three states.

LONE BANDIT HELD UP LARGE THEATRE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 7—(AP)—A lone bandit tonight robbed the Chicago theatre, one of the city's largest motion picture houses of $6,400 and escaped without a trace.

He entered the treasurer's office on the first basement floor just after the day's receipts had been carred there by B. Cobb, theatre treasurer, accompanied by a uniformed policeman. The policeman, after guarding him on the 100 foot walk from the box office, had left.

There were five other men in the room with Cobb.

A few minutes after the policeman left, an unmasked man opened the door, shoved a pistol into the side of the man nearest him, and ordered Cobb to hand over the money. Cobb complied.

ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY OF DIAMOND MERCHANT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7—(AP)—Three men were arrested here today by police investigating the report of Murray Lang, New York diamond merchant that he had been kidnaped here last week and robbed of $200,000 worth of gems. All the men said they were from New York.

NEW SAFETY DEVICE FOR USE ON RAILROADS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Adoption of an electrical machine designed to sweep from the tracks of American railways the broken rail source of accidents was announced today by the American Railway association.

The association described it as "one of the most important safety moves in years, which will add a new factor of security to the work already done in decreasing the number of broken rails."

The trouble aimed at is "rail cancer" the cracks known as transverse fissures, which are invisible, because they start inside the rail and show no warning sign until the rail breaks. The machine adopted to catch this invisible menace proceeds along the rail at seven miles an hour, methodically squirting a dab of white paint on any spot where one of these hidden cancers exists. It starts within a week on a demonstration tour of the principal American railways, giving each line about a week.

The fissure detector is housed in what resembles a covered handcar, which is towed over the rails under inspection. It was invented by Elmer A. Sperby, the New York scientist who perfected the gyroscopic compass. It runs an electric current through the rails directly beneath the car. The hidden breaks which this current will meet, if they exist, are described by the American Railway Engineering association as less than a molecule in thickness. Nevertheless this tiniest of cracks disturbs the electric current.

SPORTSMEN PROTEST THE KILLING OF FEMALE DEER

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 7—(AP)—Sportsmen who own much of the best deer-hunting land of Monroe, Pike, Northampton and Wayne counties, in northeastern Pennsylvania, are threatening to close their property to hunters as a protest against a ruling of the state game commission permitting the killing of female or antlerless dee from Dec. 1 to Dec. 15. Others are considering seeking an injunction against the expected slaughter.

For years female deer have been protected from hunters, but the commission removed the ban after receiving reports of a great excess of does and complaint of farmers that deer had become so numerous they had exhausted their natural sources of food supply and were damaging crops.

The commission declared a special open season for does and at the same time closed the regular season on bucks. The commission estimates there are 25 or 30 does in the state to every buck

GOVERNMENT HONORS 70-YEAR OLD MONEY ORDER

DEERFIELD, Mass., Oct. 7—(AP)—A 70-year old money order has been honored by the government and Major A. Frank Hutchins, of this town has received a check for $20. The money order was sent by Asa B. Munn, of Chicago to his brother, Philo Munn, of this town in 1858. It was found as a book mark in a bible when Major Hutchins inherited Philo Munn's estate in 1903. Payment was refused several times, but Major Hutchins persisted in his efforts until the order was finally recognized.

ROME, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Italian government has sent to Paris and London its reply to the memorandum concerning the Anglo-French naval agreement.

KASCHAU, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 7—(AP)—Nine persons were killed and nineteen seriously injured when a train struck a motorbus filled with tourists near here.

LONDON, Oct. 7—(AP)—Captain Victor Gordon, high commissioner for Newfoundland in London since 1924, died Saturday of the effects of wounds received in the great war. He was 44 years ago.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 7—(AP)—The newspaper Djimhurriett, semi-official organ of the people's party, published a long whispered rumor that the Turkish parliament intends to pass a law soon prohibiting the use of any language other than Turkish throughout Turkish territory.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 7—(AP)—Prince Regent Nicholas, returning from a romantic interlude in Paris, arrived here last night and was greeted at the station by Dowager Queen Marie. The queen was accompanied by almost the entire government, including a military and civilian court suite.

PLANE NARROWLY ESCAPED CRASHING INTO A TREE

DARIEN, Conn., Oct. 7—(AP)—John Phillips, pilot and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Malkin, of Norwalk, narrowly escaped death today when the plane in which they were flying crashed into a tree at the Darien landing field. Philips had taken the couple up for a short flight from the Darien flying field in a plane owned by the Fairfield Flying Service, Inc., and had circled the field once when spectators noticed his motor had stalled. A few seconds later the plane headed for the field and crashed into a tree bordering the landing runway. The headway of the plane was partly checked by the tree and it careened off and crashed to the ground. According to Philips a clogged gasoline line stalled his motor and he was making a forced landing but did not have altitude eaough to clear the top of the tree. Mr. and Mrs. Malkin suffered a fractured nose and Philips was cut and bruised. All three were taken to the Norwalk hospital for treatment.

LONG STANDING BRIBERY OF PHILADELPHIA POLICE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7—(AP)—Bribery of police by bootleggers and other "evils" revealed by the grand jury investigation of the rum "racket" in Philadelphia are the "development of many years and started with the attempts to enforce the prohibition law" after the passage of the 18th amendment, Mayor Harry A. Mackey declared tonight.

"These evils are not of sudden growth and are not chargeable to any one administration," he said: "they are the development of many years and started with the attempts to enforce the prohibition law following the eighteenth amendment. I accredit to all administrations a serious and conscientious effort to enforce this law.

"These endeavors have always been met by the scheming culprits who have sought to nullify the law."

STOPPER ALTOONA TRIBUNE FROM ANNOUNCING BALL GAME

ALTOONA, Pa., Oct. 7—(AP)—Police invoked the Sunday blue laws here today and stopped the Altoona Tribune from announcing to a crowd of 4,000 in the streets outside its office the play by play report of the world series game between the Yankees and Cardinals at St. Louis. The announcer was threatened with arrest if he did not desist.

Six policemen patroled the street in front of the Tribune office to see that the service was not resumed.

Radio station WFBG, of which the newspaper is a joint owner, also had its world series broadcasting program cut short at 4 o'clock when ministers of the city insisted on taking the air at that time as has been their Sunday custom since the station was started.

"WINDMILL PLANE" HAS ARRIVED AT BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 7—(AP)—The "windmill plane" which has been touring western Europe arrived this afternoon at the Tempelhoffer airdrome and made a graceful, almost vertical, descent while a large crowd applauded. Juan de la Cierva. The inventor, arrived by train from Hanover during the night to attend the international aviation show which is being held here.

He will give a series of exhibition flights in his gyroscope plane.

AIMEE McPHERSON OPENS REVIVAL WEEK IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 7—(AP)—Billed as "Everybody's Sister," Aimee McPherson of Los Angeles tonight opened a revival week in Albert hall. Five thousand persons filled the auditorium while others were turned away. Several score of police were on duty at the hall but had nothing to do.

EIGHT PERSONS WERE KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

DELTA, Utah, Oct. 7—(AP)—Eight persons were killed when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a north-bound Union Pacific train near here today. Those killed were Mr and Mrs. Orison Erickson and their six children.

OBITUARY

Charles Grant Miller

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Oct. 7—(AP)—Charles Grant Miller, 62, syndicate editorial writer for newspapers and often called the "Father of the human interest editorial," died at his home here yesterday after an illness of five months.

Beginning his newspaper career on the New York World at the age of 22, he became editor-in-chief of the Cleveland Plain Dealer four years later. For seven years he was chief editorial writer for the entire groups of Scripps-McRae papers, afterwards syndicating his editorials independently. Mr. Miller was born in West Liberty, Ohio.

His widow, the former Olive Cleveland Howard, of Warren, Ohio, and their daughter, Betsy, survive.

Italian Princes Fought Rapier Duel

Prince Spada Potenziani Vindicated His Honor by Wounding Prince Lancelotti.

ROME, Oct. 7—(AP)—Prince Spada Potenziani, retired governor of Rome, vindicated his honor in a rapier duel today, wounding Prince Lancelotti who is alleged to have declared the reason for the former governor's displacement by Premier Mussolini was graft.

This is the second duel caused by Lancelotti's alleged remark. It was reported today that Count Di Sambuy in whose presence Prince Lancelotte is said to have uttered the remark, immediately challenged him. They fought with rapiers, Di Sambuy being three times wounded. He explained later that he was suffering from lumbago.

Prince Potenziani, upon hearing that his voluntary defender was wounded in avenging his honor immediately challenged Lancelotti. The encounter secured this forenoon in the garden of a villa on the outskirts of Rome. When the former governor succeeded in nicking his adversary the referee stopped the fight.

While many persons in Roman society are rejoicing at Prince Potenziani's spirited defense of his administration, others are wondering what the legal outcome may be. Duelling has long been prohibited in Italy and prison terms for duellists were increased when the fascists came into power. Mussolini was said to frown upon these meetings and to have said that they no longer should be employed by Italians who had fought shoulder to shoulder against a common enemy in the great war.

There have never been any charges in the local press against the administration of Prince Potenziani. It was understood that his replacement on September 9 was merely due to the premier's policy of changing administrative personnel frequently in order to build up an "elite" of fascism which would be thoroughly conversant with administrative problems.

BISHOP MANNING SEES VIRTUE IN PROHIBITION

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Rt. Reverend William T. Manning, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York, said in a sermon here today that although he did not vote for prohibition and for some time doubted the advisability of the law, he was now convinced it was "bringing much benefit to our people as a whole" and would bring much more in the course of time.

Preaching at the cathedral of St. John the Divine, on the text, "Say Nothing But the Truth," Bishop Manning said:

"I hold it right to speak upon this subject (prohibition) at this time because it is a great moral issue directly affecting the lives and homes of our people."

Judged by its results as a whole, the bishop declared, "prohibition is a good law."

"Some great and serious evils have resulted from this law," he continued, "but these evils are often exaggerated by those who oppose the law, and most of these evils are due not to the law itself but to failure to observe and enforce it. What is now needed is not abandonment of the undertaking, but more thorough and impartial investigation of the facts relating to it.

"The assertions that this law cannot be enforced come, most of them, from those who do not wish the law to be enforced, who have never wanted it enforced, and who admit they hope to see it repealed on the ground that it cannot be enforced."

Bishop Manning said he supported prohibition "because of the benefits it is bringing to the lives and homes of the plain people," and that he saw signs of "a change of feeling" in circles of society where opposition has been most pronounced.

"My belief is," he said, "that before long the attitude of violent opposition to this law will be regarded as an old man's view and that youth will take its natural place on the side of idealism and progress and of that which is for the greatest good of the greatest number."

Bishop Manning said he doubted whether the American people would listen to modification of the Volstead act "until it is proposed by those who are known to be the friends of prohibition instead of by those who are known to be its enemies."

"At present," he said, "our people feel, and not without reason, that the proposals for modification usually mean, and are intended to mean, practical nullification."

He expressed a belief that the American people were determined to give prohibition a fair trial and that in the light of that trial "there will be few who will wish to see the eighteenth amendment repealed."

COMMANDER BYRD RECOVERS FROM COLD

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd, awaiting the zero hour for the start of his two to three year antarctic polar aerial exploration expedition, declared at his hotel late today that he had entirely recovered from a cold and fever from which he was suffering when he arrived here Friday. The noted aviator-explorer has remained at his hotel, resting in preparation for his expedition.

Five o'clock Wednesday afternoon was announced as the zero hour for the departure of the expedition. On the afternoon flood tide the great Norwegian whaler C. A. Larsen, flagship of the Byrd polar fleet, will pull out of the harbor bearing Commander Byrd and his aides. Its ultimate destination, the bleak shores of Ross sea, within striking distance of the south pole, will be reached in December.

WOMEN TO CAMPAIGN FOR ALFRED E. SMITH

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Miss Maud Cabot of Boston and Miss Marguerite Wooley, executive secretary of the College league in the presidential campaign of Alfred E. Smith, left tonight for Concord, N. H., to begin a Smith campaign tour of the state. Both will stump the state, organizing the women's vote under the direction of Mrs. Robert Jackson, New Hampshire national committeewoman.

Two Sisters Hurled 2,000 Feet To Death

Mary Begole, Popular in Denver's Society Set, One of the Victims of Plane Accident.

DENVER, Oct. 7—(AP)—Hurled 2,000 feet to the ground, Mary Begole, 23, student aviatrix, popular in Denver's society set, and her sister, Carroll, 19, were instantly killed in an airplane crash two miles west of Derby, near here today.

Charles Wilson, 44, a student pilot, who had agreed to pilot the girls on a short flight, suffered a broken back and was removed to a hospital in a critical condition. Both his legs and arms also were broken.

The plane, owned by the Rocky Mountain Air Lines, Inc., equipped with dual controls, dipped suddenly to the earth when Miss Mary Begole "froze" to the forward controls. Wilson said he was helpless to regain control of the plane.

The Begole girls are the daughters of City Auditor George Begole who is potentate of the Shrine in Denver. They had been forbidden to make the flight but friends said they stole away from home and met Wilson at the Dupont airport, near Denver, and took off in the plane, a Curtiss standard. Carroll Begole was a freshman at the University of Colorado.

FATAL PLANE ACCIDENT REPORTED NEAR CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 7—(AP)—One man was killed and one injured when the airplane in which they were flying went into a nose dive 100 feet from the earth and crashed into a corn field at the Cincinnati Flying club field at Newton, near here today.

Lovelle Connely, 30, Cincinnati, the pilot, was killed. Theodore R. Hunter, 28, Milford, president of the club and a student passenger, suffered a fractured skull and physicians held little hope for his recovery.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED IN COLLISION OF PLANES

DETROIT, Oct. 7—(AP)—Five persons were killed late today as the result of a collision over a local flying field between two airplanes, the pilot of one of which fought a masterly but losing duel with death.

The dead:

Captain Clement W. Brown, 32, president of the Brown Aerocoupe Manufacturing company of Detroit.

Miss Margaret Uhle, 27, Detroit public school teacher and fiancee of Brown.

Russell Pauiger, 18.

An unidentified young man and woman.

Captain Brown and his fiancee were circling a local field in a small biplane manufactured by the former's company, when the accident occurred. Pauiger, piloting a large cabin monoplane, in which the other two victims were passengers, attempted to land by diving under the Brown plane and the two ships collided

The monoplane, with both wings ripped off and her upper parts gone, fell to the ground and burst into flames.

The underpinning of the biplane was sheared off and one wing crumpled, but the pilot was able to keep the craft aloft for several minutes. He spiraled about a bit, apparently attempting to straighten by wind pressure the damaged wing which hung below the level of the wheel base. The maneuver was partly successful, according to witnesses and the ship attained an even keel. Then as it dropped slowly earthward, for the attempt at landing, the wing folded up and the plane nosed down.

The pilot quickly banked the ship and the wing straightened out. As it was being jockeyed earthward a second time the even keel was maintained until the crippled ship was within 100 feet of the ground. Suddenly the wing collapsed and this time the craft could not be righted. It ploughed nose first into the turf and the occupants were dead when witnesses arrived.

Captain Brown was an officer in the division of aeronautics of the Michigan National Guard.

The bodies of Pauiger and his companions were cremated in the burning monoplane.

PEAK OF RELIEF WORK IN PORTO RICO REACHED

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Oct. 7—(AP)—In the belief that the peak of the emergency relief has been reached and cared for, Henry M. Baker, national disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, today announced that the reconstruction problem will be taken up during the week.

He estimated that 580,000 victims of the hurricane are now on relief rations and that this will be the maximum load. In addition some 100,000 sufferers have been able to care for themselves.

Mr. Baker said that the health situation is extremely grave but not alarming. Medical relief and precautionary steps have kept the cases of influenza, malaria and typhoid from increasing although the number of patients has not been lessened. In 17 towns 38 special Red Cross nurses are on duty, 22 of them being Porto Ricans.

Mr. Baker today sent instructions to all supply offices and Red Cross chapter heads outlining a ration plan to become effective tomorrow. No rations of any kind will be issued hereafter where the earning power of some member or members of a family has been restored or where work is available for the men of the family, who refuse it although able to work. Rations will be issued on a three day or weekly basis instead of daily and at the rate of one and a half pounds of food per person per day. On written order of physicians this may be increased.

Mr. Baker urges that the 242 public schools being used for refugees be surrendered for school use as soon as possible.

The fruit growers are the first of the island business men to act as a group of rehabilitation. They have formed a $200,000 credit corporation which it is estimated will permit credit of ten times that amount. The problem of the coffee growers which is considered the most serious of the island, is still without solution.

E. B. Thomas, manager of the Porto Rico branch of the Federal Land bank, believes a congressional appropriation is essential. He placed the need at $2,000,000 immediately with possibly $1,000,000 annual for five years.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

HOOVER HAD STRENUOUS DAY SATURDAY IN TENNESSEE

Crowd at Elizabethton Was the Largest Mr. Hoover Has Faced Since His Notification Address at Pall Alto—In His Speech the Nominee Dealt With Farm Relief, Prohibition, Immigration, Flood Control and the Tariff—Mr. Hoover Also Made a Speech at Johnson City.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—(AP)—Back in Washington today, Herbert Hoover rested from the arduous toil of a day spent in campaigning in the mountains of East Tennessee.

The republican presidential candidate with Mrs. Hoover and their son, Herbert, Jr., arrived early today from Elizabethon where yesterday he made the first bid for the support of the voters of the solid south that any nominee of his party has made in modern political history. Among other members of his party were George Akerson, his personal secretary, a dozen other members of his personal staff, and a group of newspaper correspondents.

Hoover motored direct to his home on S street and during the remainder of the day followed his customary Sabbath program.

With Mr. Hoover and their two sons, Allen Herbert, Jr., he attended services at the Friends meeting house on I street and spent virtually the entire afternoon at his home. Herbert left late today to return to California where he will rejoin his parents when they reach there early in November.

The day spent by the nominee in Tennessee was one of the most strenuous he has gone through since the campaign opened. There was little time on the program for relaxation and he was moved from place to place with breath taking swiftness. His arrival in Elizabethon was behind schedule and he was further delayed in moving about by the surging crowds that swarmed through every street of the little town.

Then a rain storm held his party indoors for some time and he was more than an hour late in reaching the luncheon, from which he hurried to the improvised speaking platform on the outskirts of the town to deliver his address. Immediately afterward he moved quickly to his train and sped away to Johnson City where he made another speech to the veterans at the National Soldiers' home and attended a banquet given in his honor by the chamber of commerce. Then he boarded his train again for the return trip to Washington.

The crowd that heard his Elizabethton speech probably was the largest the candidate has faced since his notification address in Palo Alto. For miles about the vicinity, the mountain people had flocked upon the little town, over-taxing every facility and drinking vast confusion. From more remote sections of the southland special trains and automobile caravans had their representation.

The result was an enormous crowd that massed itself into a huge fan shaped throng that stood for more than an hour in the muddy field to listen to the words sent hurtling into space by the amplifiers

The speech, itself, gave the views of the nominee upon more than a score of subjects, including farm relief, prohibition, immigration flood control and the tariff, with the underlying theme always leading back to their relation to the American home.

The return of Hoover to his personal headquarters tomorrow will find him beginning work on the address he will deliver, at Boston, October 15.

ABSTRACT OF HOOVER'S ELIZABETHTON SPEECH

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., Oct. 7—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, the first republican presidential candidate to make a personal bid for the electoral vote of the solid south, told an audience gathered here yesterday from North Carolina and Virginia as well as Tennessee that a change of national policies at this time could bring "only distress and disaster."

The republican invader of democracy's ancient stronghold expanded his views on farm relief, prohibition and other platform declarations. He made no reference to the religious questions

TESTS REVEAL MAN TO BE TYPHOID CARRIER

NEW YORK Oct. 7—(AP)—A typhoid carrier who was directed years ago never to engage in employment in which he handled food to be consumed by others, has been isolated as the cause of a typhoid outbreak in Greenwich Village during which two persons died and a score of others were made ill, Health Commissioner Wynne revealed today.

Frederick Moersch, whose case parallels that of the notorious "Typhoid Mary" Mallon, was discovered as an employe of a candy store in the village where the health commissioner said he scattered typhoid germs through the merchandise he dealt his customers. Dr Wynne said 18 cases of the disease had been traced directly to Moersch

The man was discovered to be a typhoid carrier years ago, and at that time became a plumber. Health authorities lost track of him when he left the city.

Moersch has been isolated in Riverside hospital, where tests revealed him still to be a typhoid carrier. Dr Wynne said he would be confined there until his condition is cleared up or until physicians see fit to permit him to leave under proper restrictions.

Health officials said they expected no further cases to develop. Dr. Wynne said that typhoid is decreasing in the city and there has been less of it this year than last year.

MORE THAN 6,000 SPANISH WAR VETERANS IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Oct. 7—(AP)—Battles of the Spanish-American war were refought in words today in many hotel lobbies of Havana where veterans met former comrades gathering here for the convention of the United Spanish War Veterans.

More than 6,000 had arrived tonight and were partaking of the unrestricted privileges which Cuba has granted the men who aided in obtaining her independence. Ships are due tomorrow morning with 800 additional veterans.

President Gerardo Machado and other prominent Cubans today received at the state department Admiral Hugh Wiley and Gen. John J. Garrity, commander-in-chief of the veterans, with other U. S. W. V. officials.

The convention opens tomorrow at the National theatre.

SAN ANTONIO READY FOR LEGION CONVENTION

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 7—(AP)—Swelling gradually to a crescendo of sound, color and activity, preparations for the national American Legion convention reached a climax tonight with every agency working through the night to make ready for the first session tomorrow.

The housing bureau estimated early in the day that between 25,000 and 30,000 visitors had been registered with a majority of today's heavy arrivals still to be cared for. This estimate did not include any of the official delegates to the convention who already have been assigned their quarters.

General John J. Pershing was given a tremendous ovation when he arrived today. Other prominent visitors who came during the day included Hanford MacNider, assistant secretary of war, and F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation.

INFANT MYSTERIOUSLY BURNED TO DEATH

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 7—(AP)—Seven months old Esther, daughter of Mrs. Julia Kollian, of this city, was mysteriously burned to death in her carriage while her mother was visiting a neighbor this afternoon. The child had been left asleep in the neighbor's yard while her mother went visiting.

Two boys, 5 and 3 years of age, respectively, were said to have run from the yard a moment before the carriage was noticed in flames.

ROCK CRYSTAL TOOLS SAID TO BE 100,000 YEARS OLD

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 7—(AP)—Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, director of the American School of Prehistoric Research and curator of anthropology at Peabody museum, has returned from Europe with two rock crystal tools fashioned by artisans of the Neanderthal period a hundred thousand years ago, and dug from the Abri Des Merveilles in Dordogne by two students of the eighth summer session of the American school.

Mrs. MacCurdy accompanied her husband on his annual exploration trip through England, France and Spain, and the others in the party were: Dr. George E. Brewer, New York city; Robert A. Franks, Jr., Harvard university; Miss Harriett Hammond, Radcliffe college; Miss Frederica De Laguna, Columbia university; Miss Helen Roberts, Yale university, and Miss Vesta Wood, Berkeley, Calif.

On his return, Dr. MacCurdy announced that the school will carry through the late autumn and spring, co-operating with two British institutions, and said that the autumn expedition to Iraq is already in the field with Robert A. Franks, Jr., and Francis Turville-Petre representing the American school.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES HEADED FOR SAN ANTONIO

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 7—(AP)—En route to San Antonio, Texas, for the national convention of the American Legion, the United States naval dirigible Los Angeles passed over Mobile shortly before 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The giant airship was sighted over Montgomery, approximately 180 miles from Mobile, between 12:30 and 1 p. m.

The Los Angeles was headed almost directly west. An airplane, the identity of which was not established, was escorting the dirigible. It was estimated she was 1,000 feet up.

W. A. MacDonald, pilot of a commercial plane that escorted the Los Angeles as it passed over Mobile, estimated the dirigible was making a speed of approximately 50 miles an hour.

The dirigible, which carried a crew of 40 officers and men, was sighted at Biloxi, Miss., 65 miles southwest of Mobile, at 5:30 p. m.

RIOTING AT GREEK CHURCH IN LOWELL, MASS.

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 7—(AP)—Rioting broke out anew today at the Holy Trinity Greek church, center of a controversial strife for the past three months. Police were forced to draw their clubs and Bishop Vasilios, head of one of the factions seeking to gain control of the church, was assaulted and knocked down the steps of the church. Many residents of the Greek community were badly battered about the face when Vasilios and some three hundred of his followers sought to enter the church while services were being conducted by the Malicourtis or opposing faction.

The Malicourtis faction had taken possession of the church last Thursday after a writ of replevin had been issued. Bishop Vasilios is recognized as the head of the Greek Independent church in the United States, Canada and Australia. The root of the present trouble is said to lie in the opposition to Rev. Joakim Malaplas, a priest who conducts the services for the Malicourtis faction. Malicourtis is president of the Greek community.

FILM COMEDIAN LARRY SEMON IS HOVERING NEAR DEATH

VICTORVILLE, Cal., Oct. 7—(AP)—Larry Semon, film comedian, continued to hover near death today at the Mayo sanitarium where he was taken several days ago critically ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Nancy Smith, Semon's mother-in-law, said today that he was not expected to live another 24 hours.

A. T. J. CLARKE NOMINATED IN 29TH DISTRICT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 7—The republican convention of the twenty-ninth senatorial district, held at the Nathan Hale hotel here Saturday noon nominated Andrew T. J. Clarke of Canterbury by acclamation as candidate for senator from the district. Mr. Clarke was unanimously acclaimed the nominee after a brief but well pointed presentation speech by A. Linn Weatherhead of this city, chairman of the district committee. With appropriate words Mr. Weatherhead sketched Mr. Clarke's outstanding qualifications which he termed as in keeping with the attributes of the candidates of the party on the state and national tickets. The nomination speech was concluded with fitting tribute to Herbert Hoover. The secretary was instructed to cast one vote for Mr. Clarke and a committee consisting of A. L. Weatherhead, James H. Johnson of Scotland, George Barstow of Canterbury and Mrs. Grace Bilish of this city was named to apprise him of his nomination. In accepting the honor Mr. Clarke pledged himself to the service of the people of the district in the conduct of the office and urged the delegates to appoint themselves as ambassadors of the republican party in working for the interests of the state and national tickets.

The convention was convened by Chairman Weatherhead and upon motion of DeForrest Wells of Brooklyn, Mayor Charles A. Gates, of this city, proxy for Cyril A. Lamoureux, was named chairman of the meeting. Mr. Wells was elected as secretary. The roll call showed but two absentees out of the 28 delegates elected from the nine towns of the district, August 27 last. The absentees were Fred J. Ash and H. E. Griggs, both of Pomfret. Mrs. A. C. Bennett of Canterbury was proxy for A. C. Bennett.

The chair appointed the following committee on resolutions: Thomas J. Seaton of Plainfield, George Hall of Hampton and Fred Marrotte of Sterling. The committee drafted resolutions endorsing and approving of the principles expressed in the platforms adopted by both the republican national and state conventions and heartily commending to the electorate, irrespective of party, the nominee of the convention, the Hon. Andrew T. J. Clarke of Canterbury. The resolution said of Mr. Clarke that while he is a staunch republican he is broad minded and always has the welfare of all classes at heart and is noted for his willingness at all times to assist anyone in need. In conclusion the resolution read: "He is highly respected for his sterling qualities, pleasing personality, genial and charitable disposition. We honor not him, but ourselves, when we make him our standard bearer.

"If elected to represent this district in the general assembly, he will do so with honor to the state, district and to himself, and we bespeak for him a most cordial support of the electors of this senatorial district."

By unanimous vote the district committee of the past two years was re-elected, this committee consisting of A. Linn Weatherhead of Windham Frank M. Bedard of Plainfield and Albert L. Mills of Hampton.

The convention adjourned at 1.45 o'clock when the delegates and several other friends of Mr. Clarke were his guests at a dinner served in the hotel. Covers were laid for 75.

Mr. Clarke, republican candidate for senator of the twenty-ninth district, is the son of Thomas Clarke who served the district as senator 43 years ago. The nominee has held several important positions in and for the town of Canterbury through a period of many years and his record of service is one highly creditable for progressive effort and impartial interest in the welfare of the public. The candidate is 67 years of age and a farmer by occupation. He represented the town of Canterbury for the past three terms in the general assembly with credit and was a prominent member of the Canterbury town school committee for 20 years previously to being elected representative.

The list of delegates on the permanent roll call of the convention follows: Brooklyn, Riley B Witter and DeForrest Wells; Canterbury, George Barstow, Paul F. Herr, Richard J. Parkhurst and Mrs. Arthur C. Bennett, proxy for Arthur C. Bennett; Chaplin, Charles E. Locke and Clifford M. Burdick; Hampton, William A. Weeks and George J. Hall; Plainfield, Thomas J. Seaton, William J. Thompson, Ray Greene and Arthur H. Mathewson; Pomfret, Henry F. Paine and C. M. Sharpe; Scotland, James H. Johnson and Charles Perry; Sterling, George Pierce and Fred Marrotte; Windham, A. Linn Weatherhead, Mrs Florette Daniels, Charles A. Gates, proxy for Cyril A. Lamoureux and Mrs Grace Bilish.

DEMOCRATS WILL HOLD RALLY THIS EVENING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 7—Several speakers of prominence are scheduled to deliver addresses at a big old-fashioned rally to be held in the town hall Monday night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the local Smith-Robinson democratic club. It will be the first public rally of the present campaign and is expected to draw an audience of about 1,000 persons. The notable list of speakers includes: Congressman John J. Boylan of the fifteenth congressional district of New York; former Congressman Augustine Lonergan of Connecticut and present democratic candidate for United States senator; Charles G. Morris of Newtown, democratic candidate for governor and Mrs. Curry of Hartford, organizer of Smith-Robinson women's clubs. Remarks will also be made by Frank P. Fenton of this city, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor and possibly two other candidates on the state ticket.

TOWN MEETING VOTES $191,000 FOR SCHOOLS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 7—An appropriation of $191,000 covering the full amount of the budget of school expenses for the ensuing year as estimated by the committee and other appropriations amounting to $10,410 were voted at the adjourned town meeting held in the town hall Saturday afternoon with an attendance of 180, the largest for such a meeting in many years. The meeting was called to order by Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton and First Selectman William A. Buck was named moderator. Other than the school budget appropriation nthe most important at hand were two amounting to $8,000 and consisting of $4,500 for the purchase of Hayden field for school purposes and $3,500 to convert the field into an athletic field. An effort to table these two appropriations made by Frank C. Smith was lost 57 a vote of 102 to 59. Other minor appropriations approved were: $960 for the Welfare bureau; $950 for St. Joseph's hospital; $100 for the Windham Center public library and $400 for the purchase of land adjacent to the North Windham grammar school. When the regular school appropriation was taken up Valentine L. Murphy requested information relative to the cost and the relative amount of appropriations made for the purchase and remodification of the trade school. He sought to show that some $9,000 never appropriated for that purpose had been used in altering the former Turner mill for use as a trade school. An explanation was given by Superintendent of Schools Egbert A. Case. Rev. Frederick C. Williams came out as being opposed to the purchase of Hayden field but remarks by Stanley J. Sumner and H. Clinton Lathron swayed the meeting to a favorable vote on the purchase.

EASTFORD YOUTH ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 7—Edward Banfinch, 17, of Eastford, up to Saturday morning employed as a farm hand at the home of Michael Kruglinsky, South Chaplin farmer, was arrested on Main street here Saturday evening shortly before 10 o'clock by Officer Leo Piche of the local police and booked on a charge of theft of over $100 from his employer. While Kruglinsky was in this city delivering milk early Saturday morning Mrs. Kruglinsky discovered that Banfinch had taken his clothing and left the premises. A few minutes later she found that a pocketbook that had contained over $100 and which had been kept in the pantry was also missing. She reached her husband by telephone and he notified the police at the same time giving a description of the young man whom he suspected of having stolen the money. Kruglinsky drove in the direction of Eastford but failed to locate Banfinch and concluded that the youth must be on his way to New York city as he had often mentioned his desire to go there. The patrolmen and officers of the Danielson state police barracks were on the look-out for the youth when he was apprehended by Officer Piche. Banfinch had $105.50 in his pockets at the time of his arrest. He has a police record and is known by both the state and local authorities. The youth was lodged in a cellroom and will be arraigned before the police court Monday morning.

As a result of an investigation by Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley and State Policeman Walter Woods of the Stafford Springs barracks, Harry Keith, 21, of Eastford was arrested Friday night for the theft of a 1922 Dodge touring car owned by Louis Dansereau of 47 Arnolds Lane, this city, from upper Main street last Wednesday evening. Keith's father put up a bond of $2,000 for the appearance of the accused in police court Monday morning. Dansereau's car, which was parked on the street at the time of the theft was found in a badly wrecked condition in Eastford the following morning there being evidence that the car had turned over two or three times, and that the occupant or occupants must have sustained injuries When arrested Keith had abrasions on his face and a cut on his hand. The police believe that another man was with Keith at the time and that this man is now in Bridgeport or some other western Connecticut city. He is being trailed and his arrest is expected momentarily.

The funeral of Wilfrid Blanchette was held from 256 Main street Saturday morning with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. J. Papillon was the celebrant; Rev. H. C. Belec, deacon and Rev. E. A. Mathieu, sub-deacon Special choir music was rendered with Mrs. J. F. Gaudreau at the organ. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where a committal prayer was conducted by the officiating priests. The bearers were Arthur Therrien, Maurice Couture, Arthur Cyr, Andre Desrosier, Eugene St. Hilaire and Alphe Couture

Arthur Buron, 36, of 72 Elm street, New Britain, a tool-maker by occupation is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital suffering from a severe wrench of the back and a general shaking-up sustained shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday evening when the Chrysler sport roadster which he was driving toward this city turned two somersaults on the sharp "S" curve opposite the home of George Guay in Chaplin on the main Putnam-Willimantic highway. Buron was taken into the Guay home and the ambulance sent for. It was stated at the hospital today that it was expected that he would be discharged within a few days. It is believed that in making the sharp curve the machine got into the soft shoulder of the road and got out of control. The car was badly wrecked. State Officer Gordon of the Danielson barracks is investigating the accident.

Mrs. Johanna Davenport Turner died at her home in Andover Friday night. She was born in Ellenville, N. Y., February 14, 1839, a daughter of Syrenus and Cornelia Lounsbury Davenport. Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. Jesse Favor of Rockville, Mrs. Anne Shepard of New Haven and Mrs. Cornelia T. Bass of Andover; one son, Louis E. Turner of Monterey, Mexico; four grandchildren and one great grandchild. The deceased was a member of Anne Wood Elderkin chapter, D. A. R., of this city and was affiliated with the North Coventry Congregational church for the past 68 years.

Total damage estimated at $150 was caused in a three-car accident on Main street opposite the Nathan Hale hotel and the Hooker house at 1.45 o'clock this afternoon. A new Essex coach driven by the owner, Emil Lautenhahn, 67, of R. F. D. 2, Mount Hope, was proceeding westerly on Main. A Peerless coupe operated by John P. Thompson, 60, of 16 Blount street, Providence R. I., coming in the same direction struck Lautenhahn's car a glancing blow in passing, causing the latter machine to swerve to the left and sideswipe a Chevrolet sedan owned by Edward W. Hurbert of Waterbury that was parked in front of the Hooker house. The damage to the Chevrolet consisted of a broken front axle caused by the crowding of the car against the curbstone and damaged right fender and running board. Lautenhahn's car was damaged to the extent of bent right front and rear fenders and damage to the left front fender. There was no damage of consequence to the Providence car. While Lautenhahn maintained that Thompson was at fault he agreed to settle for the damage to Hurbert's car. Patrolman Roderick Lariviere investigated the accident.

The faculty and seniors of the Willimantic state normal school tendered their annual reception to the juniors in the new Model school auditorium Friday evening. In the receiving line were Principal and Mrs. George H. Shafer, Principal and Mrs. Frederick R. Noble, Miss Harriet Gerould dean, Miss Gladys Greenman, Miss Helen Moran, president of the senior class and Miss Ruth Borgess, president of the student government committee.

Fred Shuba of North Windham was thrown to the ground and considerably shaken up and his wagon and harness were damaged when the team which he was driving toward North Windham was struck by a light sedan owned and driven by Nathan Riter of 86 York street, New Haven on the North Windham road, on the curve 100 feet west of Phelps crossing shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. Riter said that as he was about to pass the team a car came speeding around the curve from the opposite direction, causing him to cut in sharply to the right to avoid a worse collision. The right rear fender of the Riter car was damaged in the collision. The wagon, which is of a light delivery style was overturned and somewhat damaged. The harness was broken in several places but the horse escaped injury and made no attempt to run away Riter agreed to settle for damages in reporting the accident to Officer Roderick Lariviere.

Announcements have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Hinds of Westfield, N. J., of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise to Frank E. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch of this city. The ceremony is to take place in Westfield at the Holy Trinity church, Saturday October 10. The couple will reside here.

Robert Zimmerman, 40, of 466 Pleasant street, will be arraigned in police court Monday morning to answer to a charge of breach of the peace preferred against him by his wife Emma Zimmerman. He was arrested Saturday afternoon.

HOOVER HAD STRENUOUS DAY SATURDAY IN TENNESSEE

that are stirring southern states but he did appeal for fair play and good sportsmanship in the campaign.

"We prove ourselves worthy of self government," he said, "and worthy of confidence a officials in proportion as we keep these contests free from abuse, free from misrepresentation and free from words and acts that carry regret.

"In a contest like this there is no place for personal bitterness. A great attribute of our political life has been the spirit of fair play with which our presidential contests have been waged in former years and the sportsmanlike spirit in which we have accepted the result."

Hoover confined his prohibition statement to a single paragraph in which he said:

"The purpose of the eighteenth amendment is to protect the American home. A sacred obligation is imposed on the president to secure its honest enforcement and to eliminate the abuses which have grown up around it; I wish it to succeed."

Adverting to his plan for farm relief, the candidate declared that "no such far-reaching and specific proposal has ever been made by a political party on behalf of any industry in our history." He added that "it marks our desire for establishment of farmers' stability and at the same time maintains his independence and individuality."

In this concise language Hoover repeated the proposal for farm relief:

"We stand specifically pledged to create a federal farm board of men sympathetic with the problem, to be clothed with powers and resources with which not only to further aid farmers co-operatives and assist generally in solving the multitude of different farm problems which arise from all quarters of our nation, but in particular to build up with initial advances of capital from the government farmer-owned and farmer-controlled stabilization corporations which will protect the farmer from depressions and the demoralization of summer and periodic surpluses.

"Such an instrumentality should be able to develop as years go on the constructive measures necessary to solve the new farmers' problems that will inevitably arise. It is no proposal of subsidy or fee or tax on the farmer It is a proposal to assist the farmer on to his own feet into control of his own destinies. This is not a theoretic formula. It is a business proposition designed to make farming more profitable."

Declaring that he advocated the "strengthening of the protective tariff," the republican standard bearer said "a retreat to the Underwood tariff schedules of farm produce would ruin millions of our farmers today."

"The purpose of the tariff is not to balance the books of business corporations, but to safeguard the family budget," he said. "I wish to see complete protection for the farmer of the home market. It is vital to the south as well a sto other parts of the country.

"And likewise the great manufacturing industries of the south are dependent upon it. Your vast spinning industry, your iron and steel industries are the product of it."

Besides his statements on prohibition, farm relief and the tariff, Hoover declared against any increase in immigration; for continued development of good roads and inland waterways; completion of the Mississippi flood control works "with the utmost energy;" promotion and defense of the foreign trade; maintenance of a "sound merchant marine;" economy in government so as to bring about further tax reductions; maintenance of the army and navy to a point to remove "even the fear of foreign invasion" and for foreign policies "ever directed to the cause of peace that we never again need sacrifice our sons on the field of battle."

"To our veterans who gave freely of their all in times of danger we must continue to be not only just but generous in enacting and interpreting the laws for their relief," Hoover said.

"To protect our people from violence at home we must revise our court procedure to produce swifter and surer justice and we should begin with the federal government.

"It is absolutely essential to the moral development and the enlarged opportunity of the boys and girls in every home that we increasingly strengthen our public school system and our institutions of higher learning.

"All legislation, all administrative action must stand the supreme test that it provide equal opportunity for all our citizens not for any special group

"I do not favor any general extension of the federal government into the operation of business in competition with its citizens. It is not the system of Lincoln or Roosevelt. It is not the American system. It not only undermines initiative but it undermines state and local self government. It is the destruction of states rights.

"Democracy however, must be master in its own house. It can assure the conservation of our governmentally controlled natural resources in the interest of the people. It has demonstrated that by the power of regulation it can prevent abuse; it can and must control natural monopolies in full public interest." This latter pronouncement was interpreted as including the vast waterpower resources of the country

After praising the south for its wonderful industrial expansion since the World war, Hoover said he knew the people of the south would agree with him "that these results could never have been attained but for the helpful co-operation and sound policies in the national government, and that changes in these policies can bring only distress and disaster."

"I realize that I come here as the candidate of a political party with whose policies many of you within my sight and many within the sound of my voice have often differed," he added. "I respect your views regarding that difference. Yet so closely welded in common interest are the pressing issues of our nation today that it should be no longer unusual for a citizen of any region to vote for a president who represents the principles which correspond with his convictions."

DANIELSON

E. C. P. COMPANY NOW LOCATED IN NEW QUARTERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 7—The opening of this week finds the Eastern Connecticut Power Co.'s Danielson division offices and salesroom located in the company's new headquarters at the northwest corner of Main and Academy street. During Saturday employes of the company were engaged in transferring equipment from the former offices in the Windham County Savings bank building. The new quarters were a beehive of activity, that everything might be ready to do business in the usual way Monday morning.

The new offices are in a building that has undergone a complete transformation since the property was purchased by the company a few months ago. An addition has been built on and the interior of the structure rearranged to suit the purposes the building is to henceforth serve.

Exteriorly, a colonial effect has been achieved. The building is done in spotless white, old-time patterns of brick walks have been built from the sidewalk to the entrances and other changes made to carry out the colonial idea.

The interior is not only very pleasing to the eye, but also arranged for the greatest convenience of the office force and the patrons of the company. The salesroom occupies much of space at the front of the building and is a commodious, nicely appointed section. At the rear is space for office workers, with private offices at either side for department heads. Manager William Sangster's office is at the front, on the north side.

There is a feature of the building that will hold a special appeal for societies and organizations that hold sales or arrange cooking and other demonstrations from time to time. This is the group of community rooms on the second floor. These rooms are to be made available for the use of the public for such purposes as have been mentioned. There is one very large room, where as many as 75 people can be comfortably seated. Off this is a breakfast room, appointed in colonial style, and off that a kitchenette so handsomely appointed that it will be the envy of many a housewife that sees it. This group of community rooms is so arranged that they can be reached from an entrance on the north side of the building, and the section can be shut off from the offices and salesroom.

The third floor of the building will not be in use for the present, though available for storage or other purposes.

Heating of the building is by a gas boiler.

The building is a credit to the company and something that adds materially to the appearance of the section where it stands.

NEW LONDON WOMAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 7—Mrs. Mary Brannan of Ocean avenue, New London, sustained injuries to her back last night when the car in which she was riding with her husband, Charles E Brannan, was struck by a car driven by Harry Goodman of Danielson. After the crash, which occurred on Hopkins hill in the town of Plainfield, while the Goodman car was coming north and the Brannan car proceeding south, the Goodman car turned over three times, meanwhile tearing off three wheels and the top, and came to a stop 120 feet from where the crash occurred. Neither Mr. Goodman nor Louis Pechie of Dayville, who was riding with Mr. Goodman, were injured. The accident was investigated by State Officer Royal G. Scranton of the Danielson barracks.

The Goodman car was coming around a curve on the downgrade of the hill when the accident happened. The Brannan car, a brand new Oakland sedan, was damaged to the extent of about $125. The Goodman car, a 1920 Buick sedan, was so badly damaged as to be practically beyond repair.

Motorists who would not risk being presented in court for operating cars with faulty brakes will do well to have their brakes put in good condition, for state officers who inspected 150 cars here on Saturday ordered drivers of 11 of them to appear in the town court here Monday morning. The state officers who made the inspections were operating on North Main street near the barracks. There is the prospect that these inspections will be continued.

WEDDING

Tillinghast-Gray

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Boston, Miss Dorothy Gray of that city and Arthur Phillips Tillinghast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tillinghast of North Main street, were united in marriage in the presence of numbers of relatives. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Keach of Fitchburg as best man and matron of honor. In attendance from Danielson were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tillinghast and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tillinghast.

The newly wedded couple are now on a honeymoon tour by motor that will take them into Maine, through the White Mountains and into New York state. They are to live on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, where Mr. Tillinghast since his graduation from Boston university, two years ago, has been with W. G. Cutter & Sons.

Peter Annis of Lewis boulevard will come to court Monday to answer to charges that he is guilty of violation of the liquor laws. Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart headed a group of state officers that made an unexpected visitation to the Annis home about 9 o'clock. They seized a quantity of beer, wine and alcohol. The frequenters were not molested and appeared content to beat a hasty retreat. Annis was at liberty under bonds of $500 today. The raid was the first for liquor in Danielson in months.

Edward Banaich, 17, was being held at the barracks here today awaiting a hearing scheduled for Monday in a justice's court in the town of Chaplin. The youth, arrested by Willimantic police and brought here by State Officer Donald J. Geddes, will be charged with the theft of $112 from Mike Kruginsky of Chaplin. When he was taken into custody $105 was found in his pockets. It is understood that Banaich, who was in Kruginsky's employ, stole the money from the Kruginsky home.

A burglar that got into H. A. McEwen's jewelry store in the Phoenix block shortly after 7 o'clock Friday evening got out probably faster than he came in. At the time, though the store was closed, Mr. McEwen was in it engaged with his accounts. Lights were on in the store and several men, including Night Officer Laird Winchell, stood outside the front of the store looking at the world series baseball score that was on display in a show window. Mr. McEwen first sensed that something unusual was under way, when he heard a trap door at the rear of the store open. The door had been bolted, but the bolt had been forced. Inquiring as to who was there, Mr. McEwen heard the surprised man, who evidently thought there was no one in the store, beating a hasty retreat back into the cellar. He summoned Officer Winchell, but the man had made his escape from the cellar on high and was nowhere to be found. Investigation disclosed that the man had opened the bulkhead, used a board to break out a glass in the cellar door and then reached in and released the bar that held the door shut. Chief John McFarland joined Officer Winchell in a search for the burglar, but he could not be found. The very audacity of this break at such an hour and with lights on in the store was regarded as amazing.

Officials of the town charged with that duty will be in session in the selectmen's offices in the town hall building next Saturday for the purpose of making voters. This session is to last from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Again, on Oct. 20, the officials will meet to make additional voters, being in session that day from 9 in the morning until 8 in the evening. The Oct. 20th meeting will afford citizens their last opportunity to be admitted as electors in time for the election of Nov. 6. The exception to this is that persons reaching their 21st birthday after Oct. 20 and up to Nov. 6, will be made in time to vote if they apply to the selectmen.

PUTNAM

W. E. BROWN, ASHFORD, NAMED CANDIDATE FOR SENATOR

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 7—About 100 republicans of the 29th Senatorial district met in convention at the town hall in Putnam on Saturday morning and nominated Walter C. Brown of Ashford as a candidate for senator of the district.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman pro tem. Louis A. Wolzard of Danielson, the electors later placing Leon T. Wilson of Putnam as permanent chairman. The committee on resolutions, consisting of Leon T. Wilson, chairman, John F. Reardon of North Grosvenordale, and Clarence E. Barlow of Ashford presented resolutions endorsing the republican national and state tickets.

Following the reading of the resolutions they were unanimously adopted by the convention. As there was no other business a motion was passed to adjourn to the Putnam inn where the convention banquet was held.

At the close of the luncheon a speaking programme was arranged by Miss Katherine Byrne of Putnam, vice chairman of the republican state central committee. On the list of party leaders to address the gathering were Miss Byrne, J. F. Reardon of North Grosvernordale, Walter C. Brown of Ashford and Elbert L. Darbie of Danielson.

Since the dawn of the presidential year Miss Byrne has been one of the leading republican speakers and like her previous addresses, the one of Saturday was highly received by her listeners. Throughout her address she lauded the principles of the party for which she has worked unsparingly for the past six years. The second speaker, John F. Reardon, another staunch member of the republican forces in Windham county confined his words to the work of the party in the county and asked for the support of every member in the coming election. Mr. Reardon commended Miss Byrne for her efforts in the campaign, which brought from those present much applause. Candidate for Senator Brown of Ashford spoke but a few words, thanking the voters for the nomination which he had received an hour before.

The final speaker on the programme was Elbert L. Darbie, present senator from this district. Mr. Darbie in his talk characterized Mr. Brown as an able politician and a well trained man for the position of senator. He also lauded Candidate Brown's past record as a member of the house of representatives, scoring it as a pointer for the position he has been nominated.

Joseph Mason of Mechanicsville was before Judge M. H. Geissler in the city court Saturday morning charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Mason was arrested on Thursday September 27 by State Policeman Emil Castagna of Danielson barracks, after his (Mason's) car had crashed into the rear of a motor coach owned by the Acme Lines of Worcester, Mass.

Mason pleaded guilty to the charge through his attorney, Irving H. Miron of Putnam, and asked leniency of the court. Judge Geissler imposed a fine of $100 and costs of court, later remitting half the amount of the fine.

In the political camps activities have been high during the past week and plans for campaign finals have been laid out. With the party caucuses only about a week away, prospective candidates have been drawn and names placed on the slates. The republicans are to rely upon the popularity of William Pechie for a third victory as representative and will place the name of William Davison in the field. Both are strong factors and it is believed that they will unanimously receive their party nomination for the office. In the democratic circles, Leon Talbot, a Putnam business man, rests assured of the nomination. Since Mr. Talbot made known that he would run for the office several prophesies have been advanced of a victory for him and has encouraged the local democratic leaders to consider the plan of placing another candidate on the ticket with him. The name of Edmund Dubois, a member of the common council and chairman of the democratic town committee has been mentioned, but until late this afternoon there was no definite word as to whether two candidates are to be nominated.

During the coming week a number of meetings in the interest of the campaign will be staged at Putnam by both parties. One Tuesday evening the republicans will gather at the Putnam inn at a banquet under the auspices of the Putnam Republican club, and will listen to an address by State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett and another by Assistant United States District Attorney George H. Cohen.

On Thursday evening the democrats at the State Armory will listen to talks by Congressman William Boyian of New York city, an intimate friend of the party nominee, Governor Alfred E. Smith. Also on the list will be a number of state and local party officials who will speak at the meeting. The gathering is to be sponsored by the Putnam "Al" Smith club.

Sporting fans grouped about the radio again today and obtained the inning by inning description of the world's series baseball encounter being played in St. Louis today. The early arrival of the cold season has brought an end to the season at the Putnam Country club. Since the daylight saving time schedule has passed for another year the fairways at the local golf course are early being deserted, although a number of the enthusiasts have taken advantage of the Saturday afternoon, half holiday and Sabbath in which to shoot around the course a few times before the complete closing of the club this month.

The countryside near Putnam today loomed up in all colors of the rainbow, due to the season change of the vegetation. Nearly every tree within reach of the eye, contained either a taine of yllow or was beautifully adorned in a coat of brightest red.

MR. HOOVER IN THE SOUTH

A speaking trip on the part of a republican candidate for the presidency into southern states is unusual because they have been so strongly democratic that it has been considered a waste of time to do so. This year conditions have changed. There is not only a demand for the republican nominee below the Mason and Dixon line but the democratic nominee feels it necessary to include a southern trip in his itinerary.

In speaking at Elizabethton, Tenn., Mr. Hoover found himself in touch with a great crowd that had been assembled from three states in all of which there have been strong manifestations in his behalf, and what he had to say to them in setting forth his policies was an appeal for fair play and good sportsmanship in the campaign.

In setting forth his views as to how various problems should be met he impressed them with the fact that while there is a north, a south, an east and a west, all residents therein are fellow countrymen, whose interest in the nation's welfare should be keenly alive to the valuable contributions which have promoted prosperous conditions and should see that no changes are made that would invite distress and despair. That, in the opinion of Mr. Hoover, would be faced if there were to be changes in the national policies at this time.

Well did he stress the importance of the protective tariff to the people of the south, the importance of farm legislation such as he proposes for the farmers of the south as well as those of the rest of the country "to get onto his own feet and into control of his own destinies," and declared this to be not a theoretical formula. It is a business proposition designed to make farming more profitable."

What Mr. Hoover had to say was quite in contrast with some of the campaigning which has been done against him. His was a plea for contests "free from abuse, free from misrepresentation and free from words and acts that carry regret." He went south to declare his policies and he did it in a manner which must have left an excellent impression of the republican nominee for the presidency among those people. His reception was most cordial and enthusiastic.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

There should be a nationwide participation in Fire Prevention week to the extent, at least, of giving heed to the conditions that exist and the crying need for the necessary, and in many instances the simple, steps to prevent them.

By proclamation of President Coolidge this week has been set aside as Fire Prevention week. It is selected because it is the anniversary of the big fire in Chicago where Mrs. O'Leary's cow has long since been charged with starting the conflagration. In Connecticut the proclamation by Governor Trumbull calls for the observance of Tuesday as Fire Prevention day. Nation and state may well heed these appeals for it is time more thought was given to stopping the enormous waste through fire.

When we stop to think that the fire losses in this country average about a half billion dollars a year and a large percentage of the fires and losses are unnecessary it can be readily understood that there is need of something that will get the great American public to thinking in terms of prevention. It is pleasing to note that the losses for 1927 were only $478,000,000 where they were $560,000,000 in 1926, and the further fact that the losses for 1928 promise to be as low if not lower than in 1927 if the record of the past nine months is not spoiled.

Fire losses are subject to variations and it is unfortunate that a series of years under low losses does not necessarily mean a permanent condition. Too often it is the case that a low year is followed by a record breaking high one, all because carelessness has its ups and downs, and also because too many are disposed to depend upon luck in the prevention of fires instead of real, every day effort.

The nation's fire losses should not be where they are. It is not so in Europe and it need not be so here, even though conditions are different. If Fire Prevention week or day will help call attention to the situation which needs correction and concentrate thought upon real prevention efforts it will work to the advantage of the whole country. Each community and each individual should give consideration to the importance of the idea.

TIME TO AGREE

On previous occasions there have been indications that all the difficulties between Chile and Peru were going to be ironed out. Hope was father to the thought. Efforts were made but they were not successful, and for more than a generation those countries have chosen to disagree and have long been without diplomatic representation with each other.

Through the good offices of the United States an attempt has been made to end this situation. That plan to bring the two countries together for a termination of their troubles unquestionably played an important part in the restoration of diplomatic relations this month, a step which it is believed will result in an adjustment of their differences. It may be too early to predict success but certainly the progress that is being made is most gratifying. It is the most promising of anything thus far undertaken. The receptions given to the ambassadors in the respective countries were conspicuous for their friendly demonstrations.

Chile and Peru have been at loggerheads over the Tacna-Arica districts now in Chile. Both have claimed them and both have demanded them. Chile is at present and has been for years in possession of them. Their dispute has created a problem along the west coast of South America which ought not to be longer tolerated by civilized nations. But, if in spite of this problem it is possible for them to exchange ambassadors it is not improbable that they can come to some agreement between themselves that will put to an end the soreness that has too long existed. A taste of different relationship, if nothing else, ought to create a demand for a settlement.

In such a connection a plea has been made for Bolivia, now shut off from the sea by these two districts. If by no other means the disposal of a corridor to the sea to Bolivia would be a means by which an adjustment could be made without humiliation on the part of either one.

But possibly no third part interest is going to be needed in order to reach an agreement now that the ice has been broken and they are willing to treat with each other directly. Perhaps nothing has done more to bring this about than the pleas which have been made to them through the friendly efforts of this government.

A COSTLY STRIKE

What must be regarded as a display of excellent judgment was that of the textile workers in New Bedford in deciding to accept the compromise offer to return to work. This involves a 5 per cent. reduction in wages but they have been out of employment for a period of 25 weeks in opposition to a 10 per cent. reduction and there is no likelihood of getting more favorable terms under present conditions. To remain out of work longer, especially with cold weather coming on, is to make their own position worse.

New Bedford, like certain other centers, has not been helped by the radical element which has appeared among the strikers as leaders. They have fomented trouble and there is no assurance that they will now permit the strikers who desire to return to work to do so without a fight. What must be regarded as the conservative body among the textile workers brought about a reconsideration of the close vote against returning to work and obtained a majority vote for the acceptance of the 5 per cent. cut and the promise that in the future that a 30 day notice would be given of any wage reduction.

With such a large body of mill employes out of work for almost a half year, and with the agitations which have disturbed the city during that period, the decision to return must have been welcome news in the city of New Bedford where conditions have been badly out of joint during the trouble since what concerns the textile industries disturbs the whole community.

The unfortunate part of the whole affair is that the losses involved in the long period of inactivity could not have been avoided through an adjustment in keeping with the facts as known to exist.

OHIO'S OAKS

Attention is called in Ohio to the fact that shipbuilders from the Atlantic coast sent to that state for seven great white oak logs from which to obtain the desired timber for the reconditioning of the Constitution.

Naturally Ohio is proud of the fact that it has something to distribute to such a noble ship. It is also given a chance to proclaim the part which it has played in the past in producing timber of various kinds for use there and elsewhere. It is able to recall that there were days when it was covered with forests from which high grade lumber could be obtained, but in such reflection it is now cognizant of the fact that those days have gone. As the Toledo Blade notes, "most of the great trees are gone" and even though there remain some from which to help in the rebuilding of Old Ironsides the number is limited.

Ohio has experienced changes the same as other states as years have flitted by, but there are reasons for believing that in that state the same as in Connecticut and elsewhere there is much land which might be profitably employed for the purpose of growing trees which, if not required in the construction of ships, could be employed in many other works of construction. Unless certain efforts are made to replace those which are going every year there will be no source of supply even in Ohio.

In any state where there is wasteland, or land which cannot be employed at a satisfactory profit, there is the opportunity for the planting of forests which though costing little are bound to be the source of much profit in the future. Why shouldn't Ohio be taking steps to replace these big, valuable oaks?

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Serge can be renovated successfully by washing it in soap bark.

Use dry silver polish to brighten up the brass bed.

Cook green vegetables uncovered and they will keep their green color.

Toothpaste will clean tarnished French jewelry.

Milk will keep sweet longer in a yellow plan than in a pitcher.

Window shades can be cleaned with a rough flannel cloth dipped in flour.

Use the best cider vinegar for pickling.

Let frozen meat or poultry stand in a warm room several hours before cooking it.

Leather upholstery will last longer if rubbed occasionally with castor oil.

Parsley dried in a cool place and put in air-tight boxes will be ready for winter use.

Use the water strained from boiled onions in making gravy for a roast.

When grinding figs, dates or raisins, add a little lemon juice and the fruit will not clog the chopper.

A piece of stale bread placed in the kettle in which the cabbage is boiling will help kill the odor.

A crown roast can be stuffed with fried apples.

Never salt meat until the surface is seared and the meat partly cooked or it will be tough.

Waffles slightly spiced are nice for luncheon.

A little salad oil added when mixing mustard for the table improves it.

An old rug or a piece of carpet doubled twice and tacked to a small piece of board gives excellent protection from dampness when kneeling in the garden.

When steaming dumplings, a cloth should always be placed over the steamer before the lid is put on. This prevents the steam from condensing and dropping on the dumplings, and insures light, puffy pastry.

To clean rhinestone buckles moisten a cent's worth of prepared chalk with cold water, dip into this a dry, clean toothbrush and rub the stones until all dirt is removed. Then rub with a dry brush and the stones will look beautifully bright.

CLEANING DRAIN BOARD.

Rub the drain board with the inside of lemon peels, sprinkle with a cleansing powder and let stand a while before scrubbing clean. The result is a dazzling whiteness.

SAFETY MAT.

Every bathroom should have two mats, one to step out onto when finished, the other one of the "safety" variety, made of suction rubber caps which will not slip with you when you stand on it while taking a shower.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

A new chiffon frock with a double flounce that runs up the back to fashion a cute little bustle effect is in leaf green print.

A rich brown hatter's plush hat with irregular wide brims, has two big amber buttons fastening its ornamental band of felt.

A large scarf of red crepe de chine, polka-dotted in small white dots, has a strictly tailored little belt of the same material.

A new blue for street wear and evening in cobalt blue, a clear, penetrating shade. Fashion predicts its importance in the autumn wardrobe.

Evening dresses of black stiff velvet are trimmed with brilliants or pearls. Ropes of the latter outline the back of the decolletage in a dress from Woth.

Straw hats that are developed in mustard color are interesting and new. These hats come in large and small shapes and have ribbon bands around the crown.

An attractive suit for a small boy has the blouse of handkerchief linen and the small shorts of white silk pique. Large pearl buttons form the decoration.

Striped and with cravat ends is an attractive Chanel scarf or Rodier jersey, the diagonal stripes giving a smart appearance when it is worn in a loose knot at the throat.

Modeled after the necklace of seed pearls which consist of many strands twisted together, are necklaces of small red and black beads, or green and black and black and white.

Ensembles with three-quarter jackets and the seven-eighths coat are of coarser, rougher texture to differentiate the fall school and campus suit from the tweeds of other seasons.

Along with the popularity of cotton frocks has come a revival of interest in lisle stockings. They now come in the lovely pastel tones and are beautifully clocked as well.

New purses for autumn are commodious and convenient. Pouches are longer and narrower, envelopes are nearer square. Both are apt to have outside pockets for cigarets and carfare.

The beret will undoubtedly be very popular this winter, since it is well adapted for wear with high collars. It is fitted more carefully than ever before, and is developed in velvet, hatters' plush, and all the fine felts.

NEW SCARFS LONG AND NARROW

The three-cornered scarf and the square handkerchief, popular and becoming as they are, have a rival in the new scarf that is long and narrow. These are particularly nice in hand-woven scarfs, which feature Roman stripes and use of either black or white for the main color. Others have small flower patterns.

NOVELTY SCARF.

A stunning winter coat has its upper portion cut of the new casaba caraeul, like a sleeveless fur jacket, with the skirt portion and the sleeves of a new novelty duvetyne of matching shade. A scarf of the material knots around the fur neck.

LAUNDRY HINTS

Before washing silk dresses, outline badly soiled spots with basting thread.

After washing woolen blankets stretch them on a curtain stretcher and they will not shrink.

To remove ink stains on linens, let the stained part stand in milk. When the milk is discolored change to fresh milk. Wash next in cold water and ammonia. Use milk if you have no ammonia.

A little ammonia in the water when washing out the tea towels will remove any cooking odors, besides helping to loosen the dirt.

A LAPBOARD FOR CUTTING.

Much cutting out of materials, basting, and similar work which usually is done on a table may be done more quickly and pleasantly if one does not have to get up from the chair in which one may be sitting. Get a piece of wallboard of an attractive color. This is inexpensive, being really insulating paper, but thick and firm. It can be purchased wherever building materials are sold. Lay it across the chair above one's lap, allowing it to project at least six inches beyond the chair arms at each side and perhaps a little way beyond the chair in front.

With a sharp knife cut out a rounding place in the side of the board coming next to the body, so the board may be drawn up close and also to make it possible for the sides to rest on almost the full length of the chair arms, for plenty of support. If the chair is large, the board may be practically as large as an ordinary sewing table of the folding variety.

Lastly, glue a small but deep pasteboard box near the right edge of the board to hold scissors, pins and so on.

WHEN DOOR STICKS.

If doors or bureau drawers stick in hot weather a little wax rubbed on the surface where friction occurs will end the trouble.

TO SAVE CLEANER'S BILLS.

Spots on white suede shoes may sometimes be removed if gently rubbed with sandpaper or a manicurist's emery board. White shoe powder is usually the best material for whitening.

Clean white kid gloves or shoes with gasoline or benzine, but great care must be taken that there is no fire nearby. Soak the gloves in a glass jar filled with gasoline, rinse in fresh gasoline and hang to dry. Don't rub, as friction generates heat and will set gloves on fire.

HOT WATER AND A CHAMOIS.

Almost every one knows that chamois will clean windows better than anything else, but have you ever tried using hot water in conjunction with the chamois? Your windows will dry with a beautiful polish.

COOKIE POINTERS.

Cookies cut in fancy shapes with any of the new, inexpensive cookie-cutters on the market, appeal greatly to the children, and will turn a prosaic lunch into a feast.

Even a plain cookie takes on a new air, if you top it with a large nut, or a date, or a bit of fresh-keeping cocoanut.

Cookies need not be baked all at one time. The dough may be packed in a wax-paper lined pan, chilled in the ice box, and then cut into thin slices before baking.

A tiny cookie makes the inevitable glass of milk "go down easier."

BOIL THE MILK FOR BABY.

It is now generally conceded that in infant feeding boiled milk is the only absolutely safe milk. Boiled milk is more digestible because the curds are much smaller.

Diarrheal conditions are the primary cause of infantile deaths during the summer months. Boiling the milk will obviate this. However, boiled milk is not constipating, as is so generally supposed.

The milk which the city baby consumes is usually 24 hours old or even more. Even though it has been pasteurized, changes take place in the milk in that time, and although this is harmless to the adult, it may be very upsetting to the baby.

We all know that typhoid fever has often been traced to the milk, so boiling it is a safeguard against this disease. Boil the milk five minutes, cool at once and place it in the refrigerator.

EVEN HEMS.

A piece of cardboard the exact width of the hem and about six or seven inches long is convenient as a marker when making hems. Start the hem and then insert the cardboard, slipping it along as the hem progresses. This will insure hems of exact width and prove a big timesaver.

PREVENT CURDLING.

Cream tomato and similar soups can be kept from curdling if the tomato and the milk are of even temperatures when mixed and the tomato is stirred into the milk.

CLOTHES HOLDERS.

When airing winter things that have been stored, put them on the line right on their hangers, with a clothes pin snapped onto the line on either end to keep the hangers from slipping.

KEEP FISH COVERED.

It is not desirable to keep fish in the refrigerator, owing to the strong odor, but if necessary to do so keep it closely covered.

CRACKERS.

Where crackers have lost their crispness, put them into a warm, not hot, oven for about twenty minutes, then let them cool and put them into a tin can immediately. Make sure the cover is tight fitting.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

Mrs. Margaret Campbell Goodwin is the only women deep-sea salvager of sunken ships.

Six colleges in the New York metropolitan area last autumn had an aggregate enrollment of 10,335 law students.

Yeshivath, New York, first Jewish high school in the United States, will be a four-story structure.

A mass-meeting held in Damascus recently elected a committee to seek a modification of the custom requiring the man who would marry to pay over a handsome sum of money to the father of the girl of his choice.

A 20-year-old girl, Miss Lucy Donaldson, of Sydney, Australia, is wearing the gold medal of the Royal Shipwreck and Relief Society, for having rescued a fellow swimmer—a man—from the attack of a shark.

FOR LITTLE FOLK.

A tray and child's supper set is decorated with a motif of funny little black figures in orange frocks upon a white background. Cup and saucer, porringer and tray are included in the set.

ARTICLE OF STEEL RUSTED.

If any article of steel has become rusted soak it in sweet oil for a day or two and then rub with a fresh lime.

RECIPES

Apple Shortcake: Make a good, smooth apple sauce and season it well. Make the shortcake of biscuit dough, split and butter it hot and fill with the apple sauce. Have ready a good soft frosting and cover the top. Serve with fudge sauce, whipped cream or with maple and walnut sauce.

Cream Cocoanut Sticks: Mix together one cup of white flour, two cups of whole wheat or graham flour, one teaspoon of salt, half a cup of shredded cocoanut and half a cup of sugar. Into half a cup of sour cream put half a teaspoon of baking soda. When dissolved add half a cup of milk and stir into the dry ingredients until all is barely moistened. The mixture should be quite stiff. Let stand for half an hour, then roll out and cut into sticks one-third inch thick and four inches long. Bake in a hot oven until crisp, turning often in order not to burn them.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—If government employes in the District of Columbia had votes to cast here, the question of granting them a year-around Saturday half holiday might enter into the 1928 presidential campaign.

They have been battling for that boon for years and have succeeded in expanding the original two-month, mid-summer half Saturday off to a hot weather relief policy that lets them out at 1.30 p. m. Saturday from mid-May to mid-September. That was done by President Coolidge through executive order. He is very gravely doubtful about further enlarging that order to cover the entire year, however, without specific authority of congress.

Matter of Economy

Mr. Coolidge has looked into the question with considerable care, it appears. He has discovered that a year round half holiday Saturday for government workers would mean a 12 1-2 per cent. increase in overhead costs of the government's huge establishment in Washington. He also has considered that already the government workers get 30 days annual leave, exclusive of intervening Sundays and holidays, as well as a month's sick leave where the powers that be can be satisfied that actual physical disability existed.

That seems to be about the limit of liberality of treatment the White House is ready to extend on its own motion, although there is no reason to doubt that Mr. Coolidge would promptly approve an act of congress granting a five-and-a-half day week as a regular thing. In fact, he is represented as still undecided finally on doing it by executive order, and that in the face of the added cost of government involved and his desire to hold down expenditures and leave office without the foreshadowed $900,000,000 deficit having become largely a fact during his term.

Would Help in Summer

Only one unit of the government's office force enjoys now a half day off on Saturday for the whole year. That is the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet corporation force. But these workers earn their day-and-a-half week-end rest by sticking on the job five days a week from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., instead of conforming to the standard 4.30 p. m. government closing time rule. The question was submitted to them when the war pressure relaxed and they voted overwhelmingly in favor of the existing arrangement. There is no question of increasing working hours to pay for a regular Saturday half day vacation with the other governmental departments. It's a straight reduction in the total number of working hours per week their clerical forces are asking.

Washington knows spells from May to September when the heat is hard to bear. High humidity adds to the discomfort of its hot days and for many government workers conditions under which they labor are such that usually certain groups must be granted shortened hours on particularly oppressive days as a health precaution. During the summer just over there were half a dozen times when certain departments or parts of departments closed down for a half day or more at a time because of the heat.

YOUR HEALTH

A Safe Laxative

By A. B. Olsen, M. D., Battle Creek, Michigan

That millions of people in this country are more or less dependent on the use of laxative drugs is common knowledge. The explanation is simple. These same millions are suffering from sluggish bowels that require artificial assistance.

Normally, the bowels, which act as a garbage can for the body, should be emptied two or three times a day. Neglect to empty them leads to a condition known as auto-intoxication or self poisoning. This is caused by the absorption of waste matter into the blood from a sluggish, overloaded colon.

In mild cases of constipation, a laxative diet together with physical exercise, such as walking, digging in the garden or chopping wood, are sufficient to regulate the bowels. But in dealing with chronic constipation, while some persons use beneficial water injections, many persons resort to harmful laxative drugs, a thousand and one of which crowd the shelves of the pharmacy.

Most of these laxatives and cathartics act by exciting and irritating the bowels and are therefore promptly expelled, incidentally emptying the bowels at the same time. Strictly speaking, although their use brings temporary relief, they possess no real curative virtue. Indeed, the daily use of physic of this kind is liable in time to cause piles or other trouble.

There is a very simple and safe laxative that is widely used at the present, namely, mineral or paraffin oil. History tells us that rock or earth oil, as it is also called, has been in use as a remedy for many centuries, so that it is not as new or modern as some might think.

Paraffin oil is neither digested nor absorbed by the body, for it is a mineral, and possesses no food value of any kind. For this reason some have thought that mineral oil might in some way interfere with the digestion or absorption of the food and so cause harm. An investigation of its effect, if any on digestion and absorption was published in a recent number of the Journal of the American Medical Association. This research seems to prove clearly that there is no such interference.

Refined mineral oil, plain or emulsified, has a gentle laxative effect upon the bowels. This laxative influence can readily be increased or diminished according to the size and frequency of the dose. The oil never gripes the bowels or causes any pain or discomfort, and it may be considered a perfectly safe laxative that can be used for months or years if necessary.

A gentleman of 70 writes: I have used it daily for a third of a century, at first importing it from Russia. My digestion is as good as ever, and I confidently believe that mineral oil by its mild lubricating and laxative effect has contributed to my health and well-being."

A British physician estimates that noises at night, such as clattering milk wagons, barking dogs and noisy parties disturb sleepers and do damage to British working efficiency amounting to $5,000,000 a year.

CHILD TRAINING

A NEW KIND OF A CONSCIENCE

By Blanche Upright Phillips

A little brown celluloid toad was Bobby's conscience. And the way the little toad became such a very important thing as a conscience is interesting.

One day Bobby was very cross and disagreeable. He didn't want to do anything his mother told him to do. Finally, Mother said, "Bobby, do you know what we are going to do?"

Bobby stopped poking at the shoe which he was trying to lace and looked up. "What?" he asked uneasily.

"We're going to Mrs. Green's Toy Shop to buy you a new conscience."

"Buy a what?" asked Bobby.

"A conscience," repeated Mother.

"What is a conscience?" asked Bobby at a loss.

"Well," replied Mother, "your conscience is really inside of your little self. It tells you when you are being a good boy and when you are being a bad boy, and it tries to help you to be good. Because your own conscience doesn't seem to have worked very well today, we are going to Mrs. Green's Toy Shop to buy a small animal which will be a new conscience to help your old one along."

"But how could it, Mother?" asked Bobby.

"Oh, you'll have to help it, of course, but it will help you, too. When you are a good, cheerful boy it will play with you, but if you are cross and disobedient it will have to go away and hide until you are good again," explained Mother.

"That might work," said Bobby as he poked the shoe-string into the last hole. "Let's go now, Mother."

Mrs. Green's Toy Shop was wonderful that day. There were six new rabbits, a furry cat, a life-sized dog, elephants, monkeys, bears, little yellow chickens, cows, pigs and every kind of animal you could think of. But what do you think Bobby found over in one corner, almost hidden by a fierce tiger? A small, brown toad with tiny, black beady eyes and little bumps all over his back and legs. It looked just ready to take a jump. "There!" exclaimed Bobby, "that little toad would make a fine conscience. He can ride in my pocket wherever I go, and if I'm bad he's all ready to hop out and run away."

The little brown toad turned out to be as good a conscience as Bobby thought it would. Bobby talked to it just as if it were alive and pretended that the toad talked back to him. It would sit by its little master's plate at the table and watch Bobby's table manners. It would hop up on the wash-bowl and see that Bobby brushed his teeth and didn't forgetto rinse his mouth. It would help Bobby to get home on time and to answer his mother quickly when she called.

One morning at breakfast Bobby said, "What do you think my Little Toad did for me last night?"

"What?" asked Father, who liked to hear about this new kind of a conscience.

"Well," explained Bobby, "after I got into bed I wanted to get up and turn on the light and play. But Little Toad said 'No, Bobby, don't do that. Your mother said you were to go right to sleep.' I still wanted to do it but Little Toad said 'Remember, if you get out of bed, Bobby, I'll hop up on that shelf, and I won't come back tonight.' I knew Little Toad was right and so I turned over and went to sleep."

"I think Little Toad is a pretty good kind of a conscience," said Father.

"And I think so, too," agreed Bobby as he offered Little Toad a bite of his toast and strawberry jam.

IN DAY'S NEWS

The Bahamas.

"The Bahamas, closest to the United States of the islands to suffer from the recent West Indian hurricane, may be the last from which details of injury will filter in," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The nearest of the Bahamas are a figurative stone's throw from the coast of Florida," says the bulletin. "A powerful motor boat can cover the distance in an hour or so. But the most remote members of the group lie nearly 500 miles farther to the southeast. They consist of 25 fairly large inhabited islands and thousands of small keys and rocks. Cables touch only the two extremes of the elongated archipelago and steamers, even, touch only these two islands and one intermediate isle. Between these contact points with the outside world the islands are scattered widely, and some of them are heard from far less frequently in the nearby United States than are South Sea groups thousands of miles away.

"Most of the approximately 60,000 inhabitants of the Bahamas are negroes, and on the 'out islands,' as those away from the island of New Providence are called, many of them live primitive lives. The majority of the negroes take their living in one way or another from the sea as fishermen, sponge divers and dealers, catchers of turtles, and salt 'rakers.' Coconuts are grown on many of the islands, and on a few of the larger cisal hemp is cultivated. Pineapples are a specialty on Eleutheria, east of Nassau.

"To most visitors to the Bahamas, the little island of New Providence and Nassau, the capital of the group, situated on it, stand for the far-flung archipelago. New Providence is fenced off from the Atlantic on the east and from the Florida Straits on the west by large islands, and Nassau, on the north side of the island, has an excellent harbor of its own. In this favored position the only city of the Bahamas has grown up. Its population of 12,500 is more than one-fifth that of the entire island group. About one-fifth of Nassau's resident population consists of whites; but the proportion is swelled greatly during the winter months when hundreds of sojourners arrive from the United States and Canada to enjoy the equable climate which has long been the city's chief stock in trade. Nassau lies 145 miles east of Miami, Florida, and is connected with that city by a line of small passenger steamers.

"The architecture of Nassau is not striking, but there is a certain charm to its low houses surrounded by cocoanut palms and bananas, and its gardens splashed with the colors of tropical flowers. Behind the harbor rises one of the infrequent hills to be found in the Bahamas, and up this gentle slope the city has grown. Gleaming white coral roads lead into the country, which is, however, rather bare and unattractive. In the edge of the town is a golf course.

"Nassau is thoroughly British, but its welfare has often been closely linked with happenings in the United States. One of its earliest influxes of white population came after the American Revolution when numerous families of British loyalists moved to New Providence and neighboring islands from the southern colonies. They took their slaves with them, and from these the greater part of the black population of the islands has sprung. During the Civil war, Nassau became an important headquarters for blockade runners who took shiploads of munitions into southern harbors and brought out cargoes of cotton for England.

"Except in shape and size most of the islands of the Bahamas are of the same pattern. All are of coral formation most of them with beaches of shining white sand meeting sky-blue seas. At least one island, however, Eleutheria, has stretches of beach of beautiful pink coral sand.

"Palms and bananas grow on all the islands, and on some there are in addition forests of hard woods, including mahogany. Most of the isles are flat, but on a few are low hills. The highest elevation in the group, on Cat Island, is scarcely 400 feet high.

"In so far as contacts with Europe are concerned, the Bahamas can claim a history matched by no other bit of American soil. It was on the eastern shore of one of the out islands that Columbus made his epochal land fall on Oct. 12, 1492. Which of the Bahamas the great navigator first saw and touched has been the subject of controversy for centuries. The native name of the island was Guanahani, but this was lost. Cat Island was accepted as the landing place for a long time, and today its easternmost extremity is named Columbus Point. Later the claims of Watling Island or San Salvador were advanced. Grand Turk has also been put forward as the first bit of American territory to fall under European eyes. Watling Island is considered to fit best the description of Columbus, who speaks of a lake at its center.

"The Bahamas were fairly heavily populated by Carib Indians at the time of their discovery. When the Spaniards colonized Cuba and other lands about the Spanish Main they took boatloads of the Bahaman Caribs as slaves to work in mines and on plantations, and to dive for pearls. Within a generation or so the Bahamas became depopulated. For more than a century they were abandoned; then pirates took possession of some of the isles, notably New Providence, and used them as bases for depredations against Spanish and other shipping. The pirates were finally run out by the British in 1718. The first British settlement had been made about 1666 from Bermuda. This was destroyed by the Spanish in 1703. The last Spanish expedition against British settlers was made in 1781, since which time British control of the Bahamas has been undisputed."

Stories That Recall Others

Just Like Air

Phyllis is just seven years old. By the physician's orders she is not permitted to eat many sweets or starchy foods. One evening mashed potatoes were on the menu at mam's (Grandmother's). Her mam told her she could have one spoonful of potatoes and then she must eat green beans, tomatoes and other things that were good for her. Phyllis ate her potatoes and then said: "Mam, I'd like to have more potatoes. There's not much to them fixed this way. They're just like air." Phyllis got another spoonful.

Conn. Mother Knew the Way

Every mother knows what it means when her child begins to get underweight, pale, listless, bilious, feverish and fretful, with bad breath, coated tongue and no appetite. What every one of them doesn't know is that it's dangerous to use harsh methods to start the little stomach and bowels.

There's no use experimenting in such cases. Millions of mothers have proved the merit and reliability of pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable California Fig Syrup. It gently clears up the most stubborn cases of constipation, stimulates the appetite, gives tone and strength to weak stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally of their own accord, and makes pale, listless children bright, rosy-cheeked and full of energy.

A Connecticut mother, Mrs. J. C. Fantone, 72 Capitol Ave., Hartford, says: "My little son, Joseph, developed constipation. He became bilious, pale and fretful; had no appetite and couldn't digest right. He was losing weight. I had used California Fig Syrup as a child, so I gave it to him. It regulated him quick. He began eating heartily and digesting everything. Soon he was his robust, happy self again."

Ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name so you'll get the genuine, endorsed by physicians for over 50 years.

ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF SUNDAY LAW VIOLATION

While at work tearing down part of a wall at the Main street building recently purchased by the Metropolitan Chain Store Co. late Sunday afternoon, Philip Kuharenko was arrested by Officer Michael Carroll on charges of violating the Sunday labor law and of injury to private property. Kuharenko is one of a crew of men who have been engaged in razing the old building to make way for the erection of a modern structure.

Sunday afternoon, William A. Somers, complainant in the case and owner of the adjoining building, which is occupied on the ground floor by the Chelsea Lunch, was notified by the restaurant people that bricks were falling into their chimney and blocking it up. Mr. Somers immediately went to the building and ordered Kuharenko off the top of his building. Kuharenko, it is understood, declined to get off the building. Complaint to the police followed and Kuharenko was arrested on the Sunday labor law violation and also charged with injury to private property. His case will come up in the city court this (Monday) morning.

Access to the wall where the bricks were being removed was gained by the use of a ladder which was put up on the McGrory building, from which the workman crossed to the Somers building. It is understood, this being claimed as an act of trespass by Mr. Somers.

SHEPHERD PICTURE SHOWN AT Y. M. C. A. SERVICE

The opening service of the season was held in the gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The opening part of the service was given over to singing, scripture reading and prayer, after which a specially fine feature moving picture titled "The Shepherd of the Hills" was shown. This is the classic story by Harold Bell Wright, and it proved exceedingly interesting and impressive to all present. It was the story of life among picturesque Ozark mountains. During the service Secretary Edwin Hill gave a brief talk and he spoke in part as follows: In the gospel of John we read these words as spoken by the Master: "I am the good shepherd and the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

The study of the shepherd and the sheep is very interesting. The sheep is perhaps the most helpless of animals: the shepherd has a big, tender heart; the shepherd and the sheep seem to have made for each other. The shepherd has a personal interest in his sheep, and when one strays away he quickly misses it and at once begins a search for it. For a moment he cares more for the lost than for all the others. He puts the others in the fold and leaves them to hunt for the lost one, and thought the hunt takes him through the woods, the swamps, and at times the briars, he usually searches until he finds the sheep. I suppose the shepherd is never so happy as when he finds his lost sheep. How like a mother is the true, faithful shepherd. We often hear the saying, "there is a black sheep in almost every family," and it is too true. What is the mother's attitude toward that black sheep, that straying boy? We know well that she yearns for him, she prays for him and in her thoughts she searches for him. He has gone to the prodigal country. The mother's attitude is perfectly expressed in that touching touching hymn, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight."

But the human shepherd and the human mother both have caught the spirit of the great divine shepherd, who said, "I am the good shepherd and I give my life for my sheep." Christ is solely the great and the good shepherd. His attitude to all the wondering children is suggested by that beautiful hymn, "The Ninety and Nine." There are probably some here who have strayed away from the fold of God; won't you come back today? Appropriate music was furnished by Hugh Kinder.

HOUSE WARMING OPENED B'RAI BRITH HEADQUARTERS

New headquarters for the B'nai Brith and its auxiliary in the Uncas bank building on Shetucket street were opened recently with an interesting program which began with the singing of America which preceded the welcoming address by President Wechsler. Addresses were made by Nestor Dreyfuss and Morris Lubschansky of New London, Max Hanoyer, W. M. Citron of Middletown, democratic candidate for congress, and George Dewitt of New Britain, democratic candidate for secretary of state. There were solos by Miss Miriam Gordon and Miss Augusta Bruckner and a recitation by Mrs. P. Schwartz. Dancing concluded the program and refreshments were served.

Rally Sunday was held at the session of the school of the United Congregational church with graduation of classes from one department to another.

The church is entering upon its second decade since its organization by the union of the Second and Broadway churches, reference to which was made by the pastor, Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, at the church service in the morning.

For Burial in Salisbury

The body of Mary O'Brien, who died Sunday in this city, was taken to Salisbury for burial by Shea & Burke.

PILGRIMAGE TO EASTFORD HONORS MEMORY OF GEN. NATHANIEL LYON

Idea, weather conditions, combined with the beautiful autumn coloring of the hills of Windham county, brought out a large crowd Sunday afternoon to the pilgrimage to Lyon Memorial park at Eastford, the birthplace of Gen. Nathaniel Lyon, where the pilgrimage programme was conducted under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans. More than 100 cars were parked in the spacious grounds of the park and the number in attendance was estimated at around 600. The old chimney of the Lyon home has been restored by the state park commission and was an object of great interest.

The patriotic exercises opened at 2:15, with the address of welcome by Commander E. C. Babson, chairman of the fifth district, Danielson. This was followed by prayer by Rev. A. N. Foster of this city and the singing of America.

Rev. Chester J. Armstrong of Danielson gave a stirring address on "General Lyon, the Patriot," and referred not only to the sacrifice of giving his life that the "Union" should be preserved, but left his fortune, estimated at $40,000, to the United States for carrying on the principles and ideals of this government.

Address by Rev. A. N. Foster

Rev. A. N. Foster of this city, who is becoming recognized as an authority on Connecticut history, had as his topic, "Modern Shrines," and spoke as follows:

The ancient Greeks who resorted to Delphi for guidance in civic affairs never imagined a race of people far beyond the Great Sea who on occasion would gather at shrines. The medieval Briton who in Chaucer's day made a pilgrimage to Canterbury to pay honor at the shrine of Thomas Becket never dreamed of an American people who would travel in automobiles to make a pilgrimage to patriotic shrines.

The history of Connecticut lends itself very readily to the recognition of capital events and to patriotic centers of influence. That history was not darkened by the persecution of witches nor marked by a long list of bloody battles of the colonial frontier. Modern shrines as centers of civic and patriotic influence may develop in the state because Connecticut is the "Constitution State". Within five years we shall be commemorating the 300th anniversary of the settlement of the towns of Windsor and Wethersfield and Hartford. The three vines of the state seal are symbolic of the three settlements there made on the banks of the Connecticut river. The painting —"The Fundamental Orders of Connecticut" on the walls of the state supreme court at Hartford symbolizes the adoption of the first written constitution in history for the formation of a government: this was done—primarily through the insight and the initiative of Rev. Thomas Hooker in 1639. This led to the federation of towns, with equal power to form a state or union which should have only such authority as was granted by the constituent towns and this was followed by the granting of the charter by King Charles the II through the address of John Winthrop and the uniting of the colonies of Hartford and New Haven and New London in 1662 to form the modern state of Connecticut.

At the time of the American revolution, Connecticut had long been called the "land of steady habits"; the people were accustomed to a dual or federated government of town and state and for over a hundred years had been electing their own governor by popular vote. At the time of the federal constitutional convention in 1787, it was quite the natural thing to pattern the new federal constitution very closely after that which had been in vogue in Connecticut for a century. Incident to such historic developments there are numerous names of the revolutionary era which suggest honorable recognition through successive generations. The memorial of Israel Putnam at Brooklyn implies the story of a leader of men in the older colonial period whose activity ranged from Havana to Quebec. We are met in the home town of Thomas Knowlton whose service at Bunker Hill and whose sacrifice at Harlem Heights in '76 are a part of the military record of the state. In the neighboring town of Coventry the memorial of Nathan Hale tells the story of the patriot martyr; at historic Lebanon the family tomb of the Trumbulls tells not only of "Brother Jonathan" but of the achievements in civil administration, in military service and in the art of decorative painting by one of the noted families of American life. In the ensuing one hundred years the people of the state, through migration contributed much in the development of Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, and yet the centers remained as of old at Hartford and New Haven.

The Civil war era proffers an array of leaders: Buckingham and Gideon Welles and Foote and Terry and Winthrop and Sedgwick—valiant leaders of the people in their day and generation. As we have journeyed, amid the autumnal beauty of this October day to the site of this ancestral home, now enclosed within the borders of a memorial state park, the thought of another leader of that period has been in our minds and his name upon our lips —Nathaniel Lyon. From this home town he went as a youth of 19 years to the West Point military academy and graduated in the class of '41. The succeeding twenty years witnessed service in the Mexican war and Indian campaigns and in the tumultuous early days in the state of California and the later tense controversial days in bleeding Kansas. The outbreak of the Civil war found him in command of the United States arsenal at St. Louis, Missouri.

Our pilgrimage this day commemorates, not the loyalty of ordinary soldiership but rather the service of leadership in a dark hour of our national life. The great state of Missouri—the "mother of the west"—was a border state; in so many respects Missouri was a southern state! And yet Missouri does not secede! Why? Because that arsenal is in command of a vigilant and rugged captain of the regular army; he is 43 years old; his face shows a stubby reddish brown beard; his countenance shows the resolute daring and the resourcefulness of the Connecticut Yankee; he holds his troops; he is appointed a brigadier general and he rallies thousands of volunteers and the southern forces are driven into the extreme south west corner of the great state. There after a night march, his little army comes in contact—August 10, 1861—at Wilson's Creek, near Springfield, with the Confederate army. From an early morning hour the battle fluctuates on that bitterly contested field; the union commander is three times wounded and in leading a desperate charge receives a fatal bullet wound and instantly dies on the field of battle. General Lyon was thus one of the significant early leaders in the war whose devotion was sealed by his sacrifice in the dark days before the outcome of the great struggle could be clearly foreseen—one of the rare examples of the loss of the army commander in action.

The sense of loss was deep and keen in the state of Missouri; also in the administration circles at Washington and in the quiet home village in Windham county in his native Connecticut.

Later the body was brought almost half way across the continent that it might finally rest—as he wished—in the cemetery of his fathers at Eastford. And sixty-seven years ago—almost to a month—the funeral service was held at the village church at Eastford and addresses were made by Governor Buckingham; by Hon. Galusha A. Grow, then speaker of the national house of representatives and himself a native of Eastford and by Hon. LaFayette Foster, senior United States senator from Norwich, and the body was interred at Phoenixville village.

In our company as we gather at this shrine this day, are the commander and members of Sedgwick post, No. 1, and also department commander; they act for Nathaniel Lyon post, No. 2, of Hartford and for the almost unnumbered Grand Army posts scattered over this broad land all the way from Connecticut to Missouri; they with the representatives of auxiliary patriotic organizations unite in making this place a shrine of civic and patriotic influence that the heroic story of a valiant leader may be cherished through the coming years.

Other Speakers

Senior Vice-Commander James Haggerty of Willimantic spoke of his early boyhood days and of his attendance at the funeral of General Lyon. He also expressed his appreciation to the state for preserving the memorial to the great patriot. He also referred to the broad-minded spirit of the patriotic organization and urged friendship, charity and loyalty, their motto, as a good one for all to follow.

Dept Commander Earle E. Atwater of Southington stated that the patriotic spirit of Connecticut was not waning, as the numbers present showed. He complimented the Grand Army of the Republic on their saving the Union and the debt that we owe them.

Dept. President Lillian E. Bailey of Danielson informed the audience of the past and present work of the Woman's Relief corps as an auxiliary to the G. A. R., and urged all eligible hearers to affiliate with that organization for a renewed effort for more patriotic work.

Mrs Jennie S Newbury of this city, president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, told of the aims and principles of that order and pledged further assistance and co-operation of that order in the coming years.

E. C. Gabeau, chairman of the fifth district, acted as the presiding officer of the meeting and as well as making an address of welcome conducted the program in an excellent manner. Mrs. Charles S. Burke of this city led the assemblage in singing America and the Star Spangled Banner.

Memorial Service

A short memorial service was conducted at the cemetery, prayer by Rev. Mr. Armstrong, wreath placed on grave of General Lyon by Senior Vice-Commander Morgan B. Haven, with fitting remarks. Taps brought the ceremony to a close.

George E. Zimmerman of this city was chairman of the reception committee, George W. Miller of Danielson was chairman of the parking committee and Capt. Charles Colt of Norwich served on the committee on placing wreath.

Sedgwick Post Guard of Honor

Seven members of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., Norwich, attended and acted as a guard of honor in the memorial exercises, each carrying an American flag. The Woman's Relief corps of Danielson carried two large flags, which were used in the exercises. Delegations were present from Webster, Mass., North Grosvenordale, Putnam, Danielson, Willimantic, Norwich, New London, Mystic, New Haven, Southington, Hartford, New Britain and many other towns in Connecticut. Clara Barton tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of Norwich, sent a large delegation and served an appetizing lunch to the members of Sedgwick post. Mrs. D. Louise Atterbury was chairman of the committee.

Among those present were Henry W. Babson, president of the 13th Regiment association, of Danielson; Roland R. James of Danielson, a veteran who attended the funeral of General Lyon in 1861; Colonel England of Hartford, and Nathaniel Lyon of Eastford, a nephew of the deceased general. Supt. of State Parks Arthur Parker was also present with his superintendent, Mr. Smedley, who is in charge of this park. They had markers placed on all important points, showing the route to the park.

About 200 attended the memorial exercises at 4 o'clock at General Lyon's grave.

The committee in charge of the pilgrimage were Arthur L. Peale, Norwich; De Forest Wells, Danielson, and Charles R. Brown, Groton.

THREE WERE ARRESTED AS SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS

Three rather tough appearing New York city youths were taken in charge early Sunday evening at Laurel Hill, as suspicious characters, by Officer Michael Dewire. The officer saw the trio wandering around. One of them had a live rabbit under his arm. As they could give no satisfactory explanation to the officer he took them to police headquarters.

At police headquarters it developed that they were three youths, against whom a complaint had been made shortly before by the father of a Falls boy whom the New York city "toughs" had beaten without cause. They gave their names as Rudolph Zuschick, 17; Danny Blafford, 18, and James Vitale, 17, and were booked on breach of the peace charges. The youth who had the rabbit claimed that he found it in the street and picked it up.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Charles S. Woodmansee

The funeral of Mrs. Charles S. Woodmansee was held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Preston City Baptist church, and the pastor, Rev. J. A. Smith conducted the service. There were many relatives and friends present and there were numerous and beautiful flowers. Mrs. William Crowe, Jr., sang a hymn during the service. Three sons, Belton, Maurice and Clarke Woodmansee, and a grandson, Merle Woodmansee, were the bearers and burial was in the Avery cemetery at Preston. Rev. Mr. Smith conducted the committal service at the grave. Undertakers Church & Allen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Death of Ellen Moore

The body of Ellen Moore, who died in this city after a short illness, was taken to East Hartford for burial in Saint Mary's cemetery by Shea & Burke.

STRUCK ON CROSSWALK AT WASHINGTON SQUARE

About 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening, James Fogarty of No. 106 Summit street was hit and knocked down at Washington square by a machine driven by S. Howard Bishop of Yantic. Mr. Fogarty was taken to the W. W. Backus hospital, where an examination showed that he had a cut over his right eye, requiring several stitches. He complained of injuries to his side. After being attended at the hospital Mr. Fogarty was taken to his home.

Mr. Bishop claimed that he was driving across the square, intending to go up Washington street, when his machine hit the man. He claimed he did not see Mr. Fogarty on the crosswalk as the lights of another machine bothered him.

MADE DISTURBANCE IN JULIAN PLACE NEIGHBORHOOD

Pete Lichitsky of Bozrah was arrested in the vicinity of Julian place early Sunday evening by Constable Lucius A. Fenton, after he had created considerable of a disturbance, scaring a number of women residing in that section. When the constable attempted to arrest Litchitsky he strenuously resisted and the officer found it necessary to handcuff him. Lichitsky was booked on charges of intoxication, breach of the peace and resistance, and locked up for the night.

Patent to Uncasville Man

A patent has been granted to Arthur J. Loman of Uncasville for his invention of a device for regulating pulp refining engines.

Seven claims for new and patentable features were recognized by the patent office in granting the patent.

Two Machines in Collision

The entire front end and the engine of a Jewett automobile owned by George Goepfert of 292 Laurel Hill avenue were badly damaged Saturday morning in a collision near the Laurel Hill school house with a Ford car operated by Arthur Brother of Palmer, Mass. The damage to the Goepfert machine was estimated at about $250 and the damage to the other car at $15.

NORWICH TOWN

The Norwich Town Methodist Episcopal church recently received a gift greatly appreciated and which will doubtless be of much service. The Providence Biltmore hotel presented four barrels of china to the church. The dishes were placed in the vestry Friday. Harold Rose and Rev. Mr. Potter, pastor of the church, made the trip to Providence to bring the generous gift to the church. At the morning service the pastor spoke of the work done in the vestry and thanked all who had assisted. The work was under the direction of Stanton W. Brown who did much of it himself. He was assisted by A. D. Zabriskie, Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Stanton Brown, Mrs. Harold Rose, Mrs. Lewis Aldrich and Mrs. Rose Carter.

The Norwich Town Wolf Cub pack held a meeting Saturday afternoon with their cubmaster, Rev. George Warren Potter at the Methodist parsonage. Frederick Rose and Clarence Smith were elected Sixers, each being in charge of six cub scouts. An observation hike of great interest was taken by the cubs. Points were given to the cubs first reporting to the cubmaster certain objects seen on the hike. The six in charge of Frederick Rose won with a score of 50 points. The six in charge of Clarence Smith scored 40 points. There was an attendance of 14.

Style Keeps You Young
By MAE MARTIN

Nothing keeps you looking fresh and youthful like stylish clothes. And with little money and no ability to sew, thousands of women are keeping abreast of the shifting tide of style. Their secret is the art of home tinting and dyeing, which is made so simple by true, fadeless Diamond Dyes. Dresses, blouses, stockings, and even coats, that are out of style or faded in color, are made fresh and new looking with a few cents worth of Diamond Dyes. Anyone can do it. Diamond Dyes are so easy to use. They never fail. Gorgeous new colors appear like magic, right over the old, dull or faded ones. Tinting with Diamond Dyes is as easy as bluing, and it takes just a little longer to "set" the colors in dyeing. They are true dyes, the kind used when the cloth was made. See that you get Diamond Dyes and save disappointment.

My new 64 page illustrated book, "Color Craft," gives hundreds of suggestions for brightening and freshening your home and wardrobe at little cost. Send for your copy, NOW. It's FREE. Just write Mae Martin, Home Service Dept. Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.

YANKS SWEEP ON TO THIRD VICTORY AS CARDS CRUMBLE UNDER ATTACK

Gehrig, With Two Homers, Leads Yankee Onslaught That Sends Hopes of Cards to Almost Zero—Victory Was Yankees' Seventh Straight Series Win, a Record—Haines Fails to Stop Yanks as His Teammates Crack Under Strain—Attendance is 40,000—Hoyt and Sherdel Again Today.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sport. Editor)

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 7—(AP)— The Yankee steam roller is still going downhill, unchecked, and in its wake the fleeting hopes of the Cardinals were flatter tonight than ever.

With their clouting first baseman, Lou Gehrig, at the throttle engineering the drive with two home runs, the American league champions swept over the recumbent Cardinals for their third straight world's series victory. It also was the Yankee's seventh successive triumph in a world series competition in two years over National league opposition, setting a new record. The final score today was 7 to 3, and the Yankees, with Waite Hoyt, ready to pitch again, are favored to make it four straight tomorrow.

This was a sad, weird and disconsolate homecoming for the Redbirds and the record crowd of St. Louis rooters that jammed its way into Sportsman Park. The throng that numbered 39,602 in paid admissions, also contributing to a record "gate" of $148,725 for the local field, came out to cheer Jesse Joseph Haines and the Cardinals in a desperate effort to stop the onrush of the Grayclad host from Gotham.

Cards Play Ragged Game

Every element of encouragement was there for the Redbirds, the home crowd, the home field and the pitcher who had beaten the Yankees twice in 1926, but it wasn't enough to revive the spirits of a club that has played raggedly from the start, more so today than before, and that has every appearance of being as thoroughly "licked" as were the Pirates last October. After a brief thrust in the early stages, due more to loopholes in the Yankee defense than their own efforts, the Cardinals tossed the game away with a wild and wooly exhibition in the sixth.

After six stormy innings, Big Jess Haines, the sage of Phillipsburg, Ohio, gave it up as a bad job and retired, along the beaten path that Sherdel and Alexander had taken before him.

Zachary Pitches Brilliantly

The Yankees emerged triumphant today behind the masterful pitching of the veteran southpaw, Tom Zachary, and because the big punch is still in the bats of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. These two factors enabled them to win in spite of one of the worst defensive exhibtiions a world's championship club has ever given, a slip-shod brand of support that helped the Cardinals gain an early lead and remain in the running until the sixth inning.

The Yankee defense was bad enough but the Cardinal's fielding was worse in the fatal sixth, when one of the most unusual of series events, a double error by the usually dependable catcher Jimmy Wilson, contributed to the decisive three run rally of the invaders. Where that other old-timer, Alexander, had failed to show anything like his past world's series form, Zachary came back with flying colors to win the third championship game of his 31 year old career. The veteran portsider, who has been cast about during the past few years, joining the Yankees only last August, twirled as craftly and as brilliantly as he did four years ago in twice baffling the Giants for Washington.

The Cardinals collected nine hits off Zachary but at least five of these were scratchy and after the first inning, when the Redbirds got off to a two run lead on Bottomley's triple, Old Tom had complete command of the situation. There would have been no scoring in the first had the Yankee infield functioned more smoothly or had Durst properly judged Bottomley's drive. Over the remaining eight innings, Zachary scattered the remaining six hits he allowed. He struck out seven Cardinals and yielded only one other run, tallied by Douthit in the fifth in Andy High's double to right. Tom was tight as a base drum in the pinches.

Yankees Were Outhit

The Yankees were outhit, collecting only seven safe blows off the combined deliveries of Haines, Sylvester Johnson and Flint Rhem, but again they made them count, aided and abetted by the lapses of the Cardinal defense.

Gehrig, clouting home runs on his first two turns at the plate, not only featured the long range attack but, by driving in three runs and increasing to eight his total of runs batted in for the series, equalled the record made by his team-mate, Bob Meusel, in the 1923 series.

Larrupling Lou's spectacular start put him in position to equal or beat the performance of Ruth, who hit three homers in the same park two years ago against the Cardinals, but the Yankee first sacker was walked in his last two turns at bat.

Gehrig's first home run, in the second inning, was a lusty clout that landed on top of the roof over the right field stands. The second came in the fourth inning with Ruth on first by virtue of a single. It was a terrific drive that rolled to the center field fence after Douthit failed in a desperate attempt to make a shoestring catch, it was Gehrig's third home run of the series and also put him within one of the record of four, made by Ruth in 1926.

The Babe helping himself to two more hits and scoring a brace of runs, kept up his sensational hitting pace. He now has gathered seven hits, including three doubles, but not yet swung into a home run stride. The bustin' twins, Ruth and Gehrig, together have gathered 12 of the Yankees' 22 hits and scored 10 of their club's 20 runs.

The Hectic Sixth

With such an attack the Yankees didn't need much help, but they got a large helping of it voluntarily in the sixth. The Cardinals had just tied the score and it was anybody's game up to then but the defense of the National leaguers blew up with a loud detonation, carrying with it their few lingering hopes.

Koenig started the sixth with a single and was forced by Ruth on a close play at second. Gehrig walked and Meusel rapped to High, who threw out Gehrig at second. There followed as weird an exhibition as this wild and wooly battle has witnessed. Frisch threw wide to Bottomley in the attempt at a double play and Ruth dashed for the plate. Bottomley's throw to Wilson had the Babe out but the catcher dropped the ball, then threw wildly to center as Meusel raced on to third. Haines, becoming unsteady, walked Lazzeri and the Yankees then engineered a double steal, Meusel scoring. Lazzeri came in with the third run of the inning on Robertson's clean single to center.

The Yankees added their seventh and final run in the seventh when Hafey dropped Durst's fly after a long run, enabling Durst to reach second and score on Ruth's single.

The Cardinals threatened several times in the last few innings but they could not land a decisive blow on Zachary's puzzling offerings. Bottomley, who had driven in High and Frisch with his first inning triple, twice had chances to furnish the clean up wallop in the fifth and seventh, but went out weakly both times.

Yanks Need One For Record

The Yankees now need only to win tomorrow to do the unprecedented and capture two straight world's championships without defeat. Their seventh successive victory in series competition beats the record of six first set by the old Chicago Cubs, against Detroit, in 1907-08 and equalled by the Red Sox in 1915-16 against the Phillies and Brooklyn. The Giants won eight without a setback against the Yankees in 1921-22-23 but there was a tie game in the middle of this great string.

THOMAS HAS BETTER OF MALONE IN DUEL

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 7—(AP)—Speed as dished out by Tommy Thomas and Pat Malone were on exhibition before 48,000 fans that jammed their way into WgrD leyETAON%—their way into Wrigley field today and because the brand served by Thomas was superior the White Sox defeated the Cubs 2 to 0 and thereby remained in the combat for the city baseball title. The Cubs hold a lead of three games to two with the scene of the battle shifting back to Comiskey park tomorrow for the sixth game.

Thomas, in holding the Cubs to four hits and striking out seven, turned in his second great performance of the series, having fanned 13 and yielding nine hits in the second game, before going down to defeat in 14 innings. His seven strike outs today included Cuyler twice and added Maguire to the list.

Great as Thomas was, Malone was also great in defeat and the game might have gone into extra innings had not Wilson and Stephenson got mixed up on their signals in the first inning and allowed Hunnefield's easy fly to fall for two bases, driving home the only runs scored. Previously Shires had singled and went to third on Falk's double in the right field crowd.

After the first inning Malone matched Thomas' speed with speed, setting down four of the Sox by the strike out route and giving only three hits in the remaining seven innings he worked. The big Cub hurler gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and Charlie Root pitched the last inning.

FARRELL AND SARAZEN BEAT VOIGHT AND DAWSON

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 7—(AP)—Johnny Farrell, national open champion and Gene Sarazen of Fresh Meadow defeated George Voight, north and south amateur champion and George Dawson of the West Chester Biltmore New York state champion by a margin of 3 and 2 in an eighteen hole exhibition match played today over the Knollwood Country club.

Farrell and Sarazen had the edge on their amateur opponents leading them 2 up at the turn, their best ball 34 one under par to 35.

VIC DARR WILL MEET DEBS INSTEAD OF GOOLA

Because of a cut over his eye received in training, Wildman Goola of Worcester has been forced to cancel his engagement with Vic Darr, local boy, in the preliminary of the card at Olympic hall on Friday night. In place of Goola Darr will meet Jimmy Debs, another Worcester lightweight, over the four round route. Darr is in training and looks mighty good and should have little trouble with the Bay State lad.

MASSIE MILLER SECOND IN AMATEUR-PRO TOURNEY

HARTFORD, Oct. 7—(AP)—Louis Chiapetta and Frank Ross, of Sequin, won the amateur-pro tournament of the central Connecticut P. G. A. at the Manchester Country club today. They had a best ball of 66, Massie Miller, Norwich pro, and J. J. Geoghegan were second with a 69. Third place went to Jack Stait, and Mayor Walter Batterson, of Hartford, they having a 73. Three pairs were tied for fourth at 74, Herb Armstrong and Louis Stoner, of Rock Ledge, Syd Covington and Fred Patience, of Wethersfield and Arthur and Kenneth Reid, of Farmington.

WINDHAM AND CHAPMAN BATTLE TO 6 TO 6 TIE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 7—In the first local game of the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island athletic conference Saturday afternoon, Windham and Chapman Tech of New London battled to a 6 to 6 tie. The Crimson and Blue touchdown was registered in the opening period on a series of long runs by the backfield. Tech knotted the count in the next quarter, the score following a long forward pass. Windham failed to add the extra point, the placement kick being unsuccessful, while Tech, following its score, forfeited the right to try to acquire the extra point when their coach, Johnny Conway, last year backfield star with the University of Vermont, coming on the field to attend an injured player, was detected by the head linesman in the act of giving a signal to his team.

Windham out-scored its opponents in the matter of first downs by three to one. The game was featured by the number of forward passes being completed by both teams. "Artie" Meikle played a fine defensive game for the locals and was also a consistent ground gainer. Warren, local quarterback, scintillated in the running back of punts and on one kickoff he raced sixty-five yards before being tossed outside. Geer for the visitors played a fine defensive game at left end.

PUTNAM HIGH WINS FROM NORTHBRIDGE, 18 TO 0

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 8—Putnam high school's gridiron eleven continued the championship efforts at Putnam Saturday by scoring an 18 to 0 victory over the Northbridge high school eleven of Whitensville, Mass., it being the second of the season.

Two highlights of the game included Putnam's consistent gains over their Bay state rivals, the biggest thriller being a 70 yard run around right end by Cody, Putnam's brilliant back field star. Cody obtained the ball on the 25 yard line, trailing down the field for the second touchdown. Excellent interference on the part of the local players featured the game and contributed much to the victory. Shann, Eliott, and Cody also scored long end runs. In no period of the encounter did the visiting opponents threaten the Putnam goal.

Two straight victories by the local eleven refreshes in the minds of the fans the acts of the championship team of Putnam of 1925 when it succeeded in taking the high school laurels of Eastern Connecticut. On next Saturday Putnam will oppose the Chapman Tech team of New London, so far accredited to be the most difficult game of the season.

PAAVO NURMI BREAKS THREE MORE RECORDS

BERLIN, Germany, Oct. 7—(AP)—Nurmi, famed Finnish foot-racer, broke three world's records in a sensational running performance here today.

Jean Bouin's records for 15 kilometers and for one hour, set at Stockholm in 1913, both fell before the Finn's prowess today as did Alf Shrubb's ten mile record set at Glasgow in 1904.

Paavo ran the 15 kilometers in 46 minutes, 49 5-10 seconds compared with Bouin's mark of 47:18 6-10 and a moment later set a new record of 50 minutes, 15 seconds for the 10 miles. Shrubb's record time was 50:40 6-10. By the time he had been running for an hour, the great Finn had covered 19 kilometers, 210 meters and 82 centimeters compared with Bouin's record of 19 kilometers, 21 meters, 90 centimeters.

TAFTVILLE WINS TWO STRAIGHT TO TAKE SERIES FROM VELVETMEN

The famous annual slugfest between the Taftville A. A. and the J. B. Martin is over, and Taftville took the title in one of the best, if not the best series that they have ever played, together. By giving the J. B.'s an annihilation, 3-3, Sunday, at the Martin grounds, Taftville won three straight games after the Martin's took the first in a spectacular 11 inning game.

Taftville came back in the second game and beat J. B. in ten innings. And again in the third game, which was played Saturday at the Taftville grounds, Taftville ran away with the game easily. The smooth pitching of Johnny Tillman for Taftville set the Martin lads down with one lesaly hit and shut them out, 4-0.

Saturday's encounter was the best game of the two, although Sunday's Martin lads down with one measly hit game.

The smoothness of Tillman and his ability to "mix'em up" had J. B swinging their heads off all through the game, Saturday. He just held the upper hand, and no matter how hard the anxious Martin boys tried to outguess him he was always one step ahead of them. Only in one inning, the second, did over three men face him, and when it is figured that only 28 men stood at home plate in nine innings, and only one obtained a hit, it is apparent that he was doing some superb twirling.

King was the only man to get a bit for J. B. and the rest that did hit the ball merely popped them up. Both teams played good ball, but Taftville's aggressiveness coupled with Tillman's pitching overwhelmed the Martins.

Russ Fisher, for Martin, pitched excellent ball refusing to let his opponents garner a hit until the fifth, when Dugas drove a double up to the ledge. He was touched out at third. In the seventh after two were out, Dugas hit again and went to second on Eccleston's bingle, but failed to score.

The eighth was the heart breaking inning both for Fisher and the Martins, the former more particularly. Taftville bunched four hits to ultimately give them four runs. Bob Christy the first man up, drove out a double to deep center, and went to third on Tillman's hit. Moore went out, Harry Mills with the signal for the "Squeeze," laid down a bunt as Christy came racing home. Fisher fielded the bunt, and as he was about to toss it home, it dropped from his hand as Bob crossed the plate for the first run. Tillman went to third. Mills stole second. Fisher was rather upset and lost his steadiness. Lamory drove out a hit to left and Smith threw wild to home while Tillman and Mills scored. Lamory came home on Dugas's hit, which netted Taftville the game and gave them the lead in the series.

Both teams played excellent ball. Aside from his bad throw, Smith in left for Martin, turned in a great performance, knocking down several seemingly impossible catches. Dugas outshone his mates with three hits.

Sunday's Game

Sunday's affair was a surprisingly free hitting fray. The Taftville boys found McElroy's greatness a mere myth, and waded through him as though he were just another pitcher. His performance of the previous week, when he held them down pretty well and turned in as equally as good game as Tillman, held no fears for the A's. The loss of the game and the series was quite a shock to the Martins and they felt worse about it on account of the high score.

Tony West did the mound work for Taftville in lieu of Lefty Dugas who was injured in Saturday's game. Tony was hit rather hard and often, too, but the Martin's just couldn't take advantage of their hits. Three times they hit into double plays, two of the times when they were threatening to score.

Taftville took the lead in the second when Hillis scored on Normandin's double. J. B. came back in the third, however, and scored two runs on three hits, two doubles and a single. But Taftville, not to be denied, hit McElroy to all corners of the field in the fourth, and chalked up four runs when it was all over. As if the fourth mottled inning was not enough, the A's went out and garnered one more in the next inning. Taftville's acquired Philly star, Hillis, drove one to deep right, Couillard caught it on the run, but stumbled and fell and before the ball could be retrieved he had crossed the plate. McElroy tightened up some, from then until the ninth when he had another short lapse. Mills hit for the fourth consecutive time and galloped home on Hillis's beautiful triple. The latter came in on Normandin's second double of the afternoon.

McElroy, to make up for his loss on the mound, turned in a percentage of 1000 at the bat. After hitting three times his fourth hit drove in Carlie Krauss, who had previously driven out a terrific triple. But that was the Martin's dying splurge. The next three men went out in easy fashion, and the game and series was over.

Unless snow falls Taftville will play a post season game next Saturday with the Philadelphia Colored Giants. Now that they have humbled the J. B. Martins, in spectacular fashion, they hope to wind up the season with a win over the dusky boys, which will give them credit for being one of the best teams that the town has turned out.

AGGIES HAVE VERY LIKELY LOOKING TEAM THIS YEAR

Although the Aggies got very little if any opposition from Wesleyan in Saturday's game they showed that they have a well balanced team and one that should go big this season. What impressed those who saw the game Saturday was the fleetness of the Aggie backfield, aggressiveness of the line and the splendid way in which the interference gathered to protect the ball-carrier.

In Fisher and Groat, two youngsters weighing 152 and 142, respectively, the Aggies have two elusive backfield men that are always a threat when they get the ball. Fisher displays brilliant broken field form with his deceptive change of pace and his speed in the open. Groat also shows brilliant form in broken field running and is one of the hardest men to tackle who has ever played at the state college. Groat is a human rubber ball, bouncing here, there and everywhere, and it takes more than one tackler to cut him down. His natural acrobatic ability stands him in good stead and in Saturday's game he was turning somersaults over the line, bouncing and tumbling away from tacklers, with the result that he was a big factor in the scoring.

The back field misses Pop Williams and his weight for line crashing. Several times in Saturday's game a player of Williams' weight and plunging ability could have been used to advantage. They need a player who can consistently gain one, two or three yards straight through the line. Pheno Tombari, Norwich boy, makes a nice finished end. He is a sure tackler and is a punter and pass thrower of great ability. Tombari can pass from 40 to 50 yards with uncanny accuracy but when he is brought back from the end to toss a pass it gives the play away. Tombari showed well in Saturday's game when he intercepted a Wesleyan pass on his own ten-yard line and zigzagged his way 90 yards to a touchdown.

Marty Gilman, playing on the line, also showed up to advantage. Marty, although comparatively light for a linesman, makes up for any disadvantage on this score by his aggressiveness. Gilman plays hard and fierce football, using his weight to the highest advantage.

Norwich is well represented on the Aggie squad with six men. Tombari, Gilman, Schwartz, Jimmy Moore, Jimmy Williams and Gulomb. They all got into the game yesterday, Moore being the last man in. Moore did not get into a play, however, for just as the teams were lining up the whistle blew, ending the contest.

As has been the custom for many years the play by play returns of the world's series will be given to the fans by megaphone at The Bulletin office. The series now being played will be broadcast starting at 1:30 o'clock. A large staff of writers are covering the game and the detail will be more complete than ever.

THE AFTERMATH OF SUNDAY'S ENCOUNTER

by CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Yanks are convinced they have the spirit of St. Louis all but knocked out of the Cardinals. Tomorrow, they believe, will finish the job.

Victorious in three straight games of the world's series, the New Yorkers made whoopee as they reached their dressing room after today's triumph—all of them with the exception of Miller Huggins, their mite manager, who is grouchy in victory as he is in defeat. Cocky over their third successive victory, the Yankees were hilariously whooping it up when Huggins appeared in the doorway. He immediately demanded order and chased all visitors out of the room. What he said to the players remains secret with them, but it is a good guess he was not satisfied with the carelessness in the execution of certain plays this afternoon.

Huggins refused to share the enthusiasm of his players that the series would end tomorrow, with the Yankees victorious in four straight games, but he was happy to acknowledge that his team was doubling over with spirit and fight.

"I shall either start Hoyt or Johnson tomorrow," Huggins said. "The game today speaks for itself."

When the players swarmed into the dressing room, they immediately surrounded Tom Zachary, and slapped him on the back in praise of his triumph. Then the back slapping and cheering "whoopees" were extended to Lou Gehrig, for his achievement in connecting with a brace of homers. Meantime, Babe Ruth, stripped and waiting his turn under the showers, sat on a bench and auto-grapled all the baseballs that were shoved under his nose.

Tony Lazzeri, the Yanks already disabled second baseman, was nursing a damaged middle finger on his right hand. The finger, puffed and bruised, was injured in the second inning when he attempted to stab a hard hit ball from Douthit's bat. But no injury of that kind is going to keep him out of tomorrow's game.

"I'll be doggoned if they looked like a pennant winning club to me," Lazzeri said. "I can't understand how the Cardinals managed to win out. They must have played better ball than they have shown us. Didn't they look terrible today. We'll beat them tomorrow and then go home."

The Cardinals, their jaws tightly set, were fighting mad when they reached their dressing room. Inwardly, they pledged themselves to turn the tide tomorrow. There was no hilarity, no backslapping. Those willing to talk were making excuses for defeat.

"They didn't beat us. We beat ourselves," said the thin-lipped McKechnie, manager of the Cardinals.

"They got the breaks of the game. That's all. But if they can win three games in a row, we can do the same thing. I expect to start either Sherdel or Alexander tomorrow. I am not naming anybody, but some of our players have played better ball this season than we showed today."

Jimmy Wilson, the Cardinal catcher, who dropped Bottomley's throw after tagging Ruth at the plate in the sixth inning, charged the Babe with kicking the ball out of his hands.

After Ruth crashed into him, knocking him flat, Wilson threw wildly to second in an effort to catch Meusel going from first to second. There was nobody there to take the throw.

Wilson was sitting on his bench, his small son at his side telling how the Bambino kept charging into him.

"If he hits me any other way than he did, why, then, he's out," said Wilson. "But he kicked the side of my head first, then struck my chest protector here and I went over. You are bound to spread when a 225 pound guy falls on top of you.

"I want to have the ball in my duke, and be ready for Mr. Ruth if he gets a chance to come tearing into the plate tomorrow."

Colima Wins Title

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 7—(AP)—Bert Colima tonight won the middleweight championship of Mexico by defeating Tommy White on points in a 12 round bout.

DIEGEL IS NEW KING OF PROFESSIONAL GOLFER

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 7—(AP)—Golf, the game of big surprises and upsets, cut did itself in the National Professional Golfers' association tournament which ended with the crowning of Leo Diegel of White Plains, N. Y., as champion in place of Walter Hagen.

If there ever was any odds-on favorite in golf it was Hagen as he teed off over the stiff Five Farms layout last Monday defending a title he had won five times and for the last four years in succession. The general opinion was that if anyone should take the title away from the regal Sir Walter it would be Gene Sarazen, who accomplished the feat back in 1922. Nobody gave Diegel a tumble. He was supposed to be a good golfer, yes, but high strung and erratic. Well, here's what this "erratic" golfer did in one of the most brilliant match play performances on record, after having scored a 36-hole 151, a stroke behind Hagen in the qualifying round on Monday.

Tuesday—Crushed Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., 10 and 8, setting a new record of 31, four below par, for the outgoing nine holes.

Wednesday — Defeated George Christ, Rochester, N. Y., one of the best of the youngster golfers, 6 and 4.

Thursday—Dethroned Walter Hagen, Rye, N. Y., 2 and 1, by getting early leads and refusing to crack.

Friday—Disposed of Sarazen, another heavy favorite, by the handsome margin of 9 and 8.

Saturday—Triumphed over A. Espinosa, Chicago, who had been shooting better golf than anyone else in the tournament, overcoming an early lead and breaking down his opponent's game by a great run of unbeatable birdies and pars.

AGGIES TAKE ONE-SIDED GAME FROM WESLEYAN

The Conn. Aggies met little opposition from the Wesleyan eleven in the opening game at the new Gardner Dow field Saturday afternoon, the Aggies winning 33 to 0. The Aggies presented a strong team that ran through the Wesleyan team without trouble, Fisher, Groat, Ryan and Tombari contributing the spectacular plays of the afternoon.

The first touchdown was on the third play of the game, when Leo Fisher, sophomore, playing in his first varsity game, took the ball for an end run and raced 60-yards for a touchdown. The second score was on the next kick off, when Ray Ryan of New Haven, quarterback, received the ball on his 15-yard line and raced through the entire Wesleyan team.

The third score was by Fisher on a 35-yard criss cross end play. The fourth touchdown was by Groat who intercepted a pass and raced 25-yards for a score. The last touchdown for the Connecticut Aggies was made by Tombari who intercepted a pass on his own 10-yard line and ran 80-yards.

Ray Ryan kicked three goals for extra points.

William Knaut, New Haven boy, played a great game at center.

SIDELIGHTS ON SUNDAY'S GAME

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7—(AP)—Events of the third world series game today suggested that it may not be in the cards for the Cardinals to win a baseball game this year. The New York Yankees sent the National leaguers off to a flying start with two runs in the first inning, practically presenting the home team with the counters placing them ahead for the first time in the series and then the Red Birds handed the runs right back again—and then some.

The Cardinals got a big break and two little ones before the game was ten minutes old. High and Frisch were credited with infield hits in the first inning—just decisions by the scorers—but with a little more agility on the part of the New York infielders one or both might have been retired. Bottomley then sent a line drive into center field. Cedric Durst could have caught the ball by standing still or moving back a few paces. Instead he decided that it would be a good thing to run in and when he obeyed the impulse, the ball sailed over his head for a triple. Tom Zachary might have been justified in demanding a recount on these two runs.

There wasn't anything to be done about the Yankees' first run for Lou Gehrig drove a ball to the Grand Boulevard, by way of the right field bleachers, but his second circuit clout was not altogether unblemished. Taylor Douthit should have had an assist on it. With Ruth on first, "Columbia Lou" hit hard to center but the ball did not leave the bat a home run as was the case in his first herculean effort. The Cardinal centerfielder essayed the impossible by attempting to make a shoestring catch of the ball which was a hit if there are any hits left in baseball. The ball rolled to center field fence as Gehrig circled the bases behind Ruth.

Jess Haines was guilty of two passes in the sixth and gave two hits beyond reproach but he had no hand in some spotty fielding in which Jimmy Wilson assumed a debit of two errors and a double steal was injected with profitable results to the Yankees.

With Sylvester Johnson doing the pitching Chick Hafey made a two base muff in the seventh leading to a run, but one mode or less meant nothing at that stage of the game.

A double after a hit batsman accounted for the last Cardinal run and the only one for which Zachary had to assume sole responsibility.

The game was far below the fielding standard expected from championship aggregations. Early in the game it was seen that the defensive equipment of both teams needed blowout patches or other repair supplies. In addition to the lapses not only noted judicial recognition was made of two bobbles by the New York infield in the second inning, the only net result being the languishing of Rabbit Maranville at second base.

The Cardinals continued to miss a lot of third strikes. Zachary sent back seven to the bench for drinks of water in the third game, running the number of St. Louis total losses at bat for the three games to 21, for Hoyt fanned six in the first and Pipgras eight in the second. The Yankees did as much striking out today as in both the other games. Haines struck out three, Johnson one and Rhem one. The total of the second game was one for Alexander and two for Mitchell while Sherdel whiffed two in the opener.

Manager McKechnie was forced to send in a left handed pinch hitter against a left handed pitcher in the ninth when Orsatti batted for Rhem. His only right handed emergency man—Ray Blades—had taken Johnson's place at bat in the seventh and there weer only left handers left on the bench as Roscoe Holm started the game when Zachary went in to pitch for the Yankees. Earl Smith and George Harper are just as decidedly left handed as Orsatti at the plate.

The infield at Sportsman's park, St. Louis, home of both the Browns and Cardinals, went into its second world's series with a flea bitten appearance. Little grass was left in the infield and patches of bare spots stood out in the outfield as well. The cracks in the inner defense might have been blamed on the infield's lack of perfect condition but Hafey Douthit and Durst couldn't find refuge in this alibi.

Roscoe (Wattie) Holm a sub-outfielder who doubles in brass by playing third base on occasions and started out as a catcher, made the feature fielding play of the game, diving into a sharp hit from Koenig and coming up with the ball. To make the catch official the outfielder lost his cat in the diving imitation of of Helen Melee.

The record breaking crowd for St. Louis had a carnival air, many bright red Cardinal emblems setting off the costumes of some of the customers. At least one newly wedded couple elected to start their honeymoon at the game. A married man whose honeymoony was many years behind him managed to borrow $2 from his wife before the game started.

Durst in center field and Robertson at third for the Yankees were returning home today. Both formerly played with the browns. Durst went direct from St. Louis to New York but Robertson made the trip by way of St. Paul.

ACADEMY SHOWS IMPROVED FORM IN BEATING WILBY HIGH, 12 TO 0

The Academy opened its home campaign with a rather easy 12 to 0 victory over Wilby high of Waterbury Saturday afternoon at the campus.

WESTERLY

NEW JERSEY SHERRY ODOR ON OHIO DRIVER'S BREATH

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I. Oct. 7.—Clarence F. Seavy of Lima, O., representing a physicians' supply house and on his way to Boston for a convention display, while driving his auto on the Nooseneck Hill road at 1.30 Saturday morning collided with a motor van which he claimed was blocking the highway. Seavy's auto was badly smashed and he received cuts on his face and hands from broken glass, also has an abrasion on the leg. He was given attention by Dr. M. H. Scanlon, who declared he was under the influence of liquor, so he was locked up at Westerly police station. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor at a special session of the Third district court at 10.30 Saturday night. Judge Oliver H. Williams required surety in the sum of $200 bonds for his court appearance and he was taken to the police station to await the arrival of bonds for which he telephoned Boston.

Seavy was again brought before the court at 11.30 Sunday morning. But as Dr. Scanlon, an important witness, was called away on two serious automobile accidents, the case was not finished until 3.50 p. m. Judge Williams discharged the accused, who stated that the only intoxicants drank by him was Sherry wine, when he was in Hoboken.

C. L. Wheatcroft, a summer cottager at Shelter Harbor, was brought to Westerly in the ambulance of the Westerly Sanitary corps to take a train to his winter home, Riverside drive, New York.

On Oct. 6 Henry R Wills and wife, Robina, sold to Elizabeth McCall, land approximately 10¼ acres with buildings and improvements, on the west side of the Woody Hill road, adjoining lands of Henry L. Mitchell.

MAN TRIMMING A TREE SLIPS FROM THE LADDER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 7.—Victor DeMonti, 55, of 22 Dayton street, is a patient at Westerly hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a fall Saturday morning about 10.30 o'clock. He was up a ladder trimming a tree on Pierce street when he fell to the ground. He was picked up by neighbors and in an automobile with R. I. State Trooper Nolan, on duty in that section at the time clearing the way, he was rushed to the hospital. He was attended by Dr. R. O'B. Shea.

Oliver Ward Stoddard, proprietor of the Mary Oliver Kennedy Westerly, was among the exhibitors at the A. K. C. at Brockton fair Saturday. He received a green ribbon in Special Award No. 55, for a Boston terrier; and a second prize red ribbon for a Boston terrier puppy female in the 6-9 months class.

Associate Justice Arthur P. Sumner, of Providence, will be on the bench this (Monday) morning in the Westerly adjournment of the September term of superior court for Washington county. The final case set down on the Westerly calendar is an equity hearing without jurymen, Ettie Eichlman vs. Stephen Doris.

William Holden has returned after two days in New York, where he witnessed two world series games.

Charles E. Redford of New London was the guest of Westerly relatives and friends Sunday morning.

John DeFanti of the Vars pharmacy leaves Westerly this (Monday) morning on his vacation, to begin with a visit to New York.

Dr. Ray Green of Worcester, a former Westerly boy when his father was superintendent of the White Rock mill and resided on Tower street, was a Westerly business caller Saturday.

Leo Ruisi has been confined to his home the past four days with a throat affliction which has kept him in bed.

Miss Ann Elizabeth Carr will leave this (Monday) morning for Providence where she will enter the Rhode Island hospital as a patient for a surgical operation.

G. A. Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Stoddard, and Edgar Sisson were among Westerly motor visitors at Brockton fair Saturday.

Herbert H. Vars, of lower Pawcatuck, driver for the Westerly branch of the American Railway Express company, leaves this (Monday) morning on a vacation which will include a visit with his uncle in Wollaston, Mass.

Mrs. William Grant was a week end visitor with Providence relatives.

NOANK

SHORT DAY FOR PAINTERS WHEN HORNETS GOT BUSY

Two painters, Peter and Al. Samson were putting on the red paint on a tin roof in the village when a hot day came, the past week. The day was like summer. A big hornets' nest was in the corner of the roof and when the sun got hotter the hornets wanted some of the good healthy sunshine and a swarm of 75 came flying all around the painters. They stung Al. Samson back of the ear and raised a lump big enough to hang a hat on. The hornets went crazy and the two brothers thought it was time to get down on the ground when the hornets were taking charge. They could not finish the roof, but after waiting around for two hours they thought maybe the hornets would leave and go back to their hive; but no such good luck. The two painters had to go home in the middle of the afternoon, losing a half day's pay on account of those hornets. It is the first time they ever had to leave a job unfinished, but they did not want to have to buy a couple of bottles of omega oil to take away the lump on a fellow's head.

Farmer Andy Tenney, with a horse and wagon, came from North Stonington with a load of eggs for a resident on Terrace street Friday afternoon, getting them to the party all right. Farmer Tenney was coming out of the house when an auto backfired and scared the horse which started at full speed without a driver, up East Main street. Children were yelling "Runaway horse!" William Franklin, a fast runner who was on a track team at St. Luke college in Dallas, Texas, in his palmy days, saw the runaway horse and like a flash Speed Franklin went, caught the tail board of the wagon, got the reins and stopped the horse before any damage was done. A crowd of 50 cheered him for the hero stunt he had done. Owner Tenney came on the run trying to catch his third wind and thanked the ex-college man for saving the horse and his wagon. Some one suggested, "Get a picture of yourself, Franklin, and have it on the front page of The Norwich Morning Bulletin, for a scoop, as being a real hero of the day!" Franklin said, "I have given Stretch the story for his paper, but the picture doesn't go with the scoop!"

Dinty Banks was in Essex Friday.

Hunters are getting ready for the opening of the season, taking down their shot guns from the attic and looking them over. Ben Ward, a great hunter who has traveled many miles through the woods after big game never comes back without something for dinner. He is a good shot on the wing, bringing the birds down like clay pigeons at a shooting gallery. Sharp Shooter Ward was cleaning his gun on the outside and wanted everything ready when the day came and showing a friend the gun. It happened to be loaded in one barrel and Bennie pulled the trigger and the shot blew a large electric lamp right out the window. That broke several panes of glass and almost killed his friends who were visiting him at the time. "Never again!" Sharp Shooter Ward said, "will I do a trick like that. I did not know the gun was loaded!"

Contractor George MacGugan and men have finished a stone wall between Mrs. Bird's house and Mrs. Bump's house at Groton Long Point. It is called the sweeping wall—something new in the wall line. Now he will set the stakes for a new cottage for a party out of town at Groton Long Point. It has been reported around that eight new cottages will be built on the point during the winter months and spring. Not many lots are left on the boardwalk—only two open places left now. The new cottages will leave the board walk all filled up.

Alden Brody was at Hope Valley over the week end.

COULD NOT RELISH A MEAL

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

King City, Mo.—"For seven months before my baby was born I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was able to do my own work and to eat heartily where before I was always sickly and could not relish a meal. Congratulations to the Vegetable Compound, as it is the best tonic I ever took. I have given birth to seven children before this, losing all of them, not being able for some reason to carry them to their full times. I hope this letter will help others to use this tonic."—Mrs. A. L. Clevenger, Box 354, King City, Missouri.

MYSTIC

MRS. SARAH PARK KETCHAM WILL BE 92 OCTOBER 10TH

Mrs. Sarah Park Ketcham of 56 Pearl street on Wednesday, Oct. 10th will observe her 92nd birthday. Two daughters, Anna R. and May D., a son Rollin S. Ketcham live with their mother at the Ketcham homestead. When visiting this home and meeting this erect dignified woman busily engaged in little household duties or fancy work, any one would not suspect her age. She has canned fruit and vegetables, made many glasses of jelly and will make her birthday cake. She reads the daily papers and keeps well informed on current topics. Fred M. Ketcham of Mount Vernon, N. Y., came Saturday night to visit his mother, until after her birthday.

Mrs. Hannah Hancock, and daughter, Miss Goldie Hancock, of Meriden, visited for a few days the past week with the former's niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Troland.

FRANKLIN

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coggswell and daughters, Cora and Mildred, of Willimantic were recent guests of Mrs. Coggswell's mother, Mrs. L. A. White.

Eleven have already been made voters this fall in Franklin. There are now over thirty who have handed in their names to the registrars, that they may be made electors for the state and presidential elections.

Mary A. Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Manning, is in a Willimantic hospital for an operation for appendicitis. Many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

At a meeting of Franklin grange, held at the town hall, September 28, an invitation to neighbor with Preston City grange the 23rd of October was accepted. Plans were made for a grange fair to be held at the first meeting in October. There is to be a fancy work table and a table for the display of sewing. Local 4-H clubs have been asked to show articles made by members. Some of this 4-H club work has won prizes at the state fair and at other fairs. Canned goods and jellies will be exhibited. Vegetables, fruit and other agricultural products are to be entered. There will be a grab-bag and other features and refreshments. This grange meeting is to be an open meeting.

Little Betty Fairbanks, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank I. Date of this town, underwent a minor operation in Roslindale, Mass., Tuesday.

Mrs T. L. Crandall, Mrs. E. E. Date, Florena Date, and F. I. Date were Norwich visitors recently.

Miss Hazel Swift has been spending a vacation in Vermont.

JEWETT CITY

HUSBAND TRIES TO LOSE WIFE'S THREE CHILDREN

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, Oct. 7—A complicated case is being looked up here by Police Officer Henry Veglard of Jewett City and Humane Agent F. H. Wyant of Norwich. Saturday a man from Woonsocket brought three small children here, aged 2, 5 and 7 years, respectively and abandoned them, with a suit case of clothing, in an open lot on Brown avenue.

The man is father of the children. Their mother is living here with her husband. The husband, during the time the children were born, was doing 10 years time in the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston. While the husband agrees to live with his wife here, he balks at having the three children in the family, as he is not their father.

Mrs. Rys, who lives in the north part of the town, is temporarily playing the foster-mother role, caring for the three little foundlings. The father of the babies, during the time that the husband was serving his sentence, was a boarder at the home of the woman, mother of the children.

Officer Veglard was in communication Sunday with the Woonsocket police, in an effort to locate the father. A few weeks ago the father tried to rid himself of the children, and left them at their mother's home here. Later, evidently becoming frightened at the threatened action of the humane authorities, he came here and took them back with him to Woonsocket.

Saturday morning, when Officer Veglard went to investigate the case he found a curious crowd gathered about the three babies as they lay huddled together in the grass, where they had been left by the father.

SALES OF LIQUOR BRING TWO FINES OF $171.37

Guilty of violations of the liquor law, Delphis Cote and Sophie Poremba paid fines and costs, amounting to $171.37 each, in the Griswold court Saturday morning.

Judge John T. Barry also gave Cote a 30 days' suspended jail sentence.

FALL RIVER TRUCK DRIVER IS IN BROOKLYN JAIL

Dr. G. H. Jennings attended Mrs. Mary Kinney, Friday night and Saturday as the result of injuries which she received when a Connecticut bus was forced off the road just above the town line, Friday evening. The bruises about her body were not considered by the physician to be serious, although she will be unable to work for several days.

Judge Storey in Plainfield town court Saturday found the driver of the truck Joseph LaPlant of Fall River, guilty of failure to grant right of way. Unable to pay a fine of $50 and costs he was taken to Brooklyn jail.

FUNERALS

William A. Edmond

The funeral of William A. Edmond was held at his home in Pachaug Sunday afternoon. It was very largely attended, the family being held in the highest esteem, as was Mr. Edmond, Rev. H. T. Arnold and Rev. J. W. Carter conducted the service at the house. The Pachaug Grange burial service at the grave in Pachaug cemetery was conducted by Walker A. Hyde, acting for the master and Rev. G. A. Goodenough, chaplain. The bearers were four nephews, Arthur Edmond, of Cheshire, Leonard Edmond, Wethersfield, Harold Edmond, Norwich and Carl Edmond, of Hartford. There were very beautiful flowers. Relatives and friends were present from Worcester, Preston, Washington, R. L., Central Village, Voluntown, Uncasville, Westerly, Avondale, Plainfield, New London, Waterbury and Griswold. Undertaker E. E. Gilbert was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Ludovic Bacon

The funeral of Ludovic Bacon was held from the home of his son on Talcott avenue, Saturday morning. Rev. Nicholas Caron sang the requiem mass in St. Mary's church. Mrs. Noel Garand was soloist during the mass, also sang the waiting hymn, Mrs. George Sarazin being organist. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Father Caron reading the committal prayers. The bearers were Noel Richard, Napoleon Mecteau and Napoleon and Jerry LaLiberty. Relatives were present from Hartford, West Warwick and Jewett City. Hourigan Bros. were in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. William Knox is suffering from a broken ankle.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Tipton return today (Monday) from a trip to Marietta, Ohio, where they attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. Tipton's parents.

The Forty Hours devotion at St. Mary's church opened Sunday morning after the 10:30 mass. Visiting clergy were present during the time of the devotion which ended Tuesday morning at 7:30 mass. A large number of children marched Sunday morning and the senior choir rendered special music at the high mass. This devotion commemorates the period during which the body of the Saviour remained in the sepulchre after His crucifixion.

Mrs. E. H. Hiscox Jr., with her son and daughter of New London spent the week end at E. H. Hiscox's.

Wilfred Vincent of Los Angeles, Cal., is visiting his sister Mrs. Oscar Lemieux. He made the trip by automobile.

Mrs. John Derda and daughter Helen and Mrs. Frank Minski have gone to Detroit, to attend the wedding of Mrs. Derda's son Anthony, October tenth.

Voters will be made next Saturday afternoon at the town hall, and in the morning at Pachaug. All names must be handed in before Tuesday of this week.

As the local Red Cross chapter has been asked to double its quota, notice was given in the churches that next Sunday collections will be received, to be sent for the relief of the hurricane sufferers.

The Women's Missionary society of the Congregational church meets Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. E. H. Hiscox's, Main street.

AMSTON

Harold Waldo, formerly of this town, now residing in Michigan, has been a visitor with relatives here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Nagle who are spending a few months in Lebanon were in town for a short time Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Doubleday and family are going to stay at Westchester during October. Mr. Doubleday is employed there.

Although the republican candidate was cut at the town election the margin was very close and the unusual democratic strength which has shown up in several instances of recent elections proves that unless a candidate is favored by the voters at large they refuse to elect him, as shown by the state election of two years ago, when a democrat was elected to legislature for the first time in over twenty years and by a large majority. Most of the splits at the last election centered on the first selectman and the tax collector.

Max Ams is expected in town for the hunting season.

Mrs Charles M. Ams who has been indisposed for the past week is able to be out.

Claude Jones suffered from a slight hemmorrhage.

Miss Gladys Thompson of Cambridge, Mass. is a guest of Mrs. C. W. Jones. The Thompson family were former residents of this town.

The school committee is to meet Thursday evening, Oct. 11.

John Malona who died the past week at Niantic, was an uncle of Mrs. C. E. Kinney.

Diminutive Mabel Taliaferro, former motion picture actress and more recently engaged in New York theatricals, must await the decision of Judge Earnest C. Simpson of superior court upon her uncontested divorce action brought against Joseph Pat O'Brien, of Hollywood, Calif.

THOMPSON

Both County Agent Raymond Wing and Miss Marian Mills, 4-H club leaders, spoke at the grange meeting. Later there is to be a harvest supper for members and a Hallowe'en social.

The Thimble club opens its season with a meeting at the home of Mrs. L. E. Converse on Thursday of this week. Mrs Warren Lorez is to be the leader.

There were about 30 at the Social Corner meeting at Mrs. Walter Jacques' Thursday. There was a big picnic dinner followed by a talk on Foods by Mrs. Dakin, of Storrs.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Green are to occupy the Blackmar house this winter.

The W. C. T. U. has invited the Missionary society to meet with them at King's Daughters hall Thursday, October 18th at 2 p. m. Mrs. Lucy Knight will speak.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION

FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

QUICKENING OF ACTIVITY NOTED IN MANY LEADING LINES OF INDUSTRY

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Business entered the fourth quarter of the year last week with a widespread quickening of activity. Steel operations underwent further expansion, automobile manufacturing continued at a high level, and the textile industry, in which unsatisfactory aspects have prevailed for some time, experienced decided improvement.

The demand for textiles was in some cases above the seasonal average, with cottons, woolens, rayons and silks participating in the movement. Some stiffening of prices occurred. The end of the week saw the strike in the New Bedford mills settled.

The steel industry entered the fourth quarter with the $2 price advances announced in most lines established. Mills were operating at above 85 per cent of capacity, and were four to six weeks behind on deliveries of some products. Pig iron output was also gaining, with more furnaces being blown in and a hardening tendency in prices and scrap become scarce.

The automobile industry apparently reached its peak during September, as employment figures at the chief center, Detroit, declined slightly. Operations, however, were far in advance of last year, and several estimates were for a new record production for the year.

The crop outlook continued good as the season advances, although there is a tendency to shade the corn crop by about 100,000,000 bushels as the ears are not as large as a year ago. The wheat movement from the farms in both the United States and Canada has been heavy, but there is a tendency among farmers to hold crops in elevators rather than sell at the low prices. The export movement, especially in the United States has been slow in getting under way, while the visible supply of wheat in North America at this time is largest ever recorded, cattle and hog prices developed strength after another break.

The outlook for the petroleum industry continued bright. Statistics on gasoline as announced for August showed the industry in a better position than for some time past. A rise in the price of fuel oil was rumored. The lumber movement continued at a high level. Radio and shoe manufacturing were active, the latter benefitting from a drop in leather prices. Furniture manfacturing showed a tendency to lag.

Car loadings although slow to gain, because of the retarded grain export movement, reached their peak for the year in the late week and continued above 1927, although they were substantially less than for the like period of 1926, when there was a heavy movement of coal for export.

The credit situation has improved somewhat as the month-end strain has passed. Further gold movement from Great Britain has caused renewed confidence, but bankers hold no hope that the movement will reach large proportions. Insolvencies in the last week increased over the previous week, but were less than the like week a year ago. Failures in the third quarter were somewhat larger than a year ago.

RULES FOR YOUNG WRITERS

1—Write plainly on one side of the paper.

2—Use pen and ink, not pencil.

3—Short and pointed articles will be given preference. Do not use over 250 words.

4—Original stories or letters only will be used.

Write your name, age and address plainly at the bottom of the story.

Poetry for the Wide Awakes

A Day's Sport

"I kill," he mused, "not to show bravery,
Birds can't fight back. They have no chance, you see.
I shoot them as I find them; not for need
Of hungry children I am bound to feed;
Nor yet for warmth. Such tiny feathered breasts
Hardly suffice to shelter little nests.
Nor yet in self-defense, nor quick alarm.
What bird has ever done me any harm?

I like to shoot. No matter if the killing
Makes clear to everyone that I am willing
To prove my strength on helplessness—to spend
My shots, that happy chirps and songs may end,
And harmless lives be blotted out forever—
(There! got one on the wing!) returning never.

To strike a weaker MAN is cowardly,
But barging birds is different, you see?"

ALDIS DUNBAR

Wake, little birdling, the morning is calling;
Up from the marshes the mist vapors creep;
Over the meadows the sunbeams are falling
Waking wee birds from their sleep.
Down in the woodland the blackbirds are crying.
Up in the elm-tree the oriole sings.
Time to be up and take lessons in flying—
Trying those little new wings!

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

The faithful dogs of the far north have greatly aided man in charting the many unknown reaches of the cold arctic. By dog team many explorers have been transported back and forth across the snow and ice covered fields that they would have had much difficulty traversing otherwise.

The dogs of the Arctic and sub-Arctic have been made vicious and irritable by the cruel treatment given them by the Indian and Eskimo. To the northland people the dog is an absolute necessity. Without the faithful, but much abused husky, the people of the snows could not exist very long. Three of four dogs are capable of hauling their master with an added load of deer, seal or bear meat hundreds of miles, and often with little food, their rations being one or two fish of two or three pounds in weight, frozen or dried, each evening. If deer or moose is plentiful, he may share parts not desired by his master.

Among the more civilized Indians and Eskimos in the vicinity of the Mackenzie Delta above the Arctic circle, the logs for the construction of shacks are all drawn from the woods in winter by the dogs. The Eskimo dog, a splendid, heavy-haired animal, is capable of drawing his master twenty or thirty miles a day over the smoothly frozen Arctic snows. The running of the sled is made easy by coating its runners with ice, which is done by pouring upon the running parts water, which freezes immediately.

The Indians are especially cruel to their dogs, leaving them in summer to forage for themselves, as there is little work for the animals to do, and the Indians have little interest in them except as they are of immediate use. The Eskimos of the Delta and Coast are much more highly civilized than the Indians of the Slave and Mackenzie rivers, and are much more considerate of their dogs.

Two Weeks At the Shore.

Dear Uncle Jed: I spent two weeks at the seashore last summer. It was in July that my mother and my father and my brother and I rented a cottage at the beach. We had a wonderful time and I went fishing almost every day. I didn't catch much fish, only little ones, but I had a good time. One day I stayed out fishing so long that I got badly sunburned. My mother put cold cream all over my face and neck. It helped some but the sunburn hurt me quite bad. My skin all peeled off after a while. My mother told me that I wouldn't have burned that way if I had worn my sun hat. I didn't wear it but I will next time. The sunburn hurt me when I went to bed and I couldn't sleep very well for two nights. My brother went way out on the water fishing but he wouldn't take me as he said it was too rough out there for me. So I fished from the dock.

Dog Likes Kittens.

Dear Uncle Jed: We have two kittens and a dog and the dog likes the kittens. He lets them crawl all over his back and doesn't even growl. We have had the kittens about five weeks and they soon got acquainted with the dog when we got them. One of the kittens is ugarly all white and the other one is black and white. The dog doesn't seem to mind the kittens at all. He won't let the big cat near the kittens when they are playing with him. It looks as if he is jealous of the big cat. The dog's name is Jime and he comes when I call him. I am 10 years old and this is the first time I have written to the Wide-Awake circle.

New York City.

Dear Uncle Jed: New York city is the largest city in the United States. We are proud of it because it is our city.

There are many reasons for its importance. The two chief ones are: It is a good seaport on the Atlantic coast, and it is at the mouth of the Hudson river.

Long ago, the land surrounding New York sank, thus forming fine harbors. New ocean steamers from all over the world dock there. As a result, New York carries on an immense trade with foreign countries. She also carries on an immense trade with the western and central states in our own country. They find it cheaper to ship their products by water and do so. By means of the Erie canal these boats laden with western products, pass from the Great Lakes to the Hudson river, then down the Hudson to New York.

Thus, New York is a wonderful commercial center.

A Trip Through Maine.

Dear Uncle Jed: Last summer my family took a trip to Maine and I went with them. We left in our sedan one morning about 6 o'clock and got to Maine that afternoon. We drove all day, only stopping for about one hour for dinner. I liked the trip to Maine. It was all new to me as it was my first trip there. The roads aren't very good in Maine as they are full of holes and we bumped along. At one place there was almost no road at all and I though we couldn't get through but our machine must be a pretty good one for we kept going right along. We camped at a small place where they had little cabins and we had a real good time.

School Pranks.

Dear Uncle Jed: My story is about school and its fun. One morning during school when the first bell rang, my friend and I went up in school. Some of our other schoolmates were already there and just as I entered the room one girl said, How many democrats are there here? There were none.

I walked to my desk and put away my home work and I had hardly done so when a girl said, let's put a paper with Hoover on it into all the democrat's desks. We did and each one put a paper into all the democrat's desks. There were twelve papers for each desk as there were twelve of us writing them. When the children came in they found them and some of them took them to the teacher. He took each of the girl's names and said stay after school.

I was one who had to stay, but he only kept us for ten minutes and I reached home at four o'clock none the worse for the fun.

Killed Two Snakes.

Dear Uncle Jed: Three of us, all chums, went fishing a few weeks ago. We didn't catch any fish but we killed two snakes. We found them in the woods when we were going over to the lake to fish. One of them was right in the path. We killed it with a big stick. It was quite a large snake I don't know what kind it was. The other snake was crawling along the bank of the lake. We saw it together and I killed this one. He tried to get away, but I was too quick for him. We were going to take the two snakes home but my chum said to leave them there, so we did. We thought we were going to catch enough fish for supper but we only got one bite and the fish didn't hang on. He bit my hook and I pulled up but he wasn't on the hook. He got away. He must have been a wise fish because the bait was all gone. I went fishing lots of days this summer. Now that school has opened I haven't time to go fishing.

Had Brithday Party.

Dear Uncle Jed: Last week I had a birthday party. It was a surprise to me because I didn't know anything about it until my boy and girl friends started to arrive at the house. I knew there was something up because they were all dressed up and had little packages. We had a great time playing games and my uncle told us some funny stories. We wanted him to tell us lots of other stories but it got late and the children had to go home. They gave me a lot of nice presents. I got some books, two dolls, some candy and my mother gave me a new dress.

Has Two Kittens.

Dear Uncle Jed: I have two kittens and I want to tell you about them. One is almost white and the other is black and white. I call one Toby and the other Jennie. Toby likes to play but Jennie scratches me. They are about three months old. The mother cat went out one night and we haven't seen her since. I guess she got lost.

A New Writer.

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a new writer. I have read the Wide-Awake page every week and I like the letters written by the boys and girls. I wish more boys and girls would write and tell about their fun and work. I have to work besides going to school. Every morning I help about the house, getting the wood for the wood-box, and helping my father to carry the milk. He has a pretty large farm, and sells lots of vegetables to the stores. I helped him pick some apples last Saturday and we picked some grapes too. We had a lot of sweet corn and we sold nearly all of it. We have quite a lot of potatoes to dig. I am going to dig some Saturday.

Went to New York.

Dear Uncle Jed: When my father had his vacation we went to New York. It was in August, the last week, and we had a good time. My father and mother, and my sister and brother went down on the boat from New London. We left about 11 o'clock at night from New London and we got into New York early the next morning. We went over to my aunt's house in Brooklyn and stayed there nearly a week. I went to three nice shows in New York and during the day time I played with the neighbors' children. My aunt lives in an apartment and we didn't have much room to play but we had a good time. It was quite hot there and one day it rained hard. I was glad to get back home although I had a good time in Brooklyn. I will write again soon.

Had Nice Garden.

Dear Wide-Awakes: I had a nice garden last summer, and I want to tell you about it. In the spring my dad said I could have as much as I wanted to plant my garden. So I planted quite a large piece. I had potatoes planted, also squash, tomatoes and cucumbers. They grew fine and I sold what I grew to my dad who took them to market. I like planting things and watching them grow. But it kept me pretty busy clearing out the weeds. I also had to hoe a lot. I am going to have a big garden next summer.

A Fishing Trip.

Uncle Jed: Two of my boy friends and myself went fishing one day at the seashore. We had a row boat and we rowed out quite a distance from the beach. We thought we were going to catch a lot of fish but all we got was three small ones, about four inches long. They were not large enough to cook so we threw them back after we caught them. It was funny to see them float on the water for a few minutes and then dive down away from our sight. My father went out with a fishing party and they caught some large fish which we had for dinner the next day.

Quickest Way to Sweeten Stomach

PERHAPS that sour condition of your stomach is due to an over-stimulation of gastric acid. A sour stomach isn't very pleasant, and isn't very easy to excuse when there is so simple a way to remedy it. To neutralize the harmful acid and put your stomach in good order take a little "Pape's Diapepsin" after meals, or whenever the need is felt.

This fine remedy removes the cause of the trouble and promotes normal, healthy digestion. "Pape's Diapepsin" is sold by all druggists at 60 cents a package, and is the remedy which is recommended by millions because it gives immediate relief in all cases of difficult and painful digestion.

Be sure, therefore, to provide yourself with "Pape's Diapepsin" today, so that stomach pain and digestive troubles need never worry you again. Or your stomach cause you discomfort. This form of relief has helped many who thought their disorders could not be helped.

CHAPLIN

Rev. Paul B. Sanger, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gallup, Clifford M. Burdick, Clifton J. Church and Bernard Church attended the complimentary luncheon at Nathan Hale hotel, Willimantic, Thursday, Oct. 4, given by the manufacturers and business committee of the Anti-Saloon league of America. They enjoyed the speeches by Howard Hyde Russell, founder; George W. Morrow, field secretary and Robert P. Carson, distinguished Chautauqua lecturer and Colorado democrat, whose subject was "Why I shall scratch my ticket."

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Deming are the parents of a little daughter that arrived in the home early last week.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Johnny Makes Another Discovery

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Have you any trouble? Look for two. You'll find them waiting 'round for you.

—Johnny Chuck

Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat were stuffing themselves with carrots as fast as they could. They were anxious, and being anxious they were nervous. Anxiety almost always produces nervousness. Near by Johnny Chuck was sitting up, looking over into Farmer Brown's cornfield, which adjoined the carrot patch. He was

"Do you really think that Reddy is over there?" asked Jerry Muskrat between bites certain that Reddy Fox was watching from behind a big pumpkin in the corn and that Reddy's intentions were not of the best.

"Do you really think that Reddy is over there?" asked Jerry Muskrat between bites.

"I don't think it, I know it," replied Johnny. "I've seen him twice since I sat up here to watch. He is hoping that you and Mrs. Muskrat will separate and that I'll go off about my business. But we'll fool Reddy. Yes, sir, we'll fool Reddy."

"I wish I were back in the water," declared Mrs. Muskrat, but she didn't stop eating. In fact, she ate faster than ever and she kept right close to Jerry.

Presently Johnny Chuck turned his head to look across the Green Meadows toward the Old Pasture. At first he didn't notice anything out of the usual. Then a red spot caught his eyes. Johnny stared long and hard. With Reddy Fox in the corn that red spot must be Mrs. Reddy or Old Granny Fox. There could be no doubt about it.

"Whichever it is, I hope she doesn't come this way," muttered Johnny to himself. "Two Foxes would be one too many. I am afraid that one of those Muskrats would get caught. I'll have to keep an eye on that Fox and see what she is doing."

So Johnny turned so that he could look each way with a slight turn of the head. The red spot grew larger and larger and it wasn't long until Johnny recognized Mrs. Reddy. She appeared to be hunting mice, but all the time she was working toward the carrot patch. Johnny Chuck noticed this and he in his turn began to grow nervous. If she should join Reddy there might be real trouble. He was a little fearful that two Muskrats and a Woodchuck would not be equal to two Foxes.

"I hope," said Johnny to himself, "that she won't come up here. Perhaps she'll turn and go the other way after a while. She probably doesn't know that Reddy is up here. I hope he doesn't see her. Yes, sir, I hope he doesn't see her."

It was just when Johnny was thinking this that from over in the corn there came a sudden, short, sharp bark. Mrs. Reddy stopped abruptly and listened. Johnny Chuck watched her. Once more came that short, sharp bark from the cornfield. This time Mrs. Reddy pointed her head up and answered. Then she turned and began to trot rapidly straight toward the carrot patch and the cornfield. Reddy had called her and she was coming.

Johnny Chuck didn't know whether to tell Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat or to wait and see how things would turn out. He decided he wouldn't tell them yet. They hadn't seen Mrs. Reddy and it would be time enough for them to grow about her when she got there. Meanwhile Johnny was doing a lot of thinking. It looked bad—it looked very bad—not only for Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat but for himself. He could fight one Fox, but two Foxes was another matter altogether. "We'll have to stick together," thought Johnny. "Sticking together is our only hope."

The MAYTAG Roller Water Remover

A New and Better Way of Wringing

PASSING a clothes-pin between the rolls of the Maytag Roller Water Remover, shows how the large, soft, upper roll hugs the lumps, folds and seams in the clothes, reaches down into the low spots, leaving no wet places to retard drying on the line. Buttons, snaps or ornaments go through safely. A soft top roll, working against a hard bottom roll, creates more effective wringing action than two soft rolls or two hard rolls.

The Roller Water Remover, exclusively owned and controlled by The Maytag Company, has many other features of convenience which make it handy. The safety-feed makes it easy to start the clothes through the rolls. The tension automatically adjusts itself to a thin handkerchief or a bulky blanket.

The drain plate automatically reverses itself, and pressure on the safety release makes it possible to separate the rolls instantly.

For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor.

U. S. COAST GUARD ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 7—The anniversary of the organization of the U. S. coast guard was observed here on Saturday when a series of athletic events took place, the principal one the gridiron game between the Quantico Marines and Coast Guard Bears, in the afternoon at Mercer field. The game was witnessed by an immense throng, including several hundred service men and was won by the Marines, 21 to 0. In the morning a boat race between local coast guardsmen and crews assigned to the Boston, New York and Block Island stations, took place on the Thames river, the contest being over the Yale-Harvard two mile course, from the submarine base to the Thames river bridge, rowed down stream. It was won by the boat from the destroyer Cassin, state pier, by two lengths. In the evening a series of boxing bouts was held at the state armory. In the harbor were about a score of destroyers, patrol boats and cutters, several of which came here from other ports that their crews might witness the athletic events.

Joseph Doddo, 46, residing at 165 Main street, was arrested Saturday charged with intoxication and carrying a concealed weapon. He will be in the police court tomorrow. Doddo was at the corner of State and North Bank streets, where his condition attracted Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty. The officers arrested Doddo and when he was searched at police headquarters a fully loaded 38 calibre revolver was found in his pocket. For what purpose Doddo was carrying the weapon is not known, for he refused to explain.

Charles J. Mahoney, submarine base, was arrested Saturday by Patrolman Edward Scoczylas charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law in driving without a license. He will be presented in court Monday.

Misses Shearer and Clark, employes at the State Farm for Women, East Lyme, were in New London Saturday night seeking Helen Kuzrenski, who has been on parole at the farm and who is wanted for violation of her parole. She has been employed of late at a residence at Black Point, but has been missing several days. The young woman is described as being 24 years of age, five feet, three inches in height and weighs about 123 pounds, medium build, hazel eyes and brown bobbed hair. When she disappeared she is believed to have had a brown coat and a green hat. The young woman's home is in Hartford.

M. T. Tokac, 32, a chief petty officer attached to the U. S. coast guard destroyer Tripps, state pier, was arrested Saturday afternoon charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Tokac was driving his Chevrolet auto on Bank street and when near Howard street, it collided with a machine driven by Sam Zabarsky, 510 Ocean avenue, the latter car being damaged. Traffic Officer Thomas Cavanaugh arrested Tokac when the latter was found intoxicated. He was released upon furnishing a surety on his bond of $150 for appearance in the police court Monday. In the auto with Tokac was George Conoway and as he was also intoxicated, Conoway was arrested by Patrolman William Riordan and will be in court tomorrow.

An automobile driven by Felix Taglianetti, 20 High street, struck Angelo Bocka, 18 Belden street, Saturday night and the latter is now a patient at Lawrence-Memorial hospital suffering from bruises and a fractured jaw. Taglianetti was driving north on Bank street, headed toward Truman street. As the car was about to enter the latter street, Bocka stepped from the sidewalk and walking behind a bus, he stepped directly in front of Taglianetti's car. Before the driver was able to reduce his speed, Bocka was struck and hurled to the pavement. He was assisted into the auto and when admitted to the hospital it was found that his principal injury was the fractured jaw.

FUND FOR ARMISTICE DAY IS NOW UP TO $1,146

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 7—Contributions so far to the Armistice day fund have reached $1,146. During the next three weeks it is expected that this amount will be more than trebled as numerous citizens have promised donations.

New London still is working on Armistice day plans and different organizations of the city are co-operating in an attempt to make of the day's events the biggest ever held here. The parade, in all probability, will be composed of more than 15,000 marchers and every portion of the state will be represented by both military and civic organizations.

MRS. ROSE ALLEN FINED FOR SELLING HOME BREW

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 7—Mrs. Rose Allen, 14 Shaw street, was in the police court Saturday charged on two counts with violation of the liquor law. She pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs on each count. Mrs. Allen was arrested Friday by a raiding force after the police had obtained information that the Shaw street house was a distributing center for liquor of the home-brew brand. The officers seized a gallon of alcohol and two quarter gallons of hooch.

Charles J. Mahoney, charged with driving without a license, was fined $10 and costs. He was arrested by Patrolman Edward Skoczylas.

Two cases of intoxication were tried. One went to police headquarters Friday night seeking lodging and was picked up by Patrolman Henry Sylvia. He was given suspension of judgment. Another, an old offender, who was arrested on Broad street Friday night by Patrolman Dennis Murphy, was also given suspension of judgment.

Freshmen of Connecticut college were given a formal welcome Saturday night by members of the sophomore and senior classes in the gymnasium, in the form of a fashion show with seniors as models. A dance followed.

Miss Mary Constance Kolosky, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kolsky, of 52 Squire street, became the bride Saturday morning of Joseph Matilda of Passaic, N. J. The ceremony was performed at St. Joseph's church, by Rev. William C. Fitzsimmons. Mr. and Mrs. Matilda left for a honeymoon in the south, after which they will be at home at 164 South Parkway, Passaic.

Thomas Kanure, 175 Montauk avenue, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Henry Sylvia, charged with violation of the automobile law. He furnished a bond of $150 for appearance in the police court tomorrow. Kanure was driving an automobile owned by A. Conroy, 21 Huntington street, on State street, and in a manner that endangered the safety of pedestrians and other drivers.

Detective Sgrt. John Cavanaugh, who has been on his vacation of two weeks, has resumed duty, returning to his desk today.

About a score of bathers braved the surf at Ocean Beach this afternoon. Besides the bathers there were many visitors to the shore resort, including hundreds of autoists.

The followers of the Yankees and Cardinals who went to New York for the first two games, Thursday and Friday, have returned and all are of the opinion that the American league champions will win the series, for they declare that the junior league players outclass the Cardinals in every department, a fact that was displayed in the game today when the Yankees defeated the Cardinals, 7 to 3.

The new type of traffic signal, automatically controlled, is proving popular with autoists, for it has been proven a big assistance in the handling of traffic at strategic points. Since the signals were introduced at Bank and Howard streets and Bank street and Montauk avenue there has been little or no congestion of traffic and at the latter point, where an officer has been on duty to protect children leaving Nameaug school, there has been no congestion of cars, while children have been educated to the fact of following the moving automobiles. It is believed that the new type of signals will be adopted and put into operation at all points of traffic at an early date.

The football game at Mercer field this afternoon between the Submarine base and Ockford Hose company resulted in a tie, neither eleven being able to score. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of fans, due in a large degree to the excellent weather conditions.

DR. J. F. TRACEY, SPRINGFIELD, INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY R. I., Oct. 7—John F. Tracey, D. D. S., 427 Union street, Springfield, Mass., was taken to his home in the Westerly hospital ambulance, being injured in an auto crash near the B. F. Clark curve on the Shore road about 12:50 p. m. Sunday. The accident occurred near the driveway leading from the summer home of Henry Rowe. Rose A. Morin, 147 Franklin street, Fall River, was driving a Ford coupe in second speed out of the private roadway and reported looking on both sides and seeing no car before she drove on the Shore road. Before her left turn had been completed, the Willys Knight sedan of Dr. Tracey had sideswiped the front of her car. The driver's left arm was badly smashed and torn and he received a cut on his left leg. Dr. Tracey was taken to Westerly hospital, where he and his wife, Mary, and daughter, Jane, were treated for cuts and bruises. Another daughter, Harriet, was uninjured.

State Trooper Owen L. Nolan of Westerly police department was called to investigate and found no brake marks on the roadway to indicate that any attempt had been made to slow down the car on the Shore road, which continued on and overturned.

The Ford had its forward mudguards bent and twisted and the front bumper completely demolished. Mrs. A. L. Dinnis of 147 Franklin street, Fall River, a passenger in the Ford, received a cut on her right leg and was treated by Dr. John Helfrich.

TWO HOLD-UP MEN ROB MOTORIST BY ROADSIDE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 7—Lieut. George H. Champlin, on duty in Dixon square, had a telephone call about 6:30 Sunday evening from the Hope Valley barracks to be on the lookout for a large sedan with yellow number plates, which held five hold-up men. The men were reported to be foreigners and that was about all the description that could be furnished. Two of these men armed with revolvers had held up a motorist while he had stopped at the roadside on the Nooseneck Hill road, robbing him of cash and currency to the amount of about $143. The robbed man speeded to the Hope Valley barracks to report his loss.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

The militaristic spirit which encompassed Europe in those hectic days preceding the World war lives again in the gripping theme of "The Mysterious Lady," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring picture for Greta Garbo, which opened last night at the Palace theatre.

Greta Garbo, as a beautiful Russian spy, is aided in sustaining the romance woven through this spectacular story of the battle of wits between the secret services of rival nations by Conrad Nagel, who plays as a dashing Austrian cavalry officer. Although the trend of "The Mysterious Lady" is military, and the prelude to the great war is its background, the plot is motivated by the love and suffering of a beautiful woman, forced to choose between ennobling love and the vilest of duties.

Fred Niblo who directed Miss Garbo in "The Temptress," one of her first American successes, also directed "The Mysterious Lady." His direction of this film is clean, incisive and powerful. With deft ability this veteran director has brought out the full drama of Ludwig Wolff's novel, from which this film was adapted by Bess Meredyth.

The members of the cast whose work is especially notable are Gustav von Seyffertitz, Edward Connelly, Richard Alexander and Albert Pollet.

"The Mysterious Lady" is one of those very few pictures which this reviewer unhesitatingly recommends to all and sundry, highbrows and lowbrows alike.

Breed Theatre

If masculine hearts are palpitating at the beauty and charms of Billie Dove in her latest First National starring vehicle at the Breed theatre, "The Yellow Lily," wives and sweethearts have their treat in the picture, too.

Masterful, powerfully reserved Clive Brook is playing opposite the star!

Brook's vogue during the past year has swept him right up to the gates of stardom, and he has a notable following of admirers, both feminine and masculine. If the ladies like his looks, the men are intrigued by his typically English repression and histrionic ability.

"The Yellow Lily" is an adaption of Lajos Biro's play. Brooks enacts the role of a Hungarian archduke. Miss Dove that of a village beauty in Hungary. Alexander Korda, famous director, held forth at the megaphone. A hand-picked cast, headed by Gustav von Seyffertitz, Nicholas Soussanin, Jane Winton, Bodil Rosing, Charles Puffy and Marc MacDermott, enacts other picturesque Hungarian characters.

Miss Dove is one of the few American players in "The Yellow Lily," and Brook with Miss Winton, represent England portraying Hungary!

For Retail Merchants Institute

Olive Waddell who is to assist J. W. Griest in conducting a retail merchants institute here next week, has a national repute as sales promoter because she is so thrilled with the romance of merchandise that, in her hands, even a bit of lowly calico sparkles with interest; others, catching the fire of her enthusiasm are "sold" on their own goods and find selling a pleasure. As this fascinating little lady, talking to an audience of sales people, takes up a sample of merchandise, be it gingham or hardware, one might think she held some rare gem to their view. From far sources of the raw material come catchy word pictures of strange peoples who wrought them or gathered from field, forest or "diggings" the first crude supply.

OLIVE WADDELL

"There is not a thing sold" says Mrs. Waddell, "that hasn't an interesting history behind its manufacture. The romance of goods is a never-ending quest of delight for the seeker." As a child, Mrs. Waddell drank in stories of barter as other youngsters heard nursery tales. Two grandfathers, one who had spent his life as a sea-captain, the other a trader, spun yarns for her by the hour, making the world of commerce a vertable fairyland, but with the added charm of youth—some day, they said, she could see for herself, the wonders of the Seven Seas.

And so she did, after she had become a successful sales woman and buyer—successful because of those early impressions that made all merchandise vivid with life.

"Make a customer want a thing, and your sale is made," she says. "Know the story of how values are put into an article, study to tell it well. In doing this, your customer has more respect for the thing he or she buys, and the value of the merchandise is enhanced."

The Retail Merchants Institute is to be run under the auspices of the Merchants bured. It will open Monday morning the 15th and continue through to the 19th. All merchants and salespeople are cordially invited to attend the meetings which are free of charge.

LECTURES ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE STEPPING STONES

"Stepping Stones of Christian Science" was the subject of a lecture given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Universalist church, under the auspices of the local Christian Science society, by Professor Herman S. Hering, a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Professor Hering explained that the whole of Christian Science teaching is based on God, and that these teachings are clearly set forth in the textbook entitled "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," written by Mary Baker Eddy. The other writings of Mrs. Eddy, both prose and poetry, he said, are amplifications and elucidations of these teachings and are a great aid and inspiration to thoughtful students. The teachings of Christian Science, he added, may therefore be learned through these books. He also made clear that Christian Science is a discovery, a revelation, and not a human theory; that it was revealed to Mrs. Eddy's uplifted thought at the time of her remarkable recovery from the effects of a supposedly fatal accident, that God is infinite Spirit, Mind, and that all existence is spiritual, not material; that man is the image and likeness of God; that the divine Mind unfolding to human consciousness restores health and harmony, and that thereby Christian healing could be again restored to the world. The revelation continued to unfold to Mrs. Eddy, Professor Hering said, until she saw clearly the complete Truth, which she subsequently gave to mankind.

Professor Hering pointed out the steps which must be taken in order to progress spiritually—to the kingdom of heaven. The way, he said, was marked out by Jesus, and all who would walk along the pathway must tread over the same stepping-stones, avoiding the stumbling-blocks, the pitfalls and by-ways, keeping faithfully to the highway of hope, guided by spiritual Truth, which along, the lecturer declared, leads to the understanding of God.

After discussing at some length these important and valuable stepping-stones—honesty, humility, obedience, sacrifice, faith, the overcoming of fear, the recognition of God as infinite Spirit and of man as his image and likeness, the right comprehension of Christ Jesus as the true and practical Wayshower, the acknowledgment of a higher power, a looking upward and a dependence upon something beyond the material for guidance, support and healing the understanding of prayer as the desire for light and strength, for wisdom and understanding—Professor Hering explained that while it may be difficult at times to walk and climb these stepping-stones in the divine pathway to heaven, that while we may encounter storms of error and the enemies of righteousness may oppose our progress and attempt to reverse our gains, that while we may become weary and occasionally rest by the wayside, we are constantly encouraged and strengthened, if we are faithful and in earnest, by the wonderful goal always before us, and, are inspired by the broader horizon and enlarged outlook which spreads before our eyes with each advancing step, until we joyously reach the goal.

Throughout the lecture Professor Hering quoted frequently from the Bible and from the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, to prove the statements he made, and emphasized the fact that the teachings of Christian Science are based upon the teachings of the Bible, as revealed and taught by Mrs. Eddy.

MOOSEHEART JUNIORS IN CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT

Mooseheart Junior Legion, No. 92, gave their second entertainment Friday evening after their regular meeting. At the meeting with President Margaret Mehrholz in the chair, two candidates were initiated.

Governess Teresa Watters on behalf of the officers of the Junior Legion presented a gift to Assistant Governess Ethel M. Hoelck in honor of her birthday. Mrs. Hoelck accepted with an appropriate speech. Dictator Bernard Wunderlich gave an interesting talk for the good of the legion which was warmly applauded.

The program for the entertainment was as follows: Opening song, salute to the flag by Margaret Mehrholz, Doris Cote, Mildred and Rita Hoelck, Masters Charles Watters and Edward Coughey with Gladys Cote at the piano. Two Middletown Men to Speak

The Smith-Robinson Democratic club is to have two Middletown men as speakers at its meeting this (Monday) evening. They are William M. Citron, the candidate for congress, and Rev. George B. Gilbert.

THIRTEEN ARRESTED IN TAFTVILLE RAID ON ALLEGED GAMBLING RESORT

As the result of a raid by the state police at Taftville early Saturday evening 13 men will be presented in the city court this (Monday) morning. Two of the accused are charged with violating the liquor law and one of the two also has a charge of keeping a gambling house against his name. The remaining 11 men are charged with frequenting a gambling house.

Shortly before 8 o'clock four state police officers paid an unexpected visit at the store on Merchants avenue conducted by Joseph Blanchette, 45. Evidence that the place was being used as a gambling house and for the sale of liquor, resulted in the arrest of Blanchette and everyone in the place. Blanchette was charged wih keeping a gambling house and with violation of the liquor law. Those arrested for frequenting the alleged gambling house were:

Archie Michaud, 47, Taftville; Alexander Murdock, 60, Taftville; Charles Martin, 32, South Glastonbury; Charles Zukowski, 23, Hanover; Henry A. Webster, 20, Submarine base, navy yard; George Morse, 44, Norwich; Myles Fitzmaurice, 26, Taftville; James Troland, 32, Taftville; Robert Christie, 30, Bridgeport; Mark Hillis, 30, Boston; John Tillman, 32 Albany.

Ovllard Bouchard, 43, was arrested on a charge of violation of the liquor law. In the cases of Blanchette and Bouchard bonds were set $1,000 and in the cases of the frequenters the bonds were $25. All of the accused were released on bonds after being booked at police headquarters.

The raiding squad comprised State Police Officers Arthur Whitmarsh, Visokay, Bush and Smith.

The police net scooped in at least three men whose names are known to the baseball public beyond the confines of Norwich, as Hillis is utility infielder for the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league, Tillman is the pitching ace for the York team of the New York-Pennsylvania league and Christie is a Bridgeport player who is well known around the state. All three are playing on the Taftville A. A. team and appeared in the games on Saturday and Sunday.

It was reported that the baseball men had only just entered the place and that the state police were right on their heels, one of the officers shoving a foot into the door so that it could not be closed against the entrance of the officers.

J. L. CASE TO SPEAK AT C. OF C. CONFERENCE

A state-wide conference on chamber of commerce work, at which Governor John H. Trumbull will be one of the speakers, will be held in Hartford on Thursday, Oct. 18.

The conference which has been called "to promote understanding between the chamber of commerce and the business man" will be held under the auspices of The Connecticut Chamber of Commerce and The Connecticut Commercial Secretaries' association. It will be a luncheon at 12.45 in the ballroom of the Hotel Bond. This is the first conference of its kind ever held in Connecticut.

Presidents, secretaries and other officers and directors of local chambers of commerce, and others interested in local chamber of commerce work will attend as representatives of local chambers of commerce.

The board of directors of the state chamber which numbers 101 members representing 65 organization members and all business interests throughout the state will represent the state chamber of commerce.

Governor Trumbull who has been a director of the Plainville chamber of commerce for several years and who has been active in its affairs, will speak on "My Impressions of the Chamber of Commerce".

The "Shortcomings of the Chamber of Commerce and How to Overcome Them" is the subject of an address which will be delivered by James L. Case, former president of the Norwich chamber of commerce. A discussion on this subject will be led by J. Fulton Ferguson, secretary of the New Haven chamber of commerce.

The "Problems of Running a Chamber of Commerce" will be set forth by Robert A. Crosby, secretary of the Bridgeport chamber of commerce. The discussion on this topic will be led by Harry B. Dow, president of the Waterbury chamber of commerce and assistant secretary of the Waterbury Clock company. A general discussion of the addresses will be a part of the program.

Arthur R. Kimball, a director of the Chase Companies of Waterbury and president of the state chamber, and Ralph H. Benson, secretary of the New Britain chamber of commerce and president of the Connecticut Commercial Secretaries' association will preside jointly.

The purpose of the conference as set forth in the program is "The Chamber of Commerce wants to serve its community. The business man wants to cooperate. The purpose of this conference is to give each group a viewpoint of the other."

The conference will be broadcast by WTIC. The Hotel Bond orchestra will furnish music during the luncheon. Reservations for the luncheon are being sent to the state chamber in Hartford and to local chambers of commerce.

NEW LONDONER STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS AT SEA

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—(AP)—Two appendicitis operations were performed successfully at sea on board the Anchor liner Caledonia, Captain Alexander Collie, reported today upon the ship's arrival from Glasgow.

The first patient, George Fordyce Anderson, a passenger, bound from Glasgow to New London, Conn., was stricken Tuesday and was operated upon immediately by Dr. Archibald Young, Regius of Surgery at Glasgow university, who was a passenger.

The second operation was performed upon John Paul, second engineer of the liner on last Thursday by Dr. Farquhar Macrae, consulting surgeon at the Western Infirmary, Glasgow.

Gave House Warming Party

Women of Mooseheart Legion Chapter, No. 124, gave a surprize party and housewarming to Legionnaire Mrs. Annie Hoffman in honor of her return to her home, 250 Laurel Hill avenue, after an absence of over three years.

A beautiful floor lamp was presented to Mrs. Hoffman by Senior Regent Minnie Smith on behalf of the chapter.

A very enjoyable evening of cards and games was had. The winners were: Pinochle, first, Mrs. Martha Wunderlich; consolation, Mrs. Teresa Watters; whist, first, Mrs. May Lasch; consolation, Mrs. Mary Hunter. In games the winners were Mrs. May Lasch and Mrs. Teresa Watters.

Mrs. Mary Edwards entertained with vocal and piano selections. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by Miss Annie Hoffman and Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman Jr.

Mrs. Marie LaValle was chairman of the affair.

The beautiful cannas and other blossoms at the home of Mrs. Henry B Davenport at East Great Plain were destroyed by last week's hard frosts.

WOMEN'S MISSION CLOSES—WEEK FOR MEN BEGINS

The women's week of the mission being given at St. Patrick's church by three fathers of the Order of Passionists, Baltimore, came to a most successful close at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The week end had seen an amazing manifestation of zeal, beginning with the mass at 5 o'clock Saturday morning, continuing through that at 8, when 510 children—310 from the parochial school and 200 from the public schools—had been among such a great number receiving holy communion that it required four priests—the rector, Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. H. May and the three mission fathers, to administer the eucharist.

The preacher at 8 was Rev. Father Conon, his theme Calvary and his lesson the reminder that the cross is the inevitable burden of mankind, to be accepted with the same humility and borne with the same courage and patience which the Saviour showed.

Saturday evening the church was filled, when Rev. Father Mark led in the recitation of the glorious mysteries of the rosary, preaching on God's lavish gifts to man, especially the gift of the "light that never faileth"—the gift of a mother. Countries and climates and conditions may differ, yet men have one sentiment in common—love and veneration for their mothers. Eloquently the earnest preacher developed his theme, the name of mother—name so magnetic, name immortalized in verse and story, leading up to the climax of gifts, when the dying Redeemer, on the cross gave to mankind that gift supreme, His own Mother to be forever the tender mother of us all.

What Christ's mother meant to Him and what she can mean to us, in the way of consolation, sympathy, understanding, inspiration and example was set forth, what a refuge for the outcast, the rejected, who uncomplainingly gave back her Son to God, as she proved the truth of Simeon's prediction, "and thine own soul a sword shall pierce." "Pity the poor orphan," said the preacher, "but pity more those outside the church who have never heard of that mother given to them on Calvary."

At this service the hymn to St. Therese was beautifully sung by Miss Blanche LaPre.

Sunday at 7.30 Father Gilbert assisted by Father Conon gave communion to nearly a thousand women, in addition to men and elder children, and at the 9 o'clock mass there was an equally large number to receive the eucharist. Father Gilbert commended the women for their perseverance and zeal during the week, the sacrifices they had made and the fatigues they had undergone, in attending the services early and late. He expressed the hope that the men during their special week will do as well. Incidentally he touched upon the necessity of parents requiring their boys to attend the mission—in these days, he said, when children rule their parents, instead of parents ruling the children. At these and the other two masses of the day the offertory was for the fund being raised in the diocese to send to the bishops for relief in Haiti and Porto Rico.

There was a closing service for the children after the 9 o'clock mass, when they received the papal benediction from the mission fathers.

Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the final exercises of the week were held, the auditory being filled. Rev. Father Mark opened the service, following the singing of Veni Creator Spiritus, by Roderick F. Sullivan.

Rev. Father Gilbert preached from Ephesians VI 13. Therefore take unto you the armor of God, that ye may be able to resist in an evil day and to stand in all things perfect." Summarizing the successful mission of the week, he counseled the women to persevere, through the three great means of prayer, regular attendance at mass and frequent reception of the holy eucharist. From his experiences in the mission field he cited numerous instances which gave emphasis to his words, making a profound impression on the congregation. After the choir had sung the hymn, "Mother Dear, O Pray for Me," Father Gilbert bestowed the papal benediction—the personal blessing of Pope Pius XI, as transmitted through the missionaries. Father Mark and Father Conon were present for this, also while the women, holding candles, solemnly renewed their baptismal vows. Benediction of the blessed sacrament, given by Rev. John J. Reilly, concluded the exercises and the women's week of the mission.

Sunday evening at 7.30, the parish men began their week's mission. For them the morning masses will be at 5 and 7, and the evening exercises at 7.30.

Besides all the confessions of the week and daily communions, the three mission fathers administered on Sunday, by actual count, 1390 communions.

During the week the ushers have been Alexander Kilroy, Austin Furlong, John Wceniak, Maurice B. Looby, Thaddeus Leshev, Michael J. Murphy, William J. McKnight, Leonard Desmond, James Mahoney and John P Corcoran.

A contributing factor to the success of the evening services has been the music by Organist Henry J. LaFontaine and the appreciated aid of the members of the volunteer choir.

FLETCHER POST ACCEPTS INVITATION TO PARADE

At a meeting of R. O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American legion, Friday evening, in the Legion rooms, Imbert Fellows was nominated for commander of the post. The election will take place in December. Harry Powers and Patrick McMahon were named candidates for vice commanders and Walter T. Clarke candidate for adjutant. E. Farnham is the candidate for treasurer. J. Burton Young, Carl Johnson, Everett Morrill and Warren Wilcox were named for the executive committee.

The post accepted an invitation to participate in the American Legion Armistice day parade to be held in New London. A committee was named to make the local parade arrangements. The resignation of Rev. E. C. Dunbar as a member of the executive committee was accepted, as Rev. Mr. Dunbar is soon to leave town. One new member was initiated.

The post is making arrangements for its second annual Armistice day dance to be held the Saturday night before Armistice day, also a Legion social dance and all colored minstrel show to be held in the near future.

HAD LOAD OF BEER FOR FISHING PARTY

Howard Campbell, 26, of Lebanon, was fined $200 and costs in the city court Saturday morning on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested about 3 o'clock Saturday morning after his machine had crashed into a tree on North Main street.

Campbell admitted that he had had several drinks while at a dance at Glasgo and that while driving through North Main street he fell asleep at the wheel. He said he was on his way to Noank for a fishing expedition. Officer John Quinn who heard the crash investigated and found a pail filled with bottles of beer in the machine. Campbell said the beer was to have been used for refreshments on the fishing trip.

FINED FOR SPEEDING CHARGE OF SEPT. 5

At the Saturday morning session of the city court Irvin Krill, 19, student at Yale, was presented on a charge of speeding. On recommendation of the city attorney the case was nolled on payment of $10. The charge was the outgrowth of an automobile accident September 5th at Yantic. Krill's machine collided with a Ford owned and operated by Peter Nawrocki of Yantic. Mr. Nawrocki received a broken leg and was unable to appear in court until Saturday.

POETRY

The Miracle

Thou, Son of Man, who came mankind to reach—
Through temporal things, the Father's love to teach—
Teach us that Thou, whose care the thousands fed,
Canst give to those who seek Thee, Living Bread.

Thou, Lord, in those few loaves and fishes small,
Found, for the multitude, enough for all;
So, like the lad, who of his substance gave,
Teach us to use, for Thee, the things we have.

Thy blessing gives enough and some to spare;
For all were filled who sat together there;
Twelve baskets full remained, is what we read—
Thus Thy supply is greater than our need.

As of Thy bounty, Lord, we freely taste,
Teach us that Thy supply we must not waste;
For Thou hast taught, O Ever-living Bread,
Through those sustained by Thee, Thy sheep are fed.

Autumn Tints

Coral-colored yew-berries
Strew the garden ways,
Hollyhocks and sunflowers,
Make a dazzling blaze
In these latter days.

Marigolds by cottage doors
Plaum, their golden pride,
Crimson-punctured bramble leaves
Dapple far and wide
The green mountain-side.

Far away, on hilly slopes
Wher fleet rivulets run,
Miles on miles of tangled fern,
Burnished by the sun,
Glow a copper dun.

For the year that's on the wane,
Gathering all its fire,
Flares up through the kindling world
As ere they expire,
Flames leap high and higher.

GERMAN AIR MONARCH MAY START FOR U. S. WEDNESDAY

Final Test of the "Graf Zeppelin" Was Made Monday—Round Trip to the United States Will Cost Approximately $96,000—Each Passenger Has Been Insured For 400,000 Marks—The Cost of the "Graf Zeppelin" is About $960,000—The New American Airships Will Be Double the Size of the New German Dirigible and Are to Cost About Four Times as Much.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 8—(AP)—Good weather prospects over the Atlantic were awaited tonight by Dr. Hugo Eckener before he would announce the "sailing" hour of the "Graf Zeppelin," the huge new dirigible which he is to pilot to the United States. He hoped the reports would be favorable for a departure Wednesday.

The final test of the airship, a flight of less than five hours was given today. The dirigible flew over Lake Constance while thousands of spectators, a large proportion of whom were tourists attracted here by the coming event, watched and cheered.

Dr. Eckener said tonight that it will cost 400,000 marks (approximately $96,000) for the round-trip to the United States. This figure, he said, covered allowances for depreciation, repairs and insurance on the ship and its occupants. Each of the passengers has been insured for 200,000 marks in case of death.

Dr. Eckener revealed that the chief revenue for the trip will come from newspaper interests who have been given rights to file dispatches from the ship. Two German publications will pay 65,000 marks ($15,600) between them. More than four times that amount, 281,000 marks ($67,400) will come from a chain of American newspapers. Four private passengers are charged 50,000 marks ($12,000) and the other $1,000 needed to make up the 400,000 marks total will come from the German postal department to pay for mail that is to be carried across the ocean.

The builders of the big airship hope to sell her. They admitted, however, that any hopes they may have had of finding the United States government in a mood to be the purchaser had been dissipated by the Washington decision to have the Goodyear Zeppelin corporation build two giant rigid dirigibles to specifications drawn by Dr. Arnstein, former chief constructor of the Zeppelin works here.

These new American navy ships will double the size of the Graf Zeppelin, being of 204,000 cubic metres capacity (approximately 7,204,000 cubic feet) as against the 105,000 cubic metres, (3,708,000 cubic feet) capacity of the Graf Zeppelin. The local air giant cost 4,000,000 marks, equal to $960,000 in round figures. The new American ships are to cost four times as much.

MOTHER ASPHYXIATED HER CHILDREN AND HERSELF

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—(AP)—A 30 year old mother kissed her husband goodbye as he started to work today and then turned back into their home to prepare a tableau of death. An hour later police called the husband home to receive the tragic message. His wife had sent their three children to death and then had lain down to join them in a gas-filled room.

Clyde Ryker, the husband and father, could offer no explanation of the apparent triple slaying and suicide. Their home had been a happy one. Mrs. Ryker had been sick at times, but not seriously, he said.

Fumes of gas that leaked from the room gave warning of the tragedy to a neighbor, who summoned police.

Inside the room cracks and keyholes were stuffed with paper. On the floor were the three little girls—Gene 8, Phyllis 6 and Helen 4—lying on blankets and pillows as though the mother who took their lives still cared for their comfort in death Beside them was Mrs Ryker. The gas jets in the kitchen were open, unlighted.

Neighbors could only guess that the mother's temporary insanity had robbed Clyde Ryker of his home.

$285,000 FOR SHIP AND CARGO FORFEITED TO GOVERNMENT

BOSTON, Oct. 8—(AP)—Judge Lowell of the federal court here today ordered that $285,000, constituting the sale price of the steamer Cretan and her cargo of 80,000 gallons of Belgian alcohol, be forfeited to the government.

The Cretan was seized here in 1926 for "engaging in a trade other than that for which she was licensed," and later sold at auction. The alcohol was bought from the United States marshal by wholesalers possession liquor licenses.

The owners of the alcohol filed a claim as reimbursement declaring that the vessel had put into port because of unseaworthiness. The proceeds from the sale were held by the United States district court pending the ruling made today.

Miss Ellen L. Bukley, the only woman assistant of United States Attorney Tarr, successfully prosecuted the case.

APPLICANTS FOR DRIVERS' LICENSES PROTESTING

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8—(AP)—Letters of protest because of the alleged "arbitrary" and "brusque" methods of handling applicants for drivers' licenses at the local branch of the state motor vehicle department are to be sent to Gov. John H. Trumbull and Commissioner Robert T. Hurley of the state police department by the Automobile club of New Haven county.

The action was decided on tonight at a meeting of the club at which members voiced their complaints of the service given by the examining officers at the local branch. A letter received from one member and read aloud at the meeting purported to show that the member's daughter had spent the major part of two days at the branch office waiting to be called for a driver's examination.

Another complaint voiced at the meeting was that many persons after spending hours in line at the office are told that the examining officer can give no more tests that day.

TRIAL OF BROKER WATKINS OPENS IN HARTFORD TODAY

HARTFORD, Oct. 8—(AP)— State Police Commissioner Robert T. Hurley and Lieut. Gov. J. Edwin Brainard of Branford, have been summoned among the 65 witnesses for the state who will testify at the trial of Roger W. Watkins, who goes before Judge Allyn L. Brown in the superior court at 10 a. m., tomorrow, charged jointly with his wife and two brothers-in-law with a conspiracy to embezzle $141,000 from the National Associated Investors, Inc., for which he was the fiscal agent.

LITHUANIA MOURNS LOSS OF CITY OF VILNA

BERLIN, Oct. 8—(AP)—The Vossiche Zeitung today prints dispatches from Kovno, Lithuania, saying that tomorrow has been proclaimed a day of national mourning for the loss of the City of Vilna eight years ago. Kovno will be draped in black crepe, all places of amusement will be closed and at noon a minute of silence will be observed.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT CAPTURED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—An escaped Sing Sing convict whose rogue's gallery picture, the police say, has identified him with a murder and a payroll robbery committed since he has been at liberty, was captured today by detectives after a hard pursuit.

The man was 22 years old, Edward Ryan, who with a fellow prisoner, James Nannery, slipped out of Sing Sing on July 15. Spotted by five detectives near the Bronx end of the Washington bridge, where he was believed to have had a tryst with a pretty Titian-haired young woman whom the police later questioned, Ryan fled to the Harlem river level and across the mud flats. It was low tide, and apparently the fugitive thought he could reach a raft moored near shore. He did not reckon, however, on the mud, and it held him fast. Throwing down the revolver from which he had fired two ineffectual shots at his pursuers, Ryan submitted to arrest.

SMITH LEAVES TODAY FOR POLITICAL BATTLEGROUND

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8—(AP)—Governor Smith tomorrow will launch upon his second campaign tour in his quest for the presidency, departing early in the afternoon for New York city, and from there proceeding to the political battleground of the border states.

The democratic nominee made public his plans for the departure today at his daily press conference at the executive mansion. But declared that beyond the speech to be delivered at Louisville, Ky., next Saturday night, his itinerary and speaking engagements had not been definitely determined.

There was a possibility, the governor declared, that he would remain only a day and a night in New York and leave on his invasion of the southland and the border states, Wednesday night.

COMEDIAN LARRY SEMON DIED AT HEALTH FARM

VICTORVILLE, Cal., Oct. 8—(AP)—Out of the desert where he had sought the healing air to regain his waning strength, the body of Larry Semon, comedian of the silver screen, late today was taken to San Bernardino, where simple funeral services will be held. Semon died of pneumonia early today at a health ranch near here to which he had gone to recuperate from a nervous breakdown.

Private funeral services will be held at a San Bernardino mortuary, from which the body will be sent to Philadelphia. The comedian's former home, for burial in the family cemetery lot. Mrs. Nancy Smith, mother of Semon's widow, Dorothy Dwan, also of the films, were with Semon during the last few days of his failing fight.

BODY OF BRANFORD MAN FOUND HANGING IN CELLAR

BRANFORD, Conn., Oct. 8—(AP)—Jean Altermatt, 59, committed suicide at his home here some time last week, and hi sbody was not discovered until today, Mrs. Jean Altermatt left for New York last week and suddenly became ill and her daughter Helen, accompanied by a boarder at the house, left to visit the mother on Thursday and on her return today, she failed to find her father about the house. A search was made and the body was found in the cellar hanging from a rafter. Medical Examiner Arthur S. McQueen gave his verdict as suicide by strangulation. No motive for the act could be ascertained.

IDENTIFIED FROM PHOTOS AS CHICAGO THEATRE ROBBER

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—(AP)—Virgil Litsinger, indicted for participation in the $135,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery of last February, today was identified from photographs as the lone robber who last night held up five employes of the Chicago theatre while 5,000 persons watched the show and escaped with the day's receipts of $6,400.

Wooden Dormitory Proved Death Trap

Between 17 and 20 Convicts Perished in Fire at State Brick Plant in Ohio—Many Escaped.

JUNCTION CITY, Ohio, Oct. 8—(AP)—While men toiled to bring out the charred remains of the victims, two investigations were under way tonight and a third had been planned to fix the cause of the fire which is believed to have caused the death of 17 to 20 convicts when it destroyed the wooden dormitory at the state brick plant here early today.

State Welfare Director John E. Harper launched an investigation immediately upon his arrival on the scene from Columbus, and Governor Donahey ordered C. H. Dixson, his personal investigator, to the brick plant late today. Warden P. E. Thomas of the Ohio penitentiary telephoned from Kansas City that he was returning to Ohio at once to investigate the fire.

Twenty prisoners were said by prison officials to be missing. Twelve others seriously burned or injured were taken to the penitentiary hospital at Columbus, for treatment. The same officials said they believed three of the 20 missing men had seized the opportunity to escape from the custody of the guards during the confusion that followed discovery of the fire, but others, including some of the convicts, declare none escaped.

Fifteen charred bodies, part of them only small piles of bones, had been recovered from the ruins late today. Few or none were possible of identification.

The fire, according to prisoners, guards and officials here, started in the commissary room where linen supplies were stored and is believed to have been caused by defective electric wiring.

The work of removing the remains from the ruins of the dormitory was begun late today. Most of the bodies were so badly burned that any attempt at identification was futile.

The remains were to be buried in the New Lexington cemetery, near here, with markers for those whose identity was established.

Bodies believed to be those of John Duncan, Toledo Negro, Moses Broncho, Franklin county Negro, and Ray Cooper of Fairfield county, were identified after an examination of the teeth by a dentist.

Eight other bodies, impossible of identification, also were brought out. The stories of guards and convicts indicated that in all probability many of those who were killed were trampled by their terrified fellow prisoners in the mad rush for the exits.

The dormitory, a barn-like structure of wooden frame and corrugated iron covering erected on a two-foot brick foundation, housed 275 prisoners sleeping in two-tiered bunks, arranged in pairs with narrow aisles between. There were 238 men at the brick plant, but 13 of them were "trusties" and were not sleeping in the dormitory.

The fire was discovered at midnight by two prisoners, Peter O'Day of Dayton, and Edward Tillots of Toledo, Ohio.

The fire alarm was sounded and as it echoed through the dimly lighted building, the flames from the commissary began to spread through the sleeping room.

Pandemonium ensued in the dormitory. Most of the prisoners were awake at once and all started for the nearest exits, only to find them in most instances barred and locked.

The fire spread swiftly along the floor and the framework of the building and leaped from bunk to bunk across the narrow aisles, while the prisoners cursed and screamed as they struggled towards doors and windows.

Guard Val Brockmeyer of Chillicothe told of throwing open a door to let the men out and then of running outside to a fire hydrant only to find it would not work.

Those who reached the open air and turned to look through windows into the flaming interior told of seeing men, their bodies wreathed in flames, rushing to and fro, and of seeing them disappear in flame and smoke when the floor fell and the roof and walls crashed in.

Prisoners who escaped to safety brought out stories of heroism and terror.

One story was told of a prisoner who attempted to carry out a friend. They fell and both were overcome by smoke and burned to death. Another told of the convict in charge of commissary who ran there to fight the flames and perished "on the job."

Another is told of a prisoner who refused to believe the alarm of fire and demanded that he be allowed to sleep. He was believed to have burned in his cot.

Another was seen to draw the blankets over his head as the flames licked across the bunk and a minute later his bed was enveloped in flames.

Many "sound sleepers" died because other prisoners could not awaken them.

DR. JOHN W. ROBERTSON FOUND DEAD IN OFFICE

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 8—(AP)—Dr. John W. Robertson, who was personal physician to the late John D. Archbold and to William Rockefeller, and for years a member of the consulting staff of Bellevue hospital, New York, was found dead today in his office here.

The physician had been brewing a pot of tea, when he suffered a fainting spell and opened the jet of a small gas stove as he fell. Police said death was caused by accidental asphyxiation.

Dr. Robertson was a native of Scotland. He obtained his professional education in Vienna and Chicago.

COM. BYRD PERFECTING PLANS FOR DEPARTURE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 8—(AP)—Realizing, perhaps, that sun baths will not be so feasible where he is going, Commander Richard E. Byrd, spent much of his time today absorbing the actinic rays of old Sol on the roof of the Biltmore hotel, while putting finishing touches to his plans for departure Wednesday for the south polar region.

The flier-explorer said he had entirely recovered from a cold he caught while coming from the Atlantic coast by train and was in ship-shape for the two or three year sojourn he expects to make in the Antarctic for map-making purposes, he continued, however, to deny himself to public engagements.

28 Deaths From Alcoholic Poisoning

Many of the Victims Were Found Dead or Dying in Streets of New York's East Side.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Twenty-eight deaths from alcoholic poisoning had been reported on New York's lower East Side late today since early Sunday, and hospitals in the Bowery section still were receiving sufferers.

Many of the victims were found, dead or dying, in the streets, while others were taken from cheap lodging houses, several were not identified.

SEARCH FOR DISPENSERS OF POISONED LIQUOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Police tonight raided 13 alleged speakeasies on the lower East Side in an effort to trace the source of alcohol responsible for 13 of the 30 deaths from alcoholic poisoning reported in the past three days.

Forty patrolmen working in squads of two and three and dressed in civilian clothes, made the raids. Working under the assumption that there was one or more dispensing places of poisoned liquor in the district, the police confiscated alleged liquor in each of the establishments they visited and rent the samples to the city toxiologist for analysis. The owner or person in charge of each place was arrested.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES MOORED AT FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 8—(AP)—The navy dirigible Los Angeles tonight was bivouacked under Texas skies for the first time, with her nose safely secured to the 160-foot mooring mast at the government helium plant here. The ship was tied up at 6:45 p. m. without mishap.

The ship's forty men and officers under command of Lieutenant-Commander H. V. Wiley stepped to earth for the first time since the giant gas bag left its home base at Lakehurst, N. J., at dusk Saturday.

The dirigible came here from San Antonio, passing over Dallas en route, and is scheduled to return to San Antonio tomorrow morning in time for the official parade of the American Legion, which is holding its annual convention there.

After reaching San Antonio this morning at 9:40 o'clock, the dirigible hovered over the city for more than an hour, then headed for the only mooring mast in the southwest, at Fort Worth.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT IS PLANNING CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Expressing with a smile the hope that his friends will make it possible for him "to walk, not run, for governor," Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic gubernatorial candidate, arrived in New York today to lay out plans for his campaign.

For the next three days he will be in conference with party leaders. Tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt will confer with Governor Smith, who will be in New York preparatory to starting out on his swing through the border states. On Thursday Mr. Roosevelt will go to Boston, to make in New England his last two addresses for Governor Smith outside of New York state. He will return in time for his notification October 16.

HOMICIDE AND SUICIDE IN STUDY OF PRIEST

BEAUMONT, Tex., Oct. 8—(AP)—The Rev. Anthony De Simone, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, and John Rose, statuary and candle dealer, were shot to death here today in the study of the priest's home in what police tonight believed was a case of homicide and suicide.

After examining a letter written by Rose two days ago, police expressed the theory that the man, a Catholic, had contemplated suicide, told the priest of his intention, and then either shot Father De Simone intentionally or in a scuffle when the pastor attempted to dissuade him.

FEARS DRUNKEN DRIVER MORE THAN MAN WITH GUN

GREENWICH, Oct. 8—(AP)—Judge James R. Mead in imposing jail sentences of 10 days and $100 fines on two drivers charged with operating a vehicle while intoxicated and reckless driving today said he would rather take his chances with a man in possession of a shotgun rather than with a drunken driver on the road.

Hereafter he intend to hand out more severe sentences to drunken drivers as is being done in Connecticut and other states. The two men sentenced were Chauncey Bates and Edward Kelly.

SLAYER OF MARY MAHAN GETS LIFE SENTENCE

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 8—(AP)—John Tartar, of South Boston, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Norfolk superior court today for the murder of Mary Mahan in the Blue Hills district of Milton, last June. Tartar pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree.

GOOD REPORTS FOR HOOVER FROM CALIFORNIA AND OHIO

J. R. Knowland, Publisher of the Oakland Tribune, Reports the Only Question About California Was the Size of the Majority That the Hoover-Curtis Ticket Would Receive—Business Interests of Ohio Are Anxious For a Continuance of Prosperity Under Republican Administration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—(AP)—Herbert Hoover paused today in the drafting of plans for his Boston speech to receive word of the political situation in California, and Ohio.

Optimistic reports were brought him by party leaders from both states. Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati, republican candidate for governor of Ohio, said after his visit with the nominee that the business interests of the state were anxious for a continuance of the prosperity President Coolidge had brought the country. J. R. Knowland, of California, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, declared that the only question about California and the other Pacific coast states was the size of the majority that the Hoover-Curtis ticket would roll up.

Cooper was accompanied by Carmi Thompson, treasurer of the state republican committee, Orville Smith, of Cleveland and Arthur Fenton, collector of internal revenue.

"Business interests of Ohio recognize that Herbert Hoover has been a vital factor in developing this constructive program," Cooper said in discussing conditions in that state. "They see in the election of Herbert Hoover, a continuation of the prosperity throughout the country. As secretary of the great department of commerce they feel that he has been in training for the great responsibilities as president.

"Agriculture, the republican party recognizes, has a problem and the party is pledged to constructive legislation, placing the business of the farmer on equality with the business of other industries. The farmers of Ohio have full confidence in the sincerity and capacity of Herbert Hoover to give such direction as to fulfill the pledge of our party."

During the day the nominee also was visited by a committee of editors of Polish language newspapers from Milwaukee, Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland Detroit and Buffalo. A. E. Ruszkiewcz leader of the group, said that there had been a great swing to Hoover during the past two weeks and asserted that the prohibition question was disappearing as an issue among the Poles.

"The Poles are realizing that the president cannot personally change the law," he said, adding that the majority of the members of his race were for the republican nominee because of his war record.

Another visitor to the nominee's headquarters was Mrs. Gabrielle Greeley Glendenning, a daughter of Horace Greeley, who said after her chat with Hoover that she had come to pledge her support.

WOULD DEDICATE MUSCLE SHOALS TO AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—(AP)—Herbert Hoover favors the dedication of Muscle Shoals to agriculture for research purposes and development of fertilizers in addition to its national defense reserves, he said tonight in a formal statement issued at his headquarters.

"After these purposes are satisfied if there is a by-product of superfluous power that by-product should be disposed of on such terms and conditions as will safeguard and protect all public interests."

The statement of the republican presidential nominee was issued after his attention had been called to a special dispatch from Knoxville, published in a Washington newspaper, quoting him as having said that his reference in his speech at Elizabethton, Tenn. last Saturday as to the desirability of government ownership in certain instances "means Muscle Shoals."

84 PRISONERS HAVE PETITIONED FOR PARDON

HARTFORD, Oct. 8—(AP)—Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle, veterinarian, serving a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Clare K. Gaudet of New Haven, has petitioned the board of pardons for release from the state prison, while his appeal from his conviction is on its way to the supreme court of errors.

Dr. Guilfoyle's petition is one of 84 scheduled to be heard at the board's meeting in Wethersfield, November 5.

The list contains the names of one-sixth of the prison population and revives the state's most sensational murder trials of the last 30 years.

Some of the petitioners are:

New London county: John Yurass and Diratto Cabaudo, serving life sentences; George A. Finn, serving from three to nine years for embezzlement at Norwich. Litchfield county: Alexander Dembrowski, Giordano Candide, serving life sentences. New Haven county: (Waterbury), Anthony Labutis, 6 to 22 years for rape; Harry Pelletier, two to five years for highway robbery. Middlesex county: Charles A. Boers, Edward Pisano, Frederick Harrison, John Greer, Windham county; Charles Dansereau, automobile thief. Tolland county: Charles Males.

FOUR COTTAGES DESTROYED BY FIRE AT INDIAN NECK

BRANFORD, Oct. 8—(AP)—Four cottages were completely destroyed, several others damaged and the whole section of the summer colony at Indian Neck, was threatened with destruction today, when a fire started in a cottage owned by Mrs. Loren C. Baker, of Branford. Fanned by a high wind, three other cottages nearby, owned by Asa L. Averill of Branford, Thomas Linehan, of New Haven and the Indian Neck Boating and Fishing club cottage, owned by members of New Britain, were burned before sufficient fire apparatus could be called. A number of other cottages were slightly damaged by the flames.

The section burned was generally known as the Ark and owing to the distance from fire hydrants to the scene of the blaze, aid was called from Stony Beach and Stony Creek. The nearest hydrant was a quarter of a mile away and because of the scarcity of hydrants several pumpers were forced to draw salt water from Long Island sound.

The origin of te fire is not known and an investigation has been started by Fire Marshal William Ahearn, of Branford.

FORMER STATE SENATOR SENTENCED FOR LARCENY

BOSTON, Oct. 8—(AP)—Norman H. White former member of the state legislature and at one time a candidate for the republican nomination for governor today was sentenced to from three to five years in state prison for larcenies amounting to $123,600 from Boston banks. He had pleaded guilty to five counts in June.

The larcenies were $3,500 from the State Street Trust company; $35,000 from the Liberty Trust company; $35,000 from the Exchange Trust company; $15,000 from the Federal National bank and $35,000 from the American Trust company. He obtained the money by making false statements regarding his several business connections.

TWO MEN WERE SERIOUSLY BURNED IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8—(AP)—Mrs. Lena Mersky, 48, and Clifford Sebastian, 25, were seriously burned today, when fire broke through a hole in the floor of the room in which they were cleaning clothes and ignited a quantity of gasoline. A defective flue is supposed to have caused a back draft in the furnace and a hole in the floor to allow heat to come through allowed the flames to enter the room filled with combustible fumes from the gasoline. An explosion followed and both employes were seriously burned. At the New Haven hospital, both were placed on the danger list.

REUNION OF THE UNITED SPANISH WAR VETERANS

HAVANA, Oct. 8—(AP)—Cuban and American veterans of the war for independence of '98, clasped hands in reunion today at the official opening of the 30th annual convention of the United Spanish War Veterans.

President Gerardo Machado Y Morales, reviewing the progress of the country in the interval, said that she would welcome repeal of the Platt amendment which has given the United States supervision during the adolescence of Cuba as a free nation.

General John J. Garrity, commander of the veterans, in responding to the welcome said that the cost in American lives had been well justified by the later development of Cuba "now that wars are outlawed," he said, "let us hope that they remain for ever outlawed and let us believe that rewards of international co-operation may be enjoyed without a parentage of destructiveness.

"The most colorful convention in the history of the organization," as it was characterized by the national commander and the first on the soil for which the veterans fought, was opened this morning in the National theatre with more than 7,000 veterans present.

DIAMONDS VALUED AT $275,000 TAKEN BY FOUR ROBBERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Diamonds valued at $275,000 were taken today by four robbers who invade the A. K. S. Jewelry and Manufacturing company on West 46th street, tied two gem merchants to a radiator and escaped in the noon day crowd.

Solomon B. Stein, member of the firm, was displaying some stones to Joseph Goldmuntz, a jeweler, in the inner office of the company's 12th floor suite. The door buzzer rang and Stein excusing himself, walked to the metal door of the room. Raising a slide of bullet-proof glass he saw four men in the reception hall. One thrust a revolver close to his face.

"Now, don't be silly," advised the stranger, "because if you move we'll fill you with lead."

Within reach of Stein's hand was the button of the siren alarm, but the merchant made no effort to touch it he opened the door and the four men walked in. Silently they followed Stein into the inner room where Goldmuntz was looking at two wallets of diamonds lying on a desk. He was told to put up his hands. While one robber seized the stones, others bound the jeweler to a radiator.

NORTH DAKOTANS EXTEND WELCOME TO SEN. CURTIS

DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D., Oct. 8—(AP)—North Dakotans gave Senator Charles Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, an enthusiastic welcome on his arrival to deliver a campaign speech, here today.

After arriving at the station, the senator was escorted to the Grayson hotel where a duck luncheon was served. Crowds lined the route of the parade and awaiting his arrival at the station.

Senator Curtis is the first republican vice presidential nominee to come into North Dakota since Theodore Roosevelt came to the state in the campaign of 1896. Crowds were on hand early in the opera house for the late afternoon.

MORE TESTIMONY ABOUT QUEENS SEWER CONTRACTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Three Queens sewer jobs totalling $1,000,000 were awarded in 1926 by Maurice E. Connolly, at that time president of Queens borough to a contractor who could not carry out the work and who made $5,000 by assigning them to other contractors, it was testified today in the Queens sewer trial.

Connolly and former sewer engineer Frederick Seely are charged with conspiring with the late John M. Phillips, Queens sewer pipe monopolist, to defraud the city.

The state may conclude its case tomorrow or Wednesday.

OVER 600 ATTENDED DEMOCRATIC RALLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTC, Oct. 8—Old-fashioned rallies made a powerful return to popularity tonight when over 600 people crowded into the town hall for the democratic rally which marked the opening shot of electioneering in the town of Windham during the present campaign. While announcements of the inability of Congressman John J. Boylan of New York and Charles G Morris of Newtown, candidate for governor, to be present brought out some expressions of regret, the two addresses of the evening delivered by Wallace N. Jewett of Hamlton and Congressman Augustin Lonergan of Hartford, candidate for United States senator, brought out a great flood of enthusiasm from the crowd.

Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, candidate for lieutenant-governor, presided and first introduced Mr. Jewett as a democrat of long standing. Mr. Jewett injected considerable humor into his talk which was a strong plea for Alfred E. Smith. He pleaded with the people to exercise the right of common sense to study the issues of the campaign. His punctuated remarks were met with salvos of applause.

Congressman Lonergan was introduced by Chairman Fenton as a man who had fought uphill from an humble birth to the foremost ranks of the Connecticut bar. He was born of poor parents in Thompson, Windham county, and he secured the education and experience that made him fitted for high political rank and prominent seat in law, only by diligent hard work. The introduction was responded to by rising greetings on the part of the audience.

In his opening remarks, Congressman Lonergan called attention to the expression of confidence by both big and little interests in Governor Smith as a presidential candidate and to the policies of the party he represents. "The outstanding leader of liberal thought today," he said, "is Alfred E. Smith. Mr. Smith rose from the masses to become the chief exponent of all legislature beneficial to the people, which are so intricately a part of himself." Mr. Lonergan reviewed the many humanitarian projects sponsored by Governor Smith, especially the compensation laws adopted by New York state.

Congressman Lonergan said: "If I am elected to the office of senator, representing the commonwealth of Connecticut, I promise to introduce in the senate a resolution providing that any amendment to the prohibition laws as they now stand, will first be presented to each state for approval."

He concluded this plea by saying: "There are two essentials for party success on election day. The first is to secure 100 per cent enrollments of the voters, second is to see that all voters cast a ballot on election."

The conclusion of his talk was followed by rousing applause and considerable cheering.

O. B. ROBINSON NOMINATED AS PROBATE JUDGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 8—Judge Otto B. Robinson was unanimously renominated as the republican candidate for the office of judge of probate for the Windham-Scotland district at the republican probate convention held at the Windham Republican club rooms tonight. The convention was called to order by Joseph M. Berard, chairman of the probate committee. Louise S. Moseley of Scotland was elected clerk. The following delegates answered roll call: Joseph M. Berard, Nelson A. Daniels, F. Louis Hall and Harold S. Maine of Windham, George N. Perry and Archie A. Gallup of Scotland. After the reading of the call the chairman called for nominations for judge of probate for the ensuing two years, and the name of Judge Otto B. Robinson was presented by Nelson Daniels and seconded by Harold S. Maine. There being no further nominations, Judge Robinson was declared unanimous choice of the convention. Nelson A. Daniels, Harold S. Maine and A. H. Gallup were appointed a committee to inform Judge Robinson of his nomination. The candidate was escorted before the convention and briefly expressed his thanks to the delegates for the continued confidence in the management of the probate court, and for the honor conferred upon him and promised, if elected, to continue the conduct of the probate court in the same fair and impartial manner and to serve all the people of the district to the best of his ability. The convention adopted a set of resolutions, endorsing the policies and candidates of the republican party on both state and national tickets and special endorsement of the nomination of the Hon. Richard P. Freeman as candidate for representative. The closing paragraph of the resolution follows:

"That we take pride in presenting to the citizens of this probate district the Hon. Otto B. Robinson as a candidate for re-election for the judge of probate. Judge Robinson is a man of sterling character, noted for his honesty courtesy and unfailing devotion to the duties of his office. His just and impartial conduct of the affairs of the probate court during the past ten years have met with favorable approval and we bespeak for him the cordial support of all the electors of the district."

Louis F. Moseley, Joseph F. Berard and Nelson A. Danielson were elected to serve on the probate committee for the next two years and this concluded the business of the convention

COUNCIL ENDORSES PURCHASE OF LINCOLN LUMBER YARDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 8—The prospective purchase of the old Lincoln & Boss lumber yards on Meadow street by the city for development as a comfort station and free parking space was taken up at the monthly meeting of the common council held tonight. Endorsement of the purchase of this property was made by two members of the sanitary committee, C. A. Lamoureux and John Reilly. The recommendation was adopted by the meeting that the project will be incorporated in the warning for the call of the next city meeting for action by the electors. It is understood that the entire property has been offered the city for about $12,000 The third member of the sanitary committee, Alderman Oliver L. Willard, filed a dissenting resolution, recommending the purchase of the Buck property on Main street for a comfort station, and that no property be purchased for parking purposes. Mayor Charles A. Gates appointed Corporation Counsel William A. King and Aldermen John Reilly and Eugene B. Lewis as a committee to bring in resolutions on the death of City Engineer Robert E. Mitchell. John F. Collins, an assistant of the late Engineer Mitchell, was appointed acting city engineer. The position, which is appointive by the mayor, will be permanently filled at a later date. The petition of a theatre owner to open a motion picture house from 2 to 10:30 p. m. Sundays was taken up and on motion of Alderman Lewis, Oct. 24 at 8 p. m. was set as the date for a public hearing on the matter. The following report was made by the claims committee and approved: Claims allowed, Mrs. Emily Roy, $100, James J. Lee, $10; Mrs. M. McGillicuddy, $50; Mrs. Anna Palmer, $34.12. Claims disallowed, Mrs. George Howard, $200; Herbert Snderson, $24.89.

WEDDINGS

Fitzpatrick-Roy

A wedding of considerable note in this section was solemnized in St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock this morning when Miss Irene J. Roy of Greenwich, this state, daughter of Arthur Roy of Baltic, became the bride of Peter B. Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fitzpatrick of Portchester, N. Y. Rev. William O'Brien of Baltic officiated and was celebrant of the nuptial mass. Mrs. John D. Roy, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and Frank Murphy of Portchester was best man. The bride was becomingly gowned in orchid transparent velvet with hat to harmonize. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The matron of honor was attired in Spanish wine transparent velvet and wore a hat to match. Her bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums. A nuptial breakfast was held for immediate members of the respective families at the Nathan Hale hotel, after which Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick left on a honeymoon journey. They will reside in Rye, N. Y. The groom is in the employ of the Greenwich Trust Co. The bride is well known in this vicinity. She attended the Academy of the Holy Family at Baltic and Norwich Free Academy. She is a graduate nurse of St. Francis' hospital, Hartford. Relatives who attended the wedding and reception came from Portchester and Rye, N. Y., Greenwich, Norwich, Baltic and this city.

Marrotte-O'Bara

Miss Leona Helen O'Bara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley O'Bara of 79 Main street, and Pierre E. Marrotte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Marrotte of South Coventry, were united in marriage at a pretty wedding performed in St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. Henry E. Quinn, pastor, officiated and was celebrant of a nuptial high mass. The choir rendered special nuptial music with Mrs. E. R. Porteiance at the organ. The church was well filled with relatives and friends of the couple. The attendants were Mrs. Marion Cabit of this city, sister of the bride, as matron of honor and Arthur M. Hurley, associate officer of the groom of the Willimantic police department. Four bridesmaids were also in attendance: The Misses Edith O'Bara, Josephine Seretny, Josephine Gallus and "Mickey" J. EASTFORD YOUTH BOUND OVER TO SUPERIOR COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 8—Edward Banfich, 17, of Eastford, who was arrested by the local police here Saturday night charged with the theft of over $100 from his recent employer, Michael Kruglinsky, South Chaplin farmer, earlier that day, was turned over to the custody of the Danielson state police today and this afternoon presented before Justice of the Peace Charles B. Russ of the Chaplin town court. The youth pleaded guilty to theft and was bound over to the Windham county superior court under bonds of $500. Bonds were not furnished at the time and Banfich was taken to the county jail at Brooklyn. Prosecution in the case was by Grand Juror Charles Locke.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

JOHN SQUIRES SELLING LIQUOR ON FAIRGROUNDS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Oct. 8—John Squires of Hartford was arrested by state police officers at the Stafford Fair grounds Sunday evening and locked up on a charge of violating the liquor laws. Officials of the Fair association had complained to Lieutenant Harmon of the state police that they suspected liquor was being dispensed on the grounds, as some of their workmen showed evidence of intoxication. Lieutenant Harmon detailed officers to make an investigation and they returned with the report that they had secured two sales of liquor from Squires. A search warrant was issued and a large quantity of moonshine was seized just north of the horse stables. Squires was presented in the borough court before Judge William H. Heald and pleaded guilty to having made two sales of liquor and keeping liquor with the intent to sell. Judge Heald imposed a fine of $250 and sentenced Squires to 15 days in jail. Squires took an appeal and bond was fixed at $600. Squires was released after some of his friends had posted a cash bond.

HER LEG HEALED AFTER 17 YEARS

Mrs. E. N. Rhorbaugh, Smith's Station, Pa., who was entirely healed of leg sores after suffering 17 years, urges all sufferers to write Dr. H. J. Whittier, 31 Westport Bank Building, Kansas City, Mo., for his new free copyrighted book which explains a home treatment for leg sores, varicose ulcers and varicose veins that quickly stops the pain and heals. There is no cost or obligation.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Lee & Osgood Co., and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

When YOU WANT to put your business before the public there is no medium better than through the advertising columns of The Bulletin.

1000 BALLOONS

WILL BE RELEASED FROM THE ROOF OF OUR BUILDING TOMORROW AFTERNOON SHARP AT 3.30

Each Balloon Will Have a Tag Attached!

Lucky Tag Holders Will Receive a Free Gift

Schwartz Bros. $75,000 Lucky Buy!

Our store is closed today and tomorrow, while we get ready for the greatest event that this store has ever known. The Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co. built their reputation on quality alone, in all their 74 years in business they never had a sale. Theirs was the type of store and furniture which depends upon the people who set no limit on their pocketbook, people who insisted upon the very best and price was no object. This is the class of merchandise we will feature in this sale. AT EXCEPTIONAL LOW PRICES.

Ready Thursday at 9 A. M.

Here's the Details of Tomorrow's Balloon Hunt!

The air will be filled with balloons tomorrow, Red balloons, Green Balloons, Yellow balloons, all the colors of the rainbow . . . . . sharp at 3.30 P. M. we will release 1000 toy balloons filled with helium gas. Attached to each balloon will be a tag. Capture these balloons and read what's on the tag. If you are lucky . . . well, we won't tell you about it now, get a tag. It will tell its own story. We will drop this much of a hint however—it means money in the pocket to everyone who gets a tag. Why do we have a balloon hunt? Just advertising, that's all. These values that will go on sale Thursday are so spectacular that we feel justified in using spectacular methods in bringing them to everybody's attention. And besides, we like to mix a little fun, even in business, and we expect to have as good a time releasing these balloons as you will in hunting for them.

Watch the Skies Tomorrow You May Be Lucky Too

Schwartz Bros. $75,000 Lucky Buy!

We bought this stock at a tremendous sacrifice in price. The Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co., once they decided to retire, wanted to do it as quick as possible, so they sold the entire stock to us at practically our own price. These savings we will pass on to the people of Norwich, at the greatest savings we believe ever to be offered on furniture of similar quality. If you are considering or have any need of home furnishings, take our advice and wait until Thursday. INVESTIGATE, COMPARE AND SAVE!

DEVELOPMENT AND PROGRESS ARE NOT GEOGRAPHIC

In the old-time horse-and-buggy days Willimantic was a natural trading centre for those within driving distance, because the mileage of the horse was more or less limited. Then came the automobile.

Longer rides and a wider shopping area were the natural result.

Those who used to shop in Willimantic perhaps think of Willimantic today as they used to know it.

But all things change, and the shopping opportunities in the Willimantic of today have kept pace with the general improvements elsewhere.

Those who have not "shopped" in Willimantic during recent years will be surprised at the higher standard of goods which are sold here today.

And when we say "higher standard" we do not mean that Willimantic has become a high priced trading centre; on the contrary, prices of articles are as much lower here than in the larger cities as the expense of doing business is lower—and that is considerable. Wouldn't you like to call and meet some of your old friends?

SAFER HIGHWAYS

How carefully the safety of the highway in Rhode Island is being watched by the state police in that commonwealth is indicated by the report which shows that there were 731 cases in the past week where motorists were spoken to concerning their headlights and required to fix them on the spot or within 72 hours.

This is not only a proper insistence on the part of the state police and in behalf of the traveling public, but it is a commendable course toward the driver with poor lights. It will have to be admitted that there are instances where such treatment may not be deserved, but hoodlums are difficult for a driver to meet.

In Rhode Island the complaint in many of the instances was that the lights were out of focus and instead of the rays being directed to the pavement and out of the eyes of the drivers coming in the other direction they were found shooting in all directions. It is such a condition that bothers other drivers. This is true even though legal beams which are intended to eliminate the glare are in use. When lights get out of adjustment it is frequently the case that one light may be focused to the pavement and the other to the sky. The highway is lighted well enough and the driver back of the light is perfectly satisfied, but those coming toward such a car are left in a maze. They raise a howl over the glaring lights, whether they are [illegible] an accident or not, and it is for the correction of this situation that the Rhode Island state police are striving.

Such work, together with the checking up on the defective brakes and the restraint placed upon those who are driving at excessive speed, cannot fail to contribute greatly to the greater safety of the highway. A further aid is the advice which is given when occasion requires it to pedestrians to keep out of the traveled road and use sidewalks, paths and shoulders for their own protection. Perhaps none need this more than the groups of children who are disposed to play or spread out over the highway in such a manner as to endanger themselves and the vehicular traffic, especially if two cars are obliged to pass when near them.

OHIO'S PRISON FIRE

For the protection of human life there cannot be too careful preparation. This is glaringly brought to attention by the destruction of a frame dormitory at Junction City, O., in which there were 275 prisoners and of which number at least 17 lost their lives.

In the interest of fire prevention and the protection of the inmates that dormitory should have been of different construction, and it is made all the more distressing from the fact that the dormitory was at a state-owned brick yard in which the prisoners were employed.

What happened at the Ohio plant is only what may happen at any institution where so many prisoners are locked up, or at institutions where there are aged, sick or children being cared for. The situation in Ohio was made all the worse from the fact that it was directly connected with the kitchen where there are fires and where the particular blaze started.

The hazards of a wooden building for sheltering those who have no way of helping themselves, or who are being punished for crime, are fully established. At the best, even when carefully separated from heater plants or kitchens, they are ill suited for harboring the unfortunate because of the horrors which are certain to attend the breaking out of a fire. What happened at Ohio is only what has happened elsewhere under slightly different circumstances and what can be expected to occur again. It nevertheless emphasizes the need for correcting such conditions before the possible happens and shows most convincingly what can be done in the interest of fire prevention. In all probability the new dormitory there will be of brick, as the old one should have been, for the proper protection of the men even though they were prisoners.

UNSAFE PROTECTION

The average person is disposed to look well to his dollars. Regardless of the amount he is giving a thought to their protection, and it is well that he should, but occasionally there is brought to attention the case of someone losing all they have amassed as the result of a life's work. This is invariably due to robbery, a swindle or perhaps a fire, but it discloses all too clearly the mistake that was made in guarding their funds.

From Kansas City there comes the story of a couple who had, by hard work managed to save $3300. Because the husband was sick his wife, ten years his junior, went to work. Because he was alone in the house where the money was being kept, and not in a condition to defend it, the wife thought it better that she should carry it back and forth to work with her in her pocketbook. It was a reckless thing to do. She could furnish no protection against those who made up their mind to get it.

Whether her practice of carrying the money with her became known is not revealed, but there came a day, as is liable to happen to anyone, when someone suspected she had money in her pocketbook. Perhaps they expected to get no more than the week's wages. The crook laid in wait and grabbing the bag, got away. The money was gone in a flash and the hard earned nest egg may never be regained.

It was a severe blow for that household, but it went no quicker than as if it had been turned over to some glib talker who was selling phoney securities, it went no quicker than as if it had been behind the picture frame and the house had gone up in smoke. It went no quicker than as if a thief had broken in and stole. It was a case where temptation was being placed in the way of those who were ready and waiting to commit just what happened each and every day the money was carried to and from work.

It was simply a repetition of a frequently repeated experience, though perhaps in a different setting. It is what is liable to happen to those who are so "careful" with their funds that they deny themselves the protection that protects, and in such denial they not only invite serious loss but deprive themselves of the interest which they ought to be getting by placing their funds in a safe institution.

DISPOSAL PLANTS

Under ordinary circumstances there wouldn't be much attention given to the completion and opening of a sewage disposal plant in Chicago. But it was made the excuse for a considerable celebration which attracts attention over a considerable territory for it is to be remembered that this is a matter in which the whole lake front is interested.

Chicago has insisted for years that the water from the lake should be allowed it in sufficient quantities to carry off its sewage through the canal to the Mississippi river. There has been a long standing contest over the quantity of water which Chicago should be permitted to take for such flushing purposes because while it has saved Chicago from going to a huge expense in establishing sewage disposal plants it is claimed by the opponents that it was draining the lakes in such a manner as to be detrimental to shipping in other ports. It is maintained that it is lowering the lake level unjustly, but as Chicago has grown it has sought to increase the amount released into the sanitary district.

Whether it is because of the opposition to the taking of more water or because a more satisfactory disposition can be made through a disposal plant, Chicago is doing only what a lot of other cities are in this direction. Cities and large towns located on streams are spending large sums of money for the construction of disposal plants in order to contribute to the purification of the streams. Using rivers has been the easiest way out of the sewage problem for most communities so situated but pollution has gotten to a point where relief is necessary. With Chicago it isn't a case of stopping stream pollution so much as it is stopping the taking of lake water that should go east through the chain of lakes instead of south through the Mississippi river under the diversion scheme.

Probably other lake ports are noting and will hope for the construction ing and will hope fo rthe construction of many more disposal plants and a letting up in the demand for more lake water.

BIG CITY GRAFT

Corruption in police departments seems to move from one of the big cities to another. Just at the present time the grand jury is making a searching investigation in Philadelphia where determined efforts were made not so long ago by General Smedley Butler to clean up the conditions.

From what has been disclosed it becomes evident that there is certain to be a grand shakeup in that city. Not only are the police charged with being in league with the liquor dives in that city and giving them protection while sharing in the profits, but it is now being asserted that the dive keepers are getting protection money from the police in an effort to keep them from giving testimony against them.

From all indications graft has been enriching many of those who were supposed to be looking out for the welfare of that city and upholding the laws. When the dive keepers got caught they squealed—some of them did—but when the police find themselves in a trap they seek to shut off evidence by buying those who have got it. Without any question many of those who have been paying out regularly are taking advantage of the chance to bear down on the police. They can demand what they have paid and apparently in some cases are able to get it.

The investigation will unveil a practice which deserves to be broken up. It is a deplorable situation when those who are hired to guard the city against unlawful conditions enter into an understanding to work with the lawbreakers just as long as they are permited to share in the proceeds, regardless of what the evil is that they wink at. Fighting graft is not always the easiest task but evidently the authorities in the Quaker city are determined it must stop in their police force.

THERE IS ONLY LOVE

Mrs. Schwartz hobbled to the window of her delicatessen shop and peered anxiously down the street. Yes, there they were again—Clara Becker, and at her side, hanging possessively on to one arm, that good-for-nothing slick-haired stranger who had cut poor Johnny out. What a little scatter-brain the girl was to scorn a steady, hard-working fellow for that cheap slicker. Something had to be done about it.

"Pint of potato salad, weiner wurst, can of baked beans, rye bread"— mechanically the old lady bustled to and fro filling her customers' orders while her thoughts soared elsewhere. Sauerkraut and pickled herrings might engage her hands, but romance was in her soul.

For many years the neighborhood had known "Mom" Schwartz and her delicatessen store. Here it was that the lovers, Johnny Bevins and Clara Becker were won't to find sanctuary each noon hour when they occupied a little table in the rear of the shop and murmured their ecstatic incoherencies directly under Mom's delighted nose.

Clara, slender and golden-haired, Johnny, big and brown and earnest, had a small plumbing business four doors down. Everybody expected they would be married as soon as Johnny could afford it. That is, everybody expected it until the advent of the sleek young stranger, who had appeared two weeks ago, and immediately laid seige to Clara's flattered heart.

"Gotta roast beef sandiwch, Mom?" Johnny was standing miserably before Mom's counter and Mom hurried to wait upon him.

"Clara out with the sheik again, ja?" she inquired, as she cut a generous slice of meat and covered it with her best pickle relish.

"Yeh." The hand with which Johnny accepted the sandwich shook. "That cake-eater's beat my time for sure, Mom. She won't listen to me. She lets him take her to that swell tearoom for lunch and goes out with him to shows every night."

That night Mom was about to close the shop and begin her next day's cooking, when the front door swung softly open, and who should walk in but the stranger himself.

"Cigarettes," he commanded tersely, and flipped a dollar bill upon the showcase. Mom's lips were in a hard line as she flung the tobacco down before her unwelcome customer, and turned to her antiquated cash register. Her back was toward him, but as she bent over the drawer to make the necessary change her shrewd black eyes observed a shadow behind her and she realized that the man was peering over her shoulder into the till!

All next day Mom watched the clock. Would he come back? Closing time came and still she sat in her shop—waiting. Sure enough at 8:30 her patience was rewarded. The stranger again sauntered in, demanded cigarettes and again passed her a $1 bill. Mom greeted him as if he were her best friend.

"Good evening, mister! A dollar bill, eh? I don't know if I got change or not, today was so busy." Mom's hands were fumbling in the drawer of the cash register and in the process she displayed a substantial roll of bills. The stranger started; his eyes narrowed speculatively.

"Yes, here you are, mister." Mom finally managed to find the change and extended it to her customer.

"Come back again," she beamed as the man strode from the shop. Patrolman Eddie O'Shay was just coming off his beat when a bent little figure in a plaid shawl halted him. "Eddie," said Mom Schwartz, "you been funnin' off me for five years and now you got to do somethin' in return."

"Sure," grinned the officer. "You've but to command me, Mom."

"Listen," whispered Mom, "you and me is goin' to hold a wake tonight in my back room, but there won't be no corpse."

Next morning the whole neighborhood buzzed over the attempted robbery of Mom's store and the capture of the thief. The sleek stranger had lost his assurance in the hands of Officer O'Shay and confessed to several robberies. At lunch time a repentant and tearful Clara slipped into Mom's place.

"Oh, Mom, wasn't it awful?" she sobbed. "To think he was a robber all along and me going out with him that way!"

"There, there," soothed Mom. "You was a fool, but soon comes Johnny now and you make it up, ja?"

"Oh, Mom, I think you're wonderful. How did you ever plan it all?"

"Tsch," Mom passed a smarted hand over the golden head. "Such things is for grayheads; for you—there is only love!"—Exchange

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8— Among the many, many aspects of prohibition that enter into almost any Washington dinner table discussion these days, attention frequently turns to the view of the American struggle with the demon rum taken in other countries.

That results naturally from the fact that the diplomatic corps plays so important a part in social life in the capital, both official and unofficial. And to hear a first hand how all this hubbub about prohibition enforcement looks to the only class of American residents, outside of the sick and ailing, who still enjoy the legal right to import and transport liquor is always interesting.

The diplomats certainly are disinterested onlookers. Prohibition and its enforcement mean nothing to them one way or the other, except for a little additional red tape in procuring their supplies.

Where Dust Means Drink

Most of the diplomats have served their government at one time or another in nearly all the countries where experiments in liquor restrictions are, or have been, in progress. They tell amusing stories of the methods of evasion which have fallen under their notice. Dr. O. C. Kiep, counsellor of the German embassy, always gets a good deal of a kick out of his recollections of a time in one of the Scandinavian countries where distinctions were drawn so far as legal rights to individual drinks was concerned, between local residents and travelers. The home lads could buy only in bulk for home consumption; but travelers could be regaled directly over the bar. The duty fell on the liquor vendor to distinguish between them—and as a rule he did so by looking at their shoes. If the shoes of a thirsty individual demanding a drink were very dusty, that was evidence he was a traveler, and a drink was forthcoming. Put the way it worked out, Dr. Kiep held, was that a new industry of supplying dust for the shoes of the thirsty sprang up and flourished mightily in the vicinity of these restricted drink emporiums.

Watching Experiment

The German diplomat has been known to express the view, however, that the civilized world owes a debt of gratitude to the United States for having had the courage to tackle the drink problem common to all countries in an effort to enforce prohibition. Momentous results for other countries as well as the United States may hang on the outcome. That explains the close attention with which diplomatic missions in Washington watch the march of events in America. With the exception of wartime emergencies, when the things out of which alcoholic drinks could be manufactured were more valuable for direct food use than for brewing or distilling liquor, nothing approaching the American experiment to create a bone-dry nation has ever before been attempted.

Naturally enough, foreign statesmen are chiefly interested in the practical, economic aspect of the prohibition question. If the American experiment discloses unquestionably increased national prosperity due to prohibition, it will be time for other governments to think seriously of trying similar experiments of their own.

Are You Ready When your Children Cry for it

BABY has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is a vegetable product. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea which must be checked without delay. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

chronically the optic nerve shows signs of a hardening of the eyeball, evidenced by a peculiar "cupping" of the optic nerve, with central vision unaffected. Early treatment of this condition may prevent ultimate blindness.

It seems to be a prevailing impression that glasses will relieve and correct all cases of failing vision. Glasses, while a great aid to vision, are purely a mechanical device, and will not restore vision that is lessened by disease. Eyes that show some of the above conditions require rest and treatment. It is sometimes necessary to give medical attention to systemic conditions before the eyes can be made again to function normally, even though glasses may be a very necessary help.

We hope that those who read this article will gain a better idea of what care of the eyes means, and in the interest of good vision will impress their families and friends with the importance of thorough, periodic examination of the eyes.

NEW BOOKS

The Connecticut Poetry Anthology. By Ralph Waldo Snow. Cloth, 125 pages. Published by Quinnipiack Press, Inc., New Haven.

There have been few anthologies of Connecticut poetry yet, as the author of The Connecticut Poetry Anthology says, "the state has not lacked singers and authentic voices. The Connecticut landscape with its multitudinous hills and valleys and streams offers unlimited subject matter to the poet, though the struggle of its people for many years with stony and troublesome soil gave little encouragement to delicate emotions. Connecticut natives are noted for their shrewd characters, and their calculating and methodical traits are often the basis for tales not exactly flattering."

The compilation makes no pretense at covering an entire field of possibilities but it includes the work of those from all sections, numbered among which are verses by Mazie V. Caruthers, Amanda Benjamin Hall, Winifred Welles of Norwich, Evelyn Couchman of Mystic, Anna Hempstead Branch of New London, Leonard Cline of Mansfield, Robert Hillyer of Pomfret, Florence Mellish of East Killingly, Susan Bingham Pendleton and Helen Gilbert of Hebron, Harriet Sampson of Woodstock, as well as a group by the author. The volume is made up of the work of 50 Connecticut writers and is certain to be regarded as a valuable and well-balanced collection of Connecticut poems in which the compiler has sought to preserve the highest levels of quality and tone.

Alexander, a Romantic Biography. By Konrad Bercovici. Cloth, 335 pages. Published by Cosmopolitan Book corporation, New York. Price $2.50.

Konrad Bercovici has reanimated Alexander, Olympias and Statira as egotistical and temperamental humans against a background splendidly barbaric. During his boyhood, the author absorbed peasant legends of Alexander the Great, whose looting hordes centuries ago came trampling through his native countryside. Later, Mr. Bercovici traveled through Greece, Egypt, Palestine, Turkey and Persia, listening to the many stories of the magnificent conqueror who had once gathered them into a world empire.

So to Bercovici, Alexander is not a mythical hero of antiquity, to be met in a textbook; he is the immortal man and conqueror, ever fresh in the memories of the peasants. And he is also a harassed and reckless boy; a tool in the hands of his mother, Olympias; later a tool in the hands of his Persian wife, Statira.

Trained by his mother to be a greater general than his father, Philip of Macedonia, he set out to conquer Darius the king of kings of Persia, at the age of 23. He was successful and fell in love with the daughter of Darius, Statira. He was founding an empire with the seething dream of jealousy and hate of these two women. He fulfilled his mother's wish; Philip's name was dimmed by Alexander's fame. He carried out his wife's wish; the conqueror of Darius was indeed invincible. They had no more worlds for him to conquer. He lived at the sufferance of the two women and died at their gesture.

The Story of Youth. By Lothrop Stoddard, illustrated by William Siegel. Published by Cosmopolitan Book corporation, New York. Price $2.50.

There is no other book that covers the territory of The Story of Youth. It is a book of living tableaux, an outline of history with children as actors, with centuries for dates, each century with its own characteristic stamp of individuality, in beliefs, styles and manners.

It pictures how children have lived; industrious Babylonians; staring Egyptians; felicitous Greeks; straight-laced Romans; adventurous Vikings; hardy Teutons; wistful Crusaders; elegant Elizabethans; suppressed Roundheads; supercilious Cavaliers; stuffy Georgians; slaves of the industrial revolution; aggressive pioneers, and the involuntary subjects of yesterday's experiments in modernism.

With an unusually broad equipment as a historian to begin with, Lothrop Stoddard spent a whole year gathering the odd and unusual glimpses of children of olden days that make his book so rich and varied, and so soundly documented. The Story of Youth is not only first in its field, and alone, but it will be hard to supercede.

Little Talks on Thrift

Health Thrift Often Overlooked

To be thrifty is to thrive—to get ahead. This may seem like a trite statement but not so when we study its full meaning.

To make progress is to advance in all respects and if we are getting ahead in one way at the expense of some other form of advancement we are not thrifty. One of the most common mistakes in this respect is the tendency upon the part of many to thrive financially at the expense of one's physical well being.

It is no insignificant and commonplace observation to say that good health is any man's finest possession. It is particularly a valuable asset because its preservation requires adherence only to a few simple rules of common sense. Yet, once it has been lost it is gone forever. The man who is trying to get ahead in the world with the handicap of poor health has all the odds against him in achieving success. The loss of money or of other material possessions may in time be recovered but when we lose our good health we lose an asset which we never may be able to recover.

Not enough attention is paid to this matter of health thrift. The average person does not lack for guidance and inspiration in the practices of money thrift. We are constantly having impressed upon us the fact that we must get ahead financially. But to get ahead financially at the expense of our health as is not the case with such a large percentage of Americans, is by no means an example of thrift.

In the race for success and wealth too many of us are violating every fundamental law of physical well being—too many hurried meals, too much smoking, too many long stretches of work without relaxation too much burning the candle at both ends, too many details, too many problems that bring worried days and sleepless nights.

For those who hope for success, it is just as necessary to keep the body well as it is to keep one's credit sound. There can never be true thrift where the question of health is not given all the attention its importance deserves.—S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Stories That Recall Others

Alibis

Jimmie Jr., and Harry are popular in boy society of their neighborhood and no different from the usual run of boys of their ages, eight and ten, in devoting a great deal of time in seeking true alibis for their errors around the house.

Not long ago Harry and his father were in an argument about tightening a vice. The vice was so tight that the father could not loosen it, and he said: "Harry, I could use a vice for 100 years and not get it in such a shape."

Harry said: "So could I, daddy, but Jimmie Jr., did it."

Habit

Bertha, age ten, had been taught that habits were things to be watched and that a bad habit once acquired was very hard to get rid of.

Observing a couple passing her home in a car, enjoying their petting and drive at the same time, Bertha remarked: "That boy and girl better be careful or that is apt to become a habit, isn't it mother?"

Mother agreed that she was right.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

EYE BACKGROUNDS REVEAL CONSTITUTIONAL DISEASES

By Dr. Frank E. Burch, St. Paul, Minn. Member Gorgas Memorial.

When the startling discovery was made about 75 years ago that the interior of the human eye could be distinctly seen through the pupil, it marked an era of real advancement in the study of eye diseases and medical diagnosis. During the last decade or two medical science has revealed a very close relationship between the findings in the human eye and diseases of the body.

Through an ophthalmoscope the retina (the back of the eye), the optic nerve (connecting with the brain) and the veins and arteries are visible, and magnified many times. There are many variations in the healthy and diseased pictures of these structures which constitute the background of the human eye.

Every trained oculist has imprinted in his mind the appearance of a normal or healthy, as contrasted with a diseased, background. From repeated observations, the eye physician or oculist builds up a knowledge of all departures from the normal, he detects abnormalities of many kinds, and they all have a meaning. Organic weaknesses that affect the heart, kidneys, liver and other vital organs leave certain telltale signs in the back of the eye, or the blood vessels which supply it. Infections or poisons of the blood, coming from abscessed teeth, diseased tonsils and unhealthy sinuses and also the poisons carried into the circulatory system by syphilis or some other forms of blood disease may produce signs in the background of the eye, but may or may not cause a lowering of vision.

One of the common conditions observed in eyes is arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) and high blood pressure.

Our present-day manner of living, our hurry and our worry, are causing an increasing amount of circulatory diseases which affect the heart and cause degeneration of the blood vessels. Periodic eye examinations may reveal these conditions before they become too far advanced, and at a time when they may be relieved. Not infrequently Bright's disease and diabetes are discovered in the course of a routine eye examination. Inflammatory changes or atrophy (death) of the optic nerve, indicating brain tumor or beginning destructive diseases of the nervous system, are oftitmes evident in the eye and are revealed by an ophthalmoscopic examination. RABALM RELIEVED VARICOSE SUFFERING

Discards Elastic Stockings After Using Two Jars

"My VARICOSE condition along with eczema about my ankles has been so bad, that my family physician, who, by the way, is also a surgeon, told me the veins could not be removed as it would be like removing the bark from a tree," says Mrs. Jos. P. Glynn, Miller Place, Merrick, N. Y. "My legs were completely surrounded by varicose veins. After having used the second jar ($1.00 size) of Rabalm, the eczema has disappeared and the veins are greatly reduced so I am able to discard the elastic stockings which I have worn for the past 10 years. Thanks to the wonderful discovery of Rabalm! If my name would in any way help those who suffer as I did, you have my personal consent to use it."

If you are suffering the torture which Varicose Veins can give, start using Rabalm tonight, and speedily find relief as Mrs. Glynn and many others have done before you. Two sizes: 50-cents, and $1.00 containing 3 times as much. Rabalm is for sale by all druggists.

GARRICK PLAYERS PRESENT COMEDY IN CLEVER FORM

The Garrick Players presented a pleasing comedy farce, Here Comes the Bride, before a fair sized audience at the Bradley theater Monday evening. The presentation deserved a much larger audience than that which greeted the players' earnest efforts to please last evening. The comical marriage mixup was staged in the delightful manner which has characterized previous presentations by these players who have been entertaining local theatergoers for several months.

Peter Ferguson carried the role of Frederick Tile in a most creditable manner and was well supported by the dozen other artists in the cast. Louise Townsend was charming in the role of Ethel Sinclair. The story of the play, as unfolded by the players, was well received by the audience.

"Easy" money almost proved the undoing of young Tile, it involved him in a most undesirable supposed marriage and placed himself and his sweetheart, Ethel, in a very bad light when Ethel arranged an entirely unexpected elopement with him on the day he took unto himself, for financial reasons only, a supposed wife. However, the unpleasant and embarrassing tangle was straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned and the evening had a most happy ending.

TWO IN NORWICH CLUB MAKE EXPERT RIFLEMEN

At the second military rifle shoot held by the Norwich Rifle club at the state rifle range at Danielson on Sunday two members, E. D. Morrill and Allyn Brand qualified for expert riflemen.

Carl Brend, Jack Lucia, Fred Stebbins and Captain Pierce qualified for sharpshooter. Five other members of the club participated in the shoot but did not qualify.

This brings to a close the outdoor shooting for this year as Wednesday night the indoor season opens.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. George Fraser

After serious illness of about a year, the death of Lulu Wilson, wife of George Fraser of 71 Lafayette street, occurred Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser had been residents of this city since 1917 and her many friends will learn of her death with deep regret.

Mrs. Fraser was born 51 years ago at Thorold, Ontario, and was the daughter of William and Elizabeth Wilson. She was married 35 years ago at Niagara Falls to Mr. Fraser and since residing here she had been especially interested in the work of Grace Episcopal church at Yantic of which she was a member. She was a past grand secretary of the Girls' Friendly society, a past president of the American Legion woman's auxiliary of this city, a member of Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16, and of Sachem chapter, No. 57, Order of the Eastern Star.

She is survived by her husband, by two sons, Clark M. Fraser and William Russell Fraser, both of this city, and by four sisters, Mrs. Harriet Brown of Dunville, Mrs. Annie Stevens and Mrs. Margaret Boyle of Hamilton, and Mrs. Eliza Bradley of Thorold, all of Ontario, Canada.

FUNERAL

Miss Bertha Walenda

Funeral services for Miss Bertha Walenda, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walenda were held from her uncle's home of No. 550 No. Main street, with many relatives and friends present Monday morning at 7:30 where Rev. S. A. Iciek said prayers. There was a solemn requiem high mass in St. Joseph's church at 8 o'clock at which Rev. Father Iciek officiated. J. Mancm presided at the organ. Chopin's funeral march was played at the processional. Friends acting as bearers were: Jacob Anuszewicz, Alexander Sablewski, Paul Kozlowski, Kazimierz Przygoda, Jan Kralewski, Albin Jablonski. Burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery where Rev. Father Iciek conducted the committal service. The floral tributes were both beautiful and numerous. Miss Walenda leaves her parents, brothers and sisters out in Pennsylvania and many relatives, to whom her sudden death was a great shock.

At the parlors of Undertaker C. A. Gager, No. 70 Franklin street, the funeral of Frank S. Avery was held Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock with relatives and friends present. Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of the Boxrah Street Congregational church, conducted the service. The burial was in West Plains cemetery and Rev. Mr. Strouse conducted the committal service. The bearers were Temple Rutherford, John A. Rutherford, Abner Lawton and Frank Lathrop. There were many beautiful floral tributes and included in the attendance were mourners from Warren, R. I., and Troy, N. Y. Mr. Avery died in Fall River last Friday.

Eugene J. Hyde

The funeral of Eugene J. Hyde was held Monday morning at 9.15 o'clock at his late home, No. 54 Shetucket street, with a large attendance of relatives and friends. At 10 o'clock there was a mass of requiem at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Myles P. Galvin, celebrant, Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and at the offertory Roderick F. Sullivan sang De Profundis. As the waiting hymn Mr. Sullivan sang When Evening Comes and at the recessional Mr. LaFontaine played Chopin's Funeral March.

Burial was in the family plot at St. Joseph's cemetery, Willimantic, and Rev. Henry Quinn of Willimantic, conducted the committal service. The bearers were Thomas Sharvan, Thomas Shahan, Harold Ludlow and John Cotter. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Undertakers Cummings and Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Last Chance For To Be Maded.

Today (Tuesday) is the last chance to put in an application to be made a voter so that it can be acted upon by the board for making voters on October 18, 17 and 20 in the town hall. Any voter who used to be on the Norwich lists and moved away, but has now returned here to reside and has been back in the state one year and in the town six months may be restored by applying to the registrars of voters. All the new voters to be made must come to the city hall.

No application can be received after 5 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon and be passed upon this year.

STATE POLICE GET 27 FOR DEFECTS IN AUTOMOBILE LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

State policemen from the Groton barracks extended the campaign against defective lighting equipment on automobiles to this city on Monday night and caught 27 drivers of machines who had defective headlights or taillights on their cars so that either one or the other was not working to full efficiency. In one case a driver was found who had nothing but a rear number plate where the taillight should have been.

Officers Whitmarsh, Vieskay, Busch, Brown and Smith were stationed in different parts of the city taking notice of any machines that arrived with lights out of order, calling the drivers to a halt and giving them a summons to appear in the Norwich city court at 9 o'clock on Wednesday morning. Nearly all of those summoned were Norwich residents, the listing including four women drivers. In cases where the operator of the car was able to show that he had a spare bulb in the machine, he escaped a summons.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles W. Cassidy of the city court who was at police headquarters during the evening stated that he would like to have it known that if any of the drivers summoned had explanations to make he would be at his office after 4 o'clock this (Tuesday) afternoon and would be ready to hear explanations then rather than waiting until the opening of court on Wednesday morning.

The following were those who were summoned and the charges against them:

By Officer Vieskay

Samuel Davis, Fred Meyer, Thomas Doyle, Ino Rondina, Clarence Gwizdowski, Nelson Theroux, Frank Becker, Clara O'Connell, Esther Staplin, George Plumb, Justine Morrison, all of Norwich, no taillights; Harry Wragg, Mansfield Depot, no headlight.

By Officer Whitmarsh

Jonas Schleifer, Preston, no taillight.

By Officer Brown

William Hines, Baltic; Cornelia C. Tobin; Carleton J. Cripps, no taillights; Alfred J. Shutt, no headlights; Joseph Pothier, no lights, all of Norwich; Richard P Walters, submarine base, no taillight, no license, improper registration.

By Officer Busch

James Cirves, Norwich; William A Roy, New London; Iver O Anderson, Norwich; Valmore I. Couture, Taftville, no taillights.

CONGRESS CANDIDATE SPEAKS BEFORE DEMOCRATIC CLUB

William M. Citron of Middletown, the democratic nominee for congress in this district, and Rev. George Gilbert, an Episcopal rector of Middletown, were the speakers Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Smith-Robinson democratic club. Mr. Citron spoke of issues of the campaign, declaring that the democratic party offers a constructive, progressive programme. He charged that republicans in the east were evading the prohibition question. In the west Mrs. Willebrandt has been preaching the dry cause and Mr. Citron said that he had telegraphed her challenging her to prove that the republicans were honestly enforcing the law. In the telegram to Mrs. Willebrandt he challenged her to explain the relations between a New Haven congressman and a New Haven brewery; why the republicans had some dishonest officials that were indicted and how they were replaced; and to explain how Connecticut is wet.

Mr. Citron explained the democrats stand for a protective tariff and he declared they are more constructive than the republicans because they offered a non-partisan tariff commission.

Rev. Mr. Gilbert spoke on Smith and water power, stating that Smith had a conservation policy and stood progressively for Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam.

Both speakers were given a rising vote of thanks by a very enthusiastic meeting.

GRADUATE NURSES WILL HOLD OCTOBER MEETING

The October meeting of the Graduate Nurses' association will be held in New London, Wednesday, Oct. 10. All meetings will be held in the parish house of the Second Congregational church, Broad street. The board members' division, public health nursing section, private duty section and educational section will hold their meetings at 10:30 a. m.

Luncheon will be served at 1 p. m. at the parish house of the Methodist church. The afternoon meeting will be held at 2 p. m.

Tea will be served immediately following the afternoon meeting by the directors of the Visiting Nurse association. Mrs. Richard Snow of Taftville is chairman of the programme committee of the board members' division.

Attending from the local public health committee will be Mrs. Richard Snow, Miss Edith Young, Mrs. Frank S. Bunnell, Mrs. Richard P. Gregson, Mrs. Gilbert S. Raymond, Mrs. Elkin Smith, Miss Mary Richards, Miss Louise Robinson, Mrs. Charles Olson, Mrs. Henry A. Tirrell, Mrs. Hibbard R. Norman, Mrs. Harold W. Carpenter, Miss Mary Lucas, Mrs. Philip T. Welles, and from the staff, Miss Kate MacKenzie, Miss Mary Maher, Miss Margaret Reed.

MANY MEN ATTENDING MISSION AT ST. PATRICK'S

The week's mission for the men of St. Patrick's parish, which began with a large congregation in attendance on Sunday evening, drew three good sized congregations during Monday also, to listen to the sermons of mission fathers from the Passionist monastery at Baltimore. Sunday night Rev. Father Mark preached on Salvation. At 5 o'clock Monday morning the same preacher spoke on the Motive of Christ's Passion. At the 7 o'clock mass Father Gilbert preached on Faith. Father Gilbert also gave the instruction on confession, opening the services Monday evening, the sermon by Father Mark dealing with Mortal Sin. Especially pleasing to the rector of the parish, Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. H. May and the mission fathers is the unusual number of men who, in connection with each service, make the stations of the cross—indicative of the seriousness of their purpose in starting this mission.

CHAUFFEUR TOTH IS HELD HERE FOR COURT

William Toth, 19, of 225 Thames street, against whom is the charge of theft of an automobile of the Luxor Cab company for which he was a driver, was brought here from Hunter's Point, L. I., Monday night by Officer Patrick Murphy and was locked up at police headquarters in default of $2,500 bonds for presentation in the city court.

Toth drove off with the car about four weeks ago, accompanied by a 17-year-old Taftville girl. They toured through Canada, but were caught a week ago when he tried to trade the car at Astoria, L. I. Extradition papers for Toth were secured so that he could be brought here. The girl has been at her home in Taftville for several days.

Becomes Picture Employment Manager Manager

Lindsey G. Smith, has recently signed contracts to act as manager of the employment department of three large motion picture companies which have combined as one company and will locate in the near future in eastern Connecticut. Through the efforts of Mr. Smith, he expects the officials of this company will locate their large plant comprising some 300 to 500 acres in New London county as they seem to be favorably impressed with a number of excellent locations upon which it is understood they obtained options some time ago. When completed the plant will contain everything required for the production of the new "talkies" as well as the silent pictures and will give employment to some 400 to 500 men as well as to a large number of women. Mr. Smith expects to take up his new work around November 1st.

EIGHT PAY FINES AND THREE ARE DISCHARGED

Three of the eleven men arrested Saturday night by the state police on charges of frequenting a gambling house, in a raid at the place alleged to have been kept by Joseph Blanchard and Ovilard Bouchard, at Taftville, were allowed their freedom in the city court Monday morning. The others were each fined $5 flat, after they pleaded guilty to the charges. Those given their freedom were Mack Hills of Boston, John Tilman of Albany and Robert Carlisle of Bridgeport, all well known baseball players. By their testimony they showed that they had no knowledge that the place was used for gambling purposes and that they entered just ahead of the state police. The baseball men were brought to Taftville by James Troland, manager of the Taftville baseball team, to play a game at the Providence street grounds, in Taftville, Saturday.

Those who pleaded guilty and paid the fines of $5 each were Archie Michaud, Taftville, Alexander Murdock, Taftville, Charles Martin, Glastonbury, Charles Zukowski, Hanover, Henry A. Webster, Submarine Base, George Morse, Norwich, Myles Fitzmaurice, Taftville and James Troland, Taftville.

The cases against Ovilard Bouchard and Joseph Blanchard, charged with violation of the liquor laws and with keeping a gambling house, were continued until Wednesday on request of their counsel, Thomas M. Shields. Bouchard and Blanchard are out on bonds of $1,000 each.

WEDDINGS

Kimball-Wright

On Monday evening at 7.30 o'clock in Westerly occurred the wedding of Mabel Grace Wright of Groton and Luther Merrill Kimball, also of Groton. By special request and reason of long friendship the ceremony was performed by Judge Oliver H. Williams of the third judicial district of Westerly in the presence of relatives and friends. The attendants were Lovina Arcelia Crary, sister of the bride, and Lambert Williams of Groton. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was held at the home of the groom's father, Martin L. Kimball, in Hopkinton City. Mr. and Mrs. Kimball will make their home in Hopkinton City.

Volpe-Caldarola

At St. Patrick's church, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Americus Volpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Volpe of Harrison, N. Y., and Miss Anna Caldarola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Caldarola of No. 232 Franklin street, were united in marriage by Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May. Guests were present from Harrison, N. Y., Brooklyn, Boston, Revere, New York, New London, Groton and other places.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with Spanish lace and carried a shower bouquet of white lilies. The maid of honor, Miss Angelina Sforza of Harrison, N. Y., wore lavendar lace over satin with picture hat, and carried butterfly roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Eleanor Regina, Louise De Scisciolo, Jennie Barbetti and Theresa De Re. Miss Regina wore yellow crepe de chine. Miss De Scisciolo pink taffeta with flowers embroidered in silver, Miss Barbetti orchid taffeta and Miss Del Re green taffeta trimmed with maline. They wore picture hats and carried bouquets of carnations.

The best man was Rocco Crendor of Bridgeport and the ushers were Nicholas Bisceglia of Harrison, N. Y., Nicholas Lamprelli, Dominic Pace and Jack Malerba of this city.

After a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents, followed by a reception at Germania hall, Mr. and Mrs. Volpe left for a wedding trip to Boston and Worcester. They will make their home in Harrison, where Mr. Volpe is engaged in the plumbing business. The bride's traveling costume was a tan satin ensemble trimmed with velvet and coat to match.

Stanton-Denison

A very pretty October wedding took place on Saturday, 7:30 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Denison, 16 Brook street, Winchester, Mass., where their daughter, Emma Frances, was united in marriage with Avery Harris Stanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stanton of this city.

The ceremony took place in the spacious living room before a bank of palms, pink gladiolis, and white chrysanthemums, softly lighted by cathedral candles, only relatives of the bride and groom being present.

The bride was preceded by her sister, Miss E. Katherine Denison, who was her maid of honor, and her god child, little Miss Nancy Robertson of Lowell, Mass., as flower girl, scattering rose petals in the path of the bride, who entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Edward Smith Johnston of Troy, Ohio, a classmate of the groom at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was his best man. The impressive ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D. D., of the First Congregational church of Winchester. The ushers were George Denison, the bride's brother and Alfred A. Mulliken, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., a cousin of the bride.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at eight o'clock, during which a ladies orchestra of which the bride's cousin was leader, played. A caterer from Boston had charge of the dining room which was beautifully decorated in pink roses. Profusions of roses, gladiolis and baby's breath were the decorations in the other rooms and halls.

Receiving with the bridal party during the reception were Mr. and Mrs. William B. Denison, Miss E. Katherine Denison, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stanton and Miss Marcia C. Stanton.

The bride wore a period gown of ivory satin, trimmed with alencon lace medallions, her veil of tulle was caught by orange blossoms to a cap of lace and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, sweet heart roses and orchids, her only ornament a diamond and platinum brooch, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor wore a dress of pale jade chiffon, period style, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The little flower girls wore pale pink organdie and carried a basket filled with rose buds. Mrs. Denison's gown was of orchid chiffon. Mrs. Stanton wore a dress of old rose Spanish lace, both ladies having arm bouquets of pink roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Marcia Stanton's gown was of Nile green satin crepe and her flowers were pink rosebuds.

The gifts to the bride were numerous and very beautiful, consisting of silver china, glass, furniture, pictures, rugs, several checks and money.

There were one hundred and sixty guests present and during the evening the young couple received telegrams of congratulations from California, Ohio and New Jersey.

Mrs. Stanton is popular among the younger people of Winchester and has been secretary to Dr. Chidley in his church. She attended Smith college and the Katherine Gibbs school in Boston. Mr. Stanton graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, class of 1925. Since then he has been second assistant in the general sales manager's office of the Hobart Manufacturing Co. of Troy, Ohio.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stanton are descendants of Thomas Stanton who came from England in 1635 to Connecticut where he was interpreter for the Colonists and Indians, also interpreter general of the New England colonies.

After an auto trip through the White Mountains the young couple will reside in New York for a few months, where Mr. Stanton will be connected with the New York office of the Hobart Manufacturing Co.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW YORK

Lucky?

When she comes to the footlights to acknowledge Broadway's applause of her marvelous dancing in "Sidewalks of New York," theatre-goers sit forward to admire her youthful charms; the fresh crispness of her rose-petal skin and her gleaming black hair. She's Virginia Clark, of 143 Twenty-third St., Jackson Heights, New York City.

When friends say I'm lucky to have such clear skin and soft, shining hair," says Miss Clark, "I have to tell them it isn't luck at all. In my case, it's the result of care. For my hair, I use the simple method that's all the rage among New York girls now. It's so easy. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush each time you use it. This makes my scalp feel just grand and keeps away all dandruff. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean I don't have to shampoo nearly as often as I did. It makes my hair soft and easy to dress; holds it in place; and gives it more lustre than brilliantine!"

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; makes it fairly sparkle. Dandruff disappears when you use Danderine. Waves, set with it, stay in longer. It isn't oily and doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. Over five million used a year!

FOURTH GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES IS POSTPONED BECAUSE OF RAIN

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 8—(AP)—The Yankees were stopped today in their rush toward a second successive world's championship—but not by the Cardinals.

A downpour of rain early this morning swamped the playing field at Sportsman's park to such an extent that Commissioner Landis authorized postponement of the fourth game. The weather prospects favor resumption of the series tomorrow and playing prospects indicate its abrupt end, unless the National league champions show a remarkable reversal of form.

The decision to postpone the game, made at 10:15 a. m., more than three hours before the scheduled starting time, not only disappointed thousands of fans but aroused considerable protest.

At the time, after virtually three hours of steady rain, Sportsman's park was a morass, with high pools of water in the outfield and the stretches along the foul lines slippery with mud. But the infield proper was fairly well protected by heavy tarpaulin, carrying off most of the downpour, and the field dried quickly when the sun came out and a brisk breeze blew up.

Ground Fairly Good

The ground was still a bit soft in spots at 1:15 p. m. but it seemed to the small cluster of disappointed fans and experts who gathered to inspect the situation that an emergency corps could have put the field in good playing shape. Conditions were much better for play, in fact, than they were three years ago in the final game of the series between Pittsburgh and Washington at Forbes field.

Commissioner Landis, however, after poking his celebrated cane into the turf, backed up the earlier decision and expressed the conviction it was too soft for combat. He explained that the early announcement, made on the recommendation of Sam Breadon, president of the Cardinals, was issued in order to give the fans, especially those from surrounding parts, plenty of advance notice of the postponement.

It was a bitter blow, however, to some 400 of the faithful who had to turn mournfully away from the park after waiting in the bleacher line for several hours. The gates to the unreserved sections were not opened at their scheduled hour, 8:30 a. m., but the fans stuck to their positions and took a thorough wetting for two hours more before the game was called off. About 36 enthusiasts had been in line all night, including several women.

First Since 1925

The effect of the postponement, first since 1925, on the contending teams was variously interpreted. For the Cardinals, it was at least a breathing spell, a chance to rest and perhaps check the demoralization that has so far gripped the National league champions.

But, if the day of rest benefited the Cards, it also had its advantages for the aching limbs of the Yankees' cripples, in addition to giving Waite Hoyt, ace of the New Yorkers' twirling staff, a four-day interval of relaxation before tackling the locals tomorrow.

Hoyt, who held the Cardinals to three hits in the opening game with a masterful exhibition, is the definite choice of Manager Miller Huggins. He was slated to pitch today, anyway, although one day short of his usual rest period. The extra day also benefits Willie Sherdel, veteran Cardinal southpaw, who will attempt to break his jinx tomorrow and beat the champions. Willie has yet to get a decision over the Yankees in three starts.

The Yankees, with Hoyt in the box, figure to make it four straight and thereby smash all world's series records. In fact, about the only debate left in the hotel lobbies centers upon whether or not the Yankees will do the unprecedented.

Cards Still Hope

Cardinal enthusiasts figure the law of averages is bound to operate in favor of the home team and that they will win tomorrow but not even the most optimistic has any hope of a St. Louis victory in the series.

It would be a miracle for the Cardinals to stage a winning comeback after the way they not only have been outpitched and outhit but also outsmarted in the first three games, but Bill McKechnie, their manager, still is clinging to what slim hope is left.

World Series Sidelights

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8—(AP)—The condition of the grounds at Sportsman's park during the rain this morning were reminiscent of the mud at Forbes field in 1925, when Nick Altrock and Al Schact, baseball's comedians, sat down in the ooze and gave an imitation of a pair-oared crew before Commissioner Landis was convinced no game could be played.

The hotels and other places thriving upon world's series business greeted the postponement with unconcealed enthusiasm. The prospects of the Yankees putting a speedy conclusion to the contest had dimmed the prospects of much profit until the thunderstorm came along to compel at least a three-day stay in St. Louis.

If the Cardinals win tomorrow and also Wednesday the scenes will be shifted to New York for a sixth game Friday at the Yankee stadium and a seventh, if necessary, on Saturday. The Yankees, however, are confident they won't need to use their home lockers again until next spring.

The bottom has fallen out of the ticket speculation market as a consequence of the prospect that no fifth game will be played "scalpers" were unloading their pasteboards at box office prices, wherever they could get them, for the fifth game.

Statisticians who had opportunity for a little off-day activity dug up the figures to show how poisonous the big bats of Ruth and Gehrig have been to the Cardinals. The Yankee sluggers in ten games against St. Louis in 1926 and so far in 1928, have a combined batting mark of .413. The Babe's average for the two series is .419 and Gehrig's .406. Ruth hit four homers off Cardinal pitching two years ago and Gehrig has made three in the current series.

The Yankee sluggers are far ahead of the field in batting for the first three games, Ruth having an average of .636 and Gehrig of .556. Frankie Frisch tops the Cardinals with .333 at bat. Frankie also is tied with Mueel in number of stolen bases, each having two and leads all the fielders in assists with twelve. Gehrig leads both clubs in runs batted in, with eight, tying the series record, and also has walked three times more than anybody else. Jim Bottomley heads the strikeout victims with four.

The boys have their fingers crossed to avoid any repetition of the storms laid by the weather in the 1911 series between the Giants and Athletics. It rained that year for six successive days, th ebattle that started on October 14 not being ended until October 26.

AGGIES PREPARE FOR BATTLE WITH MAINE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 8—When Maine and the Connecticut Aggies meet next Saturday at Orono, the Pine Tree eleven that bewildered rival last Saturday at the Bowl will face a well drilled Blue and White machine against the aerial type of college football. Coach Sumner A. Dole opened the week of practice for the first real objective game of the year this afternoon entirely with the fundamentals of the forward passing attack on the offensive in all forms. On Saturday, when the Aggies completely defeated the Wesleyan machine at Storrs, it was very apparent that the aerial attack of the Dolemen was below par both on the defense and offense although the final results of the game showed the Nutmeggers more advanced in the latter part of the game.

The Nutmeg varsity lined up this afternoon and after a thorough drill on forward passes, attempted many on the scrubs who were completely bewildered. Tombarl, who is the Aggie right end and forward passer supreme, got off with some very beautiful throws that were marked by accuracy and perfect sense of direction. His ability as a passer makes it necessary for him to drop back into the backfield when an overhead attack is ordered. Tomorrow will be spent on the defensive part of the aerial practice and the job of each man whenever a pass is expected, will be stressed mostly. The work of the linemen under a forward passing play will be mapped out by Assistant Coach Paul E. Bitgood.

Coach Dole has always been a sponsor of the open form of playing the famous college sport and as a result the plays and formations that he has adopted for the aerial attack are superior than any seen here either by an opponent or Aggie team. All the plays formulated by the Aggie mentor are stressed from a practical standpoint and not a theoretical one because the head coach believes in counting the "breaks" of the game when teaching a play.

No better example of the "breaks" in a football game has been shown than the one when the Nutmeggers lost a very close contest to Maine at Storrs by the virtue of one point when a try for the extra point after the touchdown was called out because an Aggie guard was offside although the kick went cleanly between the posts. That contest was the one held last year and the Nutmeggers went down to defeat at the hands of Maine by the score of 14-13.

If the Connecticut aerial attack comes up above par before the week is up and if the midget Aggie backfield composed of Leo Fisher, Ray Ryan, Rhoar Flydal, and Pinkey McCoombe continue in as stellar a fashion as they did against Wesleyan, Maine is in for a big assignment this Saturday. The two small eastern colleges should put on a very interesting exhibition of football that is sure to be much more scientific than aggressive since both colleges are staunch believers in the modern method of playing the fall sport.

SEVERAL CHANGES IN BASKETBALL DRIBBLE RULE

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Although not going so far as to restrict the dribble to a single bounce, an action which was taken last year and then rescinded after a storm of controversy, the new basketball rules announced today for 1928-29 have considerable to say about regulating this spectacular feature of the game.

A new clause is added (rule 15, section 9, under the head of personal fouls) which reads:

"A player shall not hold, trip, rush or charge an opponent whether or not either player has possession of the ball. If a dribbler charges into an opponent, or makes personal contact with an opponent, without an apparent effort to avoid such contact, a personal foul shall be called on the dribbler.

"If, despite the dribbler's effort to avoid contact, personal contact ensues, either player, or both, may be guilty; but the greater responsibility is on the dribbler if he tries to dribble by an opponent who is in his path."

This is designed to "emphasize the responsibility of the dribbler in connection with the fouls resulting from the dribble," says Oswald Tower, Andover, Mass., official interpreter of the rules.

"Most of those who advocate restriction of the dribble," he comments, "think that the dribble is used too much or that it is impossible to check satisfactorily the many fouls resulting from its use. The former is a matter of coaching; the latter is a problem for the rules and officials to solve.

"If the dribbler's path is blocked, he is expected to pass or shoot. That is, he ought not try to dribble by any opponent unless there is a reasonable chance of getting by without contact, more attention than hitherto is to be directed to the dribbler's responsibility."

Among other changes are provisions designed to penalize "guarding from the rear" by a personal foul, making it illegal for a player to capitalize his great height by tapping the ball and then catching it on two successive jump balls; and stating that an "unguarded player may hold the ball indefinitely in the court, but as soon as an opponent takes a position close by (say within a yard) of the player, the ball, the latter must get the ball into play."

The new code also makes it clear that a ball striking an official does not become a dead ball.

JOIE RAY TO BE PRO MARATHON RUNNER

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Joie Ray turned away today from amateur athletics with its rewards of medals, cups and watches, and set about earning his living as a professional marathon star. Cheaty Joie signed a contract with Tex Rickard to race El Ouafi, the Alterian Arab Olympic champion in Madison Square Garden, October 21.

Ray, American mile champion for many years, has run only four marathons and those at the close of his spectacular amateur career. He raced third in his first start at Boston last April, won the Long Beach grind, was fifth in the Olympics and first in Ireland's Tail Teann games.

CONN. GOLF ASSO. TO HOLD MEETING TODAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 8—(AP)—The annual business meeting of the Connecticut Golf association and tournament for the delegates from the 17 clubs in the state, will be held tomorrow at the Wampanoag C. C., in West Hartford. Election of officers and five members to the executive committee will comprise the business. Two delegates will be represented from each club.

WORLD'S SERIES RETURNS WILL BE MEGAPHONED

As has been the custom for many years the play by play returns of the world's series will be given to the fans by megaphone at the Bulletin office. The series now being played will be broadcast starting at 1:30 o'clock. A large staff of writers are covering the game and the detail will be more complete than ever.

WHITE SOX EVEN SERIES WITH THE CHICAGO CUBS

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—(AP)—With Grady Adkins giving only six widely scattered hits, the White Sox defeated the Cubs, 7 to 1, today, to even the series for the city baseball title at three-all.

The Sox got to Guy Bush and Charlie Root in the first three innings for all of their runs on 11 hits, a base on balls and an error. After the third Root held the Sox at bay until taken out for a pinch hitter. Carlson hurling the last two innings.

The seventh and deciding game will be played at Comiskey park tomorrow.

HOBEN WILL NOT BE IN GAME SATURDAY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8—(AP)—Yale varsity gridders had a light workout today which Coach Mal Stevens devoted to punting and throwing of passes. During the latter part of the warm afternoon the squad was given a black board talk in which Stevens pointed out the defects that existed in the clash with Maine Saturday. There was no heavy work done by the varsity squad but the second team held scrimmage practice during part of the afternoon session.

Johnny Hoben, the veteran quarterback, who pulled a tendon in his leg Saturday was on the sidelines. It is probable he will not be in the lineup against Georgia this week. "Hoot" Ellis, who replaced Hoben and whose dashes netted the Eli eleven many gains will probably be the pilot against Georgia.

Yale will start its heavy work-outs in preparations for Saturday's clash with Georgia tomorrow when scrimmage is scheduled to be in order. There will be several scrimmages during the rest of the week.

Eddie Austen, a substitute halfback who was sent in the game Saturday, was promoted today to the varsity squad for the cleverness in offensive work he displayed. Norman Hall, last year's veteran guard, also has been out of the lineup this season, with a lacerated foot, was in uniform today with the punting crew.

BENNY LEONARD BUYS INTO PIRATE HOCKEY TEAM

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8—(AP)—Benny Leonard, retired king of the lightweight division of pugilism, today became a hockey magnate, having acquired a controlling interest in the Pittsburgh Pirates, local entrant in the National Professional Hockey league. The club was purchased from Horace H. and Edward Townsend, brothers.

Interested in the team with Leonard is James F. Callahan, Pittsburgh lawyer and at a reorganization meeting following formal treasurer of the franchise here today, Callaghan was named president, Benny Leonard, treasurer, and the latter's brother, Charles, secretary.

The retired titleholder, also made known he would attempt the promotion of boxing here, using the home of the hockey club.

HARVARD SQUAD HAS ONLY A LIGHT DRILL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8—(AP)—The Harvard football squad, unscathed by the Springfield game, went through the usual light Monday workout today. Coach Horween criticized the mistakes made Saturday and outlined new running plays in a blackboard talk.

The backs went through a forward passing drill with Gilligan at quarter in place of Putnam on the team A backfield. Team C and B later engaged in a dummy scrimmage with O'Connell in place of Douglas at right end. Two more members of the injured squad will be ready for action before Saturday. Crawford, a promising quarterback, will return to the team tomorrow and Gilden, a center, on Thursday. Scrimmages are scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday.

Silvia Beats Tummy

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 8—(AP)—Battling Silvia won a decision over Rubber Tummy in the main bout of a boxing card here tonight. Both are Fall River lightweights.

In the other six-round bouts Sonny Suggs of Newport, R. I., got a decision over Johnny Delano of South Boston, Joe Cabana of Cape Cod won a decision over King Mallory of Newport, R. I., Young Brousseau of Fall River won a decision over Walter Amins of Providence, R. I., and Teddy Fylandys of Fall River scored a two-round knockout over Johnny Mello of New Bedford.

Harvard Tickets In Demand

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8—(AP)—For the first time in the history of Harvard football there is an over-application for tickets to a game in the stadium other than the Yale encounter, it was announced today. The Harvard Athletic association announced that Harvard men had applied for 1,442 more tickets for the Army game on October 20 than are available for Harvard applicants.

CORBETT-PAUL BOUT HERE THURSDAY IS ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION

That the Eddie Corbett-Eddie Paul bout slated for the Olympic arena opening indoor card will be the last word in action is taken for granted by those who saw these two lads slam each other around the ring in the last outdoor show at New London. In the bout at the New London arena the bout was cut short in the third round by a heavy downpour that made the ring as slippery as a skating pond. That there was action in the bout all agree although there is a wide difference of opinion as to who had the edge in the three rounds.

Some of the followers of the game claim that Corbett had a big margin over Paul while others saw Paul as the ultimate winner if the bout had continued. Still others claim that there was no difference between the two and that the slippery condition of the ring more than the hard blows caused the boys to slip to the canvas. However no matter what the opinion, local fans are looking forward to a hot battle when these boys meet next Thursday night. Paul, who is doing his training in New London, claims that he has sized up Corbett sufficiently to plan his fight against the Bridgeport boy and expects to put over a k. o. before the sixth round. However, that remains to be seen as Corbett is a pretty tough lad himself and is always in the pink of condition and can do some heavy punching on his own account.

The other eight-round feature finds Johnny (Sheik) Leonard, Norwich favorite, endeavoring a comeback to pugilistic prominence against Bernie McQuade, hard-slugging welterweight, of Worcester. The Sheik has no setup in McQuade and neither has the Worcester welter any easy picking in Leonard. That this bout should be replete with action goes without saying as every fight enthusiast in Connecticut knows that the Sheik always gives his best in the ring. He may be beaten but his opponent knows he's been in a scrap. Sheik is a stickler for condition and there need be no fear that he will be in poor shape. He is always ready to step into the ring at any minute and today he is harder and finer trained than when he was making the leather pushing game his business.

McQuade is a tough boy and everybody knows it. He has been giving the Massachusetts welters plenty of opposition and has been knocking them right and left. This is his first appearance in an eastern Connecticut ring and he is anxious to get bouts down this way. From the reputation that precedes him it would seem that the Sheik has a man's-sized job cut out for him on Thursday evening. Should the local welter gain a verdict over McQuade it will be a long step forward along the comeback trail and will pave the way for many more bouts for Johnny Leonard.

Berg Wins on Foul

CHICAGO, Oct. 8—(AP)—Jack Berg, English lightweight, won on a foul in the third round of his scheduled ten-round fight with Spug Myers of Pocatello, Idaho, tonight.

BUCKY HARRIS MAKES VISIT TO DETROIT

DETROIT, Oct. 8—(AP)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, former manager of the Washington Senators, who it has been rumored may succeed George Moriarity as pilot of the Detroit Baseball club, was in Detroit for a few hours today but declined to reveal the purpose of his visit.

Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club denied he had conferred with Harris and refused to discuss the report that Moriarity may be removed.

Harris checked out of his hotel tonight and was thought to have left Detroit.

Courtney Wins Verdict

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8—(AP)—George Courtney middleweight from Oklahoma City, was awarded the decision by Referee Matt Brock over Jack McVey, New York Negro, in their 12-round bout here tonight. Courtney weighed 162; McVey 156 3-4.

CRUICKSHANK WINS PRIZE IN MARYLAND OPEN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank of New York beated Al Espinosa of Chicago and Tommy Armour of Washington today, to win the Maryland open golf championship and $250 prize money in 36 holes of medal play over the Five Farms course of the Baltimore Country club. Cruickshank's card showed 145 strokes, three more than were taken by Espinosa in winning medal honors in the National Professional association tournament over the same course last week.

Armour's card was 147 and Espinosa took 150 for the 36 holes.

Silvers Beats Testo

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(AP)—Pal Silvers, 150 1-2, of Brooklyn won the decision over Nick Testo, 151 1-2, of Troy, N. Y., at the Broadway Arena tonight. Silvers easily outboxed his opponent, using an effective left jab to win most of the rounds. In another ten rounder, Billy Alger of Phoenix Ariz., outpointed Jimmy Finley of Louisville. Alger weighed 152 3-4 and Finley 149.

Fields and Baker Matched

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8—(AP)—Jackie Fields, clever Los Angeles boxer, and Sergt. Sammy Baker of New York, were matched today by officials of the Olympic club here for a ten-round bout Oct. 30.

Slattery Kayoes Lync

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 8—(AP)—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo light-heavyweight, knocked out Jack Lync, Oklahoma, in the second round of a ten-round bout here tonight.

WESTERLY

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFF IN RIGHT OF WAY ACTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 8—At 12:30 Monday noon Deputy Sheriff and Court Officer Elmer E. Edwards adjourned the Westerly sitting of the September term of superior court for Washington county to the third week in November.

Associate Justice Arthur P. Sumner of Providence was on the bench Monday at 11 a. m. when he signed the papers in the final divorce decree, Carrie L. Morris vs. Henry B. Morris. The petitioner was represented by Attorney C. E. Roche. No counsel appeared for respondent.

In the absence of jurors the equity case was taken up, Ettie Eltleman vs. Stephen Boris, the plaintiff represented by Attorney S. H. Davis and the respondent by Attorney M. Walter Flynn, Jr. A court view was asked for and Judge Sumner accompanied by the attorneys went to the premises at 195 and 197 Canal street, where it was sought to close up one-half of a right of way which had been used jointly. Upon return to the court house the judge heard the case. In the seeking of an injunction to stop the closing up of the right of way Judge Sumner declared that the plaintiff had made out a prima facie case and directed the entering of a decree to that effect.

The following transfer has been recorded in the office of Westerly town clerk: Oct. 6. E. Fielding-Jones of Providence to Marie M. Strachan of Hartford, a tract of land at Watch Hill, Lot No. 106 on the plat of the Everett farm, located on the east side of Manatuck avenue; bounded easterly by land of Julia W. Hall and Helen Hall Owsly and easterly by land of Frank J. Jones, known as the Sand Dunes.

Monday morning the Young Men's Social and Literary club hung out a Hoover-Curtis banner in front of their rooms on Pierce street.

First aid had to be again summoned Sunday night for the Smith-Robinson banner on High street, swung across the street from the roof of the Westerly Square and Compass club No. 176 to the New Park hotel in the Walton building. The rope holding up the banner had stretched until its sagging would prove a menace to passing vehicular traffic.

Representative John D. Nichols and Councilman Farquhar Smith were among Westerly hunters who took to the woods Monday.

The Men's and Women's Smith-Robinson club of Pawcatuck held a meeting Monday evening in the Liberty street court house when plans were perfected for a democratic rally this (Tuesday) evening.

OBITUARY

Charles A. Latham

Charles A. Latham died Sunday at his home in Baltimore, Md., following a lingering illness. Mr. Latham had spent the greater part of his life in Westerly and for over thirty years was a member of Westerly band. He had been in poor health for the past several years. Mr. Latham was a native of New London, he came to Westerly in his youth and spent the greater part of his life here. For a number of years he conducted a tinsmith's shop on West Broad street and later on Main street. He moved to Baltimore about six years ago. He married Mary H. Cook of Westerly, who survives him. He also leaves a son, Earl Latham of Baltimore, a daughter, Mrs. George Emmons of Hartford, and a sister, Mrs. William LaVallie of New London.

Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 19, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held installation in Odd Fellows hall during the week when the work was performed by Mrs. Eva N. Niles of Hope Valley and staff. Mrs. Edna Healey Johnson was installed as noble grand. After installation the P. N. G. Mrs. Addie A. Ellis was presented a beautiful gold P. N. G. jewel and Mrs. Niles was given a hand embroidered luncheon set. At the close of the meeting supper was served. There were guests from Providence, Mystic, Hope Valley, Caronia and Wakefield.

Late Sunday afternoon Mrs. Edward L. Newman, 46 Pontiac avenue, Cranston, was able to return to her home, after recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident at Langworthy's Corners, at the junction of the Shore road and Weekapaug road. She left in company with her husband, after receiving medical treatment. She was given first aid treatment at the location of the accident by Dr. John Champlin, Jr., and later was removed to The Westerly hospital. There she received further treatment in the office before going home.

Mrs. Newman suffered painful lacerations on the head and an injury to her right wrist when a Franklin sedan driven by her husband collided with a Willys-Knight sedan operated by Clements A. Brown of 206 Elmwood avenue, Providence. Mrs. Brown received lacerations on the head and right shoulder. She, too, was attended by Dr. Champlin, Jr., and later returned to Providence.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Richmond of Pawcatuck left Monday for several days' visit with friends in Providence.

George E. Phillips, a summer visitor at Misquamicut beach, who was an exhibitor in the American Kennel club show at Brockton fair, in the Boston terrier class, had a dog exhibited which for the third season took first as the best Rhode Island dog shown.

Mrs. Annie A. Noble returned Monday to her duties at Vars Bros', after passing her vacation in the Catskills.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Goodgeon, Miss Florence M. Marriott, Col. and Mrs. Arthur N. Nash and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Mills returned Sunday to their Westerly homes after a several weeks' motor trip through New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and as far south as Atlantic Beach, Va. Due to the torn-up condition of the highway they did not visit Wintson-Salem, as was first planned.

Misses Molly Thavenet, Edna Gregory and J. Raymond Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Addison S. Archie and Arthur M. Mills were among Westerly visitors at New London theatres Sunday night.

Patrolman Leroy H. Norman returns to his duties this week end following two weeks' vacation and Officer Robert M. Kessel will have two weeks' vacation from his duties.

Leo Ruisi, confined to his home for the past few days by illness, was reported as more comfortable Monday, although still in bed.

During the past week Westerly high school Student council, which was organized a year ago for the promotion of interest in high school work, held its first meeting. These students have returned to school this year and represent the four classes: Senior class, Ralph Briggs; Junior class, Albert Greene; sophomore class, Dana Christy; freshman class, Frederick Sommarna. Each club has chosen a representative: Radio club, Robert Bonner; Quid Munc club, Ruth Kenyon; Junior Dramatic club, Anthony Tosiza; Senior Dramatic club, Frank Acolina; Arts and Craft, Alice Ledwidge; Rifle club, Donald Livingston; Science club, Edward Cotter; Commercial club, Florence Grig.

The officers who were elected last June are: President, Frank Adimari; vice-president, Everett Greene; secretary, Bertha Beaudreau; treasurer, faculty advisor, Miss Elisabeth Fling, editor-in-chief of the Senior, Gordon Michie; publicity agent, Lena Coon.

At the meeting the past week three committee chairmen were elected besides vice-chairmen and three other members for each committee: Improvement committee, chairman, Gordon Michie; social committee, chairman, Ralph Briggs; traffic committee, chairman, Robert Bonner. It was also decided that the week of the 22nd of October should be recognized as Clean-up Week.

Fred Gropelli of the United Music Stores of Westerly, employed as driver of the firm's truck, sustained severe cuts on his forehead at the week-end, when his machine turned over on the Bradford road. The accident was caused by a tire blow-out. Gropelli was taken to the office of Dr. M. H. Scanlon, where two stitches were taken over his right eye and one over his left eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barber, having closed their summer home, corner Beach and Crescent streets, left the past week to return to their winter home in Orlando, Fla.

Charles C. Treat and family of Norwich were Westerly visitors on their way to pass the week-end at their summer cottage at Misquamicut beach.

L. K. Burdick of Pawcatuck is having a vacation from his duties in the office of the C. B. Cottrell & Sons Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Brown and children, Shirley and Howard, were New Haven motor visitors over the week-end, being guests of L. Ward Alger and family.

Miss Lora Moran of Norwich has been a guest of relatives in Pawcatuck.

Ray P. Littlefield, former manager of the Rhode Island hotel, is the democratic candidate for state senator from the town of South Kingstown.

Mrs. C. H. S. Hathaway has arrived in Westerly from Bristol, Conn.

Miss Mary Grace Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy, has left Westerly for Washington, D. C., to take up her studies at Trinity college.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Mary Scanlon, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Scanlon of 88 High street, Westerly, to Frank Payan of Providence, owner of the French Worsted Co., of Woonsocket. Banns for the marriage were published at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

On Saturday Dr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Robinson, of this town sailed from New York on the Panama-Pacific liner California, which left for San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The liner carries 670 passengers, an unusually large list for this season of the year.

NOANK

REPEATER HAD RED EARS AT MECHANICS' HUSKING BEE

At the Mechanics' hall on Front street, Saturday evening, a husking bee was given by the American Mechanics, council No. 10, and a crowd of 100 was on hand to help husk the corn. Many red ears were found, which caused kissing of the girl next to the one who found the red ear. One fellow was trying to kiss them all for he had a pocketful of red ears. It was fun for those who sat around the hall watching the crowd dancing, also old-time square sets were on the list. Jim Bangs' orchestra of Mystic played for the evening. A moonlight dance was tried out. Grandmother's sugared doughnuts and pumpkin pie and soda were the lunch. Carl Ashcroft did the latest farmer's dance as Keith Ebbetts bent the bow on his violin. The pair was clapped out several times. Guests from White Rock, Stonington and Westerly enjoyed husking the corn and dancing.

THREE WORLD WAR PALS ATTEND QUANTICO GAME

Three pals, Lawrence Sullivan, Billie Fitzgerald and Gordon Mahan, stuck together during the World war, were in the Marine corps with the Quantico marines of Virginia. They were called Three Sharpshooters from Connecticut, good with the rifle and in a test many bullseyes were scored by them. Reading a sign, "Quantico Marines' football team playing the Coast Guard Giants at New London, Saturday afternoon," the three pals, Sullivan, Mahan and Fitzgerald, went over to see their old buddies play football and to cheer them to victory. How those marines could play! They won with ease. They ran across an old army cook, Harry MacCann, who passed more beans over the table for the hungry soldiers in 23 years than any cook in Uncle Sam's service, and those three fellows had a long talk with him. He said the captain was good to him. "He told me to put away my white apron and Cream of Wheat cap and go on a two weeks' furlough and travel with the team to bring them luck." Cook MacCann said, "Happy Billie, where is that gold watch you found on the battlefield in France as you fell in a shell hole when the battle was getting hot and you lost your tin hat?" Have you still got that watch?" "Yes, and it is ten years old!" "Don't forget to come back to Virginia and you three ex-army men can have a real army meal!" It is the best afternoon that we've had in two years!"

O. Jenseen of Fishers Island is spending a few days in the village.

Walter Welles was in Hope Valley Saturday.

The Dance Hall football stars lined up against the West Mystic Bulldogs at Dunn field Saturday afternoon before a small crowd of fans. Eddie Mahoney got the game going at 3 o'clock. Mede Wilbur, 200-pound fullback for West Mystic, kicked off and Speed Ebbetts caught the ball and dodged his way for a 40-yard run before Midge H. Johnson got him and in three rushes put the ball on the 10-yard line. That line for West Mystic held like a stone wall; the Dance Hall team lost the ball, failing to put it over in four downs. Laughing Grossman made a long forward pass to Left End Grant for a 35-yard pass, quick as a cat watching for a mouse. Grant put the ball on the 10-yard line. The crowd went wild and Quickstep M. Oviatt put it over for a touchdown and the kick was blocked for the extra point, making the score for the first half, West Mystic 6, Dance Hall 0. Coach Hurry-up Bentley for Noank told them their weak places, while Coach W. Lampbere for West Mystic, with a cigar, puffing away, was smiling. The whistle for the third quarter blew and both teams went at it hard, but it was soon over, no score. Giant O. Bradshaw for West Mystic got his left leg injured badly and had to be helped off the field. Turk Brown took his place. The sun was sinking fast and darkness was covering the field. Hurry-up Bentley sent in a new man at right halfback for the Jazz Steppers, Leo Harris, and it did not look as if he knew a pumpkin from a football. But he caught the ball out of the air and ran 42 yards for a touchdown. Deer Harris took three players over with him, making it 6 to 6. The extra point was blocked and the game ended a tie.

Parker Willes has spent a few days at Storrs.

STONINGTON

DEMOCRATIC RALLY AND BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

Several prominent democrats of state and national democratic organizations will stump in the borough this (Tuesday) evening in Wadawanuck park in the interest of the state democratic campaign. Burgess Bedtime Story

Back to Back

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

United e'en the weak are strong,
And right will triumph over wrong.
—Johnny Chuck.

Reddy Fox had called from the corn just beyond the carrot patch to Mrs. Reddy and she had promptly started in that direction. Before she reached the carrot patch she discovered Johnny Chuck and she guessed that what Reddy wanted was her assistance in catching Johnny. Then, when she reached the edge of the carrot patch, she discovered Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat. The eyes of Mrs. Reddy sparkled. This looked good! It looked too good to be true. She hadn't a doubt that, working together, she and Reddy would be able to get one of those Muskrats, and perhaps both.

Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat had discovered Mrs. Reddy. They faced her, their lips drawn back to show their sharp teeth. But when they faced her they were back to the corn where Reddy was hiding. Johnny

They were planning how best to make an attack.

Chuck saw this at once. So Johnny moved over and sat with his back to Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat. In this way he faced the hiding place of Reddy Fox. If they could just keep back to back they might keep Reddy and Mrs. Reddy off for some time.

"Whatever you do, don't run," said Johnny to Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat. "If one of you should run, it would be just what Reddy and Mrs. Reddy want. You wouldn't have a chance. But if we all keep back to back they are going to hesitate about coming within reach of our teeth."

Johnny spoke as hopefully as he could. He sounded a great deal more hopeful than he really felt. You see, he wanted to keep up the courage of Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat.

By this time Reddy had come out from the corn. He was grinning broadly. Things were coming just the way they wanted them. Reddy trotted over to where Mrs. Reddy was sitting and they put their heads together. They were planning how best to make an attack. When they were together that way Johnny Chuck turned so as to face them. Thus all three were facing Reddy and Mrs. Reddy. But the moment Reddy left Mrs. Reddy and started to work around toward them, Johnny Chuck turned so as always to face Reddy.

"I can take care of Reddy Fox if you two together can take care of Mrs. Reddy," said he to Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat.

"We'll do our best," squeaked Jerry.

Mrs. Reddy suddenly made a fierce rush at Jerry Muskrat. She hoped to frighten Jerry or Mrs. Muskrat into running, but instead of doing that they crowded a little closer together and showed Mrs. Reddy two sets of teeth that made her pause abruptly. She had no desire to feel those teeth.

Then Reddy rushed Johnny Chuck, but he took pains not to come too close. As a matter of fact, Johnny sprang to meet Reddy, and Reddy was a lot more upset than Johnny was. A second later and the Muskrats and Johnny Chuck were once more back to back. Then Reddy and Mrs. Reddy tried rushing side by side, but this time they fared no better than before. Johnny and the two Muskrats met them face to face, and the looks of those three sets of teeth made caution seem the better part of valor.

But Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were not discouraged. They were willing to be patient. They knew that sooner or later Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat would try to get back to the water. They had only to be patient. They felt sure that patience would bring them reward. They hoped to get Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat so nervous that they would no longer work together with Johnny Chuck, as they had been doing. A good Muskrat dinner would be well worth waiting for.

HEAVY SELLING OF MOTOR SHARES TURNED COURSE OF PRICES IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—(F)—Heavy selling of speculative issues, particularly in the motor group, turned the course of prices irregular today after an opening outburst of strength had carried more than a score issues to new high records. Extreme gains of 3 to nearly 15 points in several of the high priced specialties were cut down and a long list of issues closed 1 to 5 points lower, with a few showing even sharper declines.

Call money held steady at 6 1-2 per cent, all day, although loans in the "outside market" were reported as low as 6. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm. The bullish effect of 6 1-2 per cent. Call money after a ruling rate of more than 7 per cent. Last month was offset by the announcement that the new short term U. S. treasury financing had been arranged at 4 3-4 per cent., the highest in seven years.

Outside the stock market, chief speculative interest centered in the government cotton crop estimate of 13,903,000 bales as against 14,439,000 bales a month ago. Cotton prices advanced $2.50 to nearly $4 a bale in the wave of buying which followed the announcement, but stock gains were cut to from $1.75 to $2 a bale.

Motor shares bore the brunt of the selling in the stock market. General Motors closed 2 points lower at 211 after having hit 214 3-4 and Chrysler showed a net loss of 3 1-4 at 135 5-8 after having hit 139 3-4. Hudson, which had a spirited advance last week on reports that a huge pool headed by the Cutten & Fisher interests had been formed in that issue, also closed more than 2 points lower at 91 1-4. Hupp, Nash, Studebaker, and Reo lost 1 to 2 points.

Warren Bros., which has sold as high as 192 1-2 this year, broke 13 3-4 points to 141 and then rallied a point. Case Threshing fell 8 3-4 points; Wright 8; Curtiss 7 3-4 and American Machine & Foundry, Chicago Pneumatic Tool, Commercial Solvents, Coty, Dupont, Johns Manville, Midland Steel Products preferred, National Lead, Pierce Oil preferred and Rossia Insurance lost 3 to 5 points.

Acute weakness of the S Ry. universal Pipe and Pressed Steel Car issues, all of which broke 4 to 5 points, followed the denial of rumors circulated last week that a community of interest has been established between those companies and Blaw Knox preparatory to a merger with Baldwin.

There were several conspicuous strong spots. Allied Chemical ran up 14 1-2 points to a new high record, 217 1-2, at the expense of an overcrowded short interest, but lost 3 points of its gain onrealizing. Best & Co. moved up more than 5 points to a new peak at 90 3-4 and retained but a fraction of its gain. New peak prices also were established by General Ice Cream, Commercial Investment Trust, Commercial Credit, McKeesport Tin Plate, Victor Talking Machine and Real Silk Hosiery but not all of the gains were maintained.

Non-ferrous metal shares were in good demand on reports of record-breaking consumption of the red metal. American Smelting was bid up to 254 and then yielded to 252 3-4, up 4 points net, but Greene Cananea lost all of its 4 point gain. International Nickel attained a new top at 141 and then fell back to 137, off 2 points net.

Rails were slugish with Consolidated Railways of Cuba preferred and Texas & Pacific each losing 2 points.

There was little interest in the commodity markets outside of cotton. Wheat futures closed about a cent a bushel lower and coffee and sugar quotations moved within narrow and irregular limits.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet, with sterling cables slightly firmer around $4.85.

DANIELSON

NO REPORTS OF LARGE BAGS OF GAME MONDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 8—Woodland territory all through this section resounded today with the bark of shotguns as sportsmen took the field for the first day of the open hunting season. The net result of the day afield on the part of the men that went out could not be accurately gauged tonight, for not all told of their success or lack of it. However, it was established during the course of the afternoon that some cock pheasants had fallen before the first onslaught of the hunters. Quail, of course, cannot be legally taken this fall, and it will be illegal to shoot woodcock until October 20.

As to the taking of partridge, Supt. J. W. Titcomb of the state board of fisheries and game has circularized private clubs, requesting that their members refrain from shooting them on their lands this year, and to prevent partridge shooting by all others on lands that such clubs control.

Mr. Titcomb says: "We do not wish to close the state forest lands to all shooting, but will post them against grouse (partridge) shooting. Will you not get in touch with the members of your association, if possible holding a meeting and voting on the subject? If all the clubs will take the same attitude, we will be assured of good breeding stock for next spring. I believe the grouse are beginning to come back, and that the young birds this year have survived."

L. S. Ingalls, secretary of the Danielson Rod and Gun club, is among those who is anxious to have Supt. Titcomb's position made known to sportsmen in this section of the county. A very serious situation exists in regard to grouse. During 1923 the birds were abnormally abundant in Connecticut. Ravages by the grouse disease in 1925 greatly reduced the numbers of this great game bird. Since then they have been very scarce all through this territory. The request now being made that hunters refrain from killing them is in the interest of allowing them to increase in numbers.

CONTRACT FOR REMOVAL OF TROLLEY POLES AWARDED

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 8—A Worcester concern has the contract for taking down all the overhead and poles of the Connecticut company through this territory northward as far as the Connecticut-Massachusetts line in the town of Thompson, as well as along the route of the trolley road south of here.

The work is now underway in Danielson and wires, supporting arms and poles are being removed as rapidly as possible. At present the workers are engaged in Dyer street.

It will be three years next November 30, since operation of trolley cars ceased through this territory. Since then the line between Elmville and East Killingly has been removed, including rails and ties. Sections of the main line roadbed have also been taken out in Danielson incident to improvement work by the state highway department. The rails are gone in Main street from the railroad crossing northward to Davis park, and also have been removed from the northerly line of the borough at Morin avenue to Elmville. Whether are not such rails and ties as remain in this section are to be taken out in the near future could not be ascertained here today. Certainly removing them from where the roadbed is encased with concrete roadway, as is the case in Main street from Reynolds street northward through the borough would be neither an easy nor an inexpensive task. Other sections represent no such difficulty, as through Water, Franklin and Dyer streets and where they border the state highway route to Wauregan.

The registered shoot held yesterday was carried out in a high wind that made the targets extremely difficult to capture, and the scores were therefore very low. A. T. Sisson, Providence, R. I., was high with 95. A. E. Wordell, New Bedford, Mass., second with 91, and L. H. Bradley, West Hartford, Conn., third with 90.

The scores were as follows:

100 16 yard targets: Sisson, 95, Wordell, 91, Bradley, 90, Gardner, 88, Ingalls, 86, Holman, 81, Tebo, 80, Todd, 80, Carter, 79, Hills, 79, Buck, 78, Griffith, 77, Robinson, 74, F. Cooper, 72, Ryder, 72, Nuttall, 71, C. Cooper, 61.

50 doubles: Bradley, 35, Hills, 33.

Representatives of various organizations and interests today expressed the hope that bandsmen will be present in such numbers at a meeting to be held in the Majestic theater Tuesday evening as to insure the formation of the projected Community band. It is hoped to have at least forty musicians in the new organization, which would begin rehearsals as soon as may be possible. Business and other interests feel that such a band, properly brought along as a musical organization, would be a fine asset for the entire town of Killingly. Incidentally it is regarded as highly probable that it would develop some splendid players.

CANTERBURY TO SPEND $50,000 ON HIGHWAYS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 8—The town of Canterbury is to invest $50,000 in road construction work under the state aid arrangement within the next few years. A project that will be developed through expenditure of this money will be the construction of an improved, hard-surfaced highway from Canterbury Green southward to Lisbon. This will be part of what eventually promises to develop into a state trunk line running from Norwich northward to the Conn.-Mass. line in Woodstock. The road is already built a distance of about six miles from Canterbury Green into Brooklyn, which latter town has under consideration extending the road northward to the Pomfret town line, a distance of several miles. This road would parallel the present trunk line running northward out of Norwich into Massachusetts, but a few miles to the west over a greater part of the distance.

Work is to be undertaken in the immediate future on the extension easterly of Hawkins street. This improvement was authorized in a town meeting some time since. It is understood that it may be possible to complete this work during the present fall. The work involves grading and graveling. The appropriation to care for the cost was made available by the meeting that authorized the improvement.

Investigation has failed to develop any clue that might lead to the identity of the person that forced an entrance to Henry A. McEwen's store last Friday night and rushed out upon discovery that the proprietor was at his place of business. The assumption is, however, that it was an adventure of some reckless youth, for a professional crook would probably not be so foolhardy as to attempt burglarizing a brightly lighted store in the center of the business section at such an early hour in the evening.

Reminiscing as he watched two light weights boxing a 6-round bout at the state armory last Friday evening Jack Delaney, former light heavyweight champion of the world remarked that he received the princely sum of $4 for his first professional bout. "But I won it," he continued," and got my name in the paper, and the event really gave me the greatest thrill I have experienced in the boxing game."

Recently elected officers of Rose of Lima council, K. of C., are to be installed Tuesday evening.

Wednesday is final day for paying borough taxes. S. H. Perry.—Adv.

Mrs. Charles Brannan, New London, injured in an automobile accident on Hopkins hill in the town of Plainfield Saturday night, is a daughter of Elias Wentworth, superintendent of construction at the new Brooklyn Savings bank building.

Republicans in Windham county towns have caucuses scheduled for Wednesday to nominate candidate for representatives, judges of probate and justices of the peace.

A car bearing a registration of the Republic of France attracted attention here today. It is the property of Commander Walter F. Jacobs, U. S. N., now on duty in the Mediterranean, and has recently been shipped from overseas to this country.

A little boy who lives in the Mechanic street section is picking a winner in the presidential race, as indicated by a placard on his wagon. The inscription is "Smith and Hoover."

The Tatapochon Camp Fire girls held a regular meeting at the Westfield Congregational church this evening.

Hosea Greene and William Behrens, the latter of East Killingly, have been appointed as special constables by the selectmen.

Three steam rollers are now in use in forwarding construction work on the Danielson-Brooklyn state highway in the town of Brooklyn.

At a session of the town court this afternoon Judge W. Penner Woodward imposed a fine of $1.00 and costs, a total of $11.37, on each of seven automobile operators who were ordered into court for driving machines with defective brakes. Several other similar cases will later be considered by the court.

The selectmen have arranged for an inventory of the road machinery of the town, with a view to ascertaining just what replacements are needed.

Assessors of the town of Killingly are now receiving lists of property of the town subject to taxation as of October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Leary returned from a week's visit with relatives in Jersey City and territory thereabouts.

Arthur A. Gregory of Lowell is visiting with friends in Danielson and other communities hereabouts for a few days.

CENTRAL VILLAGE

Mrs. Ralph Street, widow of the war veteran, Ralph Street, who died last spring went Sunday to Amherst, Mass., where she will live with her brother.

When the Schofield and the Johnson cars collided Saturday morning in Plainfield four mill operatives were in the car driven by Chas. Schofield. Mrs. Fred Bourke was injured with probably fractured ribs, and was taken Sunday to Backus hospital, Norwich. She suffered various cuts and bruises. Dr. Chase gave first aid. Schofield and Opperman also in the car were somewhat bruised and lamed up. Dr. Gardner gave these attention later in the day. Arthur Eyers was also bruised and lamed up. An inquiry into the accident will be conducted in town court today (Tuesday).

Clarence Reid seems to be having visits from Connecticut essence peddlers of late, not to his over enjoyment. One obtained entrance into his cellar a week ago and skunk had to be shot. Sunday as he stepped out of the back door another skunk was there to greet him. They eyed each other for a minute and the animal withdrew.

A concert was given in the Congregational church Sunday for the children and by the children, assisted by the teachers.

The nomination of Andrew Clark of Canterbury for state senator is very satisfactory to the people of this section. Mr. Clark is a good choice and will honor the office if elected.

Dorothea G. Gardner, graduate nurse of Backus hospital, was at her father's home a few days ago. Miss Gardner nurses at Cromwell Hall and does some private work besides in the sanitarium. She has rooms in Portland, where her father practiced six years in the 90's and did surgical work for three quarries.

All must give credit to the democrats in Plainfield for getting out the vote. Their ticket had the biggest majority ever.

Miss Carpenter went to Hartford Sunday to enroll as a student nurse at St. Francis' hospital.

MONTVILLE

The Rally day exercises were held at the Union Baptist church at 12 o'clock Sunday. The program was as follows:

E. L. Nield; song, Go Forth to the Sowing, school No. 112; Benediction, Rev. E. L. Nield.

The many friends of Mrs. Alexander Bernier were saddened to hear of her death at Dr. Mason's hospital in Willimantic, having only been a patient there for three days. She has been a sufferer for many months of heart trouble. The body will be sent to Maine for burial.

Mrs. John Gardner and Miss Edith Hubert were callers at the home of Miss Belle Greene.

Donald Chanel of Bridge street has been confined to his home for the past week by illness.

Henry Pierce and family were callers in Norwich Saturday.

Mrs. V. A. Rosenlund of Maple avenue was a business caller in New London Saturday afternoon.

PUTNAM

LOCAL MAN TAKES ACTION AGAINST POLICE FOR ARREST

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 8—Leo Daigle of this city was made a prisoner in Slatersville, R. I., Saturday, in connection with a payroll robbery at the plant of the Stone company of Union Village, a suburb of Woonsocket. The robbery was committed late Friday afternoon and occurred in the office of Superintendent of the Plant Samuel Leach, in whose care the 24 pay envelopes intended for the night workers were placed.

Shortly after the discovery of the theft of over $475 suspicion was cast upon the Daigle boy, an employe of the firm and upon another youth whose name was withheld by the police, a resident of Woonsocket.

Daigle was at his home on Water street in Putnam, when Captain Jarvis of the Putnam police was asked to take him into custody. Daigle denied having anything to do with the theft. He volunteered to return to Union village and clear his name. Upon his arrival at the police station in that city, he was taken into custody and thrown into one of the cells, without any questioning. Daigle claims that he was held for three hours, without any food and at the end of that period was released as the police failed to link him with the theft.

The humiliation of being kept in custody without just cause, on the part of the Rhode Island police officials has caused him to take legal action against the officer in charge as he consulted counsel in this city this morning.

Daigle had been an employe of the plant up until about three weeks ago. He went to the mill Friday afternoon to collect a day's compensation, totaling about $3. It is alleged that the money was drawn for the entire force of hands working at the mill, the day laborers being paid the wages and the balance was placed in the desk drawer to be issued when the night workers assumed their tasks Friday evening. The discovery of the theft was made by Albert Jones, an overseer at the plant, when an employe of the plant came to him for his pay. Jones opened the drawer for the envelopes and found that they had been removed. The police were notified of the payroll robbery and at once the Putnam boy with the Woonsocket worker were suspected of knowing something about the money, though the police refused to disclose any reasons for such suspicions.

Captain Jarvis of the Putnam police said today that Daigle had been cleared of all charges pressed against him by the police of Union Village, but was going to take action for the treatment he received at the hands of the police, when he had voluntarily offered to go to the scene of the robbery and explain what he did know.

Miss Katherine Byrne, vice chairman of the republican state central committee returned to her office in Hartford this morning, after spending the week end at her home in this city. Miss Byrne was also the principal speaker at the 28th senatorial convention held in Putnam Saturday.

Game hunters appeared before Town Clerk H. N. Benoit this morning in considerable numbers and made application for hunting licenses. The number of men who will engage in the season's shoot indicates that much of the exceptional interest is due to the heavy stocking of the hunting grounds by members of the North Eastern Fish and Game club.

Rumors were current today in the democratic circles that in the event two candidates are nominated for representative to the legislature there will be some friction within the party ranks on the part of the candidate already working for the office.

Republican party leaders in the town today were preparing to overcome the strong democratic hopes since Leon A. Talbot, Putnam merchant and business man announced that his name was to be presented to the democrats at their caucus on October 16. In several sections of the city, democratic lieutenants have been slowly pushing into the republican circles, solidly enough to bring about republican reaction, it was said by a leading republican.

Edmund Dubois, chairman of the democratic town committee, said that he had not as yet been approached by the members of his party to accept the nomination to run with Mr. Talbot for the legislature. "I have heard nothing of the rumor and have given no consideration to the nomination," Mr. Dubois said this afternoon. Mr. Dubois is one of the leading minority party officials in the town and is exceedingly popular among his party associates. He is at present a member of the city council from the second ward.

In the republican camps today it was said that none other than Representative William Pechie and William Davison are in line for the nomination as representatives. There has been considerable talk to the effect that a third party is seeking the nomination in place of either Mr. Pechie or Mr. Davison, but this was flatly denied by the party officials, who are supporting the candidacy of the two men. The republicans of the town will hold their caucus in the municipal building Tuesday evening, October 9.

At 10.45 a. m. Tuesday morning the adjourned civil term of Windham county superior court will convene at Putnam with three cases, slated to be tried. Judge Edward M. Yeomans of Hartford, who is the same court room on last Tuesday morning sentenced Albert J. Raymond and Roland G. Lafleur to a life sentence in the state prison in Wethersfield, will preside at the hearing.

The first case assigned to the court is that of Anselm Bernier vs. Arthur J. LaFleur. The case grew out of a money loan. George C. Munyan vs. Helen A. Munyan and George Wittemore vs. Lowinda S. Pickett, cases assigned will also be tried, time permitting.

About a half dozen of former mill workers in New Bedford were observed this morning as returning to the textile city of Bay State where they were to make application to be accepted for work in the mills that will be open again as the result of the ceasing of the strike.

Miss Margaret A. Walbridge, who for a number of years was an African missionary in the service of the Congregational churches, has been engaged to speak at Putnam before a representative gathering of the ladies of the Second Congregational church of this city on October 15. Miss Walbridge is widely known for her lectures throughout New England and has acquired a reputation as an orator. A supper and social will also be held on the eve of Miss Walbridge's appearance in Putnam.

Arthur Seymour, formerly of this city, and recently of Salem, Conn., has returned to Putnam where he will make his home.

Thomas and Henry Arnold, graduates of Putnam high school class of 1928 have left for Hartford, where they will enter the employ of an insurance agency in the Capitol city.

Miss Levina Falkins, staff nurse at the Day Kimball hospital has returned to her duties after an extended tour of the Rockies and a visit to her home in Moncton, New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Leslie Beebe of Mechanics street motored to Brimfield Sunday.

The arrest of a trio of clothing store burglars in Torrington recently has brought Captain William Jarvis of the Putnam police to investigate the south state arrest, in the interest of identifying some of their stolen valuables and merchandise as that taken from the ladies' clothing store of Noel E. Dupre in this city on the night of April 23.

According to a dispatch, the Torrington thieves were arrested as they were leaving the city, the police taking into custody each article they had looted while in the store.

Miss Sarah H. Johnson of Pomfret, while in Putnam Saturday evening on a shopping tour, slipped on the pavement and fractured her right arm. She was given medical treatment and later was allowed to return to her home. Her injury was reported as not being serious.

Henry J. Potter of Waterbury, formerly state senator from Woodstock was in Putnam over the week-end, visiting with his nephew Attorney Ernest C. Morse of this city.

Everett D. Packard of Danbury, formerly of Putnam, with the members of his family visited with relatives in this city Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Schmansky of Walnut street entertained at bridge Saturday evening. Following the game a dinner was served to 32 guests.

The Rev. Frank A. Fuller, retired, occupied the pulpit of the Second Congregational church Sunday at the morning worship, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. James E. English, who is in New Hampshire attending a conference of missionaries.

Putnam will have no representation at the convention of the members of the American Legion now in session at San Antonio, Texas. Last year when the convention of the legionnaires was held in Paris it will be remembered that the delegate from the Anselm Mayotte post, No. 13, in Putnam was Charles A. Ryan, alderman from Ward 1. Mr. Ryan will not join his comrades at their annual gathering this year and no other member of the Putnam post will be present when the soldiers gather in the Lone Star state for the 10th observance.

On the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. William Raymond of North Grosvenordale, their daughter Miss Cathering Raymond became the bride of Jephrin Gagne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gagne of this city. The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock in St. Joseph's church in the village of North Grosvenordale. Rev. J. C. Mathieu, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass.

The couple were attended by Miss Beatrice Raymond, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, the best man being Wilfred Laurion of this city. Miss Doris Couchane of North Grosvenordale acted as flower girl for the couple.

The bride was attired in a white satin gown trimmed with lace and wore a full length veil trimmed with lilies of the valley. She carried a large bouquet of bridal roses.

The bridesmaid wore an orchid taffeta dress and a hat to match and carried butterfly roses arranged in shower effect.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Foresters' hall in North Grosvenordale. Both the bride and groom of today and the wedded couple of a quarter of a century ago received numerous congratulations from their many friends.

William and Cyril Remillard of Gilman street returned Sunday from a visit to New York city.

LEDYARD

NEIGHBOR'S NIGHT AT GRANGE WITH ATTENDANCE OF 126

Neighbors' night was observed by Ledyard grange, Friday evening. There was 100 per cent. attendance of officers present when the roll call of officers was asked for by Worth Master Harry Hanks. The thirteen officers who conduct the grange were present. Norwich, Pachaug and Groton granges had been invited to provide the entertainment for the lecturer's hour. At the roll call 22 responded from Pachaug grange, 41 from Norwich grange, 12 from Groton Grange, 37 from Ledyard grange and 14 visitors, making a total of 126 present present. The following interesting program was carried out:

Singing by all; reading, Miss Rhoda Brand, Pachaug grange; Miss Brand was called back and read another selection, the two poems were composed by Herbert Richardson of Preston; piano solo, Miss Elizabeth Hewitt of Groton grange and encore; recitation, Mrs. Anne Woods, of Norwich grange with encore; play, Bachelers Dreams, members of Norwich grange served unique refreshments; violin solo, Miss Sarah Gill of Pachaug grange; dance, entitled "Summer Breeze" by little Virginia Hastedt of Norwich grange with encore; brief addresses were made by Charles Adams of Groton grange; Mrs. Ida Richardson, Norwich grange; Adrian Marquardt, Groton grange and Rev. G. F. Goodenough, Pachaug grange. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were the refreshments. Some went home but many stayed and enjoyed dancing in Grange hall.

Leslie Holdridge, with three other students of the University of Maine, left Orono at 7 o'clock Thursday evening and arrived in Norwich at 7.45 Friday morning. They drove all the way in Leslie Holdridge's Ford and came through without any mishap. Thomas Baldwin of Norwich went to see his parents. Another boy went to Hartford to visit his parents. The third went to Bridgeport and Holdridge came to Ledyard to visit his parents. All were on their way to see the Yale-Maine football game at New Haven Saturday. All returned the way they came, Sunday night, their destination, Orono, Maine, and reported for school duties Monday morning.

Nelson Schlegel came from Hartford Saturday afternoon and met with the boys at their club meeting Saturday night. Mr. Schlegel searched to a good sized audience in the Congregational church Sunday morning. "He must increase but I must decrease" was the subject discussed. At this meeting Mr. and Mrs. Billings T. Avery were appointed delegates to attend the meeting of Congregational churches and ministers to be held with the Second Congregational church at Stonington, Oct. 30. Mr. Schlegel was nominated as the representative of the church to attend the annual meeting at Bridgeport of the American Board of Missions.

Paul Holdridge stayed with his schoolmate Crosby Peck at Norwich Town Saturday night and arrived home Sunday night. They were both pleased to see the Academy football team wallop the Wilby high school on the Academy campus Saturday afternoon.

Miss Henrietta Main, a student at Putnam trade school visited over the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erustus Main.

Nelson Schlegel had charge of the consecration meeting of the C. E. society Sunday evening in the church. A business meeting followed. These officers will have charge of the C. E. meetings for the year: Carl Holdridge, president; Harry Williams, vice president; secretary, Paul Holdridge; Marian Williams, treasurer. The following committees were also named. The first named being the chairman: Prayer, Carl Holdridge, Gilbert Hayden, Marian Williams; lookout, Harry Williams, Alfred Clark, Blanche Holdridge; missionary, Nelson Schlegel, Barbara Holdridge, Jessel Crouch; recreational, Paul Holdridge, Sarah Gallup, Harry Holdridge.

Twenty five members of St. James guild of Poquetanuck enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Arthur D. Barrett, on Thursday afternoon. All look ahead with pleasant anticipation to the meeting with Mrs. Barrett.

COLUMBIA

Mrs. Cecil Gates, Mrs. Estelle Lyman and Miss Gertrude Gates of Hartford spent the week end at their Columbia cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutchins and family spent Sunday with friends in Jewett City.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lyman of Plainville were week end guests at the home of James Utley.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ericson and two daughters, of Berlin were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gilman and three daughters of Spring Hill were guests Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Henry Isham.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lyman, of Hartford spent the week end with relatives in town.

Ralph Buell has been filling a silo for William Wolf.

Miss Elizabeth Bertsch who is teaching the Jones street school, Hebron, spent the week end at her home here.

Mrs. Charles Fox is spending a few days with Middletown friends.

The new Columbia pastor, Rev. John Howell, gave a very inspiring sermon Sunday morning on the subject "What Are You Worth?" His talk to the children was "The House With the Golden Windows."

Mrs. Julia Little has closed her Columbia home and returned to Hartford for the winter.

Several members of the local C. E. society motored to Andover Sunday evening to join the Andover and Hebron societies in a union meeting. The leaders were Mrs. Ruth Jacobs of the Columbia society and Rogers Porter of the Hebron society.

There is to be a well child conference at the hall Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the state board of health.

The democratic caucus is to be held Thursday evening for the purpose of nominating a representative and justices of the peace.

Mr. and Mrs. George Champlin and Mrs. Jennie Hunt returned Saturday evening after a three-day motor trip over the Storm King highway returning by the Mohawk Trail.

Mrs. Lillian Clarke has gone to Tenefly, N. J., to visit relatives.

DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

How Thin Men and Women Gain in Weight

McCoy's Tablets, sugar-coated and rich in weight building agents are easy to take and will not upset or even disturb the most delicate stomach.

These wonderful health building strength creating, weight producing tablets are now sold in every drug store in North America and millions of them are used every month.

McCoy takes all the risk — Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be refunded.

Just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Lee and Osgood's or any drug store. Distributed by McCoy's Laboratories, Inc., also distributors of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil—there is none better.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Any drugstore has the genuine, prescriptional product.

PHILLIPS Milk of Magnesia

★ When You See this New England FARM LABEL,

A BUNCH of red radishes for a nickel, for instance! Let's suppose there were two boxes of them in your marketman's display of fresh vegetables . . . one plain, ordinary market box, and another bearing this New England Farm Label. As a matter of fact, this actually is an official registered label, safeguarded by law. It is issued only by state Commissioners of Agriculture for the purpose of identifying New England quality farm products produced, graded and packed in accordance with official state standards.

Suppose you knew all that when you saw those radishes. From which box would you have chosen a bunch to take home?

GRADED PRODUCE WINS

Exactly! And that trivial five-cent bit of imaginary marketing illustrates precisely how official grade names and labels will benefit the consumer, giving each purchaser a comfortable feeling of certainty, a sort of official guarantee that the labeled product meets certain definite requirements of quality all the way from the grade that is uniformly best to the uniform, selected lower grades, at lower prices. Moreover, that label marks only things that are locally grown, products that come fresh from farm to market, carefully graded and packed.

But while we're "supposing," would it be unreasonable to suppose that in all probability you might have decided to take two or three bunches of those radishes? They looked so good, all graded to the same average red-and-white plumpness. You knew they'd be fresh and crisp, would keep their peppery sweetness a day or two extra.

GRADING HELPS BUSINESS

That's why the farmers and marketmen like the grading and labeling idea—because it helps business, increases sales and pleases the customers. People like to know what they are buying, like the definite assurance, authority and reliability that goes with standard grades and trade-mark labels. It's the modern way of marketing the products of all alert industries.

The total annual production of New England farms is worth FOUR HUNDRED AND TWENTY-ONE MILLION DOLLARS at market values, yet New England now has to spend other hundreds of millions elsewhere to get enough of these things to feed its own prosperous population. This grading and labeling plan is the heart and soul of the New England Farm Marketing Program sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the New England Council.

IN FIVE STATES NOW

Five New England states have already enacted laws creating authority for the establishment of uniform grades and standards for quality products of New England farms. It is the first great step in a comprehensive program for making agriculture add more and more millions to the economic wealth and prosperity of New England.

REVOLVER FOR WIFE'S ADMIRER GETS NEW LONDON MAN INTO JAIL

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 8—Joseph Dodo, 165 Main street was in the police court this morning charged with intoxication and carrying a concealed weapon. The former charge was noled, but on the latter charge Dodo was fined $10 and costs. Because he couldn't pay Dodo went to jail. Dodo informed the court that recently he discovered that a man was paying attention to the former's wife and when he resented the intimacy between the man and woman, Dodo was set upon and threatened with bodily injury if he interfered with the couple. Dodo said that he feared that he would be attacked by his wife's friend, so he procured the revolver. When Dodo was arrested at the corner of State and North Bank streets Saturday by Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman Cornelius Moriarty, Dodo had a fully loaded 38 calibre revolver in his pocket.

M. T. Tokac, submarine base, was presented on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs. Tokac was arrested on Bank street Saturday afternoon by Traffic Officer Thomas Cavanaugh and after the car driven by the chief petty officer had struck and damaged an automobile driven by Samuel Zabarsky, 510 Ocean avenue. When Officer Cavanaugh arrived it was noticeable that Tokac had been drinking and it was his condition that caused the crash. With Tokac at the time was George M. Conoway, a sailor and he was intoxicated. In court today Conoway was discharged.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of Mrs. Katherine Newcombe of Washington street and Joseph Briand of Lynn, Mass., Oct. 2, by Rev. Michael Reagan, in St. Mary's Star of the Sea church.

Autoists of this city have ben given one week in which to familiarize themselves with the workings of the recently installed automatic electric signalling system. At the expiration of that period all law violators will be arrested, according to a statement made today by City Manager William A. Holt.

BACK TO ISLAND HOME FOR GREENPORT MAIDEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 8—Josephine Oliveri, 20, of Greenport, N. Y., was charged with vagrancy and lascivious carriage, but was not penalized, as she was ordered to return to her home. Policewoman Jane H. Cassidy escorted the young woman to the steamer Shinnecock and saw to it that the court's order was carried out. The young woman was arrested on State street this forenoon by Acting Sergeant William Graham when he observed her walking aimlessly about and being in danger of falling into ways of vice.

Thomas Kanure, 175 Mentauk avenue, charged with violation of the motor vehicle law, was discharged. He was arrested on State street by Patrolman Henry Sylvia when the officer detected the erratic driving of Kanure, who was in a borrowed car, the property of A. Conroy, 21 Huntington street.

Charles J. Mahoney, submarine base, charged with driving an automobile without having a license, was fined $10.

Several cases of intoxication were tried. One offender, and who has been before the court many times, was sentenced to six months in jail, but execution of the sentence was suspended. He was arrested on Church street on Sunday by Patrolmen William Corcoran and Elwood Bailey. Another fellow found on East street Sunday evening was given a suspension of judgment while another arrested at the union station this morning by Acting Sergeant Patrick Murphy and Patrolman Dennis Murphy was fined $10, but execution of the sentence was suspended.

T. E. Aho, United States coast guard academy, was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman William Riordan charged with intoxication and breach of the peace, was discharged, being turned over to a shore patrol and taken back to the academy.

Max Langworthy, Noank, was charged with violation of the city's laws in parking in restricted area on Meridian street. He failed to appear so his bond of $2 was declared forfeited.

KEPT DISORDERLY HOUSE NEAR SUBMARINE BASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 8—Charged with maintaining a disorderly house, John E. Reagan, submarine base and residing near the base, was in the Groton town court this morning. He was fined $25 and costs, but execution of judgment was suspended temporarily that Prosecuting Attorney Harry C. Brogan could make an investigation as to the conditions that have existed at the house within a few weeks. John H. Beamis, Theodore Jackson, Harry Johnson and Frank Steffins, sailors, were charged with frequenting, but their cases were nolled. Eloise Youngar, Betty Adams and Irene Brown, who said that they resided at 159 Shaw street, this city, were also charged with frequenting and the cases were disposed of by the young women being ordered to get out of the borough and stay out. Regan testified that he was having a house party Sunday night and invited his associate sailors and the women to participate in it. The state police had been watching the house a long time and Sunday night when it was known that the sailors and women were there, Sergeant Henry Albright, Officers Donald Brown and Arthur Whitmarsh raided it. Finding Reagan in charge of affairs and the bluejackets and women there all were arrested.

Raymond Bailey, 11 Brewer street, this city, was presented on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs. Bailey paid into the court treasury today $40 and the case was continued in order to permit Bailey to make stipulated monthly payments until the entire fine and costs has been paid. Bailey was driving his automobile in Poquonoc last Thursday night when it collided with a machine driven by Richard Crandall, of West Mystic. Both automobiles were damaged and Mrs. Crandall was injured, though not seriously.

Michael Scalzulla, of this city, entered a demurrer, when charged with reckless driving. He was fined $25 and costs. He paid. Scalzulla was arrested Sept. 2, by Captain of Police Andrew McCarthy on Thames street when Scalzulla drove through that thoroughfare at a big rate of speed. As a result of his act, Scalzulla paid $40.15 into the town treasury.

Guiseppe Mazullo, Brookline, N. Y., charged with driving an automobile with defective brakes, failed to appear in court so his bond of $25 was declared forfeited. Mazullo was arrested at Groton Long Point Sunday afternoon following his car figuring in a minor accident, but which showed that improper brakes was the cause of the crash.

MARGARET MACOMBER POSSIBLE N. Y. SUICIDE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 8—Chief of Inspectors William Lahey, New York police department, tonight informed the police that Margaret Macomber, evidently a resident of New London, had been found dead of gas asphyxiation, probably with suicidal intent, in her apartment and that the body was now at King's county morgue, Brooklyn. Among the woman's effects was found a bank book showing that she had a deposit with the National Bank of Commerce, this city and letters from A. M. Johnson, 183 Norwood avenue, also of this city. The New London police were requested to notify relatives of Mrs. Macomber. Johnson could not be located at his home tonight.

Patrolman Walter Rehn, incapacitated a year ago, having been struck by a Yellow cab, and now ready to resume patrol duty, will not be allowed to don a uniform before the 15th inst., being compelled to take additional treatment before resuming patrol duty. Officer Rehn anticipated being allowed to resun duty tonight.

Mrs. Floyd Turbull, of Ocean beach, who a few days ago informed the police that five rugs had been stolen from the veranda of her home while she was attending a playhouse, tonight notified the police that the rugs had not been stolen. Mrs. Turbull said that she had arranged for the removal of the rugs to a cleaning establishment and while she was absent an employe of the rug concern went to the house and carried them away to the cleaning house.

Henry Schaller, United States Coast Guard academy tonight notified the police that while his automobile was parked on the street, a battery was stolen.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

The realistic, exotic flavor of Billie Dove's latest screen vehicle, "The Yellow Lilly," now playing at the Breed theatre, was largely contributed by Alexander Korda, famous Hungarian director.

When this First National adaptation of Lajos Biro's Hungarian stage play was in preparation, Korda was chosen to direct it because of his familiarity with the locale, as well as his success behind the megaphone in others. His first step was to import props and costumes directly from his native land, Hungary.

Many Hungarian actors appear in the supporting cast, and Korda also brought from Hungary several technical experts. Many eyes and minds were on the problem; and a film treat, filled with the glamor, true color and romance of its exotic setting, resulted.

Clive Brook plays opposite Miss Dove in "The Yellow Lilly," and a large, capable supporting cast is headed by Gustav von Seyffertitz, Jane Winton, Nicholas Soussanin, Marc MacDermott, Bodil Rosing and Charles Puffy.

Smith Club

The weekly meeting of the Smith-Robinson Democratic club will be held tonight, William M. Citron, candidate for congress on the democratic ticket, will address the meeting, and it is expected that Rev. Mr. Gilbert of Middletown will also speak. The club is rapidly growing in membership and the committee in charge urges everyone to send in their membership card.

GALES FERRY

At the Community M. E. church, Rev. Jerome Greer took as his theme, Grace Sufficient, 2 Corinthians 12:9, for the Sunday morning sermon. The offertory selection, The Valley of Peace, was a tenor and alto duet, by D. R. Povey, and Miss Gertrude D. Allen. Flowers provided for the services of the day were late garden and wild flowers, with a bouquet of beautiful gladioli from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland E. Colver, of the Submarine Base.

The Epworth league service at the evening meeting was led by C. E. Colver Jr., the subject being What Are the Facts? The thought was continued by the pastor in his closing talk.

Activities announced on the church calendar included the rally social of the Epworth league chapter, at the vestry Thursday evening at 7:30. A brief quarterly conference is also called for the same evening. All departments of the church are to observe Sunday, Oct. 14, as Rally day. Oct. 21, a gospel team of four, from Wesleyan university, led by David Carter, a former resident here, is expected to conduct services for the day.

The Ladies' Aid society of the church held an all day session at the vestry Thursday. Work was provided on quilt blocks for an order taken by the Long Cove members, and two quilts were tied. A lunch of baked beans, brown bread, salad, pickles, cake and coffee was served. The president, Miss Alice Satterlee, presided at the business session. Twenty-three members and one visitor were present. Mrs. Elmer E. Tubbs was elected vice president, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Nelson Parker. The next meeting is to be held Oct. 26, an all-day session, with a box lunch, for the needle work guild was announced for Oct. 16, at the home of Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham.

Dudley C. Perkins was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland E. Colver, at the Submarine Base, Sunday, and with Mr. Colver attended the funeral of Ralph H. Bailey, in Groton, that afternoon.

The library attendants during September were Mrs. Delphine Fish, Mrs. Nelson Parker and Mrs. Bertha Hoyt.

Don't Risk Neglect!

When Kidneys Slow Up Give Help Promptly.

MANY folks sacrifice health by failing to heed early danger signals.

This is particularly true of kidney disorders. A drowsy listless feeling, lameness and stiffness, constant backache and bladder irregularities are often timely warnings.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's, a stimulant diuretic, increase the activity of the kidneys and thus aid them in carrying off waste impurities. Recommended by thousands.

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's:

I. J. Clark, 47 N. Oakley Ave., Columbus, Ohio, says: "I had a steady pain across my kidneys and stooping was almost impossible. My kidneys were affected so that I had to get up often at night to pass the secretions. A tired feeling sapped my strength and I had headaches and dizzy spells. Doan's Pills drove away the trouble."

AGREEMENT IS SIGNED TO FORWARD PLAN FOR INN AT GOLF CLUB GROUNDS

The preliminary agreement between the officers of the Treadway organization, which proposes to erect a modern 70 room inn on the Norwich Golf club property, and the Norwich chamber of commerce has been signed by the chamber committee, President Harold D. Larrabee, Robert W. Perkins and Judge Nelson J. Ayling. This agreement commits the chamber to cooperate with the Treadway organization's architect, C. M. Hart of New York, in drawing sketches and plans for the new inn.

Three representatives of the Treadway organization will arrive in Norwich Wednesday to meet with members of the chamber committee for a further discussion of the inn plans. Charles W. Taggart, Robert W. Perkins and E. O. Rodier have been appointed a committee to prepare the financial set up for the project.

It is planned to erect the inn at a total cost not to exceed $325,000. Situated on the main highway from Norwich to New London, it is felt by all interested that the new inn will not, in anyway, injure existing hotel organizations, but rather will benefit them.

The directors of the chamber are much gratified with William G. Park's acceptance of the chairmanship of the hotel committee. The appointment was made by President H. D. Larrabee of the chamber. Mr. Park is a former director of the chamber and is president of the Norwich Golf club.

WOMAN'S CITY CLUB PARLIAMENTARY LAW CLASS

A Woman's City club parliamentary law class was organized at a meeting held in the club rooms in the Wauregan hotel at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and will meet every second Monday at that time, for six lessons, with Attorney Charles V. James as instructor. The first lesson on Monday was on opening and closing a meeting, then open discussion and demonstration.

Mrs. W. K. Tingley presided and introduced the speakers. The Roberts revised manual is being used. There was a fairly good attendance at the class in which only club members are eligible for instruction.

FIRE PREVENTION TALKS AT NORWICH SCHOOLS

The fire prevention programme in this city this week will include talks in the schools by Chief Howard L. Stanton, Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft and Captain Dennis J. Brennan on the topic of fire prevention. Capt. Brennan will have charge of the parochial school visitations. Deputy Chief Taft will speak at the West Side schools and Chief Stanton will speak at other schools in the city.

The captains at the various fire stations have been detailed by Chief Stanton to take charge of the cleaning up of the territory in their respective districts.

Pays Fine for Making Disturbance

A fine of $10 and costs was imposed on Peter Lichitsky in the city court Monday morning. He was arrested Sunday evening by Constable L. A. Fenton on charges of intoxication, breach of the peace and resisting arrest. Litchitsky created such a disturbance at Julian place that he was arrested on complaint of a person residing in the neighborhood.

TAFTVILLE

The American flag was at half mast from one until two at the Memorial park in honor of the department soldiers and sailors in connection with the memorial services at the national convention. The flags will be flown every day during the convention which is taking place at San Antonio, Texas.

Miss Blanche Molleur of Hartford, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Molleur of Providence street.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wood of North Third avenue, who sailed on the S. S. Munamar of the Munson line for a cruise to the West Indies with stops at Nassau, Bahama Islands, Havana, Cuba and Miami, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Paulhus of Hartford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Molleur of Providence street.

VOTES $10 FOR AID FOR PORTO RICO RELIEF

The Woman's Mission Circle of the First Baptist church met on Monday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. D. L. Browning on Maple street. Mrs. Browning presided and opened the meeting in the usual form. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read showing a good balance in the treasury.

The society voted $10 and clothing for White Cross work in Porto Rico and Mrs. La Rue Bliven, Mrs. Frank Davis, Mrs. Chas. Bucke and Mrs. Geo. Rathbun were appointed committees for this relief work. It was also voted to do overseas work this winter.

A very interesting program was prepared by Mrs. E. C. Dunbar in the form of a play presented by the World Wide Guild girls entitled, "Cutting the Budget Cake," and the cast of characters were: Hostess, Mrs. E. C. Dunbar; Miss Ionary, Mrs. Wm. H. Amburn; Miss Automobile, Miss Zelda Mowry, Miss Permanent Wave, Miss Olive Rathbun; Mrs. Fur Coat, Mrs. Lloyd Rathbun; Miss Radio, Miss Thelma Marsh; Miss California, Miss Edna Jones; Miss Aeroplane, Miss Doris Pulsifer; Miss Football Dance, Miss Myrtle Greiner. A very pleasing piano solo, "Queen of the May," was played by Miss Edith Billings. At the close daint ryefreshments were served by the hostess assisted by the W. W. G. girls. There were 28 members present.

UNDER SUSPENDED FINE FOR WORKING ON SUNDAY

One of the 27 cases that came up in the city court Monday morning was that of Philip Kuharenko, who was arrested Sunday on a charge of violation of the Sunday labor law. He was at work razing the building on the Franklin square site recently purchased by the Metropolitan Chain Store Co. The concern which has the contract for the razing of the building asked permission a week or so ago of City Attorney Charles W. Cassidy to work on the tearing down of the building on Sunday. The city attorney refused to grant the permission asked but informed the concern that he would not interfere unless there was a complaint.

A complaint was made Sunday by W. A. Somers who owns the adjoining building occupied on the ground floor by the Chelsea lunch. The accused man was at work tearing down a brick wall Sunday and it is said that bricks were dropping into the Chelsea lunch chimney. Mr. Somers ordered the man to stop work and he refused. The complaint and Kuharenko's arrest followed. As the result of the court hearing Monday a fine of $25 was imposed on Kuharenko with judgment suspended for 60 days.

STORRS JUDGING TEAM STARTS FOR MEMPHIS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 8—Three Connecticut Agricultural college juniors, members of the victorious cattle judging team that took first place at the Eastern States exposition at Springfield recently, left this morning for Memphis, Tenn., where they will participate at the national dairy show with other college teams from all over the country this Saturday. The members of the team are John Visny of Bethel, Austin D. Lathrop of Montville, and George A. Jackson of Hardwick, Mass. They will make the journey in a car owned by Robert E. Johnson, coach of the team and a member of the Storrs experiment staff. They will motor to Washington, D. C., from where they will complete the journey by train. On the trip the quartet will stop at several farms in order to do some practice judging.

TRIO OF NEW YORK YOUTHS ORDERED OUT OF TOWN

The three New York youths arrested Sunday evening by Officer Michael Dewire as suspicious characters and who turned out to be a trio wanted by the police for beating an 11 year old boy at the Falls section, were ordered to get out of town Monday morning when their cases came up in the city court. According to the boy's testimony, the youths who hail from the East Side in New York, accosted him at a spring in the Falls section and asked for a drink out of the gallon jug of water he had. He refused to let them drink out of the jug and one of the youths knocked him down. The boy's father complained to the police. The New Yorkers, who, according to their story, made the trip from New York to New London on the "ferry" are Rudolph Zuschick, 17, Danny Blafford, 18, and James Vitale, 17. One of them had a rabbit with him when taken in charge by Officer Dewire. He claimed he found the rabbit on a street.

COMMERCE CHAMBER ANNUAL TO HAVE CHICAGO SPEAKER

The directors of the Norwich chamber of commerce at their meeting Monday noon at the Wauregan hotel, made final plans for the annual banquet and election of directors which will take place Tuesday evening of next week at 6:15 o'clock at the Wauregan hotel. An unusually attractive programme has been arranged for the meeting. J. W. Griest of Chicago, Ill., who has a national reputation as a forceful and energetic speaker will address the meeting on the subject, "Our Community Assets and Liabilities."

John H. Walters of Bridgeport, a familiar entertainer throughout the state will speak on "Innocuous Nebulosity." Mr. Walters has given advance notice of his subject so that those who will attend the meeting will have an opportunity to read up on it and be in a position to check his remarks.

During the past few months he has spoken before chambers of commerce in Bristol, Lakeville, Hartford, Plainville and New Haven and has also addressed numerous other groups such as insurance, banking and even fishing groups.

Another feature of the meeting will be an entertainment programme by a trio comprising Nicholas J. Spellman, Edward T. Connelly and M. J. Farrell. Their programme will includes solos, duets, trios, whistling imitations and calls by Mr. Farrell and humorous stories. The publicity booklets being prepared by the chamber will be on hand for distribution before the annual meeting.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE COMPARES PARTY PLANKS

Those parts of the state party platforms which deal with the subject matter of the planks suggested by the Connecticut League of Women Voters appear in the October issue of "The Woman Voter's Bulletin," the organ of the league. Under headings which indicate the content, planks from republican, democratic and socialist platforms are printed for comparison in parallelled columns.

Planks favoring jury service for women, which has been a major legislative activity of the league, appear in the socialist and in the democratic platforms. A plank calling for shorter hours for women in industry, another legislative interest of the league, appears only in the socialist platform.

On the question of state aid for education, the republicans favor "such distribution as shall secure better opportunities of education for all children in Connecticut," and the democrats the verbatim statement of the league, "such re-distribution as shall secure more equitable opportunities for all children." None of the platforms include the suggested plank calling for state aid for special classes for mentally handicapped children.

The republicans, after praising the administration of state institutions, include in their platform the league's plank which called for the "development of a comprehensive preventive program which increased appropriation for state departments and the institutions responsible for carrying out such a program."

The democrats state that the republicans have "consistently cut down on appropriations requested by agencies which care for dependents, defectives and delinquents" and that "it would be economical as well as charitable to undertake more constructive and preventive work in the field of public health."

The democratic platform calls for a commission to study tax conditions and to make recommendations, which was urged by the league. The republican platform promises continuation of "improvements in methods of taxation."

The league asked for "continued effort to determine what consolidation of departments of the state will secure greater economy and efficiency." The democrats after stating that there are seventy-nine commissions and boards concerned in the government of the state, pledges itself to work for a reorganization of the executive side of the state on the model of that effected by Governor Smith in New York. The republican platform states that the board of control and finance has in fifteen months been of invaluable assistance to every other department and institution in the state, and "we believe that it will devise methods for even greater efficiency in the management of our state institutions and departments."

On the question of law enforcement the republican plank contains the verbatim statement of the league, "We believe that obedience to laws is a fundamental requisite of orderly government, and that only by enforcement of existing laws can the nation command the respect of the citizens."

The democrats state, "We endorse wholeheartedly the position taken by Governor Smith in regard to the amendment of the eighteenth amendment and the modification of the Volstead act."

Undertaker C. A. Gager sent the body of Mrs. Alexander Bernier, 32, to Sanford, Me., Sunday evening and burial took place there Monday afternoon. Mrs. Bernier died in Willimantic Friday.

HEALTH WORK STARTS IN VARIOUS LINES

One thousand one hundred and fifteen calls were made by the public health nurses during the month of September, 111 new patients were admitted to care and 218 visits were made to children's conferences. The tuberculosis clinic has reopened and will be held every Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 4 at No. 9 Washington street. This clinic is made possible by the state tuberculosis commission and is in charge of Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Uncas-on-Thames. People in need of chest examinations who find it impossible to employ a specialist are welcomed at this clinic. The clinic reopened on Sept. 25 and since that time 17 patients have been examined.

POETRY

Song of the Seasons

Sing a song of Springtime,
The world is going round,
Blown by the south wind:
Listen to its sound.
"Gurgle" goes the millwheel,
"Cluck" clucks the hen;
And it's O for a pretty girl
To kiss in the glen.

Sing a song of Summer,
The world is nearly still,
The millpond has gone to sleep,
And so has the mill.
Shall we go a-sailing,
Or shall we take a ride,
Or dream the afternoon away
Here, side by side?

Sing a song of Autumn,
The world is going back;
They glean in the cornfield,
And stamp on the stack.
Our boy, Charlie,
Tall, strong and light;
He shoots all the day
And dances all the night.

Sing a song of Winter,
The world stops dead;
Under snowy coverlid
Flowers lie abed.
There's hunting for the young ones
And wine for the old,
And a sexton in the churchyard
Digging in the cold.

—Cosmo Monkhouse.

Dew

The spider hangs her web from thorn to thorn
Or ties it to a wet uncertain leaf
Or in the late-cut cornfield on a sheaf
That stackwards in an hour or two is borne,
Not long her weaving shall remain unton
Nor long can hold the burden of bright dew
That shines while day is new
On hedge and grass and corn. . . .
Yet, it may be, this evening, when the shade
Moves from the corner between wood and field,
I shall find there revealed
One web still not unmade,
One web whose dew, long shadow-guarded, lay
To make new worlds out of the slanting light.
And now on every strand they glimmer bright
And all their day this golden end of day.

—Edward Shanks, in Saturday Review (London).

WEATHER IS UNFAVORABLE FOR FLIGHT OF ZEPPELIN

Dr. Hugo Eckner, Pilot, is Hopeful That the Big Dirigible Might Be Able to Start Flight For United States This Afternoon—Crowds Are Pouring Into Friedrichshafen, Germany, to See the Mammoth Aircraft Take Off.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., Oct. 9—(AP)—An exceptionally unfavorable weather forecast today caused postponement of the start of the trans-Atlantic voyage of the Graf Zeppelin, which had been set tentatively for tomorrow morning. Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is to pilot the big dirigible said, however, that he might be able to get away tomorrow afternoon.

A steadily falling barometer, coupled with a noticeable rise in temperature made conditions which Dr. Eckener said it would be insane to try to overcome.

"There is a dirty weather hole right here which we would have difficulty in getting out of," he explained, pointing to the Friedrichshafen section of the map. "And we would have a still more difficult time getting out of another dirty hole on the course, which I have constantly in mind."

When asked where this "other dirty hole" was located, he responded:

"Ah that is my secret," thus adhering to the policy of not discussing the route which he expects to take toward America.

In fact Dr. Eckener and other officers of the ship have said frequently that their course would not be decided definitely until the dirigible is in the air. His hopes for a start late Wednesday were based upon the possible swift dissipation of a low pressure area.

Right up to the time that the weather report was received at six p. m. there was an air of feverish expectancy around the hangar of the huge balloon ship.

The general excitement in the town was enhanced hourly by the number of new arrivals who came on every train or in motor cars. The sleepy place has gradually changed until today it was seething like a small metropolis.

The flying field was the mecca of all but a large proportion of the visitors were disappointed. It is becoming more diffi ult daily to get past the guards around the airship, the old passes having all been cancelled and the process of procuring new ones having been made more involved.

The last complete overhauling of the ship was finished today. Supplies of hydrogen elevating gas and of the mixed fuel gas for the motors were checked up and the water ballast tanks were replenished. Stores of victuals were put aboard and the baggage of the passengers limited to 55 pounds each, was put in the compartments reserved for it.

Only one addition remains to be made to the personnel of the ship. A meteorologist is yet to be chosen. It was definitely announced that Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, U. S. N., commander of the dirigible Los Angeles, would be aboard. So will Colonel Herrera of the Spanish-South American Airship company, a concern which is thought to be considering the purchase of the big dirigible for regular freight and passenger traffic between Spain and Brazil. Another official guest added today was Prof. Ludwig Kaas, one of the leaders of the German centrist party in the Reichstag.

The mails for America were definitely closed tonight. A postal cargo of 56,000 letters, cards and parcels will compose the shipment.

BYRD MAY SAIL TODAY FOR THE ANTARCTIC SEA

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 9—(AP)—Loading of the whaler O. A. Larsen, flagship of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, was under way here tonight with the prospect that Commander Richard E. Byrd would be able to sail tomorrow for his attempt to conquer the south pole by air.

The whaler docked here at noon today to take on fuel and supplies. With work being rushed under the personal supervision of Commander Byrd it was believed the vessel would be ready to put to sea in 24 hours.

Most of the equipment and working materials for the 15 scientists, engineers, aviators and others making the projected two year trip to the south polar regions is aboard three other ships of the expedition which already are on their way to New Zealand, the first rendezvous of the adventurer. Only tons of provisions and 10,000 barrels of oil remained to be borne southward by the flagship.

Commander Byrd was completely rid of the cold that bothered him since his arrival here last week and was reported eager to get under way on the first leg of the exploration trip which will keep him and his companions in the Antarctic for several years.

MORE THAN 100 MEN BURIED IN COLLAPSE OF BUILDING

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 9—(AP)—Collapse of an eight story stone office building being erected in the heart of the city buried more than 100 workmen, the majority of whom were believed to have been killed. Eighteen bodies had been recovered tonight.

The collapse was attended by tremendous detonations from the falling girders and hundreds of tons of masonry, the populace of the vicinity was terrified. Every available emergency organization, salvage corps and hospital unit was rushed to the scene. Both chambers of parliament suspended their sittings, and with the cabinet the entire membership hastened to where the rescue work was in progress.

The falling walls piled the narrow street high with tangled debris. A score of persons in a passing trolley car were seriously injured while numbers of pedestrians were treated for lesser hurts. The catastrophe occurred at a time when the business streets were thronged.

Government authorities attributed the collapse to defective cement and hasty and faulty construction. The contractor had pledged himself to pay a fine for each day beyond January 1, that the building was uncompleted and he had given orders to speed up the work in order to avoid such penalties.

SEN. CURTIS ENDORSES CANDIDACY OF LAFOLLETTE

SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 9—(AP)—Endorsement of the candidacy of Senator Lafollette, republican progressive, who has said nothing yet about the Hoover-Curtis national ticket, was given today in a speech by Senator Charles Curtis of that ticket.

Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, spoke a good word for leaders of both of the warring Wisconsin republican factions. He called for the election of Walter Kohler, republican gubernatorial nominee, who belongs to the conservative wing which has endorsed Herbert Hoover and whose faction opposes the Lafollette group.

In the next breath he declared for "the election of that brilliant young man who has succeeded his father in the senate, Robert M. Lafollette. Likewise he recalled with words of praise the record of Irvine L. Lenroot, former senator of this state, who is managing the Hoover campaign here.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—A $200,000,000 motion picture combination, through which Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., obtains control of the Vitaphone corporation, the Stanley Company of America and First National Pictures, Inc., was announced tonight in a joint statement issued by H. M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers and Vitaphone, and Irving D. Rossheim, president of Stanley company and First National.

WATKINS DESCRIBED AS WIZARD OF FINANCE

HARTFORD, Oct. 9—(AP)—The wizard of high finance was described by witness after witness in the superior court today and when the picture was completed he stood revealed as Roger W. Watkins, the defendant who was charged with embezzling $141,000 from the child of his own brain, the National Associated Investors, Inc.

Out of nothing he created a corporation, the Power and Light Utilities company, and carried on the over-burdened books of the N. A. I. as an asset representing $150,000. The wizardry of this fact was related by Watkins' office man, J. Verner Anderson, who told of going to Delaware, the mother state of corporations, and paying $1,761 for a charter for the fictitious company on March 1, 1927, two days before he resigned in disgust and a month before Watkins fled from the city.

SMITH IN CONFERENCE WITH DEM. LEADERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith arrived in New York at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon from Albany. The democratic presidential candidate, who travelled down the Hudson by train, was welcomed at Grand Central station by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, Jr., and by John J. Reardon, the governor's personal friend.

The candidate went to the Biltmore hotel where several leaders, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic gubernatorial nominee, were waiting to confer with him.

THOUSANDS OF PERSONS SAW GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 9—(AP)—Several thousand persons, gathered about a scoreboard near the city hall this afternoon, saw a 10-year-old girl fatally injured by a truck. The child was placed in another truck but died on the way to a hospital.

The driver, Stanley Dydowicz, who said the child dashed from between parked cars, was arrested on a charge of dangerous driving. Several witnesses told police Dydowicz was watching the scoreboard when the girl was hit.

The child was identified at the hospital as Blanche Vadnais, of 50 Ellsworth avenue.

MEANS FOR CONTROLLING FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Two hundred representatives of the periodical publishing industry, meeting here today in a conference called by the federal trade commission to discuss means of controlling fraudulent advertising, decided that the National Better Business bureau was the most effective agency for aiding in the prevention of frauds in advertising.

The publishers passed a resolution requesting that organization "to advise publishers generally whenever an advertisement is established by the bureau to be fraudulent" after the bureau had "made reasonable investigation and given notice to the persons complained of."

A NEWSPAPER MAN CITED FOR "OUTSTANDING SERVICE"

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—A Florida newspaper man—D. H. Conkling of the Palm Beach Post—who waded through flood waters to give the first news of the recent hurricane to the Associated Press through two amateur operators, has been cited for "outstanding service" by the board of directors of the news gathering organization. The radio operators, Ralph Hollis and Forrest W. Dana, are to be the recipients of suitable awards.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Oct. 9—(AP)—The new hospital at the Brattleboro retreat was inspected today by 175 members of the New England Society of Psychiatry, who came here for their autumn meeting. Dr. E. H. Cohoon, of Medford, Mass., and Dr. Arthur Ruggles, of Providence, spoke. The address of welcome was by Rev. E. S. Osgood, of the retreat trustees. Papers were read by Dr. R. G. Hoskins, of Harvard Medical college and Dr. L. G. Lowry, of New York.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

LONDON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The bishops of the church of England were charged with "seditious conspiracy" in connection with their policy toward the revised prayerbook, in a statement issued tonight by the League of Loyal Churchmen.

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 9—(AP)—Myles Yutaka Fukunaga, 19 year old kidnaper and slayer of Gill Jamieson, 10, was sentenced to hang by Judge Alva E. Steadman. Governor Wallace R. Farrington will fix the date for the execution within three weeks under the laws of the territory.

SANTOS, Brazil, Oct. 9—(AP)—The dismembered body of a young woman was found in a suitcase on board the steamer Massilia just before it was to sail for Buenos Aires yesterday. Furnished with a description of a man who had been sitting on the case on the dock for some time, the police arrested Jose Pistone, 30, who confessed that he had strangled his wife because she had been unfaithful.

CONNOLLY SPENT OR LOANED $125,860 IN 1926

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Testimony that Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Connolly had spent or loaned $125,860 during 1926 when Connolly's salary as president of Queens borough was $15,000 was introduced today at the trial of Connolly and Frederick Seely on charges of conspiracy to defraud the city through sewer contracts.

With the aid of several witnesses, Emory R. Buckner, special prosecutor, brought out that Connolly had loaned considerable sums out of his pocket and that the defendant had been seen with rolls of thousand dollar bills. Some of the expenditures, testimony said, were for real estate part of which was bought by Mrs. Connolly and some were loans to friends for real estate deals. The property purchases totalled $90,000.

Buckner endeavored to offer Connolly's 1926 income tax return in evidence, but the objection of Max Steuer, defense counsel, was sustained by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins.

FEW IMPORTANT CHANGES IN NATION'S CROP PROSPECTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Comparatively few important changes in the nation's crop prospects were noted during the past month by the department of agriculture which today created its September 1 forecast of yields approximately three per cent. above the average for the past ten years.

Another slight slump in corn estimates was registered by the crop reporting board which placed the indicated production of this crop at 2,903,272,000 bushels, 28,000,000 below last month's estimate and about 100,000,000 below the August forecast. The new figure is still 13,000,000 bushels above last year's harvest.

As the total acreage this year exceeds last year's by two per cent. the department said, "the total production of all crops seems likely to exceed production last year by around five per cent.

HOPPE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 9—(AP)—Stephen Hoppe today pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree in the slaying of Patrolman Alfred N. Hollis, of Quincy, and was sentenced by Judge Keating to life imprisonment at hard labor in the state prison in Charlestown. Hoppe's plea was made immediately after a jury in the Norfolk county superior court here, which had deliberated more than 20 hours on the evidence submitted in his murder trial, had reported a disagreement.

Patrolman Hollis was slain just before daybreak on the morning of October 4, last year by a burglar whom he had surprised in the act of looting a store in Quincy. Hoppe, a notorious jail breaker, was arrested charged with the murder. He contended, in his defense, that at the time of the crime he was living in Hartford, Conn., and had not been absent from that city.

SMITH TO CONFER WITH DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Governor Smith arrived here late today from Albany for a 30 hour stay during which he will confer with democratic leaders before the start of his campaign trip into the south and border states.

The campaign sally of the presidential nominee will mark an unusual campaign procedure for a democratic standard-bearer with his invasion of the "solid south" usually democratic presidential candidates have not entered that section. The governor's trip will, however, be only through two southern states—Virginia and North Carolina—and he will make no speeches and only brief stops at five cities for the purpose of rear platform appearances.

The candidate then will invade Tennessee for conference with party chieftains in two cities. At Louisville, Ky., he will deliver the seventh speech of his campaign over a nation-wide radio hookup. His itinerary from the Kentucky city has not yet been formulated.

THREE DEATHS CAUSED EARTHQUAKE IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 9—(AP)—Deaths of one child and two workmen by the earthquake which rocked the capital and nine states of Mexico last night were discovered by a police checkup today. At least five other persons were injured by falling walls.

Buildings were damaged or destroyed over a wide area and in many places the inhabitants camped in the open for the balance of the night. In the town of Chalco, in the state of Mexico, the prisoners in the town jail mutinied during the shock but were subdued by the guards.

Dispatches from Vera Cruz said that the shock was strong enough to ring the bells in the cathedral tower.

OBITUARY

Rev. Charles W. Leffingwell

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 9—(AP)—The Rev. Charles W. Leffingwell, 83, well known educator, clergyman and writer, and for 40 years rector of St. Mary's school for girls which he founded in 1868 at Knoxville, Ills., died at his home today.

Born in Tolland county, Connecticut, Dr. Leffingwell was graduated from Knox college, Galesburg, Ills. After founding St. Mary's and becoming its rector, he acted also as assistant rector of St. James' church in Chicago.

Rhode Island Dem. State Convention

Archambault Nominated For Governor—Gerry Renominated for United States Senator.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 9—(AP)—State Senator Alberic A. Archambault, of West Warwick late this afternoon, was nominated for governor by the democratic state convention on the fifth ballot, defeating three opponents. The vote on the final ballot follows:

Archambault 131, Theodore Francis Green, 58, former Lieut. Gov. Felix A. Toupin, 4. Former Senator Robert E. Quinn, entered the struggle on the fourth ballot but received few votes. Support which had been given to Toupin on the early ballots was thrown to Archambault at the finish.

Earlier in the day, U. S. Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, was re-nominated by the convention by an unanimous vote. Senator Gerry will oppose Judge Felix Herbert who was nominated by the republican state convention last week, while Senator Archambault will oppose Gov. Norman S. Case, the republican nominee.

FIND 18 PERSONS WERE VICTIMS OF WOOD ALCOHOL

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Autopsies by Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, definitely established today that 18 of the 34 persons who died of alcoholic poisoning over the week end, had been victims of wood alcohol, each examination revealing traces of the poison in fatal quantities.

In announcing the result of the autopsies, Dr. Norris said he believed the "epidemic" had ended, inasmuch as no additional cases were coming in, an indication he thought that the source of the deadly liquor had been shut off.

Possibility that all or part of the supply of poisonous drink might have found its way into the city's speakeasies, through a "leakage" from a $10,000 shipment of wood alcohol at Syracuse recently was considered today by investigating officials. M. M. Haertel, of Cranford, N. J., manufacturer of wood alcohol informed Dr. Norris, medical examiner, that this shipment was made by his company and had been "tapped" on the way from Syracuse. In this way, it was thought the poisonous liquor may have reached the city.

Police and federal agents intensified their activity in cleaning up the speakeasies of the lower East Side, where most of the victims were found. Ten persons arrested in raids last night were held in $3,000 bail each today by U. S. Commissioner Cotter for hearing October 21 on a charge of possessing liquor. The amount of bail is six times larger than the usual figure for the charge. Government chemists were still busy today analyzing the confiscated liquor.

NOMINES HOOVER TO DISCUSS FOREIGN TRADE AND TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover has decided to discuss foreign trade and the tariff in his speech at Boston next Monday night and if he has sufficient time will go into the merchant marine question.

This was disclosed at the headquarters of the republican presidential candidate today as he began to work out the form of his address in the Hub city. At the same time, plans were made for a conference tomorrow with Charles D. Hilles republican national committeeman for New York, and Edmond Machold, New York state chairman when they will talk over the details of his visit there on the following week.

A tentative program for the New York trip already has been worked out by George Akerson, personal secretary of the nominee, who visited that city yesterday. The candidate's party probably will arrive there early in the morning of October 22 and he will spend the day in conferring with various eastern party leaders, speaking at Madison Square Garden that evening and returning immediately afterward to Washington.

On his Boston trip, Hoover will leave Washington Sunday night and make but two stops—at Springfield and Worcester—before detraining at Newtonville for an hour and a half drive through the Boston suburbs to Boston common. After his speech that night, he will leave immediately for the return trip.

DEM. NOMINEE FOR SENATOR IN FIRST DIST.

HARTFORD, Oct. 9—(AP)—Michael A. O'Connor, building contractor, won the democratic nomination for state senator in the first district primary tonight, defeating John A. Markham by a vote of 1,332 to 1,055. Connor carried 13 precincts, Markham carried eight and the candidates tied in one voting dsitrict. The contest was not marked by a heavy vote, precinct after precinct reporting less than half of the registered democratic vote going to the polls. The lowest vote for both candidates was in precinct 141, where the candidates were tied, each getting 14 votes.

MRS. ARMSTRONG TO GO TO PRIVATE SANITARIUM

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Amy Armstrong, wife of Harry Armstrong, author of "Sweet Adeline" and other songs, consented in supreme court today to go to a private sanitarium in Stamford, Conn., and thus ended the legal proceedings she had brought to escape the observation ward in Bellevue hospital.

Mrs. Armstrong was temporarily released from the hospital on a writ of habeas corpus granted by Supreme Court Justice Mullan. Mrs. Armstrong declared that her husband took her to the hospital.

TO CONSIDER REQUEST OF TEXTILE COUNCIL

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 9—(AP)—The Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association will meet Thursday morning to consider a request of the textile council, representing mill operatives, for a wage increase of five and a half per cent., effective as of October 8, it was announced here today.

The call for the meeting was issued this afternoon as a result of a conference between the executive committee of the Manufacturers' association and the textile council last night at which the wage demands of the operatives were placed before the owners.

Two Yale Seniors On Trial For Hold-Up

Alexander Knapp of Baltimore and Sydney R. Prince, Jr., in Court at Waynesboro, Pa.

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Oct. 9—(AP)—Two Yale seniors went on trial here today on charges of assault with intent to rob and impersonating an officer.

The youths, Alexander Knapp of Baltimore and Sydney R. Prince, Jr., of Washington, are accused of holding up a grocery truck owned and driven by H. M. Rowe of Waynesboro early on the morning of Sept. 4. Police said they thought the truck contained liquor.

A jury was selected today and testimony will be presented tomorrow. Prince, who is the son of the general solicitor for the Southern Railway company and Knapp, have retained three Waynesboro attorneys to defend them.

LEGIONAIRES WERE JOYFUL IN PARADE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The measured tread of marching feet, familiar in wartime days, reechoed through the streets of San Antonio today as 10,000 former service men and members of the American Legion auxiliary passed in review before countless spectators who greeted each state's delegation with cheers.

Beginning shortly before noon, the line of marchers, a blend of multi-colored uniforms, required more than four hours to pass the historic Alamo building, near which National Commander Edward E. Spafford, General John J. Pershing, Field Marshal Allenby of Great Britain, Governor Dan Moody of Texas and other dignitaries, watched the one-time doughboys stride by.

Legionnaires who marched today under the burning rays of sunshine were not the serious faced boys who were to encounter the grimness of war more than ten years ago.

Smiles lighted their faces and few made any attempt to keep step with the strains of martial music that filled the air. Instead they passed by in none too perfect file shouting greetings to friends in the vast assemblage of spectators who crowded every available platform and peered down from windows of office buildings in the business districts, or engaged in good humored raillery with San Antonio citizens about their weather.

As varied as the uniforms they wore were the tunes which post bands blared as the column moved past clicking cameras. Some played military music and others, like Wisconsin and California, filled the air with notes of their state song. Marchers behind them picked up the words and sang lustily.

An outbreak of laughter greeted the Doodle-Rorfer band of Peru, Ill., attired as German musicians, and the Leavenworth, Kans., drum corps was dressed in convicts' stripes. Many delegates rode bicycles.

The greatest demonstration of the day went to 120 disabled soldiers from the Veterans' Bureau hospital at Kerrville, Texas, who rode by in motor buses.

200,000 PERSONS MASSACRED BY FANATIC MOSLEMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Reports of a massacre of 200,000 persons by fanatic Moslems in Kansu province, China, were received today by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, chairman of the China famine relief organization in New York city, in a letter from Leighton F. Rand China Inland Mission, at Lanchowfu, Kansu.

Rand, who is foreign member of the Kansu famine relief committee, appealed to Dr. Cadman to include this province in the organization's work of Christian charity.

The letter told of the privations and miseries of the inhabitants, and of the earthquake that killed 35,000 last year and reduced 100,000 to poverty, which Rand said had been followed by a succession of calamities.

"The most tragic touch," he wrote Dr. Cadman, "has been added by the insurrection of Moslems who form a third of the population of the province. Though starting in the appearance here and there of unorganized robber bands, it has spread like wild fire and has now become just such a Mohammedan rebellion as has on several previous occasions in the past century laid waste the province and decimated its population. From reports already in from the country districts, the known massacred exceed two hundred thousand."

YOUTHS ESCAPED FROM CHESHIRE REFORMATORY

MERIDEN, Oct. 9—(AP)—Andrew Bernski and Walter Wolanske, 18 year old youths of this city, escaped tonight from the Cheshire reformatory, according to information received by the local police.

The youths were committed to the reformatory from the local police court on July 27 of this year on two counts of burglary and on a charge of attempted burglary.

Almost simultaneously with these escapes, two boys made a successful break at the state school for boys here. One of the boys, according to the school authorities, is a resident of Bridgeport; while the address of the second boy was given as the Middlesex county home.

POISONOUS LIQUOR BREWED FROM GARBAGE

HARTFORD, Oct. 9—(AP)—Poisonous liquor, brewed from garbage and stewed vegetables, is filtering into Hartford from an unknown source, authorities said tonight after an investigation which determined that Henry Honce, 26 years old sailor, of the navy, had died from its effects.

Honce was home on a furlough when he bought the liquor from which he died Monday in Hartford hospital. Medical Examiner Henry N. Cosiello conducted an autopsy and following his report, police began a widespread investigation.

BOY KILLED BY VIOLENT WIND STORM IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 9—(AP)—A boy was killed in a violent wind storm that swept Montreal and vicinity today. The wind, which lasted only a few minutes, blew down trees and telephone and electric light poles. Lights were off for a portion of the afternoon and street car service in one section was interrupted for three hours.

TO REHABILITATE TEXTILE INDUSTRY OF NEW ENGLAND

New Company, Chartered Under the Laws of Delaware, Will Purchase and Operate Converting Houses in the North and South—Stock of the New Company Has Been Underwritten by Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 9—(AP)—A plan for the rehabilitation of the New England textile industry through the formation of the Merchants and Manufacturers Inc., with Homer Loring, of Boston as the prime mover, was announced today. The new company, chartered under the laws of Delaware, will purchase and operate converting houses in the north and south.

The capitalization of the new company consists of 150,000 shares of six per cent authorized cumulative preferred stock with 50,000 shares presently offered, and 300,000 shares of no par common authorized and outstanding and underwritten by Kidder Peabody and Company, of Boston; and offered at 107 1-2. With each share of preferred stock offered is given a bonus of one share of no par common. Mr. Loring and his associates retain 250,000 shares of common stock.

The purpose of the financing is to acquire interests in the converting houses of Cohn-Hall and Marx, the Seneca company, and a third house not named, it was announced.

Mr. Loring will be president and Max Marx, vice president. The common stock is to be held in a voting trust with Loring and Marx as trustees and the First National bank of New York as arbiter.

It was stated that additional finishing plants will be acquired at opportune times. The plans will maintain their organizations and act as separate units.

Mr. Loring, formerly chairman of the board of the Boston and Main railroad, also consolidated three large banks in this city as a step toward building up the textile industry.

PHILA. DETECTIVE GUILTY EXTORTION AND BRIBERY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9—(AP)—Herbert W. Layre, a district detective was convicted by a jury today of extortion and bribery in accepting money from saloonkeepers for protection. The jury was out one hour and a half.

Among those who heard the verdict were former Police Captain William C. Knoell, under whose command Layre had served, and John W. Sells, another district detective, both of whom had pleaded guilty on the same charge. Sentence was deferred pending an appeal.

Layre was the first of the police arrested as the result of the special grand jury's investigation of bootleggers and police corruption to be convicted by a jury. He is 46 years old and had been a member of the police force for twenty years. About 35 other policemen and police officials are under arrest in connection with the investigation.

"BOSSY" GILLIS MAY GET GAS STORAGE PERMIT

BOSTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, of Newburyport, although striving to conduct the affairs of his office from the confines of the Salem jail, still may be granted a gasoline storage permit, the lack of which has been the cause of his recent troubles.

State Fire Marshal George C. Neal announced that he would grant a permit to store and sell gasoline to the self-styled "Newburyport's bad boy" providing he agrees to laying a sidewalk around the site of his gasoline station and constructing ramps in front of the station.

Mayor Gillis was sentenced to two months in the Salem jail and to pay fines aggregating $545 in the Salem superior court last week, after having pleaded guilty to various violations of law in connection with the operation of his filling station, which was violently opposed by some of the residents of Newburyport.

ASSERTS THE U. S. NEEDS UPWARD TARIFF REVISION

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9 (AP)—A serious economic period is confronting the industrial structure of the United States, requiring immediate upward tariff revision, Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania said in an address tonight before the Union League club. The speech was broadcast over a hook up of 12 stations.

Governor Fisher, urging the election of Herbert Hoover, assailed the democrats for sponsoring "false issue". He questioned the sincerity of their tariff plank and warned against the invasion of foreign-made products.

The situation had become so grave, he said, that the present tariff schedules must be raised to give the American manufacturer adequate protection from foreign importations, which have increased until "the volume of imports is now as large as in the final year of the democratic non-protective Simmons Underwood act."

THREE OCEAN LINERS BATTERED BY GALES

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Battered by one of the worst gales in years in transatlantic passage, three ocean liners made port today with many of their passengers bruised and shaken up by the stormy experience. None was seriously injured.

The Hamburg-American liner Albert Ballin which went through the gale to give aid to the Dutch freighter Celaeno off the Newfoundland coast, docked one day late. Those who had suffered from the rough passage were able to walk ashore unassisted.

The White Star liner Baltic which also tried to help the Celaeno bore evidence of the storm's fury.

The Atlantic transport liner Minnetonka reached her pier 36 hours late, having been forced to heave to for 28 hours at the worst period of the hurricane. A lifeboat was washed away and ventilators damaged.

MRS. WILLEBRANDT AGAIN ATTACKS SMITH'S RECORD

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9—(AP)—Governor Smith's stand as the democratic presidential nominee was critically dealt with in a campaign address here tonight by Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general. Attacking the governor's position on immigration, prohibition and administration she asserted that New York state's debt during Smith's administration had increased, while a republican national administration was cutting down the nation's debt.

Prof. William A. Speck

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 9—(AP)—Prof. William A. Speck, curator of the collection of classical German literature in the Yale library, died today in St. Raphael's hospital following an illness of several months. He was internationally known as a Goethe scholar. He came to Yale as curator in 1913.

NOMINATED TO HEAD SPANISH WAR VETS

HAVANA, Oct. 9—(AP)—William L. Grayson, of Savannah, Ga., today was unanimously nominated as national commander of the United Spanish War Veterans at the first business session of the thirtieth annual convention. Otto H. Bagh of Minnesota was nominated for senior vice-commander and Frank E. Shay, of Hartford, Conn., for junior vice-commander. Contests developed for the posts of chaplain and other officials which will be determined by the balloting on Thursday.

The auxiliary gave unanimous nomination to Mrs. Olive Rabens of Michigan for president and to Muriel Greer of Connecticut as vice-president. The auxiliary elections are also scheduled for Thursday. Several resolutions were discussed, including one petitioning congress for increased pensions, but action on them was left over.

General John J. Garrity, national commander, opened the meeting this morning in the National theatre. Admiral Hugh Wiley, commander of the Atlantic fleet, appealed to the veterans for support of a naval policy which would leave the United States second to none. Winfield Scott, commissioner of pensions at Washington was also a speaker.

After their business session the veterans attended a jai-alai game and went on sightseeing trips about the city. They will parade tomorrow to the Maine Memorial where services for the dead will be held.

MEMBERS OF LABOR UNIONS ADVISED TO VOTE FOR SMITH

BOSTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The executive council of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor, today made public a recommendation urging members of labor unions to vote for Gov. Smith, the democratic presidential candidate. The recommendation was made after a study by a committee of the records of both presidential candidates and of the platforms adopted by the parties.

The recommendation described the campaign as offering "a clear-cut national referendum on the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act." It said further that subsequent to the acceptance speeches of the two candidates racial prejudice and religious bigotry had been injected into the campaign and that "willing or not, Mr. Hoover's candidacy must bear the opprobrium of the injection of these elements——"

It described Gov. Smith as the victim and Mr. Hoover as the "innocent beneficiary of the un-American efforts."

MAY RECOVER SOME OF EMBEZZLED BONDS

ATLANTA, Oct. 9—(AP)—A petition intended to conserve for the Baptist Home Mission board certain reported assets of Clinton S. Carnes, its indicted former treasurer, has been filed in superior court here, naming three appointees of the board, Solicitor General John Boykin, and two concerns Carnes headed.

The petition, an amendment to a suit filed several weeks ago by Walter R. Brown, Atlanta lawyer and Baptist layman, alleged Carnes loaned $8,000 to Dr. B. D. Gray, former secretary and now acting treasurer of the board, and that the $5,000 belonged to the board. The suit asks that Dr. Gray's home, given as loan security, be held for the board.

Hugh M. Willet, custodian of board securities, owes Carnes or the Phoenix Realty company, which Carnes headed, approximately $5,000, the petition said, alleging this also to be board money. Willet was asked to turn over securities estimated in the suit to be worth $200,000 to the board.

ELIZABETH C. POOLE DID NOT DIE FROM VIOLENCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—An autopsy indicated today that Elizabeth C. Poole, 33 year old former actress, did not died from violence, despite reports to police that she had been beaten in a night club.

Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner who made the autopsy said his report might not be conclusive since the body had been embalmed before it was brought to the morgue. Miss Poole, who shared a hotel room with Lillian Lorraine, former Follies star died last night in a private hospital. Detectives found nothing to support a rumor that she had been hurt in a night club.

TEXTILE STRIKE IN POLAND AFFECTS 80,000

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 9—(AP)—Representatives of the striking textile workers of Lodz and other centers, today with representatives of the employers, conferred here today with the minister of labor. Means were sought for settling the strike which has affected some 80,000 workers. The government proposed that the mill hands accept a raise of five per cent. in wages instead of the 10 to 15 per cent which they have been demanding.

Mrs. Curry came here but too late to deliver her talk at the rally. The club will stage a rally at Knowlton Memorial hall next Thursday evening and the speakers listed for the occasion are: Rev. George B. Gilbert of Middletown; William M. Citron of Middletown, candidate for congress in the second district; Frank P. Fenton of this city, candidate for lieutenant-governor and Professor Snow of Wesleyan university, Middletown.

DAVIS GOLF CUP PRESENTED TO WILLIMANTIC ROTARIANS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 9—Professor Richard E. Dodge, past president of the Willimantic Rotary club and affiliated with the economics department at Connecticut Agricultural college delivered an address on What Vocational Service Means to Me at the weekly meeting of the club held in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon. He was introduced by J. E. Sullivan, chairman of the Vocational Service committee. William Park, Norwich Rotarian presented the club with a silver loving cup, the gift of Frank Davis, also Norwich Rotarian, as a trophy for winning the past season's golf tournament between the Willimantic and Norwich clubs. It is understood that the cup must be won three years to become a permanent possession. President Raymond A. Parker announced that Rev. John Alison of Holyoke, Mass., past district governor of this district will be the speaker at the regular meeting next Tuesday noon. The secretary was instructed to invite members of the Norwich, Putnam, Danielson and East Hartford clubs to attend this meeting. The following committee was appointed to arrange for a Ladies' night probably on the third Tuesday in November: William A. Dawson, chairman, Harry W. Standish and Walter S. Barnes. A letter of thanks from Anna S. Dawson, wife of William A. Dawson was read in appreciation of a gift from the club noting the 25th wedding anniversary of the couple. It was voted to hold the meeting of the last week in November on Monday, the 29th, instead of Tuesday, to accommodate a speaker on immigration. Several guests are expected for this meeting.

C. Arthur Keeney was selected as the third member of the board of selectmen by First Selectman William A. Buck and Second Selectman Jeremiah C. Healy, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of former First Selectman Ernest P. Chesebro, republican, who was elected as third member in the elections this month. Mr. Keeney, who was defeated on the republican ticket, was second selectman last year during republican control.

In relation to the public hearing to be granted on the evening of October 24 by the common council on the petition of a theatre owner to open the theatre from 2 to 10.30 p. m. on Sundays, it has been explained by Corporation Counsel William A. King that the electors of the city have the final power in the matter. The interpretation of the law is to the effect that the common council has the right of granting a petition for shows on Sunday afternoons but that the citizens have the power at any subsequent city meeting to nullify this grant on the part of the council. In view of this power of the electors it was decided to first give the matter a public hearing and base the action of the council on the results of this hearing so as to avoid the possibility of an adverse vote by a city meeting at a later date.

Rev. Charles M. Kelly of this city and Hon. John Blackhall of Washington, D. C., were the speakers at the Windham Community Men's club meeting at Gulliford Smith hall in South Windham Monday evening. TRAFFIC SIGNAL CONFUSION CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

Confusion among motorists and pedestrians, growing out of lack of uniformity in traffic regulations, caused the death of more than 3,000 persons during the year 1927, according to a report made public by the city officials' division of the American Road Builders' association. Traffic violations caused, during the same period, a total of 2,365 fatalities and most of these, it is declared, were due to the widely divergent traffic laws in effect in the cities and states. In connection with its findings, the city officials' division, which is composed of the highway and traffic officials of the principal cities of the country, inaugurated a vigorous campaign for the adoption in all cities and states of the uniform traffic codes recently completed by the national conference on street and highway safety, sponsored by the department of commerce, the American Road Builders' association, the chamber of commerce of the United States and numerous other organizations vitally interested in street construction and traffic regulations.

The control of modern traffic in American cities constitutes an extremely complex problem, the officials of the roadbuilders' organization point out. "The existence of widely divergent methods of signalling, turning and general traffic movement," it is asserted, "proves extremely confusing to motorists accustomed to different systems". This confusion creates a hazard having a most pronounced relation to highway accidents. Investigators find that the effectiveness of uniform ordinances governing the regulation of traffic has already been demonstrated.

In one section of the country where uniform laws have been in effect for several years the number of highway accidents have been considerably less proportionately, than in the sections where there is a wider divergence in the codes that are in force.

"Not only will uniform traffic laws eliminate to a large extent the accidents resulting directly from confusion in traffic control methods," says the statement drawn up by officials of the city officials' division, "but they will also facilitate the movement of traffic in and between the cities."

Practically the only deterrent to the adoption of the proposed uniform codes everywhere throughout the country, is the fact that traffic officials in some of the cities are confident that the system under which they have been operating is the best.

Good traffic codes are undoubtedly in effect in many cities, and in some cases a local situation necessitates traffic regulations that will cover conditions peculiar to a particular city. In general, however, the uniform codes can be adopted with economy and profit by all cities and states and with the clauses covering the peculiar local conditions remaining as they are."

The lovely complexions you see on the screen—

WHAT charm radiantly fresh smooth skin gives a girl—you know it the instant the close-up is flashed on the screen!

Exquisitely smooth skin is more important for loveliness than anything else, motion picture directors say. Because their skin must be lovely under the cruel lights of the close-up, screen stars guard it very carefully.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. There are in Hollywood 433 important actresses, including all stars—417 of these use Lux Toilet Soap. All the great film studios, too, have made it the official soap in their dressing rooms.

"I used to say 'it is impossible—one cannot find a soap of the luxury of imported soaps in America!' Then I found Lux Toilet Soap. As fine as the costliest French soap, makes my skin wonderfully soft and smooth."

"A star must have smooth skin," declares pretty BETTY BRONSON (Warner Bros.). "Everything shows in a close-up. I find this lovely white soap is wonderful for my skin."

GILDA GRAY, who lends her loveliness to United Artists, says, "Only an exquisite skin can look charming in a close-up. I use Lux Toilet Soap for mine—it keeps it like velvet."

DANIELSON

SUGAR BROOK FARM OWNER MUST GO TO PRISON

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 9—Norman H. White, owner of Sugar Brook farm near Central Village and prominent socially and in the business world of Boston, must serve three to five years i. the Massachusetts state prison. He was sentenced by Judge Fosdick in the criminal superior court at Boston on a count that was one of eight indictments charging the theft of $469,000 from banks.

Mr. White, at one time candidate for the republican nomination for governor of Massachusetts, was on the witness stand an hour prior to the passing of sentence, and is described as speaking at first with cold dignity and then gradually losing poise as he reviewed his efforts to crown a second and third business venture with the same success he had achieved with a first.

H was owner of the Boston Book Binding company, the Small-Maynard company of Boston and the Auto Vacuum Freezer company of New York. His explanation of his reverses was his failure to sell the Auto Vacuum Freezer company. It was brought at yesterday's session of the court by one of Mr. White's attorneys that officials of two large Boston banks had declined an offer of $100,000 restitution made in Mr. White's behalf by relatives of his, the bank officials holding out for $250,000, which the relatives could not raise.

It was developed at the hearing that Mr. White had borrowed $1,800,000 from 32 banks, and that many of the banks had refused to prosecute.

Mr. White was indicted more than a year ago, and last June pleaded guilty to five of twenty-five counts in eight indictments, and the case went over that an effort to make restitution might be made.

The counts he pleaded guilty to are: Jan. 6, 1927, larceny of $13,500 from the State Street Trust company of Boston; Feb. 17, 1927, larceny of $35,000 from the Liberty Trust company; Dec. 15, 1926, larceny of $35,000 from the Exchange Trust company; Jan. 27, 1927, larceny of $15,000 from the Federal National bank; Jan. 6, 1927, larceny of $35,000 from the American Trust company.

It was represented to the court by Assistant District Attorney Sheehan that the loans were obtained on the strength of false statements as to the financial condition of the Boston Book Binding company and the Small-Maynard company. He said that White also had represented that he had $500,000 coming from his mother's estate, when as a matter of fact this legacy has shrunk to $250,000. Not a cent of restitution has been made, the attorney told the court.

In his own defense White said that his salary has been $25,000 a year, and that many years he had been obliged to turn in more than this $25,000 to pay the interest on his loans to keep his enterprises going. During the past three years, he said, every cent of his own money and all that he could get from friends and from members of his family had been sunk in an effort to rehabilitate his companies. "I didn't want a dollar for myself I never did," he said.

EASTERN STAR LODGE ENTERTAINS GRAND OFFICERS

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 9—Upwards of 100 members, representative of chapters of the Order of the Eastern Star in eastern Connecticut and nearby Rhode Island places were in attendance at Masonic hall last evening when Worthy Grand Matron Mrs. Frances A. Geer of Norwich and her associate officers came here for the annual inspection of Danielson chapter. Supper was served prior to the session of the evening. The degree work of the evening was pronounced exceptionally well done. Grand officers accompanying rs. Geer were: Associate Grand Matron Mrs. Abby Y. Bergmann of Hartford, Associate Grand Conductress Mrs. Caroline S. Lawrence of Stamford, Grand Chaplain Mrs. Ida G. Nixon of Middletown, Grand Marshal Mrs. Aneta C. Pierson of Wethersfield, Grand Organist Mrs. Lottie R. Cady of Stafford, Grand Ruth Mrs. Carolyn N. Kane of Deep River, Grand Esther Mrs. Edna Wickstrom of Short Beach, Grand Martha Mrs. Mary E. Stevens of Norwich, Grand Electa Mrs. Charlotte Hope of Uncasville, Grand Warder Mrs. Grace B. Fowler of Shelton, Grand Sentinel Frederick Verplanck of South Manchester.

Cars operated by Stanley Paulak of Spoonk, N. Y., and Lafayette Blanchard of Reynolds street were in collision this morning at the corner of Main and Reynolds streets. Occupants of both cars escaped without injury, though the machines were damaged, the New York car, a new Whippet, to the extent of about $100. Riding with Paulak were his wife and little girl. The accident was checked up by Chief John McFarland.

Garages were reporting a rush of work on automobile brakes today, as a result of the campaign undertaken by state officers at the week end against drivers of cars with defective brakes or practically no breaking power at all, and the subsequent prosecutions. It may be mentioned that this check-up is general throughout the state and is not directed against any particular community. It is in the interest of safety and the lessening of accidents. At a session of the town court this morning one more driver was penalized for not having proper working brakes on his machine.

Recently elected officers of Rose of Lima council, K. of C., were installed this evening by District Deputy Derosier of North Grosvenordale. The new officers are: Edward Berthiaume, grand knight; Elmer Major, deputy grand knight; Oscar Bernier, treasurer; Amadee Goulet, financial secretary; Theodore Mailhot, recording secretary; Ernest Malo, warden; Thomas Weaver, chancellor; Wilfred Dragon, inside guard; Raoul Brouillard, outside guard; Rosario Duval, Joseph LaBelle and Wilfred Dragon.

At Brooklyn on the last day of this month a demonstration of how the European corn borer can be controlled is to be given under the auspices of the Windham County Farmers' association. The corn borer has made its appearance in the town of Killingly, and also has been found in four other Windham county towns—Windham, Canterbury, Plainfield and Sterling. This forecasts a real menace to successful growing of corn in this county unless the corn borer is brought under control. That the county may not have one of its most valuable crops lost in future years farmers are invited to interest themselves in the control methods, which will be demonstrated at Brooklyn on October 31. It is said that the control methods can be arranged to go along with regular farm work and at no great special cost. As a matter of fact, the cost of control is insignificant as compared to the loss of a corn crop through the operations of the corn borer.

Mrs. Frederic O. Armington, local chairman, headed a delegation of Killingly people who were at the Putnam inn in Putnam tonight to attend a banquet that brought together representatives of various county towns. The affair was arranged by the Windham County Republican Women's association, and was featured by a number of addresses.

PUTNAM

DANIELSON MAN WINS CASE TO RECOVER $5,000 LOAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, October 9—The civil session of the Windham county superior court opened at Putnam today with Judge Edward M. Yeoman's on the bench. The first case to the court was a suit by Anselome Bernier of Danielson, formerly of Willimantic, plaintiff against Arthur J. LaFleur of Valley street, Willimantic.

Bernier was represented by Attorney Irving H. Miron of this city, while Attorney Samuel B. Harvey of Willimantic was counsel for the defendant. The case grew out of a $5,000 loan by Bernier to his friend and landlord, Lafleur. The money, it was alleged, was used to purchase the house now occupied by Lafleur in Willimantic. Bernier, then in business in Willimantic drew a check on a Hartford bank for the sum of $3,000 and forwarded the balance in cash, in return he was to have been given a mortgage on the property as security for the loan, all of which he never received, and the deal was negotiated on Jan. 25, 1922.

Bernier testified under cross examination by Attorney Harvey that since his debtor never offered to give him the mortgage he did not demand it. "I thought he was a good fellow and I let him have the money without any interest and I never did impose upon him in payment of the sum."

He stated that after a period of six years had elapsed, he asked Lafleur for the amount of the money due him, since he was out of work and needed some reimbursement. Lafleur denied ever borrowing any money from the man and when Bernier said he would take legal procedure Lafleur asked how he could possibly do so, since after six years the debt would be outlawed and "besides you have no proof of me taking your money," Bernier quoted Lafleur as saying.

The defendant took the stand and denied ever taking any of the money, as he kept over $9,000 at his home in cash and produced a bank book for the sum of $3,000, deposited in a Tolland county bank. Lafleur said he worked for the plaintiff and was drawing wages averaging about $20 a week all of which he saved, living upon the salary of his son, who was a music teacher in Willimantic and was earning over $50 each week by means of his profession. The income each week enabled the family to purchase the house without any outside financial aid, the plaintiff testified.

Clarence W. Lafleur of Willimantic, son of the plaintiff, testified to being present at the signing of the deed and the transaction of the money, of which Bernier's check was not represented. He also sustained the testimony offered by his father.

Arthur S. Squires of Willimantic, a teacher in the town of Windsor and a close friend of the plaintiff testified to seeing the cash money in the bureau drawer of the Lafleur home and attempted to convince Mrs. Lafleur, who is now dead, that the proper place for such a large sum of currency was in a savings institute; Squires stating that the wife of the defendant had a morbid fear of banks and insisted on keeping her savings at home.

Attorney Irving H. Miron took the floor and delivered the deciding factor in the case when he introduced Bernier's check, which had been cancelled and the funds drawn.

Mr. Miron went to Hartford, obtained the cancelled check and found the following endorsement on the reverse side, Arthur J. Lafleur (his X) and the signature of his son Clarence W. Lafleur who had witnessed the signing. The Putnam lawyer went to the Willimantic Savings institute and learned that Lafleur cashed the check given him by Bernier, and had accepted a cashier's check for the amount of $2900 and drew the balance as $100 in cash, all of which was testified to by J. William Smith, cashier of the bank. Omer Mollard and Henry Bedard of Danielson testified as to going to Willimantic with Mr. Bernier when he asked for his money and heard the statement made by the defendant that he had no proof to offer of his accepting the plaintiff's money.

Only a few minutes of argument was entered on both sides, Attorney Miron, outlining that Lafleur was telling a falsehood when he denied accepting the money as the cancelled checks indicated that he and his son both had planned to swindle the Danielson man out of his money when they exchanged the check for the cashier's check of $100 less.

Judge Yeomans deliberated but a few minutes on the case and he returned a decision in favor of Bernier giving him right to the claim of the full amount of the suit.

The second case before the court this morning was a divorce action brought by George O. Munyan of Thompson against his wife, Helen Warback Munyan, whom he charged had deserted him on October 2, 1924.

Munyan in his suit for divorce asked for custody of an 11 year old child and would assume the responsibility of another child five years old, who is now in his charge if the court so deemed. He claimed that his wife had on several occasions been familiar with other men, and when he objected she deserted him, going to live with relatives in Providence. Munyan had four witnesses who testified that his wife had not returned to him since she had left.

After an argument by Attorney Ernest C. Morse of this city for the plaintiff and another by Judge M. H. Geissler of Putnam for the defendant, Judge Yeoman's granted the Thompson man divorce on the grounds of desertion and also gave him custody of the 11 year old child, and awarding the 5 year old boy to its mother who now resides in Providence.

Court adjourned until next Tuesday, October 16, when it will convene again at Putnam, with a number of civil cases slated to be tried.

E. H. JOHNSON NAMED HEAD OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, October 9—The Putnam town school committee met Monday evening at the law offices of Torrey and Geissler and organized the board for the ensuing year. At this meeting were the newly elected members, J. Dyer Potter and Mrs. Minnie Gagnon Macdonald. After a ballot was taken, Attorney Eric H. Johnson, for a number of years a member of the school committee was elected to succeed Mrs. Jane E. Warner as chairman. Mrs. William R. Barber, secretary pro tem who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles L. Torrey, was elected to succeed herself in that capacity. There was some contest for that office, yet it is believed that Mrs. Barber's number of years as a member of the board qualified her as the best fitted member for the position.

The following appointments were also made: Building committee, John H. Bulger, Mrs. Dorothy Jones Bartlett, and Silas M. Wheelock; supplies, J. Dyer Potter, Joseph A. Gagne, and James J. Charron; teachers, Eric H. Johnson, Mrs. William A. Barber and Minnie Gannon Macdonald.

Judge M. H. Geissler was also re-elected as clerk of the board, with Peter A. Gardner being appointed to the office of truant officer.

Following the election of officers and appointments the committee returned to business routine and accepted a report offered by Superintendent of Schools Leon M. Farrin, dealing with the early season activities of the fall session.

Mrs. James F. English, wife of Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Second Congregational church of this city, while in New Hampshire attending a convention of the church organization slipped on a wet pavement sustaining a fracture of the ankle. Although the injury was painful Mrs. English was able to return to her home in Putnam.

THE TARIFF SITUATION

There have been times since the present campaign opened that the impression has been gained that Candidate Smith and Campaign Chairman Raskob were not talking the same way concerning campaign issues.

That was first disclosed in regard to the question of farm relief and the equalization fee. After Mr. Smith had put forth the opinion expressed by the New York World as embodying his views and in which opposition was declared to the equalization fee, Mr. Raskob gave the impression out in the middle west that Mr. Smith's ideas were different, and yet in all the talking that Mr. Smith did on his western trip he failed to give a clear idea as to where he actually stands.

Now Mr. Raskob is talking again for Mr. Smith in regard to the tariff and he is trying to show that such reference as Mr. Smith made to the Underwood tariff does not mean that he favors such legislation. He maintains that big business has nothing to fear from the Smith candidacy.

The idea that the democratic party stands just where the republican party does in regard to the tariff will be a revelation to many democrats. It will be a surprise to many members of congress who have been persistently opposing republican tariff efforts. It must throw consternation in the ranks of those who have been fighting and voting against the republican tariff schedule.

Such a sudden conversion on the part of the democratic candidate, or even the part of the candidate as represented by the chairman of the national democratic committee, must be viewed as political strategy, for it cannot be believed that those southern democratic senators and congressmen, or those northern democratic senators and congressmen who happened to represent New York and some of the New England states, are going to be found fighting shoulder to shoulder with republicans for the republican tariff policies in case they are returned to Washington. That would be a complete admission that the republicans have been right all along and that the democrats have been wrong. If that is so, the thing for the voters of the country to do is to accept this advice and see that those who have been so persistently fighting for an admittedly bad low tariff and free trade and who now admit their plan if put into operation would have been detrimental be henceforth kept from the halls of congress. The long period of republican administration which has accomplished the conversion of the democrats on the tariff should mean keeping the reins of government safe in republican hands.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

In keeping with calls for caucuses to be held this afternoon or tonight Republicans in the towns of Connecticut will assemble for the purpose of placing in nomination those who are desired as representatives of the respective towns in the next session of the general assembly.

It is the opportunity for shaping, insofar as a caucus can do so, the makeup of the state legislature for the 1929 session. It should, and doubtless will be the aim of the townspeople to choose those who are thoroughly acquainted with town needs and requirements and insofar as possible those who are in touch with state affairs, or have had experience in legislative activities for such responsible positions.

Representative citizens are required for such service. Citizens of ability who have the best interests of the town and state at heart are needed, and it should be the desire of the voters to get to the polls and see that such persons are chosen. The time to give expression to desires and the time to select those who will make an appeal to all voters, irrespective of party, is at the caucus. It does little good to stay away and find fault if the selection made is not satisfactory.

Let the caucuses be well attended. Let the selections there made be the action of representative gatherings in whatever town the caucuses are held, and if that is the case there can be little doubt but what they will be found receiving the support they deserve on election day. Too much importance is attached to a caucus for it to be neglected.

PERFECT NON-COOPERATION

In connection with the work which has been done by the state police in Rhode Island in disclosing the many instances of glaring headlights, the bad brakes and the cases of speeding in the highways, the Providence Journal calls attention to the irony of the situation where "the department of state police, with a total personnel of fewer than two score men and with responsibilities in almost every part of the state, is proceeding in business-like fashion with this special work, the Providence police department with hundreds of men and with responsibilities confined to an area of 18 square miles, is paying, as it has paid since July 1, far too little perceptible attention to the automobile headlight law. The law is flagrantly violated in this city every night by many motorists, who seem to have concluded from more than three months' experience that the police do not care. In short, while the law is being enforced outside of Providence, it is being to a large extent nullified by the inaction of the Providence police within the city limits. It is a perfect example of non-cooperation in a campaign to save life and limb."

In how many other cities will this same sort of non-cooperation be found? Certainly the situation that is described in that city is not peculiar to Providence. There are too many other cities where the same inattention exists, where the lack of lights, the absence of taillights (for which in many cases there is some excuse) the many cases of bad brakes and the continuance of bad driving continues without warning being given to those responsible.

Under such conditions it is inevitable for drivers to become callous. Once they get the impression that such things are inconsequential and no one will say anything about them, respect for the requirements disappears. Those that are expected to demand that respect are responsible for the idea harbored by many that it is easy "to get by."

The intermittent practice of enforcing any of the regulations which have to do with the motor vehicles simply brings to attention the mistake in allowing drivers to get the idea that obedience isn't necessary.

RICHARDSON'S NOMINATION

When the delegates assembled for the 19th senatorial convention for the 19th senatorial convention for the selection of the republican candidate for the district it was a foregone conclusion that John F. Richardson of Preston would be the nominee.

When he was chosen by acclamation it was in response to a recognition of his experience in the legislation, his qualifications for the office and the fact that Preston was entitled to a candidate at this time. When it is realized that not for 40 years has that part of the district had senatorial representation it means that Preston has been loyally supporting republican candidates from the other towns for a long period. So when it presented a man who is so able to shoulder the senatorial toga it was not only a gratifying but deserved recognition of his qualifications when he became the unanimous choice.

Mr. Richardson has long been a successful business man and man of affairs in his own town. He thoroughly understands the needs of this district and he can be relied upon to get careful consideration for them in a legislature which will unquestionably be republican. During his legislative experience his record shows that he was on his job at all times and Norwich, as well as Ledyard and Preston, can well appreciate the wisdom of delegating to him the task of looking after its requirements before the next general assembly. He is widely known, a man of sound judgment and well versed in legislative procedure. Norwich needs a successor to Senator Hobbins who can continue to get results.

THE SERIES RESULT

In four straight games the Yankees proved once more that they are the greatest aggregation of baseball players in the world. This isn't the first or the second time that the series has ended in the fewest possible games but it came as a surprise in view of the quite general belief that the honors were due to go to St. Louis.

The Yankees had been touted to be in a bad way, a lot of cripples. It was by the closest kind of a struggle that they managed to keep ahead of the Athletics. St. Louis was playing a strong game until they came to New York after which they gave an exhibition of baseball that was distressing to their supporters.

Crippled though they may have been, the Yankees gave no evidence of it in any department. They were able to meet any emergency and there was no such thing as restraining them. They won because they batted when hits meant runs, because they were masters of the game and because they encountered no opposition that gave them cause for serious worry. They gathered enough confidence from the very first game to overcome whatever handicap may have existed because of disabled players, while Ruth and Gehrig rose to the occasion whenever a hit or a home run would be effective.

St. Louis gave an exhibition of baseball which certainly would not have won them the pennant in their own league. It was far below their standard of play and there was evidence of nervousness on their part at times which resembled the brush league.

It was a world's series that aroused the least enthusiasm in a long time. The better team easily won.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Remember the place for the republicans tonight is at the town caucus.

The man on the corner says: With the series out of the way we are on the home stretch for election.

The cry in Wisconsin is "Bring back our beer." Candidate Smith has been kicking up a lot of foam out there, but foam isn't beer.

Without regard to prohibition, this is a campaign, when some speakers seem to think the public is willing to swallow anything.

The tip has been abolished in Spanish hotels, restaurants and casinos. It is probably one of those new fads which will be quickly forgotten.

This is the season of the year which recalls to many those days when the barrel gangs used to be organizing and operating with Thanksgiving in mind.

Candidate Smith isn't to do any talking in Tennessee. Probably he is thinking of sending the mayor of New York down there to repeat his famous Newark address.

SPLENDID THEORY

"I don't want to do it!" the suburban gentleman with four bundles and three magazines confided, "but I guess I must. My wife wants me to, and I always try to please her."

"Why?" queried the other suburban gentleman, removing his cigar to gesticulate. "My boy, are you ignorant of the fact that women have no use whatever for men who always do what is expected of them? When they can set their feet on your neck they despise you instinctively. They—"

"I'd have you know," broke in the man with the bundles, "that I love my wife, and when you care for a person it is a pleasure to do the things she wants you to do! Ellyn wants to go to this evening's shindig, and so I—"

"So does my wife," admitted the other man casually. "But am I going? I am not! And I defy you to find a happier wife than my Gladys! Women always want to go to places and be doing things, because they are restless creatures seeking amusement. But they don't think anything more of a man if he abandons his slippers and book and radio for a glassy shirt front and long-tailed clothes and the dress silk scarf somebody gave him for Christmas if he'd rather not!

"When I don't feel like going out in society I stay home, and so does Gladys, though no cruel poundmaster is chaining her down. I believe in being generous with her, even though I keep the upper hand, and she is quite free to attend the Squeedunks' evening massacre if she chooses to leave me alone in an empty house to wonder whether I would have done better had I married the little brunette next door to me that my mother was so crazy about!

"Why, it bores them when a man always does everything for them! It leaves them with nothing to fuss about or worry over or to tell sadly to their woman friends at the card club. You've got to give the other women a chance to say: 'Poor girl, isn't she sweet, and to think she has such a prune for a husband. Why, he won't even let her have the second section of the newspaper until he has completely finished reading the whole thing!' You get the point?"

"Say!" retorted the man with the bundles, beginning to collect them, "I tell you that I enjoy making little sacrifices to please Ellyn and when she wants to go to a party, how's she going to get there if I don't take her? Why should I deny her—"

"There you go!" declared his friend shaking his head. "I declare it's a good thing this matter came up or in five years you'd certainly be the tail of the kite, just trailing along and murmuring 'yes-dear!' Assert yourself, man! Make her realize you, too, are a human being, not just an automation designed to get her what she wants and to trot around at her beck and call.

"It's human nature to discredit what one gets easily and no woman values a man's instant obedience to her whims. She knows exactly how much those whims are worth and I bet she's considerably surprised when she finds she can put them over so easily. Can't you see that secretly she would have much more respect for a man with brains enough to recognize their foolishness and inconsequence and with strength of character to plant his feet and refuse to budge?

"Now, you and Ellyn have been out five nights this week, you say, and you want to stay home, but you don't dare to say so. I have taken Gladys out just once and that's enough and she knows it. I shall be quite surprised if she even mentions the party this evening, because she knows how I feel about it. If she does, I shall tell her flatly, that I'm too tired to go and besides I have brought home this new book every one's talking about and I'm going to sit by the fire and read it! And you can't tell me I'm brutal to my wife for acting as I intend to. On the contrary, Gladys will be exactly as fond of me—"

"There are the girls now," said the man with the bundles as the suburban train drew in. "They've driven down for us!"

"We thought we could have dinner earlier if you got home quicker because we have to get ready for the Squeedunk's party this evening!" cried Gladys and Ellyn in one breath as their husbands approached.

The gentleman with the four bundles and the magazines looked at his friend expectantly and coughed. That gentleman was lighting his cigar busily.

"Hurry, Knox!" commanded Gladys, addressing him directly. "It always takes you so long to dress for evening affairs and I've got your things all laid out for you. We must leave early, too!" The man with the bundles coughed again, expectantly.

"Um!" murmured his friend, throwing away the match as though quite at ease. "Oh, yes, dear!" — Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Even before the tale of disaster and death in the hurricane that swept from Porto Rico through Florida was complete, an official account reached Washington of the havoc wrought by volcanic eruptions on the island Paloweh, far out in the remote regions of the South Pacific, almost simultaneously with the great blow closer at hand.

Almost a third of the population of 9,000 natives on this mere dot on the wide waters either perished by fire or were drowned in the succession of tidal waves which swept in to find them trapped at the water's edge as they sought refuge from the torrents of molten lava that poured down from the 300 foot mountain peak above.

Happy Island.

There were no Europeans on the island which is a mountain peak projecting from the sea with a depth of a hundred fathoms close inshore all about. Barely 33 square kilometers of the peak emerge from the ocean, yet this island played a part for generations in the gun-running and "blackbirder" slave trade of the past. It was once an advance base for the "Badjaks," native pirates who roved the entire archipelago, and its people were in league with these sea thieves. Dutch gendarmerie last "pacified" the island in 1909. Since then its people, increasing from a total of 4,000 to 9,000 under a census taking rule noted as "fairly reliable" and which consists of multiplying by three the number of registered male islanders, have prospered and waxed fat with their fishing and agricultural pursuits. Beautiful gardens graced the shore line and the lower slopes of Roka Tinda, the tall peak within which the fire devils had sulked inert since some time in the 16th century.

The island lies on the dividing line between the Malay-Polynesian and Papuan racial group, its population showing characteristics of both with Papuan dominating. "They are a happy, good-natured, free-spoken people," the official commentator adds.

Fire Devil Kills 1,000.

It was on this simple, peaceful people, remote from every jarring conflict of the outer world, that the fire devil turned his wrath early in August. Just at midnight Roka Tinda flamed to terrible life, streams of flaming death pouring down the steep slope, the earth rocking in seismic convulsions felt in surrounding islands out of sight over the horizon. The roar of the earth explosion was heard a hundred miles away and tidal waves swept up on the beaches of islands twice that remote from the center of disturbance. The Dutch resident of the district made haste to the rescue, taking four days to the journey. He found the southwestern half of the island devastated; the survivors dazed and numbed by their experience.

"Six villages and all of the vegetation had been burned," the official narrator tells. "The valleys and gulleys were filled with pumice and volcanic ash. Three tidal waves ten meters in height of hot water had surged onto the south shore after the first explosion, drowning 200 people who had taken refuge from the fires in the edge of the sea. About 1,000 were killed by falling stones or buried by ash and 400 injured. There was no water. The surviving natives had immediately filled in the wells under the belief that the digging of these wells had caused the eruption."

YOUR HEALTH

Source of Human Poisoning Proved

By Manuel Leo Adler, D. D.S., New York

To check up on a theory, a group of scientists recently inoculated a selection of healthy animals with germs taken from the abscessed teeth of some persons who were suffering from various body ailments. The investigators found that the animals were soon suffering from the very same ailments as the patients from whom the germs were taken, thus proving that infected teeth cause diseases of the body.

People suffering with diseases of the heart and kidney, of the alimentary canal, of the nervous system, of metabolism, of bones and muscles, cancer, tuberculosis, etc., should have their teeth examined and x-rayed, and should correct any defects that may be found.

While it cannot be said that infected teeth are the cause of all our troubles, the teeth should be looked after because in a good number of cases they have definitely been proven to be the source of infection.

The germs from the abscessed teeth are found to reach their destination in the vital organs via the blood stream. Since it has been shown that the blood travels in a continued cycle, we can readily understand how blood traveling to the teeth may carry off these toxins and spread them along the entire blood system. It is where these toxins lodge that trouble arises. The head, arms, hands, internal organs, legs and feet are all exposed to the infection.

The blood system may be likened to the yards of a railroad system, with its number of tracks and its connecting switches enabling a train to move from one track to another, except that it presents a greater and more intricate network of blood vessels or "tracks." The blood travels along two main divisions, the arteries and the veins. These in turn divide and subdivide into tiny branches passing to all parts of the body.

The headquarters of this system is the heart, which is constantly working. To it, coming from the veins, is brought the blood that has already passed through the body. The pumps of the heart drive it through the lungs, where it is refreshened and recharged, and then another pair of pumps drive it along the arteries throughout the body. And so we have an automatic cycle working constantly.

An abscessed tooth may cause many body ailments, by giving off toxins or poisons that may travel along this blood system. Have your teeth examined two or three times a year to prevent trouble developing. Do not wait until it developes and your physician advises you to consult a dentist.

Stories That Recall Others

Distinction

Arriving in town and learning of a former schoolmate an effort was made to get in touch with him. Calling up the office where he was reported to be, the voice at the other end of the line politely gave the information that "he was with us but he resigned his position to go back to college," and then another man's voice in the room was heard to say less distinctly, "Naw, he didn't. I knew that bird. He quit his job."

All At His Service

A former college professor passing through the city was invited to lunch with one of his alumnae. The five year old daughter of the house was delegated to show the distinguished guest up to wash his hands.

Opening the door of the bathroom, which was duly fitted out with the best embroidered linen in honor of the occasion, Sally said: "Just make yourself at home and," with royal gesture, "you may use any of the towels."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Other October Days in Norwich

Mr. Editor: Some one has said, "And what is so rare as a day in June, then if ever come perfect days." I may add this, What is more rare than a fine day in October?

As I sat in the wondrous sunshine on my front porch and looked across the park, I could note the trees taking on all the prismatic colors of the rainbow. Some decked out in scarlet and gold, and the wild sumac with all colors imaginable. I could not help but think that everytime we permit ourselves to come in contact with the wonders of nature we cannot help but think. No matter if nature adorns herself with her most beautious colors or even with her sober suit of gray we can think there is a something that moves our very souls, and in turn stirs a thousand memories of days that have passed and gone. We think of the paths and the roads we once traveled when in the flush of our youth. How we loved to tramp through the woods and fields of many places in the vicinity of old Norwich. And as we wandered through the woods and shuffled through the leaves and listened to the music that came from the rustle and crackling as you walked along carefree and without a worry, in early days when we would journey out and start for a tramp through the woods our objective point was up through Palmer Newton's woods. The entrance was the first turn before you reach what is known today as the Bushnell road. Usually our first stop was at Newton's well which had a great long stick of timber as a balance weight. What wonderful drinking water was to be had.

Now reader, this is written for the older ones and is for the purpose of recalling some of the dreams of youth which they love to travel back to and recall. Then we went out through the woods which to our childish imagination seemed to be endless. Every step we took seemed to create new interest, and as we came to the far side there came to our view what was known in those early days as Spalding's pond. This was named from one of the early settlers, and as we gazed across it we could note all the surroundings were mirrored in it. Many years ago this was a great fishing place, although not much used, due to the fact it was hard to get to. It was here, nearby, perhaps not many generations ago, that the Indian braves fished and had their being. And no doubt beneath the same moon that smiles upon the whites, the Indian lover wooed his dusky mate. All these are just the thoughts that come to us as we used to roam through what we thought was to our childish imagination a trackless wilderness, and every rustle or movement was to our minds a savage Indian who, in fancy, was on our trail. John Burroughs, the great naturalist, said "to one looks out upon the world with the same thoughts as the one who walks next to nature. No one gives or takes so much from the country he passes through. The roads and paths you have trod along through summer and winter weather, hold a special charm for you, and as you wander along you stop to drink at some favorite spring and you can think of the joy of living, as you view nature's wonderland. Let the reader for a moment ponder on the fact that in those early days one did not need a license to go fishing. The thing to do was to go out back of the barn, dig a can of worms and then do your stuff. If you didn't get any fish it was your own fault for they were there aplenty. Perhaps one of the best fishing grounds in early days was what is known as Preston City pond. And let me tell you it was a day's work to get there for us kids had no other way of getting there except to walk. But when you got there you were repaid for all your trouble. May I, right at this point, tell what happened to a friend of mine from Jersey who was visiting in Preston, just as he told me the story. Two of his young nephews with poles and bait were asked what they expected to get. Their reply, "Well, we will bring home a few pickerel," and his answer, "I will give you a half dollar for every one you get." The result he said cost him $4.50 to make good. These came from the Preston City pond.

The foregoing is just another angle to the wonderful things that can be seen and found in and around the Rose of New England—right at your door to be seen and once seen will never be forgotten.

Yours,
C. H. SHAW.

ANNAPOLIS

American architects, fostering a movement to save landmarks of American communities, point to Annapolis, Maryland, as a city which has preserved many mementos of its past.

In a communication to the National Geographic society, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, its president, describes some aspects of the colonial capital which, in part, follows:

"Annapolis has been preserved as our country's most truly colonial city. You may wander about this fine old community and feel that you are living in those dramatic days when the little city on the Severn had a major part in shaping the course of the nation's history.

"Going down to the water front, you can pick out a sailing craft and vision the square-sterned, 60-ton brigantine, Peggy Stewart, which, on October 15, 1774, arrived at Annapolis from England with an assorted cargo, including 17 packages of tea. Anthony Stewart, the owner of the brig, was a Marylander who had signed the nonimportation agreement. In order to unload the cargo, he rashly paid the duty on the tea.

"When he was called to account he begged to be allowed to burn the tea publicly. But he was not to escape so lightly. Finally Stewart purged himself by undertaking to burn his brig, with the tea aboard. His offer was accepted, and the brig was run aground and burned to the water's edge, in open day, by men who operated in broad daylight, wore no disguises, and were ready to admit their act and abide its consequences.

"According to John Galloway, an eye-witness, the majority would have been satisfied to burn the tea; but, however that may be, it was an act that fired the colonies and cast Maryland's lot irrevocably with the forces of freedom. A picture of the firing of the Peggy Stewart hangs on the wall of the statehouse.

"Charles Carroll headed the delegation chosen at Annapolis to represent the province in the continental congress.

"When it came his turn to sign the Declaration of Independence, there was some hantering remark as to whether the signers would hang singly or hang together, if the revolution should fail.

"Some one added that Carroll would have a chance to escape, because there were so many Charles Carrols that the British would not know which to seize.

"Thereupon Carroll reached for his pen and added the words, 'of Carrollton,' with a remark that now they would have no trouble to identify him if he were ever called upon to forfeit his life for the part he played in the cause of independence. Carroll outlived all the other signers, dying November 14, 1832, at the age of 95 years.

"Begun in 1772, the Maryland capitol is filled with memories of those eventful years. Scores of pictures that grace its walls are of that famous body of soldiers, the Maryland Line—companies, regiments and brigades of which fought in every major revolutionary battle field from Massachusetts to Georgia.

"We see them holding open the jaws of the trap that had been set for Washington's army in what is now Prospect Park, Brooklyn and gaining for the Commander-in-Chief an hour more precious to American liberty than any other in its history. We see them so delaying Howe's march on Philadelphia that he was unable to go to the rescue of the beleaguered British at Saratoga, which sealed the fate of Burgoyne.

"The voice of General Washington himself comes down the years, as he told Ramsay at Monmouth that 'if you can stop the British for ten minutes, until I can form, you will save you can stop the British for ten minutes! And we hear General Greene saying of a charge by the Marylanders at Eutaw Springs that 'it exceeded anything I ever saw.'

"Maryland withheld neither men nor money that the colonies might be free and no state, in proportion to population and wealth contributed more of either.

"While her soldiers were fighting so valiantly, her statesmen, meeting in the halls of the old statehouse at Annapolis, originated a pioneer thought that prevented the colonies from falling apart after their victory. With great foresight, Maryland leaders knew that the harmonious relations existing between the 13 colonies must inevitably be destroyed, after the triumph of American arms, by bitter disputes arising as to the ownership of the vast region northwest of the Ohio, east of the Mississippi, and south of the Great Lakes.

"Knowing from boundary experiences with her neighbors the enmity that disputes about land engender, Maryland, though giving unsparingly of men and substance to the Continental armies, refused to sign the Articles of Confederation unless 'assured that the vacant western lands would be used to form new states and not to enrich enormously any individual state.

"For a long time Maryland raised her voice alone; but gradually the other states were convinced of the fairness and wisdom of her stand and the necessity of the program she urged, if any lasting nation were to be the fruit of the Revolution. New York, Virginia, Massachusetts, and Connecticut generously ceded their territorial claims to the nation.

"But Maryland's clear-sighted and effective course had achieved something far greater than merely removing the cause of future strife between jealous colonies; by her insistence on the creation of a national domain she welded the most effective bond that could have been devised for a lasting union. When peace came the 13 states found themselves joint owners of this great territory, and their common interest in developing their joint property and parceling it out into new states held them together, when they might easily have drifted apart if they had had no such economic bond."

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

W. B. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 63

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles or use this free coupon:

Goodyear Tires

There are a lot of good tires on the market today—some not so good and some that are just plain "no good."

But among them is one that is the best. That's the one you want.

We have it—it's a Goodyear, The World's Greatest Tire.

It's not the greatest because we say so.

It's greatest because of six definite points of superiority in materials and construction.

It's greatest because for over ten years more Goodyears have been made and sold than any other kind.

It's greatest because it is the acknowledged world's standard of quality.

It's greatest because more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

And it's greatest too, because in spite of its supreme quality it costs no more.

As a matter of fact you pay no more for a genuine Goodyear than you are asked to pay for many unknown tires of doubtful worth.

Your size is here and our prompt, expert, courteous service goes with every one we sell.

What Doctors Think of the Laxative Habit

In all history, no Indian was ever known to have constipation. Nor need YOU. He chewed the bark of a tree called cascara. Today, we have the candy Cascaret.

Cascarizing the bowels never forms a laxative habit. If already formed, an occasional Cascaret will usually break the habit. For cascara strengthens the muscular walls of the bowels, and their need of any aid at all grows constantly less. What other cathartic has this characteristic?

An evacuation brought gently about by cascara will, nine times in ten, be followed by full functioning of the bowels on the morrow—and for days after. For there is no REACTION as with sickening salts, or any of the manmade purgatives that go through one's system like a bullet.

Physicians tell us cascara is the ideal laxative—and the tongue tells us candy Cascarets are its ideal form. At least a million people know this; what a pity there are any who don't! Especially parents; because children love to take a Cascaret. After which, for days-on-end, the bowels will be seen to work of their own accord.

The only habit from cascara is that of regularity! Cascarets tone and train the bowels. But at the first sign of returning sluggishness another Cascaret is as effective as the first.

There isn't a druggist who hasn't Cascarets, so WHY experiment with laxatives?

Touches that Add Style to Dresses

By MAE MARTIN

You get so you just despise a dress when everywhere you go it seems to shout, "I am a last year's relic." A few touches have brought many dresses like that back into style. It's amazing to see how easily they can be transformed by a few buttons, a little braid and the quick magic of home tinting or dyeing.

You don't need any experience to do home tinting or dyeing successfully if you are sure to use only true, fadeless Diamond Dyes. Each package represents the perfection of over 50 years of dyemaking. Tinting with them is easy as bluing, and dyeing just takes a little more time. New colors appear like magic, right over the old colors.

Diamond Dyes give the daintiest of the latest tints and the richest of the new shades, with never a trace of that undesirable redyed look which comes from inferior dyes. Insist on Diamond Dyes and save disappointment.

My new 64 page book, "Color Craft," gives hundreds of dollar-saving suggestions for renewing clothes, draperies and rugs. It's fully illustrated in colors. Write for your FREE copy, NOW. Address Mae Martin Home Service Dept., Diamond Dyes, Burlington, Vermont.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Henry G. Aurelio

Mrs. Martha H. Glendinning, wife of Henry G Aurelio, died Tuesday morning about 6 o'clock, in this city, after a long illness. Mrs. Aurelio, who resided at No. 32 Peck street, had been in poor health for a year and a half. She was born in Norwich, Dec. 12, 1871, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Glendinning. In October, 1893, she was united in marriage with Henry G. Aurelio by the Rev. Dr. J. D. Herr. Mrs. Aurelio was a member of the Central Baptist church and of the Ladies' Aid society of the church. She took an active part in church activities.

Surviving Mrs. Aurelio are her husband, one sister, Mrs. C. F. Yeomans of Bridgeport, and one brother, Benjamin Glendinning of California. Mrs. Aurelio was highly respected by her many friends who will feel her loss deeply and will extend heartfelt sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

Miss Mary Lyons

After an illness of about a month, Miss Mary Lyons died Monday evening at 7:20 o'clock at the home of her niece, Miss Mary Flynn, No. 58 Greene avenue, with whom she made her home. Miss Lyons was born in Ireland, but practically all of her life had been passed in this city. She was a member of St. Patrick's parish. Surviving are four nieces, Miss Mary Flynn, Mrs. Margaret Collins, Mrs. William White, of this city, and Mrs. B. F. Diamond of Norfolk, Va., and five nephews, John P. Flynn of Hartford, James Flynn of Boston, Thomas Flynn of Detroit and Daniel and Edward Flynn of Norwich. Miss Lyons was well known to many Norwich people and was highly respected.

Miss Nellie Lucy

Miss Nellie Lucy, for years a resident of this city, died early Monday evening at her home, No. 149 Cliff street, after a long illness. Miss Lucy had been in poor health for about a year. She was born in Ireland, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lucy but came to this city in her early youth. She was a member of St. Mary's parish.

Surviving her are two brothers, D. J. and J. D. Lucy of this city; a sister, Mrs. Hannah Elerman; a niece, Miss Margaret Maloney, and several cousins of this city. Her many friends are grieved to learn of her death and the surviving members of the family have the sympathy of all who knew her.

Jerome F. Conant

After a long illness, Jerome F. Conant, well known retired local cigar manufacturer, died in Preston early Tuesday morning. He was a descendant of Colonial stock and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Conant. He was born in Massachusetts, October 7, 1852, and was married in this city. He spent a number of years in the west and for many years conducted a cigar-making establishment on Franklin square and later moved his place of business to Franklin street. Several years ago he was forced to retire because of failing health.

Mr. Conant was a prominent Odd Fellow. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Lillian Conant of Hartford and Mrs. Harry L. Sherman of this city. There are also a sister, Miss Emma J. Conant of Yantic and a granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Sherman.

Mr. Conant was a prominent business man in the community and a highly respected citizen. He leaves many friends who deeply regret his passing.

Mrs. Dwight H. Hough

Mrs. Grace Irene Trask Hough, widow of Dwight H. Hough, died Monday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur H. Patterson, Norfolk, Ct., following a long illness. Mrs. Hough had been residing with her daughter for about a year, but for a large part of her life her home had been in Norwich.

She was the daughter of Francis A. and Mary Jane McKinny Trask and at the old Hough homestead, Bozrah, in January 1881 was united in marriage with Dwight H. Hough. Up to a year ago Mrs. Hough had made her home in Norwich. Mrs. Hough was a member of the United Congregational church.

Surviving besides her daughter, Mrs. Patterson, are a son, Leonard Almy Hough of this city, and seven grandchildren, Cornelia, Ruth, and Bradford Patterson of Norfolk and Katharine Prescott, Priscilla Mason, Nancy Greenleaf and Cynthia Darling Hough of this city. Mrs. Hough was well known in Norwich and had many warm friends here who sincerely mourn her death.

REGISTRARS RECEIVE NAMES OF 3,186 MEN AND WOMEN TO BE VOTERS

More names of voters to be made had been received this year than ever before by the registrars of voters by 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, which was the time limit for receiving the names of to-be-mades. Registrars Tyler D. Guy and Cornelius J. Downes were at their office at the court house from 9 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon and the assistant registrars put in the same hours at the polling places in the other districts, each one reporting a big increase in the names of potential voters over the number received four years ago, when a presidential election was just ahead, as it is at the present time.

Party workers have been unusually active this year in rounding up all possible new voters and the result was shown when the returns for all the districts were tabulated by Registrars Guy and Downes Tuesday night. There was a total of 3,182 applications of those who want to be made voters, which is 1,253 more than the number four years ago, when the total was 1,933.

Of the number this year 1,374 are men and 1,812 women, which is a gain of 449 more men and 504 more women than four years ago. There was a gain in every district over the total number of to-be-mades in 1924, these increases being shown as follows by districts, first, 330; second 400; third, 239; fourth, 127; fifth, 200; sixth, 57.

All those who have put in their applications to be made voters will be obliged to appear before the regular board for that purpose at the court house on either Oct. 13, 17 or 20.

The following shows the number of names of to-be-mades received this year and in 1924:

In 1928

CONGREGATIONALISTS TO MEET FOR MISSIONARRY SESSION

Regardless of presidential elections and attendant excitments, more than 500 Congregationalists representing the churches of this denomination in America are gathering next Tuesday, October 16, to Thursday, October 18, in Bridgeport, for the 119th annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. More than 25 nationals and missionaries will appear on the program.

Two sessions of peculiar interest are those devoted to China and Africa. The all-China session which comes on Wednesday afternoon, October 17, will include addresses by Mrs. Alice Browne Frame Litt, D., of Yenching university, Peking, now acting dean of Mt. Holyoke college for the current year; Paul L. Corbin, D. D., of Taiku; Rev. Robert E. Chandler of the board and for 16 years a missionary in Taiku; and Dr. Lucius C. Porter of Yenching university, this year visiting professor at Harvard Graduate school, who will speak on "Best Of All, The Chinese."

Under the topic "The New Day In Africa" there will appear such outstanding missionaries from that country as Rev. William C. Bell of Dondi, West Central Africa; Miss Margaret E. Walbridge of Inanda, principal of the school founded by the late Mrs. Mary (Mother) Kelley Edwards; and Rev. Harwood B. Catlin of Joannesburg. Miss Violet Sibusiswe Makanya, a Zulu young woman who has been arousing interest throughout the country will speak on missionary work "As A Native Sees It," and following this Samuel B. Coles of Galangue, an American Negro missionary will speak on "As An American Negro Sees It."

There will be many other interesting speakers including E. Stanley Jones, D. D., author of "The Christ Of the Indian Road." Miss Isabelle MacCausland and Harold W. Blackett of Kobe, Japan; Aiji Takeuchi, young Japanese sociologist who will speak on "A More Rational Life For the Japanese," Edward B. Haskell, D. D., of Samokov, Bulgaria, Cyril H. Haas, M. D., of Adana, Turkey on "Turkey and Her Friends," and Miss Edith Sanderson, who has figured throughout the past year in the news as one of the three teachers tried in a Turkish court at Brousa, Turkey.

The commissioning as a missionary to India of Miss Dorothy Frink Patton, of Milton, Mass., by Rev. Rockwell Harmon Potter, D. D., president of the board, will give a touch of inspiration to the closing moments of the conference. Miss Patton sails for Madura, India, on October 28, where she will become the bride of Edson Clarke Lockwood of New Britain, Conn., now serving under the American board in that country.

In addition to the missionaries speaking on the program there will be present 30 other workers from the 13 countries in which the board has schools, churches, hospitals, and dispensaries. Of this group, 10 are retired veterans of the Cross whose combined terms of service total 664 years.

DECLINES OPERATION IN HIS COMPENSATION CLAIM

Linius N Thompson of 835 Montauk avenue, New London, an employe of M. J. Delmore of 10 Spring street refused an operation offered him by his employer and insurance company, and still refuses the offer, although he contends that he is partially disabled at the present time and will be for an indefinite period according to his claim made to Compensation Commissioner Albert J. Bailey.

On December 17 1927 Thompson received an injury consisting of an incomplete fracture of the left foot. Compensation has been paid to Thompson at the rate of $16.50 a week for a period of 21 weeks amounting to $346.50 and medical and surgical expenses amounting to $110 have also been paid by the respondent.

In a compensation award Commissioner Bailey ratified a stipulation made between Thompson his employer and the insurance company in which Thompson is to receive $250 as a full complete and final settlement of any and all injuries.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR AT "Y" BOARD MEETING

The board of directors of the local Y. M. C. A. held its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the supper hour. The attendance was larger than usual, and the interest manifested on the part of all the directors was certainly pleasing. J. H. Demarest, the new physical director, was present and by invitation of President Herbert B. Cary he gave a brief talk to the board, expressing his great pleasure in beginning labors with the local "Y" management, and he outlined the program he hoped to follow in co-operation with the employed staff, the physical department committee and the directors. Mr. Demarest made a fine impression. The various reports showed good work accomplished in the past and forecasted an active and bright furore.

The employed staff now consists of the following: Edwin Hill, general secretary; Emery H. Davis, boys' secretary; J. H. Demarest, physical director and P. Leslie Conklin, assistant secretary.

Bridge Evening by Nurses

The senior class in the Backus hospital training school for nurses gave an enjoyable evening of bridge Tuesday in the reception room at the nurses' home. The proceeds will go for the senior class graduation fund. Refreshments were served at the close of the whist, the committee in charge being Miss Helen Towers, Miss Christine Barry and Miss Ruth Allen.

FOR SUPERIOR COURT TRIAL FOR AUTOMOBILE THEFT

William Toth, 19, of 225 Thames street, local taxi driver, charged with theft of an automobile, was bound over to the January criminal term of the superior court Tuesday morning, when his case was presented in the city court before Judge Arthur F. Libby. Bonds were set at $1,500 and as he could not raise the bonds, he was taken to jail to await trial.

Toth, who is charged with driving away from Norwich with a 17-year-old Taftville girl, in a taxicab belonging to the Luxor Cab Co., by whom he was employed, was arrested over a week ago at Hunters Point, Long Island. At the time of his arrest he was attempting to dispose of the machine which he is charged with taking on the evening of Sept. 9.

Since his disappearance it is said he has been in Canada where the Taftville girl has relatives. Becoming hard pressed for money, when he arrived at Hunters Point he was attempting to dispose of the machine when arrested. He was brought back here Monday evening by Officer Patrick Murphy of the local police force.

THREE COUNTS BRING $55 IN TOTAL FINES

Fines on three counts were given Richard P. Walters, 19, a sailor at the submarine base, Navy yard, in the city court Tuesday morning. He was one of many drivers caught in the state police net Monday evening for violation of the motor vehicle laws. Walters, who had a motorcycle, was charged with operating without a license, not having a registration and not having the tail light on his machine lighted. Fines of $25 were imposed on each of the first two counts and on the third count he was fined $5. Costs were added, the fines being imposed by Judge Arthur F. Libby. The sailor pleaded guilty to the charges.

FUNERALS

Mrs Mary Carione

With many relatives and friends present, the funeral of Mrs. Mary Carione was held Tuesday morning at 8:15 o'clock at her home, No. 76 North street. At 9 o'clock there was a solemn high requiem mass at St. Mary's Memorial church. Rev. William A. Keete was celebrant of the mass, Rev. John J. Reilly was the deacon and Rev. Frederick M. Coholan was the sub-deacon. Mrs. M. J. Farrell presided at the organ and at the offertory, Pie Jesu was rendered. The waiting hymn was Priceless Love of Jesus and at the recessional, Chopin's Funeral March was rendered by the organist. Burial was in the family plot at St Joseph's cemetery and Rev. Fr. Coholan conducted the committal service.

M. Barbosa, Sam Vasington, Andrew Deluci, Joseph Colsanto, Dominic Descilo and Nicholas Delio were the bearers. There were many beautiful flowers. Undertakers Cummings & Ring had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Clarence G. Osborne

The funeral of Clarence G. Osborne was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parlors of Undertakers Henry Allen & Son, with relatives and friends present. Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church, conducted the service and the burial was in the City cemetery. Rev. Dr. Pitt conducted the committal service at the grave. The bearers were Ambrose, Howard and Harry A. Osborne, brothers of the deceased, and David H. Wilson. There were numerous beautiful floral tributes of esteem.

Miss Annie Fay

The funeral of Miss Annie Fay was held last Friday morning at 9:30 from the funeral parlors at 62 Main street, followed by a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock, at which Rev. John J. Reilly officiated. Henry J. LaFontaine was at the organ and Roderick F. Sullivan sang De Profundis and as a waiting hymn Lead Kindly Light. The recessional music was Chopin's funeral march. The bearers were William H. Callahan, Joseph T. Farrell, Jeremiah J. Lynch and John Finnegan. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery where Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May read the committal service. There were many floral tributes and the attendance included relatives from New Haven and Willimantic.

Reckless Driving Case Continued

When the reckless driving case against George A. Geer of Willimantic was called in the city court Tuesday morning it was continued until Wednesday morning. The case was continued as neither Geer nor some of the witnesses scheduled to appear against him were on hand. Mr. Geer was summoned to court by the state police following an accident at the fairgrounds on Sept. 29.

CAVING IN OF DRIVEWAY EXPOSED 3,600 BOTTLES BEER

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 9—(AP)—The caving of a driveway pavement which caused a truck to stall today revealed the presence of 3,600 bottles of beer of the truck and caused the arrest of seven men charged with illegal possession of the beer. George H. Brown, of Boston, driver, was among those arrested. An eighth man escaped.

Motored to Newport

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Whitman, Mrs. John Irish, Miss Lola Belle Roath and Miss Angelina Rudd, motored from Norwich Monday to Newport for a day's pleasuring. That city was the home of Miss Roath when her father, the late Commander Warrington Roath was stationed in Newport.

PRESTON MAN NOMINATED BY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

One of the best known men in the town of Preston, John F. Richardson, a retired merchant, was nominated as the republican candidate for state senator from the 19th district when the district convention was held here at noon Tuesday in the town hall, with delegates from the three district towns, Norwich, Preston and Ledyard, attending. Mr. Richardson was Preston's representative to the general assembly during the past term.

JOHN F. RICHARDSON

The convention was called to order by State Central Committeeman Albert J. Bailey, in the absence of Wallace S. Allis, chairman of the 19th senatorial district. Arthur L. Peale was named chairman of the convention and Andrew Avery of Ledyard was named clerk. The following were appointed the committee on credentials: W. W. Service, Preston; Arthur F. Libby, Norwich and Andrew Avery, Ledyard.

Charles D. Noyes nominated Mr Richardson as the party's candidate for state senator from the district. In nominating Mr. Richardson, Mr. Noyes said:

"It is a great pleasure that I rise here to nominate an old friend, John F. Richardson of Preston." Mr. Noyes said it was many years since Preston has had a senator from this district. He told of Mr. Richardson being a resident of the town of Preston for many years, of his being a well known and successful business man there; a man who was ever loyal to his party; one who had legislative experience and dwelt upon his fine record made at the last session of the general assembly. He is one of the best known men in this district, Mr. Noyes said, and concluded, "No man knows better than he the needs of this district, both of the city and the towns."

The nomination was seconded by Walter S. Tarbox of Preston. As there were no other nominations, Mr. Richardson's nomination was unanimously voted by acclamation. Mr. Peale took occasion to pay tribute to Mr. Richardson, saying that he has always worked for the best interests of the district.

Charles D. Noyes of this city, Walter M. Buckingham of Ledyard and Walter S Tarbox of Preston were named a committee to notify Mr. Richardson of his nomination. The candidate was escorted to the convention room and his appearance was heartily applauded. After the noisy demonstration Mr. Peale said, "We are going to elect Mr. Richardson and want to hear a few words from him." Mr. Richardson thanked the delegates for the honor conferred on him and stated that he will do his best for the interests of the district.

A senatorial committee was appointed as follows: Andrew B. Davies, this city, on motion of Judge Arthur F. Libby; Henry B. Bates of Preston, on motion of Walter Tarbox; William I. Allyn of Ledyard, on motion of Walter M. Buckingham.

At the close of the convention the delegates were guests of Mr. Richardson at a luncheon at the Wauregan hotel. Those present at the convention were Mrs. Frank A. Mitchell, Arthur F. Libby, Arthur L. Peale, Frank I. Royce, and Albert J. Bailey of Norwich; Walter S. Tarbox, Philip Yerrington, W. W. Service, Mrs. Appleton Main, of Preston, and Andrew Avery and Walter M. Buckingham of Ledyard.

The Buriats

The Buriats who recently joined the Mongols in destroying a portion of the Chinese Eastern railway came into the spotlight two years ago when the Russian government banned wife stealing among members of the race in Siberia.

"Theft of wives is not a traditional custom among the Buriats. Marriage among them usually is affected through an exchange of children arranged by their parents," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"When the parents of a young Buriat swain decide he should have a wife, they consult the parents of an eligible maiden and offer a daughter in exchange for her hand. If there is no daughter to exchange, the son's wife is, in effect bought by a gift of cattle. Frequently, among the well-to-do Buriats, the bride's dowry of furs which would be valued at thousands of dollars on an American fur market, offset the 'price' paid for her.

'Buddhist temples with their prayer wheels which 'say' thousands of prayers per revolution and Christian churches are found in Buriat villages; but both Buddhists and Christians attend Shamanistic rites at some of the mountain-top shrines. Shamanism is nature worship. Adherents of Shamanism believe that rain, the rivers, the wind and the mountains are peopled by gods. The higher into the mountain the Shamanist goes to worship, the greater favor he receives from the deities. Frequently worshippers climb to the mountain-top shrine where, amid chanting and weird contortions of Shamanist priests, the Buriats make their sacrifices on a sacred fire.

"The Buriat and his horse are inseparable companions. A horse often is tied to his owner's grave to starve to death in order that it may follow him in death. Good horses are scarce so the heirs sometimes manage to appease the gods by substituting a useless hack or they tie the good saddle horse by such a flimsy thong that it soon frees itself and wanders back to the village.

"Few automobiles have penetrated the land of the Buriats, which lies in regions adjacent to the southern shore of Lake Baikal. The Buriats spread their villages all over the landscape without regard to streets, he nomads near the Mongolian border live in yurts, dome-shaped tents built of interlaced flexible sticks covered with skins or felt.

"When a Buriat settles down he frequently builds a hut but no matter how elaborate the new abode may be, it usually bears some resemblance to the yurt. Some leave a smoke hole in the roof and build their fires in the center of the floor as in the yurt.

"Though house furnishings are few rugs adorning the floors and walls of the well-to-do indicate that the Buriat likes display and if the tribesman can afford it, he will be seen strutting about the village in silken robes.

"Tea drinking and smoking are common habits of the Buriat, both among adults and children. Some of the tribesmen wear broad silk girdles in which they carry their pipes and tea cups.

"When the Russians first met the Buriats in the sixteenth century, the latter were true children of nature. Many of them made their living by fishing and hunting while a few were stock raisers. The Russians taught them agriculture and succeeding generations of Buriats surpassed the average Russian farmer in farming."

FOOCHOW

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"Foochow, China, famous for its sweet-smelling tea, is reported to be staging a 'comeback' as one of the world's great tea ports," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The steep slopes of Fukien province, which bowed to the vast tea plantations of Ceylon and Japan nearly two decades ago, again are covered with thriving tea bushes. Tea-laden boats on the Min recall the days when Yankee clippers cleared Foochow with cargoes of fragrant leaves destined for American teapots.

"Foochow's port is really in its suburbs," continues the bulletin. "The nearest gate in the five-mile wall that surrounds the city is three miles from the north bank of the Min.

"To reach Foochow one must go by boat, for there are no railroads or good roads in this region. Ocean-going vessels from Shanghai and Hongkong enter the Min opposite the north end of Formosa and steam up the river for 25 miles to Pagoda Anchorage. From there passengers are transported by steam launch through a maze of matting-covered sampans and high-pooped junks to the Foochow piers, nine miles farther upstream. The remainder of the journey to the walled city may be made by jinrikisha or sedan chair.

"Frequently passengers are landed on the south side of the river, where one gets a glimpse of the most modern section of Foochow—the foreign settlement. The foreign clubs, and legation buildings, surrounded by flowering gardens and well kept lawns, sharply contrast with the congested native quarter. A race track, numerous tennis courts and pleasure craft on the Min keep the small foreign population contented.

"Within the wall, a few modern school, government and business buildings have been built in recent years, and a few of the main streets leading from the city gates have been widened, but a step into one of the side streets is a step back several centuries in Foochow history.

"An example of early Chinese city planning can be visualized by drawing a diagram of a certain street in Foochow's east side. It runs from one of the main streets eastward, then northward, eastward, northward, eastward, northward, eastward, southward, westward, southward, southeastward, southward, westward, southward, eastward and southward.

"The whole course of this thoroughfare is not more than two or three blocks long and nowhere is it wide enough for even a jinrikisha to pass without driving playing children and their playmates—filthy pigs and dogs—into bordering doorways. The sedan chair is used by most travelers to penetrate these passageways where the odors permeating the atmosphere are so overwhelming to foreign nostrils that the chair-bearers are urged on to the nearest breathing space.

"More pleasant to the traveler are the tea factories and warehouses where tea leaves, scented with jasmines, roses and chrysanthemums are sorted from dawn to dusk by Chinese women and children. Last year Foochow exported more than 7,000,000 pounds of Fukien tea, and reported an additional 5,000,000 pounds which were shipped to Foochow 'tea perfumeries.' There are more than forty tea factories in the city.

"The open shops along the Foochow streets reveal thousands of natives eking out an existance in various other industries. Before one's eyes clever artisans make wooden pillows and images of gods and odd-looking beasts; cabinet makers turn out fancy furniture; potters shape and fire handsome vessels; brickmakers fashion their products in all shapes, sizes and colors; both men and women sit silently embroidering, or weaving the dark cloth usually worn by peasants; and dyers, with inky hands, seemingly turn old garments into new of a different color.

"One of the most interesting of these industrial displays is the making of lovely vases, toys, tables and numerous other articles in the lacquer shops. Foochow lacquer ware is almost as well known as its tea. An American boy would, perhaps, spend most of his time peering into the fireworks shops where workmen evolve the 'noise' for street processions, funerals, weddings and other chinese celebrations. Trade with 27 cities and many small villages reached by river boats, accounts for much of Foochow's commercial activity.

"It was not until 1861 when the Min was open to foreign shipping that the city's 'suburbs' spread out along both banks and beckoned to world trade. Since then Foochow's annual output of tea alone has reached nearly 100,000,000 pounds and it bids fair to repeat."

I like to drive with Champion Spark Plugs because I know I'll not be annoyed with engine trouble due to faulty spark plugs.

Champion is the better spark plug because it has an exclusive silli-manite insulator specially treated to withstand the much higher temperatures of the modern high-compression engine. Also a new patented solid copper gasket-seal that remains absolutely gas-tight under high compression. Special analysis electrodes which assure a fixed spark-gap under all driving conditions.

Beginning October 4th and every Thursday thereafter the Champion Sparkers will broadcast over the Blue Network of the National Broadcasting Company from 8:30 to 9:00 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

RUTH GETS THREE HOMERS AS YANKEES WIN WORLD'S TITLE

Cards Make Game Fight For Six Innings and Then Fade as Yankee Big Guns Start Barrage—Gehrig and Durst Also Hit Homers to Add to Rout of Redbirds—Hoyt Pitches Brilliant Game—Decision by Umpire Pfirman Unnerves Sherdel and He Weakens and is Replaced by Alexander—Several Records Fall as Yanks Take Championship.

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 9—(AP)—The Yankees said it with home runs today and brought the 1928 world's series to a crashing, record-breaking conclusion with their fourth straight triumph over the Cardinals. Five cracking circuit clouts, three of them by the one and only Babe Ruth, four of them in two successive innings and all of them sounding taps for the Redbirds, enabled the Yankees to win by the decisive count of 4 to 3 and record a new world's series achievement by making their second successive clean sweep over National league champions.

RUTH

GEHRIG

HOYT

Ruth Dominates the Game

The central and dominating figure in the most smashing triumph of the world's series history was the mighty Ruth. The Babe's first two home runs twice tied the score, his second started the downfall of Willie Sherdel, game little southpaw of the Cardinals, and his third equalled the record for long range clouting that he set himself in the same park two years ago.

The tide and drama of the whole game turned upon Ruth in the seventh inning, in remarkable fashion, at a time when the Yankee punch was conspicuous by its absence and when the Cardinals were holding tenaciously to a one run lead. Behind the clever pinch-pitching of Sherdel, gamely seeking to break the Yankee jinx, the Cardinals had revamped their lineup in this last ditch fight and they seemed in a fair way to succeed until the Bambino lumbered into the picture in the seventh.

The Questionable Decision

Ruth had driven one ball out of the park, a drive that cleared the roof of the rightfield stands in the fourth, Ruth fans' handclapping, but also to the accompaniment of wild boos and jeers from the crowd as Sherdel went back finally to the box. The southpaw, mad and upset, threw two balls, then grooved one that the Babe caught and lifted again over the entire right field barrier.

Gehrig Hits Homer

Sherdel unable to settle down, was hit for another home run by Lou Gehrig, putting the Yankees into the lead, for the first time, and walked dejectedly from the box when Bob Meusel laced a single to left.

One pitched ball thus had turned the whole complexion of the game, swiftly and surely.

Aided by it, the Yankees, after playing in slip-shod fashion behind Hoyt for the first six innings, got their famous attack functioning once more. Old Pete Alexander tried to check the tide but it was too late. The Yankees with Earle Combs figuring in the attack as a pinch hitter for the first time and driving in a run, ran up four runs altogether in the seventh, then capped the climax with two more home run thrusts, one by Cedric Durst and the other by Ruth, in the eighth.

Pop Bottles for Ruth

So aroused had become the bleacher crowd after that fatal seventh and Umpire Pfirman's ruling that Ruth was the target for a mild shower of pop bottles when he went out to his position in left field in the Cardinal half of the inning. Three of the missiles landed within a short distance of the Babe, who threw them from the field. There were wild jeers again when Ruth came to bat in the eighth, but, as suddenly, they turned to cheers as the Bambino hoisted his third homer to the roof of the right field stands.

To cap the climax of one of his greatest days, Ruth ended the game and the series with a remarkable one-hand running catch of Frisch's foul along the left field boxes in the ninth inning, dashing on to the dugout as the crowd surged out on the field.

Ruth Breaks All Records

The Babe's triumphant dash to cover ended a series in which the great slugger had shattered all world's series hitting records, added to his long range laurels and finished with a batting mark of .625 that eclipses anything previously on record. The highest mark before was .545 made by Sergeant Hank Gowdy in the 1914 series with the Boston Braves.

World Series Sidelights

The favorite newspaper "lead" for the last game of the 1928 world series was that the Cardinals were fighting with "their backs to the wall." The game developed that this was literally true only of George Harper, the right field patrolman. The ex-Phillie and ex-Giant spent a good portion of his afternoon with his back to the wall watching five home runs sail far over his head, two over the bleachers, two on the roof and one among the customers.

The Cardinals could not blame their rivals for lack of liberality in the concluding game of the series. The Yankees were generous to a fault. The American leaguers helped the Nationals to every one of the three runs scored.

The most violent argument of the series developed in the seventh, with one out, Sherdel eased over two slow balls for strikes on Ruth and then attempted to sneak a fast one by. Umpire Pfirman explained that he had held up his hand to halt Sherdel's delivery and therefore the pitch was as if it had never been made—neither a strike nor a ball. The Cardinals claimed it should be called a strike and the Babe declared out. Captain Frisch rushed in from second base and Manager McKechnie and Coach Onslow came from the bench. The privates in the ranks added their suggestions to the clamor. Ruth stood by clapping his hands as an accompaniment to the shouts. After Pfirman said the last word, the players retreated and Sherdel went back to the pitching mound. He threw two wide balls and then sent one right through the plate, tempting fate. Ruth drove the ball over the bleachers in right to tie the score. Three other runs followed before the Cardinals could get the Yankees out.

The crowd booed Pfirman and Ruth after the incidents of the stormy seventh and when Ruth went into left field he had to throw three pop bottles out of his territory. The bottles seemed to have been thrown as a part of the general movement of protest with no idea of making the big New York outfielder a target. When the Babe hit his third homer, the left field bleacher crowd gave him a big hand, as he went out after the close of the eighth pointing to the right field bleachers and holding up three fingers.

The last big laugh of the series fell to Ruth. With two out in the ninth Frankie Frisch hit a foul close to the field boxes in left field, giving Ruth a chance to make a sensational one-hand running catch near the stands. The big fellow never lost his stride after gathering the ball in and ran to the New York bench waving the ball in the air and laughing.

The third inning witnessed an unusual single when Bengough drove a ball against the left field bleacher wall on the fly and could make only one base, the ball bounding back to the Cardinal outfielders. In the same inning High made a snappy play on Paschal's roller and tossed out "big ten" when he was certain he had a hit.

McKechnie's effort to add offensive strength to his team by inserting Ernest Orsatti and Earl Smith in the places occupied by Taylor Douthit and Jimmy Wilson was successful in that they made five hits between them but Orsatti's fielding left something to be desired. He seemed to have difficulty keeping his feet and was bothered too by the sun.

YANKEES JUBILANT IN CLUBHOUSE AFTER FINAL GAME OF THE SERIES

By Charles W. Dunkley
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9—(AP)—East side, west side, all around the town.

"The tots sing ring-a-Rosie,
"London bridge is falling down,
"Boys and girls together,
"Me and Mamie ORourke,
"We tripped the light fantastic,
"On the sidewalks of New York."

In booming bass voices, baritones and shrill tenors, the Yankees, gloriously happy in their triumph of walloping the Cardinals in four straight victories, burst into this song today as they rushed into the dressing room down under the grandstand in Sportsman's park.

All the noise and singing came from the Yanks, all the peace and quiet, the soberness of extreme depression, came from the Cardinals in their dressing room adjoining that of the triumphant Yankees. None of the players, with the exception of "Wee Willie" Sherdel, and William McKechnie, their manager, would talk.

"Give them all the glory that is theirs," said McKechnie, referring to the conquering Yankees. "I have no alibis to offer. The breaks went against us. That's all."

Sherdel, who attempted to sneak over a quick strike on Babe Ruth in the famous seventh inning when he had two strikes on him, protested that the strike should have been allowed, that Ruth, who smacked the next ball over the right grandstand for his first of a trio of homers, should have gone to the Yankee dugout a strikeout victim instead of a home run hero.

"If there was an understanding among the umpires in prohibiting a quick return, it was a secret to me," Sherdel said. "They didn't let me in on it. I have been using a quick return all the time in the National league, there is no rule against it.

"Why, once I tried it on Tony Kaufmann in Chicago and he looked up just in time to knock the ball into the left field bleachers.

"I was standing on the rubber when I made the quick delivery today. Ruth was in the batter's box. The Babe never saw it. The ball was right in the slot, a sure enough strike.

"After the ball was on the way to the plate, Pfirman, the umpire, waved his hands, signalling 'time out'. He shouldn't have done that."

Sherdel made no excuses for the two balls that Ruth knocked out of the place for home runs. They were low curves, pitched inside, he said.

"I sent them where I wanted to," Sherdel added. "I hated to see them sail out of the park, but a ball game is a ball game.

"Ruth is just a great, terrible hitter. More power to him. I'm glad he ain't in the National."

The Yankees were a merry-making crew of conquerors. As they came through the door, one of their number cut loose with—"East side, west side, all around the town."

All of them instantly joined in, setting up a fanatical demonstration that revealed their unrestrained joy. Miller Huggins, their mits manager, joined in the singing.

Tears formed in his eyes as he stood there, singing at the top of his voice, grabbing the hands of his players extended to him in congratulations of victory. Huggins was tremendously happy.

Questioned about Sherdel's protest of the quick delivery made Ruth, Huggins smilingly said:

"Oh, forget about that."

Ruth, whose achievement in connecting with three home runs, thrilled the great crowd with excitement, was more concerned over his masterful, one handed catch of Frisch's foul fly, the last play of the game, than he was over the homers. Ruth had grabbed the ball on the run, executing a dramatic play.

"Did you see that catch?' he boomed, his boyish face streaming with perspiration.

"Wasnt that a corker?"

"Boy, did you see that catch?"

And he proudly strutted around the dressing room, still gripping the ball that had ended the game, asking the question over and over again.

As the hilarious players began shedding their uniforms, Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, strolled into the room to offer his congratulations to the winners. Landis, with his flopping rimmed black hat, and his cane with the warts on it, first went to Huggins, then to Ruth, Gehrg and down the line.

After greeting the Yanks, Landis went to the dressing room of the depressed Cardinals to offer his condolences.

Enough policemen to form a Mexican regiment stood guard outside the umpires' dressing room as a precautionary measure to protect Cy Pfirman, the umpire, who made the quick return decision, but no demonstrative crowd gathered. The frenzied Cardinal rooters were shooed away.

BRITISH BOARD ASKS THAT SCOTT BE CONSIDERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—The British board of boxing control, ruler of Great Britain's fistic system, asked the New York state athletic commission today if Gene Tunney really had retired. If he has, the British board respectfully requests that Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of Great Britain, be given a chance to win the title Tunney gave up.

In a long letter to the fistic fathers, the British board offered its services in the interest of producing a genuinely "world" champion—that is if Gene has retired. If reports cabled overseas were exaggerated and the big marine was only fooling when he said he was through, the entire matter, of course, could be dropped.

The commission hastened to inform the British board that the situation was just as grave as had been pictured abroad and that Tunney had really quit the ring. The fathers assured their co-workers overseas that Scott would be given every chance in the elimination designed to fill Tunney's place and thanked them for their offer of cooperation.

To prevent false assumption of titles by boxers in this country the British board sent the commission a list of Great Britain's titleholders. They are: Flyweight, Johnny Hill; bantamweight, Kid Pattenden; featherweight, Harry Corbett; lightweight, Sam Steward; welterweight, Jack Hood; middleweight, Alex Ireland; light heavyweight, Gipsey Daniels; heavyweight, Phil Scott.

The commission further decided that Tommy Loughran, 175 pound king, must fight Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, and Pete Latzo, Scranton miner, in defense of his title after one or two warm-up bouts. Loughran was reinstated today after 60 days on the sick list.

Leo Flynn, who managed Jack Dempsey's second comeback campaign, was suspended for 30 days along with his stable of fighters and the Coney Island stadium lost its license indefinitely for violating the commission rules that forbid guarantees. Dave Shade, under Flynn's management, was guaranteed $5,000 for a match at the stadium against George Courtney, June 15.

A "rubber" check given Flynn for half the guarantee bounded all over Coney Island when he tried to cash it, the "Silver Fox" complained to the commission. The fathers refused to aid him, slapped him with the suspension, and further decreed that he must turn back about $300 of the $2,500 cash he received. The contract filed with the commission called for only 20 per cent of a gate that totalled about $11,000.

EACH YANKEE PLAYER WILL GET $5,531.91 FOR SHARE

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9—(AP)— Although the total players' pool of $419,736.60 set a new record for the world series, each winning share drawn down by the Yankee regulars $5,531.91, will fall somewhat short of the record individual total of more than $6,000 established in 1923 when the Hugmen also won the prize. This diminution is due both to the generosity of the Yankees in remembering secretaries and other club officials and to the share now deducted from the pool for members of the two major league clubs finishing fourth.

The losing St. Louis Cardinals, dividing their money into only twenty-eight parts, each will receive a check for $4,197.37.

Of the $419,736.60 in the pool, $293,-815.62 goes to the players on the two world series contenders and the remaining $125,920.98 to the six first division clubs in the two leagues. The winning Yankees divide 60 per cent, of the contenders' pool, or $176,289.37, and the Cardinals 40 per cent, or $117,526.25.

The Yankees voted to deduct $4,800 from their money to reward Eddie Bennett, the mascot; Mrs. Urban Shocker, widow of the former Yankee pitcher, and various secretaries and officials. The rest then was to be divided into thirty-one shares, with full shares to go to Tom Zachary and Fred Heimach, who joined the club late in the season, as well as to Wilcy Moore, the star pitcher of last season, who quite the club incapacitated three weeks ago.

Half a share goes to the veteran pitcher, Stanley Coveleskie, released in midseason.

The Cardinals' money will carry full shares for 26 players and the manager, Bill McKechnie, and half shares for Ernest Orsatti, the Minneapolis recruit, and Clarence Lloyd, club secretary, and twenty-six players share in the prize since Carlisle Littlejohn, ineligible for the series because he was playing in Houston on August 31, was regularly with the club except for the three weeks he spent in Texas on a "farm."

Each second place club will have $331,480.24 to divide among about twenty-five regulars, while each of the two teams finishing third will cut up $20,968.83 making just more than $1,000 for each Athletic and Giant and about $800 for each Brown and Cub.

The fourth place pool amounts to $10,493.41 for the two clubs, giving each Senator and Pirate approximately$400.

The club owners and the two leagues are the only parties who fail to profit generously from the series. Jacob Ruppert and Sam Breadon will receive only $69,956.10 each, with a similar sum reverting to the treasury of each league.

MRS. E. H. BAKER LEADS FIELD IN TWO-DAY TOURNEY

HARTFORD, Oct. 9—(AP)—Mrs. E. H. Baker, of Oakley, topped a field of 74 women golfers in the first day of the annual two-day interstate tournament of Connecticut and Massachusetts at the Country club, of Farmington, today. The Massachusetts woman carded a 40-43—83, five strokes better than anyone else in the field brought in. Mrs. Baker's score was five strokes over women's par.

The competition today was limited to 18 holes of medal play. The tournament closes tomorow with another 18 holes, which includes both medal and match play. Ten players will represent each state in the two-some matches and these, along with the others, will also be playing for the 36 hole medal prizes, both gross and net.

GOVERNMENT WILL GET ABOUT $50,000 FROM SERIES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The government expects to collect about $50,000 in taxes from money paid by baseball fans to see the New York Americans win the world's championship. The amount, from preliminary estimates will be the smallest except once, in the last five years.

The government tax on the Washington-New York worlds series was $106,177; on the Washington-Pittsburgh series $118,423; St. Louis-New York series $120,789 and on the Pittsburgh-New York series of last year when only four games were played, the tax was $78,650.

J. B. MARTIN CO. TO PUT SOCCER TEAM IN FIELD

A meeting of the J. B. Martin Soccer Football club was held Thursday at which it was planned to open the season at an early date against a fast Rhode Island team. All last year's players have signed up and they expect to put a strong team in the field and are looking forward to a successful season as they are trying to make the game popular in this part of the state and will be glad to hear from any soccer teams in Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Games can be arranged by writing to F. Laycock, 37 Central avenue, Norwich, Conn., Manager, J. B. Martin F. C.

CUBS WIN TITLE IN CHICAGO CITY SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 9—(AP)—Joe McCarthy's Cubs, third place winners in the National league race, are the champions of Chicago.

After losing two straight games to their southside rivals, Lena Blackburne's White Sox, the Cubs, rounded almost every thing thrown at them today by four tired hurlers and won the seventh and deciding game of the city championship series 13 to 2.

Twenty-five thousand saw the contest.

T. C. Mohawks And All Stars Tie

The T. C. Mohawks tied Hamil's All Stars, 18 to 18 Tuesday afternoon at Mohegan park. Jazz Geebe, Red Geer and Shorty Gilman featured with long runs while Hamil, Reardon and LaRochelle starred for the All Stars. The lineups:

Mohawks: Fenton and Jaskeiwicz, ends; Richards and Sargent, tackles; Kelly and Conock, guards; W. Gilman, center; R. Gilman, quarterback; Geer, left halfback; Beebe, right halfback; Stockwell, fullback.

FOUR FAST PRELIMINARIES FOR OLYMPIC CARD THURSDAY HIGHT

The strong supporting card for the two main bouts at the Olympic Arena show on Thursday evening should prove almost as interesting as the star bouts. Matchmaker Ernie Fakourey has shown excellent judgment in his selection of boxers for the preliminaries. Two six round bouts have been scheduled which will follow two four-round engagements.

There is more or less of a local touch to the first six rounder in that Charlie Belizzi of Bridgeport, is a former Norwich boy who fought in the amateurs before going to Bridgeport. Belizzi is matched with Jimmy Clinch, protege of Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former world's featherweight champion. Clinch looks, acts and fights like the Kid but his ring tactocs are not popular with the crowd. Clinch is tough and no getting away from it and Belizzi is due for about six rounds of rough work when the gong sounds for the first round.

In the other six-rounder Rene Lubear of New Haven, rugged title hatter and conqueror of both Tommy McCarthy and Gene Pecheeni is slated to meet Max Maravetch, another Meriden boy from the camp of Kaplan. Those who saw Lubear take McCarthy and Pecheeni know that he is capable of putting up a fast battle against anyone of his weight and should by all indications take the verdict from Maravetch.

Vic Darr, sterling, snappy lightweight of Norwich is pitted against Jimmy Debs of Worcester in a four round preliminary. Darr is fighting much better since he turned pro than he did when he was an amateur and he was a pretty nifty little glove thrower ther. Debs is an unknown quantity in this section of the state but comes well recommended from Worcester where he has been fighting prelims in the open air shows.

Babe Janis, of New London one of the popular idols of Jimmy Quinn's outlaw shows last winter will hook up with Johnny Ryan of the Coast Guards in the opener. Janis is a fast working boy with plenty of dynamite packed away in each hand as he demonstrated here last winter. His Coast Guard opponent is reputed to be an even t

LAST CALL FOR RESIDENTS INTENDING TO REGISTER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 9—The Westerly town council meets Wednesday at 8 p. m., as a board of canvassers for the voting lists which will be used in the coming presidential election. This will be the last opportunity for any one whose name does not appear upon the printed list, as posted in the corridors of Westerly town hall, to appear and show cause if possible why his or her name should be added to the election lists, or changed from one to the other of the two voting districts in Westerly.

The republican caucus to nominate candidates for representatives to the Connecticut legislature to be held this (Wednesday) evening in Stonington and at the office of the town clerk in North Stonington will draw attendants from the residents of Pawcatuck and vicinity residing in those towns. In Stonington it is expected there will be opposition to Henry A. Stahle of Pawcatuck, present representative in the Connecticut general assembly. In North Stonington it is expected that Horace E. Lewis of the Boom Bridge section will receive the nomination to succeed Henry Morgan, the present incumbent. Mr. Lewis was a member of the Connecticut body several years ago.

On Oct. 9, Mary F. McGuinness of Providence sold to Grace A. Sullivan, of Willimantic, and Charles A. Van Derman, of Hartford, land near Babcock's Pond, bounded easterly by lands of James N. Thompson, southerly by the sea and westerly by lands of Charles H Palmer and wife, together with dwelling thereon standing and other improvements.

Deborah chapter, No 9, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Elizabeth D Mayne, worthy matron, and Andrew R. Ralston, worthy patron, held its October meeting Tuesday evening in Masonic hall. Full form initiatory work was performed by the chapter officers on a class of candidates. Among guests present were many members of Ruth chapter, Order of the Eastern Star of Stonington. Mrs. Edris Datson was the chairman of the committee in charge of serving refreshments at the close of the meeting. Adjournment was taken to the armory banquet room of Narragansett commandery where the guests were seated at individual tables attractively lighted with candles. A social time brought the evening to a close.

Mild weather Tuesday afternoon caused a large number of baseball fans to assemble on the walks in the business section of Westerly, where radio returns were being received from the last game in the world's series between the New York American and St Louis National teams on the latter's city grounds.

Frank Ennis of Wakefield was a Westerly visitor Monday.

Workmen began the excavation Monday of the strip of ground in front of the recently occupied addition to the Westerly Memorial and Public Library building and the Wilcox park section bordering Broad street, which is to be taken into the widened street. The loam taken out was thrown back for grading purposes. The actual work of widening the street is not contemplated by the Westerly highway department until next year.

State Trooper Bonat returned Tuesday to his home in Providence on a 36-hour furlough from his duties in the employ of the police department of the town of Westerly.

NOANK

YOUNG VILLAGE ARTIST MAY BE FAMOUS SOME DAY

A pupil in the eighth grade at the village school, Rosanoe Balaratrine out of 225 pupils is rated the best artist in the school. Many of his drawings are hung around the room in the eighth grade. One picture is a large schooner battling against big waves, when a storm is at its height. He has drawn the S-31 being struck by the steamer City of Rome, off Block Island. The old salts said they have never seen anything like the skill of this pupil with the paint brush. He has won several prizes from the state comic from Hartford, for his drawing. His teacher, Miss E. Ross claims that she has taught over 2,000 pupils in her time but never saw a boy who could draw so well. It is hard to keep him still when the drawing teacher comes Monday, always looking for the paint brush or pencil. Perhaps some day he will be with a magazine company designing pictures for the covers.

Billie Banks has returned from a short visit on Block Island.

Eddie Ellis spent Monday in Putnam with friends.

Harold Peterson was in Danielson recently.

OLD SHIPYARD WORKER, CHARLES PALMER, DIES

The people in the village were saddened to hear of the death early Sunday morning of Charles Palmer, 81, after only two days' illness.

He was sexton at the Baptist church for 50 years and never was late in ringing the bell on Sunday or any time there were services. Mr. Palmer was a ship carpenter, also had charge of marine railways at the shipyard and had hauled out 1500 boats without a mishap. He was rated the best man around this part of the state at that work. He retired from the shipyard and took life easy, working about his home and the church grounds. He leaves his wife, a niece on Long Island and four cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Gillis and daughter of Providence are spending a few days with their relatives, Mr and Mrs. John Ellis. Mr. Gillis arrived a month ago from the Golden State, California, where he spent several years as foreman of a large machine shop where 2,000 men are employed. He brought his cousin Eddie Ellis a large lemon tree, so he can have lemons to make plenty of home brew lemonade. He is Mrs. Ellis' brother and it is seven years since they saw each other. She prepared a Noank chicken dinner, his favorite dish. He says Noank has changed home and is getting to look more like a city every year, but the shipyard has seen its best days.

Sidney Buteon is in Boston for a few days visit.

Mrs. F. Walker have returned home after spending a week in New York.

Miss Dorothy Adams of East Woodstock is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Martha Smith.

FRANKLIN

FARMS BEING POSTED TO CARELESS CITY SPORTS

Property owners of Franklin have awakened to the fact that Franklin has been over run by the city sports, and have posted over 5,000 acres of land. As the close of the hunting season it is discouraging to the farmer to find walls and fences torn down, cows and dogs shot by some careless huntsman and other losses and damages that were unnecessary if only the city sports would be as careful of the farmers' property as he is of his own.

If the state issues licenses to the city sport why doesn't the city sport hunt on state property instead of coming in on the farmer.

Although canvass of all the property owners will be made and Franklin will be bone dry to the city sport who shoots tails off the weather cock and kills the family cat.

ON THE EVE OF THE WORLD'S SERIES

Three Triumphant Yankees conduct the Blindfold test . . . and MILLER HUGGINS picks OLD GOLD

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

Miller J. Huggins

LOU GEHRIG (witness to the test)

MILLER HUGGINS (who made the test)

BABE RUTH (witness to the test)

In the dressing room at Navin Field in Detroit, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the blindfold cigarette test to Manager Miller Huggins. The famous Yankee pilot was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked, "which one do you like best?"

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

KEEP MILK IN THE DARK: LIGHT DEVELOPS OFF FLAVOR

Sunlight—nature's cure-all for many ailments—is bad medicine for milk. Milk kept in the "outdoor icebox" of on the window sill sometimes develops an off flavor that has been described as a "cardboard taste" having an odor like dry linseed oil. Such a defect may be due to any of several causes, but one of the most common causes, according to Dr. William C. Frazier, of the bureau of dairy industry, United States department of agriculture, is ordinarily light. The light apparently acts as a catalyst in the oxidation of the milk fat, he says.

That light is essential for the development of the cardboard taste has been demonstrated recently by Doctor Frazier in a series of tests in which duplicate sets of samples of milk were prepared, one of which was exposed to daylight and the other placed in the dark. In all cases the samples kept in the dark developed no off flavors or odors, even after 7 to 3 days at near freezing temperatures whereas the samples kept in the light at the same temperatures developed the characteristic cardboard odor and taste after 20 to 48 hours of which 3 to 26 hours were daylight.

Further tests showed that the cardboard taste is not due to the cardboard cap, and that it develops in the cream or in whole milk and not in skim milk. Furthermore, milk from cows that had received no oil feeds was found to be just as susceptible when exposed to light as that from cows that consumed large quantities of oil feeds.

Other investigators have shown that the action of direct sunlight on butterfat or on milk rapidly produces off flavors. It is generally supposed, however that diffuse daylight has a much slower action and would have little effect on milk flavor. Doctor Frazier reports, however, that the test samples were never exposed to direct sunlight but were placed in a north window in diffuse light. It is apparent, he says, that exposure to light so shortens the induction period of the milk fat that oxidation may begin, with consequent production of undesirable odors and flavors. The few hours of exposure to light apparently starts a process which continues in the dark and is accelerated by more daylight.

Consumers are cautioned to keep milk in the dark, even when temperatures in the light are near freezing, to avoid the development of cardboard taste and linseed-oil odor.

HINTS FOR THE FARM

Before the weather grows cold, all live stock including poultry should be inspected carefully for evidence of external parasites such as lice, ticks, mange mites, and scab. In case parasites are found, the stock should be dipped while the weather permits dipping without danger of colds and pneumonia.

Milk which has a bitter flavor from bitterweed need not necessarily be thrown away. Salable butter and cottage cheese often can be made from bitter milk provided care is taken to wash them thoroughly.

The "all-mash method" of feeding poultry, which has come into use recently, can be practiced successfully. One of the advantages of this method —which consists of supplying the entire ration in ground form kept constantly before the birds—is that every fowl is sure to get a balanced ration instead of varying proportions of scratch feed and mash.

Farmers should not be misled about common scab of sheep, the cause of serious financial loss. It spreads rapidly and is easily introduced from "strays" or through "public buck herds." It does not develop rapidly in hot weather, and owners are likely to believe the mites causing it have left the flock. However, close examination will reveal the mites working at the edges of the scabs. Dipping with the lime-and-sulphur or the nicotine solutions will cure the flocks, but the dipping should be repeated in fro mi0 to 12 days. The same treatment will cure foot scab.

Light, friable, or sandy soils planted to corn, that react quickly to atmospheric changes should be plowed in the fall or winter if the corn earworm is present, especially in the southern half of the country. Frequent changes of temperature are destructive to the pupae of this pest, the losses from which amount to many millions of dollars annually.

Food for bees during winter months requires close attention. Every colony should have from 25 to 40 pounds of honey. If feeding is practiced, sirup made from granulated sugar is as good as honey and is safe. In no wise should for feed be obtained from a healthy apiary, lest the entire colony be ruined by disease.

In harvesting late crop cabbage the usual procedure is to cut and trim the heads at one operation. Loading and shipping, whether in containers or in bulk, requires care to prevent bruising. The attractiveness of a neatly trimmed, carefully graded lot of cabbage more than pays for the extra time and attention necessary to its preparation.

JARDINE SHOWS INTEREST IN APPLE PRODUCERS' PROBLEMS

W. M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, has extended the aid of the United States department of agriculture to "Apple for Health," Inc., an organization composed of apple producers from all parts of the country, designed to develop and carry on a program of trade promtin.

This new rganization will cooperate with the department of agriculture and other institutions in carrying on a comprehensive economic and research program in addition to trade promotion activities. As an overhead association of producers it will give special emphasis to such questions as standardization, demand, and improvement in marketing practices.

Secretary Jardine in commending the contemplated program in a letter to the president of the central organization, Paul Stark, a prominent orchardist of Missouri, said that the department was particularly glad to cooperate in this project, "because it shows the actual producers of apples attacking a fundamental problem in a constructive manner."

The efforts of this organization are commanding the active support and cooperation of allied industries interested in the welfare of the apple producer. The first vice-president is Governor Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, one of the outstanding orchardists in this country. The second vice-president is George C. Jones, president of the Wenatchee, Washington chamber of commerce. Among the other officers and members of the board of governors are some of the country's leaders in the apple industry.

GET READY FOR VEGETABLES

Magnificent displays of home-grown vegetables at club flower shows and fairs this fall have given new interest and impetus to the home vegetable garden. It is an institution that should not be abandoned if space possibly can be found for it. No matter how cheaply vegetables can be purchased in the market, the absolute top-notch of quality cannot be bought at a store. It must be grown.

The call for the vegetable garden may be put in shape for spring to excellent advantage this fall if no more than spading and leaving the soil to weather. In fall spading do not break up the lumps and place the soil in fine tilth. Leave the lumps which will permit the air to penetrate the earth more easily and assist in the process of breaking up. With the winter weathering it will work much more easily in the spring.

If stable manure can be found, it is a very excellent plan to dig it in this fall. Failing a supply of stable manure, compost made from decayed leaves and vegetable rubbish is the next best to turn under. If autumn leaves have been buried save something from this destruction of valuable fertilizing material by gathering the ashes and scattering them over the garden. They will provide potash, a necessary element in plant food and also add lime to the soil.

The value of autumn leaves, stacked up from year to year decay either under the influence of rains or moisture from the hose or to be hastened by chemical reagen now on sale, cannot be overestimated. They offer a fine material for soil improvement always at hand for the gathering. The most practical method is to build a big of rough boards, unfloored and fill this with the autumn leaves and garden refuse, wetting it and tramping it down and weighting it down after the bin is well filled.

The decayed foliage which will accumulate at the bottom of the heap in the course of seaons is almost pure humus and of the greatest value to add texture to the soil and moisture retaining quality. With the use of chemical reagents the bin of leaves will be converted into a solid layer of thoroughly decayed synthetic manure of high fertilizing quality in three months. Started this fall it will be ready for use next spring.

SOME OCTOBER PRECAUTIONS AGAINST ANIMAL PARASITES

With the approach of cold weather, bright, mild days in October are a good time for dipping livestock. This is a timely reminder given in the "Calendar of Livestock Parasites," published as Miscellaneous Publication 25—M, for free distribution by the United States Department of Agriculture. Diping livestock on farms during freezing weather may cause chilling and be injurious. The introductory paragraph for the month also warns that October is time to "learn about trichinosis and reasons for cooking pork well." The text of the calendar devoted to the month of October says:

"Did you dip your livestock last month? If not, do it now, before cold weather. If sheep scab is dormant in your flock it will make trouble later. Consult Farmers' Bulletin No 713—F. Clean up chicken lice.

"Beware of trichinosis. Now is the time for early fall slaughtering of pigs. Every year pigs are killed on the farm and made into sausage and other products. Every year the incautious farmer's wife tastes the raw sausage to see whether the seasoning is right and the farmer's family or friends eat some of the raw sausage or other pork products raw. And every year there are a number of deaths from trichinosis as a result of this proceeding. The disease is caused by worms of microscopic size, known as trichinae, which live in the muscles.

"Most of our trchinosis arises from farm slaughtering of pigs and the eating of raw sausage from small, uninspected establishments. Trichinosis appears to cause swine very little trouble or discomfort, but is a very painful disease in ma and frequently fatal. There is no dependable cure or treatment. Cook pork and pork products well and thoroughly, and avoid eateing them raw.

"When nature supplies your chickens and turkeys with 'free' feed in the form of earthworms, snails, slugs, and insects, there may be a cost to reckon with later. Many parasitic worms use these other small animals as intermediate hosts or carriers of some sort in getting from one bird to nacother. Thus earthworms sometimes transmit gapeworms to chicks; slugs and snails transmit tapeworms and nematodes (the roundworm group) to chickens and turkeys. These small animals swallow worm eggs in the droppings or in contaminated soil and carry the eggs or young worms to the bird that eats the earthworm, slug, or insect. It is sometimes necesary to combat these intermediate hosts in order to control certain parasitic worms. The Bureau of Animal Industry will identify parasitic worms and furnish any available information in regard to life histories and control measures. Many life histories are not yet known, and control measures must await the results of scientific investigations such as those on which our known effective control measures are based."

NORWICH BOY SCOUTS MAKE RECORD ON TESTS

That the Boy Scouts of Norwich council have set a new record in the number of tests passed at Camp Wakenah this year is clearly shown in the check-up of tests passed at camp, which was made by Scout Executive Bielefield and sent to the scoutmasters of the troops of the council.

Combining of the Norwich and New London Scout council camps which makes Camp Wakenah at Gardner Lake the camp for all New London county Scouts, made the new test record possible, as the added facilities and leadership which the two councils were able to provide resulted in better training of the Scouts who attended camp than had been possible in the past.

The object of the Scout camp is to train the boy for citizenship through the medium of the Boy Scout program, which gives him a knowledge of camping and woodcraft, swimming and hiking; develops him physically and guides him vocationally by means of the merit badge work. Camp Wakenah has a high rating among Scout camps in the United States in the training it gives the boy. Parents of Scouts who attend Wakenah and its leaders are popular with the boys themselves.

The Scouts work hard to attain higher advancement in scouting and passed in all 106 second class tests, 37 first class tests and 15 merit badges. Twelve Scouts were awarded the camp letter which is given to Scouts with excellent camping records, eleven Scouts were taught to swim, each of these being beginners at swimming upon their arrival at camp, and each making a swim of one hundred and fifty yards before graduating into the swimmers' class. Five Scouts passed the examinations for the Junior Red Cross lifesaving corps and received their certificates as follows: George Larimer, troop 12, William Austin troop 12, Robert Agnew troop 12, Lester Libby troop 1, William Potter troop 5.

Camp letters were won by George Larimer troop 12, Robert Agnew troop 12, Edward Lichenstein troop 12, William Kinney troop 12, Harold Williams troop 12, Lester Libby troop 3, William Potter troop 5, Nicholas Tarrant troop 2, James Dutton, Jr. troop 5, Charles Helmboldt troop 2, Harold Helmboldt troop 3.

Troop 12, Park Congregational church, 18, Downer Johnson, Jr., scoutmaster, leads the troops in the records made at camp, followed closely by troop 1, United Congregational church, Arthur L. Peale, scoutmaster. Troop 12 has eleven Scouts attending camp for one week or more, and accounted 18 boys for the season. The eleven Scouts passed 26 second class tests, 12 first class tests and took eight merit badges. Five troop 12 Scouts earned the camp letter and three received Junior Red Cross certificates.

Troop 1 had twelve Scouts at camp for a total of forty boy weeks, giving them one more week than troop 12. Forty-two tests were passed by troop 1 Scouts, 31 being second class and 11 first class. Being three more than troop 12, but only 3 merit badges were earned, giving troop 12 a lead of 5. One troop Scout earned the camp letter and one received the Junior Red Cross certificate.

Troop 2, St. Patrick's church, John W. Hill scoutmaster, takes third place with 14 Scouts attending camp for a total of 24 weeks. These Scouts passed 20 second class and 5 first class tests, and four merit bakes. Three troop 5 Scouts earned the camp letter and one received the Junior Red Cross certificate.

Troop 3, Taftville, Congregational church, Victor H. Davis, scoutmaster, is in fourth place, three Scouts making a record for the troop. Troop 3 had only 6 weeks at camp, but passed 16 second class and 5 first class tests. Two of the three Scouts received the camp letter.

Troop 9, First Baptist church, Rev. E. C. Dunbar, scoutmaster, had six boy weeks, four Scouts attending camp. These passed six second class tests.

Troop 11, Colchester, three Scouts at camp for one week each passing six second class and one first class test. Other troops either did not send Scouts to camp or made no record in tests passed.

Individual Scouts set new high records in tests and other activities at Wakenah. Scout Lester Libby, troop 1, is in first place with a record of 14 tests to his credit. Scout Libby also received his camp letter and was made a member of the Junior Red Cross Lifesaving corps. Second to Scout Libby is Scout George Larimer, troop 12, who passed 11 tests, two merit badges, received his camp letter and Junior Red Cross certificate. Scout Harold Williams, troop 12 comes third, with ten tests passed. Scout Williams also won the camp letter. Scout Theodore Pike and Scout Charles Helmboldt tie for next place with nine tests each. Scout Helmboldt also received his camp letter. Other high records were made by Scouts Harold Helmboldt, troop 3, eight tests camp letter, J. Oliver Armstrong, troop 1, seven tests.

For advanced Scout work in merit badges, tests each of which requires more work and study than tests for lower rank, Scout Robert Agnew, troop 12, heads the list. Scout Agnew passed four merit badges at camp, received his camp letter and Junior Red Cross Lifesaving certificate. Scout William Potter, troop 5, is second with three merit badges, camp letter and Junior Red Cross. Other Scouts passing merit badges were Scouts William Austin, troop 12, two, Lester Libby, troop 1, two, J. Shields, troop 1, one, Nicholas Tarrant troop 5, one.

In all 49 days attended camp for one week or more and totaled 122 boy weeks, a gain of 30 over 1927. Those attending for one week or more are as follows: troop numbers follow the names: Robert Agnew 12, Robert Ahern 9, William Austin 12, George Briggs 11, Joubert Thompkins 11, Charles Koch 11, John Eyberse 12, Grant Dennison 12, William Kinney 12, William Leonard 12, Leonard Royce 9, Harlan Tourtellotte 9, Edward Grover 8 Edward Lichenstein 12, E. Douville 5, L. Billoudeau 5, E. Burke 5, W. McCarthy 5, S. Hynd 12, C. Prentice 12, H. Williams 12, George Larimer 12, R. Yerrington 5, L. Libby 1, J. Shields 1, D. Shields 1, C. Helmboldt 3, H. Helmboldt 3, James Dutton, Jr. 5, C. Kendall 3, P. Manes 1, B. Bendett 1, G. Ranger 1, T. Pike 1, J. O. Armstrong 1, N. Tarrant 5, W. Hazam 1, W. Potter 5, P. Buonanno 5, H. Mahoney 5, J. Mahoney 5, J. Ferry 5, W. Powell 1, J. Skowronski 1, W. Geer 1, C. Romanowski 1, J. McAffrey 5, J. McKenna 5, P. Gilman 5.

With the success of the joint summer camp assured, both Norwich and New London councils plan for a much larger attendance next season, and the facilities at Camp Wakenah, stretched to the limit this season, are being improved and added to so that accommodations will be provided for all Scouts who are planning to attend. About half of the Scouts who attended this year's camp have already asked for application blanks for Wakenah, so that they can sign up early. This very an extension of the camping program is being planned. A picked group of 25 Scouts will attend Wakenah during the holiday season this coming winter for training in winter camping. Two cabins and a number of Adirondack shelters will house the winter group, who will do their own Golf club.

TRIUMPH OF AMERICAN ADMINISTRATION

Porto Rico, and its storm-swept capital, San Juan, are described in the following bulletin of the National Geographic Society, based upon a communication to the Society from its vice-president, Dr. John Oliver LaGorce:

"It was from his city of San Juan that the adventurous Ponce de Leon set sail, like another Jason in search of the Golden Fleece, for the fulfillment of his charming, if boyish, dream of finding the Fountain of Youth, which, we all recall, resulted in the discovery of the southernmost end of the United States, Florida.

"The story of the island's rise to prosperity and well-being under American direction of its affairs constitutes one of the greatest romances of government in modern times.

"Rectangular in shape, with an area a third less than that of Connecticut, a length of 100 miles, an average width of 30 miles and 860 miles of coast line, Porto Rico has a population of 1,300,000. The harbor of its capital, San Juan, one of the finest in the Western Hemisphere, has been dredged to a depth of 35 feet and will enjoy ever-increasing importance as a coaling station for the transatlantic routes to the Panama canal.

"For a tropical land, the winter climate is unusually free from excessive heat, and the abundant rainfall over most of the island gives vegetation a perennial luxuriance. Since it lies in the path of the trade winds, with its mountains in the central portion of the island, the humidity is rarely oppressive.

"The mountain scenery is wild and beautiful. The main range, known as the Cordillera Central, runs from east to west, with slopes sweeping over a wide area toward the north and rising sharply from the south, leaving in the latter direction an alluvial plain only 10 to 15 miles wide between the peaks and the sea.

"To the north of the main range there is a fine foothill region famous for its scenery, the Sierra de Luquillo, where the Indians made their last stand. El Yunque, the central peak of these hills, long enjoyed the reputation of being the highest of the island, its isolation giving it that appearance. But mountaine climbers with their barometers have forced it to surrender its prestige to some of the peaks in the Cordillera Central. El Yunque is 3,483 feet high, while Ala de la Piedra, in the central range reaches a height of 4,398 feet.

"One will find history and romance in every part of the island. San Juan itself was a settlement half a century before St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest town in the United States, came into being, and a full century before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock it began to take on the semblance of a city.

"More than two and a half centuries before the United States began to build the White House in Washington, Spain started the construction of the Casa Blanca, the Governor's Palace.

"But it is the progress of Porto Rico and the Porto Ricans since the advent of the United States, barely a quarter of a century ago, that furnishes the most engaging and inspiring chapter in the history of the island.

"Within a little more than a year of the cession of Porto Rico to the United States by Spain, under the Treaty of Paris, December 10, 1898, American occupation of the island had ceased to be military and had become economic.

"The six states of Central America —Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama — have an aggregate area sixty times as great as that of Porto Rico and a population more than four times as large; yet their combined exports and imports are less than hers.

"The Republic of Haiti, three times as large and nearly twice as populous, buys less than one-sixth as much in the markets of the world and sends less than one-seventh as much to the consuming centers of the earth.

"Certainly only a region favored highly by Nature and developed intensively by man could stand out so brilliantly in comparison with adjacent lands.

"Under the American regime, the amount of sugar exported increased sevenfold; coffee exports doubled in quantity and trebled in value, and tobacco shipments have likewise scored marvelous gains.

"If the forty-eight States of the American Union were as densely populated as our little jewel sparkling in its Caribbean setting, we would have to find room for an additional population equal to that of Asia, Australia, and South America.

"A striking testimonial to the fertility of the island's soil and the triumphs of its agriculture is the fact that, with no manufacturers to swell its exports, a balance of trade appears in its favor proportionately as high as that of continental United States.

"Transportation methods here differ widely from those in the States. The automobile and the motor truck carry most of the passengers and freight. The only railroad of any consequence skirts the northern, western, and southern shores from San Juan to Guayama, but its traffic is limited mainly to goods shipped in bulk.

"In the interior the oxcart finds some of the byroads passable, but the pack pony must be relied on beyond the main highways.

"Traveling around the rim of the island, or crossing in divers places from north to south, and through the center from east to west, one finds Old World ways and nineteenth-century travel strangely associated with New World customs and twentieth-century transportation.

"Creaking oxcarts and antiquated victorias vie with noisy motorcycles, ever-present 'flivvers,' luxurious motor cars, and lumbering trucks. Here are barefoot jibaros, on foot or astride their diminutive Porto Rican ponies; there plodding ox-drivers, prodding their creeping steeds in a seldom successful effort to quicken their gait; farther on, a string of donkeys meekly bearing their burdens of well-filled pannier baskets.

"But as the road winds up into the hills and over the mountains of the interior, affording glimpses of the sapphire sea, the luxuriant plain, and verdant slopes, the visitor thrills at the wondrous, ever-changing, but always charming, panorama."

BARCELONA.

Barcelona, Spain, is busy preparing for the International exposition to be held there next year.

Three hundred acres of Montjuich park, overlooking the city from the southwest, encompass eleven buildings where nations of the world will display their goods.

"If visitors to New York remember but one sight, it is Broadway. So the visitor to Barcelona remembers the Rambla," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"For several blocks along the Rambla the curbstone is lined with open air shops. Flower shops emit the scent of violets, roses, carnations and lilies, until the stroller passes a doughnut, fish or toasted sandwich booth. There are booths of professional letter writers, magazine stands with a complete line of periodicals and lottery tickets, stands where women can buy silk stockings and other wearing apparel, and stands of bird sellers whose warbling merchandise is concealed in tiers of cages.

"In the street humanity is so thick that it is difficult for traffic to pass. The Rambla is not only a shopping district, but a meeting place, a loafing place, and an employment office. The Spanish sailor with his red sash and red and white handkerchief tied about his neck, and the uniforms of merchantmen from perhaps a dozen different countries add color to the throng. The bill poster, looking for a job is singled out by the long pole with brush attached, which he carries on his shoulder, and no one could mistake the dubin porters whose caps look like turnover rolls with the folded side over the forehead.

"The Lull-fight arena accommodates about 25,000 spectators and on Sunday afternoons every seat is occupied. The remainder of the city's 700,000 inhabitants throng the well-kept promenades and parks.

"Barcelona is modern in appearance, although the port dates to the second century and ranked with Genoa and Venice in Mediterranean trade in the middle ages.

"The spacious harbor into which the Phoenicians sailed in quest of new peoples with whom to trade, and which Columbus triumpsantly entered after his return from America, now is pierced by long, modern wharves, each accommodating several large ocean-going vessels at a time.

"The old quay, now well paved, is lined on its inner side with modern buildings and a promenade flanked by two rows o' palm trees occupies its center.

"The old part of the city, once surrounded by a wall, still has some of its canyonlike streets, many so narrow that the wheels of carts nearly scrape both curbs as they pass, and balconied windows of bordering buildings nearly meet.

"But many of these crooked lanes open into wide streets. For instance, the aforementioned Rambla which bisects the city from the harbor northward is a tree-lined boulevard and the site of the old wall now is a park called the Rondas. One can walk in this parkway from one end of the quay, through the center of Barcelona and back to the other end of the quay, among flower gardens and under shade trees. The Ronda frequently opens into public squares, one of which is the Plaza de Cataluna, the hub of Barcelona.

"Here trams, automobiles, buses and wagons running into the square from a dozen directions are bewildering to the pedestrians who crowd upon numerous safety zones, but the apparent traffic tangle seems not to alarm the well trained Barcelona traffic officers.

"One has to watch one's step in the Plaza, but when the American gets a chance to take his eyes off the street he is greeted with two huge signs that make him think of home. One advertises a popular make of American automobile and the other is that of a language school which is well known in all American cities.

"Barcelona has a magnificent Gothic cathedral, a university, many historic churches, museums, and new buildings of pure 'Barcelona' architecture, the lines of which simulate ocean waves, but the outdoor life of the inhabitants is the lure of the Spanish city."

Make More Money

Healthy, vigorous men find life's best prizes. Buoyant step, bright eyes, clear complexion and exuberant vitality denote a system free from impurities. Constipation poisons the whole system, slows the step, saps energy, destroys confidence and cuts down the earning power.

Rid your system of constipation and its poisons. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets remove them gently, tone up the system, clear the eyes and complexion and bring back normal vigor. A compound of vegetable ingredients, prescribed to patients for 20 years in place of calomel. They act easily and quickly on bowels and liver.

Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and keep fit for the daily grind. Thousands of happy men and women use them regularly as an aid to success in their everyday tasks. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

How many people you know end their colds with Bayer Aspirin! And how often you've heard of its prompt relief of sore throat or tonsilitis. No wonder millions take it for colds, neuralgia, rheumatism; and the aches and pains that go with them. The wonder is that anyone still worries through a winter without these tablets! They relieve quickly, yet have no effect whatever on the heart. Friends have told you Bayer Aspirin is marvelous; doctors have declared it harmless. Every druggist has it, with proven directions. Why not put it to the test?

At St. Mary's church, the annual Forty Hours' devotion closed Tuesday morning at 7:30 with a high mass and procession. Large numbers of the parish received the sacraments during the services. The altars were beautifully decorated with flowers, by the Sisters of the parish. Visiting priests who assisted Rev. J. J. McCabe and Rev. Nicholas Caron were Rev. S. A. Icek, Rev. William Toper, Rev. John J. Riley and Rev. Myles P. Galvin of Norwich; Rev. Frederick R. DesSureault and Rev. Francis Chieoine, Taftville; Rev. John I. Carey, Voluntown; Rev. Daniel Masse, M. S., Hartford; Rev. John Quinn, Wauregan; Rev. Philip Massicotte and Rev. Henri Chagnon, Moosup; Rev. W. C. Fitzsimons and Rev. Michael Reagan, New London; Rev. William J. Fox, Groton; Rev. Edwin A. Flynn, S. Nicholas; Rev. James A. O'Meara, Moosup, and Rev. Edward J. Quinn, Norwich Town.

Mrs. Willis Lewis and Harry Crampton, Norwattuck, and Fred Lewis of Green Cove Springs, Fla., are visiting W. R. Palmer and calling on relatives and friends in town.

SPEAKER FROM LEDYARD AT MISSIONARY MEETING

Mrs. F. E Robinson presided at the meeting of the Congregational Women's Missionary society held at the home of Mrs. E. H. Hiscox Tuesday afternoon. The Scripture was read by the president and prayer was offered by Miss S. K. Adams. Mrs. C. D. Wolf read the secretary's report. Articles concerning the work in the mountains were read by Miss M. A. Burdick, Mrs. Wolf and Mrs. J. H. Whalley. Mrs. Carl Holdredge of Ledyard gave a very interesting and informative report of the recent meeting held in Hartford, answering numerous questions concerning the consolidation of the organizations at this meeting.

Lisbon Community club meets this (Wednesday) evening in the Community hall. Blissville is to put on a minstrel show for the entertainment of the members and their friends, anticipated with much pleasure.

Though the outside surroundings of 92 Otsego street, Norwich, were considerably dampened with the downpour of rain Friday evening, members and friends of the Methodist Men's class of Jewett City can testify that more radiant conditions could not be found than on the inside, where they were most cordially received by Rev. F. B. Adams. The group made the trip there at his invitation. The usual business being transacted, the meeting was given in charge of Rev. Mr. Adams, who narrated several amusing stories and in turn called upon each one present to express his opinion on current topics. L. D. Howe gave a short talk about the historical location of Mr. Adams' home. At the close of his talk, Mr. Howe presented Mr. Adams a hand-made cane. Mr. Adams expressed his thanks for the fine gift. Mrs. Adams, with friends, served tasty sandwiches, doughnuts, cheese and coffee. After the lunch the group was invited to the den of Mr. Adams, where many interesting books and papers were to be seen. The meeting adjourned at a late hour, with the hearty invitation of Mr. Adams to meet again at his home. At an early date, at the Methodist church, there is to be a joint meeting of the men and women of the church for a social gathering, when views of Colorado, Utah and Arizona will be shown. The views are all hand-painted and a descriptive talk will be given as each is shown.

Faith chapter, O. E. S., receives its annual visitation from the grand officers Thursday. The Ladies' society of the Congregational church, Mrs. C. D. Wolf, chairman, is to serve a turkey supper in the vestry to the members and their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Biscoff of New York spent the week-end with Mrs. William Kalienberger and attended Brockton fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Medick have moved into their new bungalow on Norman road.

Rally day services were held in the Methodist church Sunday morning with Rev. J. W. Carter as the speaker. At 12 o'clock the primary class gave a short program with recitations and singing. At night, Rev. M. E. Genter of Norwich spoke. The church was decorated with autumn leaves, vegetables, fruit, wheat, red berries; the committee in charge of the decorations being Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Emery Campbell, George Thornton, P. G. Gustafson, Dora and Hazel Johnson. The program for the Sunday school was in charge of Hazel Johnson. All the services were well attended. Monday night a fruit social was held, the committee being Mrs. Ella Geer, Mrs. L. D. Howe, Mrs. Joseph Wharton. A very enjoyable evening was spent. Vegetables and fruit were auctioned off, which added a good sum to the treasury of the Sunday school.

Burgess Bedtime Story

A Friend Indeed.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The independent, it is clear,
Have very little cause for fear.
Jimmy Skunk.

Jerry Muskrat, Mrs. Muskrat and Johnny Chuck, back to back in the carrot patch, were facing Reddy Fox on one side and Mrs Reddy on the the other. They knew that as long as they remained back to back they were comparatively safe, but they couldn't remain that way forever. No indeed, they couldn't remain that way forever. They knew it and Reddy and Mrs. Reddy knew it.

"What would you say to a bit of tenderloin of Muskrat?" inquired Reddy

Jerry and Mrs Muskrat wanted just one thing now and that was to get to the water. They hadn't a great way to go, for the Green Meadows were flooded. But the distance was too great for them to reach the water before Reddy and Mrs. Reddy could pounce on them. They kept looking longingly over towards the water. It was a great temptation to break and run. But Johnny Chuck kept growling to them to keep where they were.

Johnny was trying to think of some plan whereby Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat could reach the water and he could reach home. As it was now he wouldn't be safe without the Muskrats and the Muskrats wouldn't be safe without him. The three together were fairly safe, but separated none would be safe.

"I wish Bowser the Hound would come over this way," thought Johnny Chuck. "I cannot think of any one I would be so glad to see as Bowser the Hound or Farmer Brown's Boy. The sight of one of those coming this way would be to me the finest sight in all the Great World.

At that very instant Johnny happened to look over to the corn growing back of where Reddy Fox was sitting. He thought he saw some one moving in between the stalks. Yes, there was that movement again! Who could it be? Johnny did his best to watch the corn and to watch Reddy Fox at the same time.

"Whoever was over in that corn was in no hurry to come out. "Perhaps he won't come out at all," thought Johnny. "But I hope he will. It is the one I think it is I shall be just as glad to see him as I would see Bowser the Hound or Farmer Brown's Boy."

A few minutes later there walked out into the carrot-patch a gentleman in a black-and-white coat. He had a bushy tail, which he was carrying partly erect. He didn't hurry in the slightest. Reddy Fox didn't see him (or he was back to him. But in a moment Mrs. Reddy barked a warning. Reddy turned like a flash.

"Good morning, Jimmy Skunk!" said Reddy, in his most polite manner.

"Good morning, Reddy!" replied Jimmy Skunk. "This seems to be quite a gathering this morning. As I live, I believe I see Johnny Chuck and Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat. What are you doing, having a party?"

"Not yet," replied Reddy, "but perhaps we will have a party—a breakfast party. Will you join us if we do?"

Jimmy Skunk grinned. "What are you proposing to have for breakfast?" he inquired.

"What would you say to a bit of tenderloin of Muskrat?" inquired Reddy.

"Humph!" grunted Jimmy. "I would much prefer filet of Mouse with a Grasshopper salad."

All the time he was talking Jimmy was moving towards Reddy and Reddy was getting uneasy. He was backing off yet doing his best not to appear to be backing away. Johnny Chuck chuckled when he saw it.

POETRY

To a Wild Rose Found in October

Thou foolish blossom, all untimely blown!
Poor last of summer, come when woods are chill.
Thy sister buds, in June's warm redness grown,
That lit with laughter all the upland hill.

Have traceless passed, save on each thorned stem
Red drops tell how their hearts, in dying, bled.
Their's was the noon's rich languor, and for them
The maiden moon her haloed beauty spread;

For them the bobolink his music spilled
In bubbling streams; and well the wild bee knew
Their honeyed hearts. Now bird and bee are stilled;
Now southward swallows hurry down the blue.

Fleeing the murderous Frost that even now
Hath smote the marshes with his bitter breath,
Quenching the flames that danced on vine and bough—
Think'st thou thy beauty will make truce with Death,

Or hold in summer's leash his loosened wrath?
See! o'er the shrunk grass trail the blackened vines;
And, hark! the wind, tracking the snow's fell path,
Snarls like a fretted hound among the pines.

The pallid sunshine fails—a sudden gloom
Sweeps up the vale, athrill with boding fear.
What place for thee? Too late thy pride and bloom!
Born out of time—poor fool—what dost thou here?

What do I here when speeds the threatening blight?
June stirred my heart, and so June is for me.
Who feels life's impulse bourgeon into light
Reeks not of seasons, knows not bird nor bee.

I can but bloom—did the June roses more;
I can but droop—did they not also die?
The Moment is: the After or Before
Hides all from sight—canst thou tell more than I?

What matter if tonight comes swirling snow
And Death! The Power that makes, that mars, is One.
I know nor care not; when that Power bids blow,
I ope my curled petals to the sun.

—Ednah Proctor (Clarke) Hayes.

In New Hampshire

Like a flame the maple blazes with the oakleaves;
All in windless weather the huge apples fall
Sunset and twilight: birches haunt the evening,
Walking in the wild wood slender and tall.

High above the splendour mightily Monadnock
Sleeps in starry spaces dreaming of his reign.
Long since a monarch holy to the Indians
Waiting for his people to come home again.

In thy starry spaces be at ease, Monadnock,
Many a busy city saves no stone or track;
All our speed and progress have Egypt for a warning:
Over mossy girders the old folk come back.

—Lord Dunsany, in London Mercury.

MARKET CLOSED STRONG YESTERDAY AFTER PERIOD OF IRREGULARITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—The stock market turned abruptly upward today after an early period of irregularity. Selling, based on the theory that the technical position of many stocks had been weakened by the recent advance and that a downward readjustment was necessary, carried scores of issues down 3 to 5 points in the early trading, and some even more.

Although pools had bid up a few specialties to new high records during the morning, the big buying movement did not get under way until mid-afternoon when motors, steels, coppers and specialties were bought in enormous volume at rising prices. Trading, which had shown a tendency to fall off on the decline, picked up considerably on the rally.

The afternoon recovery was aided by the widespread circulation of a recent interview between John P. Harris, well known broker, and Reginald McKenna, chairman of the Midland Bank, in which the British banker was quoted as saying that the United States had entered into a period of prosperity comparable only to that which England enjoyed after the Napoleonic wars. Mr. McKenna expressed the opinion that money would be in abundant supply before long and that the Bank of England could easily spare $100,000,000 in gold.

Motor shares, which have run into heavy selling since the publication of the bearish statement by John J. Raskob last week, were in the forefront of the rally. General Motors rallied from an early low of 208 5-8 to 215 1-2, up 4 1-2 points net. Hudson, in which a huge pool was organized last week, closed 3 3-4 points. Chrysler made up most of an early loss of 4 points. Peerless Motor advanced nearly 4 points.

Allied Chemical, directors of which are reported to be considering a stock split-up climbed 8 1-2 points to a new high record at 223 and then eased to 221 1-2. City Stores B soared 14 1-2 points to 98. Air Reduction, A. M. Byers, Cuyamel Fruit, Montgomery-Ward, Oppenheim Collins, Stromberg Carburetor, Victor Talking Machine and Wright Aeronautical closed 3 to 7 points higher.

Unconfirmed rumors of a further advance in copper prices brought fresh buying into the red metal shares. American Smelting jumped more than 8 points to 259 1-4, the highest price since the corporation was organized nearly 20 years ago. Goodyear was bid up 7 points on buying influenced by the announcement that the company had obtained a navy contract for two big dirigibles.

New high prices were recorded by Best & Co., General Ice Cream, Commercial Investment Trust and Victor Talking Machine.

There were several soft spots. Cushman's broke 14 points and rallied 1. American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Burroughs Adding Machine, Detroit Edison, Kelly-Springfield preferred issues, Midland Steel Products preferred and Sloss Sheffield showed net declines of 3 points or more, but the turn-over in most cases was small.

Credit conditions were easier. Call money held steady at 6 1-2 per cent all day but "outside loans" were arranged as low as 6 per cent. Time money was 7 to 7 1-8 instead of 7 1-4. Prime commercial paper was unchanged.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits, with sterling cables slightly firmer just above $4.85.

Commodity markets were reactionary. Cotton fell back about $1 a bale after an early rally and wheat futures closed fractionally lower. Coffee and sugar quotations eased slightly.

PUTNAM

Penn., formerly of Putnam has gained a post of high recognition in the musical world since she was chosen as a first alternate to represent Harrisburg in a musical audition to be held soon in that city.

Miss Keller was numbered among sixteen vocalists who were presented to the radio audience during the Atwater Kent hour last Sunday evening. The mail applause cards received determined the choice of the invisible audience and were awarded to contestants as votes Miss Keller obtaining enough to make her a third choice and female alternate No. 1 from the Penn state in the national audition for national honors.

Miss Keller has also made her way in the operatic musical circles in the steel city, and has scored by being a member of the first choir of one of the leading churches of the city of Harrisburg. She is the sister of Mrs. A. Graydon Sharpe of Grove street, Putnam.

About fifty members of the Second Congregational clergy of the counties of Windham and New London gathered today at the Second Congregational church of this city to attend a joint meeting and ladies' day. Each member of the clergy brought with him the members of his family.

The programme opened with devotional service conducted by Rev. Mrs. J. Hawthorne Jones of New London, followed by a short talk by the Rev. W. Harding Gaylord of Danielson "If We Did Not Have to Preach."

A luncheon was served by the supper committee of the Ladies' Social circles of the church at 12.15. The luncheon was followed by a very interesting address delivered by the Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth of New London, whose subject was "Then And Now". The theme of the talk was taken from a recent visit made by the speaker through Egypt and Palestine.

The monthly meeting of the Elizabeth Porter chapter, D. A. R., was held Monday afternoon in the Odd Fellows' hall on Pomfret street with a large attendance present. The speaker was Mrs. John L. Buel of Litchfield, Ct., who for 13 years was state regent of the organization, but now national president of the society of Founder and Patriots.

Her discourse was on "National Defense," which had to do with the duties of citizenship, contrast the pacifist and loyal patriots.

Following the programme of speaking, a musicale arranged under the direction of Miss Gertrude C. Warner was presented. The first number was by a string quartette, Miss Warner, cello; Mrs. F. E. Prince, Miss Eleanor Irving, violins; Mrs. Jane E. Warner, piano. She later rendered two piano selections.

Plans were made for social session to be held during the winter months, these consisting of a rummage sale and fair and two food sales.

The second meeting of the Armistice day committee was held last evening at the chamber of commerce and heads of the various committee's reported progress in plans. It was voted to hold a third meeting on October 19.

The committee from the headquarters company of national guard reported that they would cooperate with the committee in the matter of conducting a dance on the evening of November 12. A publicity committee was named and consisted of A. S. Macdonald, W. N. King and E. F. Perry. Martin B. Robertson, commander of the Anslem Moyotte post of American Legion presided at the meeting with Mrs. M. D. Potter as secretary.

The selectmen of the town met last evening at their offices on Church street and opened submitted bids from contractors for work upon the Providence street bridge, for which the town at a special city meeting appropriated $6,000 to repair and recondition the structure. Selectman W. E. Warren said this afternoon that the contract would be awarded to a New Haven contractor who was the lowest bidder.

Mrs. William E. Warren spent the week end in New Haven, returning to her home on South Main street Monday.

James Ryan of Railroad street returned Sunday from a business trip to New York.

Mayor and Mrs. Charles A. Richard visited with relatives in Malden, Mass., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Arame of South Main street visited with friends in Worcester Monday.

V. L. MURPHY NOMINATED FOR PROBATE JUDGE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 9—Valentine L. Murphy was nominated as candidate for judge of probate at the democratic Windham probate district convention held at the Smith-Robinson club Tuesday evening. His candidacy was contested by Robert O. Snow and ballots were cast by the delegates, nine of whom were present.

The meeting was in charge of Attorney Arthur T. Kelly, who was appointed chairman. The nine of the ten delegates who responded to roll call were: Romeo Benoit, Frank Melvin, James J. Lee, Robert T. Kelly, William Shea, James S. McGlone, William McIntosh and M. E. Lincoln, proxy for Z. Bergeron of Windham, Bernard Maine of Scotland, proxy for Horace Maine. Byron Wilson of Scotland was absent. Mr Snow's name was presented by Bernard Maine and James J. Lee presented the name of Valentine Murphy, who secured the nomination on the first ballot.

The chair appointed M. E. Sullivan, James J. Lee and Romeo Benoit to appraise Mr. Murphy of his nomination. The nominee made a fitting response.

The permanent probate committee appointed by the chairman consists of James J. Lee, chairman, William McIntosh and Frank Melvin. Suitable resolutions were adopted and presented by the committee, comprising James F. Monroe and M. E. Sullivan. Mr. Murphy is making his initial bow before the public as a candidate for office. He has been a member of the state central committee of the 29 senatorial districts for the past ten years and is now senior member. He was chairman of the town and city committees from 1916 to 1921 and is still chairman of the town committee. In these capacities he has worked for many years for the democratic party. Among many positions of honor and responsibility which he has held locally are: President of the chamber of commerce, two years, exalted ruler of the lodge of Elks, president of Rotary club, chairman of War Savings and other offices. The candidate was born in Taftville, Feb. 26, 1876. He resided there for 23 years, then removing to Norwich, remaining there for 15 years and coming to this city in 1913.

The annual Old Folks concert held at the Methodist church tonight, proved an outstanding success. The augmented chorus was assisted by several musicians of note in carrying out a diversified and excellently executed program. Edwin F. Croes, the director, was ably assisted by Mrs. Charles Beebe and Mrs. Clara Williams.

One of the famous Paris firms of the Rue de la Paix, which is known around the world for the antiques and curiosities it sells, recently received an offer from China of the longest fingernails in history. The Chinese correspondent wrote that the two nails of the last two fingers of his left hand have attained a length of 74 centimeters (32 1-2 inches) and he desires to dispose of them now at a profit. He hopes to sell them for $300 and suggests that perhaps some American museum would be interested in them.

BACKUS HOSPITAL AUXILIARY MAKES REPORT OF BUSY YEAR

A year of special activity in the work of the Women's auxiliary of the William W. Backus hospital was reported at the annual meeting which was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the nurses' residence with the president, Mrs. Witter K. Tingley, presiding.

The officers and the various committees reported in detail on the work of the different departments. Mrs. Joseph P. Cummings, recording secretary, reported on the organization for the year, and Mrs. Roy H. Judd, corresponding secretary, reported her work in handling the correspondence and notices.

Treasurer's Report

Miss Isabel H. Mitchell, treasurer, made the following report:

Treasurer's Report.

Receipts — Balance forwarded $843.10; membership dues $810.09; receipts from X-ray fund drive $3,847.31; gifts to auxiliary, Sacred Heart church $25.00; Norwich Town M. E. church $5.50; St. Patrick's Church corporation $50.00; Trinity Episcopal Parish Aid $10.00; Women's Parish Aid, Christ church $5.00; First Congregational church, Norwich Town, $7.00; Third Baptist church Greeneville, $3.00; Park Congregational church $12.00; Drs. Donohue and Callahan $25.00; Rotary club $10.00; Mrs. E. W. Perkins, chairman, former holiday committee, $26.43; Helping Hands $5.00; United church $25.00; Mt. Calvary Baptist church $5.00; Greeneville Congregational church $6.00; total $5,720.43.

Disbursements — Budget $480.56; gifts to hospital $563.00; miscellaneous expenses $135.97; balance forwarded $4,540.90; total $5,720.43.

Life membership fund, Norwich Savings Society $729.46.

$3.300 of balance forwarded is pledged to the new X-ray building.

Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins and Mrs. Harriet L. Mitchell, co-chairmen for the finance committee, reported a $1,500 balance on hand at the beginning of the year, and that the sum of $3,847.21 had been raised by a campaign towards the auxiliary's pledge of $5,000 towards the building and equipment of the new x-ray department. This covered the pledge, with the balance on hand.

Mrs. Allyn L. Brown, for the membership committee, reported 806 members for the year.

Mrs. C. E. Carpenter, for the suburban committee, reported 200 memberships from 12 towns which had been brought in by the following workers: Mrs. Barnes, Baltic; Mrs. Nathan Gilman, Bozrah; Miss Alice Leffingwell, East Great Plain; Mrs. William Park, Hanover; Miss Ellen Faust, Jewett City; Mrs. F. N. Taylor, Lebanon; Miss Sarah Adams, Lisbon; Miss K. Holton, North Franklin; Mrs. Clifton Dawley, Preston Plains; Mrs. F. B. Ricketson, Taftville; Miss Marion Gibbs, Yantic.

Mrs. Frederick T. Sayles reported for the production committee that 5,211 dressings in all had been prepared, over a thousand more than last year, and the various church societies did sewing for the hospital through the committee. These included—Women's league, Baptist church; Home Service, Park church; Loyal Circle, King's Daughters; Women's Circle, Greeneville Congregational church; Loyal Circle, Baptist church.

Reporting for the motor corps, Mrs. Annie B. Bliven stated that those assisting by placing automobiles at the disposal of the committee to take patients on rides were: Mrs. Albert S. Comstock, Mrs. Harry B. Ford, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson, Mrs. Harrison C. Noyes, Mrs. Shepard B. Palmer, Mrs. George W. Ratabun, Mrs. Philip T. Welles.

Other committee reports were presented as follows by the chairmen:

Visitation, Mrs. Ernest J. Jones; religious services, Mrs. John F. Rogers; recreation, Mrs. J. J. Donohue; flower, Mrs. David Sussler; linen, Mrs. Charles A. Saxton; food donation, Mrs. Saxton; literature, Miss Jane Bill; holiday, Miss Ruby Vaughn; publicity, Mrs. Channing M. Huntington.

Election of Officers

The report of the nominating committee by Mrs. E. J. Jones, chairman, was presented and officers were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr.; vice presidents, Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, Mrs. Frank B. Ricketson, Mrs. J. N. Rosenberg; recording secretary, Mrs. George A. Ashbey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson; treasurer, Miss Isabel H. Mitchell; directors, Mrs. Allyn L. Brown for 3 years; Mrs. Walter F. Lester for 2 years; Mrs. Walter T. Camp for 1 year.

Address on Occupational Therapy

An address upon "Occupational Therapy," which was given by Mrs. Elita Davenport Wallace of this city, formerly assistant dean of the Boston school for occupational therapy, made an instructive feature of the meeting and was full of interest for Mrs. Wallace's large audience. In part Mrs. Wallace spoke as follows:

Since this covers such a large field, I have decided that the best thing to do is to read you a short resume which covers in a broad way the field about which I am talking.

The history of this new treatment is interesting. As far back as the time of Pinel, the great French psychiatrist, it was recognized that with patients suffering from mental disease, occupation was a great benefit. Thus more than 150 years ago at the very beginning of "treat

PAYNE AND J. A. MAY EXPECTED TO BE NEW LONDON REPRESENTATIVES

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 9—The republicans will nominate candidates to the legislature and justices of the peace tomorrow night. It has been predicted that General Morris B. Payne and former Mayor James A. May will be the candidates to represent the city of New London in the next legislature.

Corporal Frederick G. Whale, New London recruiting officer, has received word that men who enlist in the army air corps are given their first taste of flight soon after their arrival at Honolulu. A Douglass C-2 transport plane carries the men from the recruit base in the Hawaiian metropolis, to Wheeler field, about 25 miles from Honolulu. This trip was formerly made by train and consumed the greater part of an hour. The transport plane takes the new airmen to the field in much less time and also affords the fledgling airmen a chance to get accustomed to winging through the ether. At present there are a few vacancies open in the Air Corps as well as other branches of the service.

WIFE NOT WANTED EVEN THOUGH FOUND

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 9—Celso Palibrici, Filipino, was arrested at his rooming house, at 3:15 this morning charged with adultery on complaint of the husband of the woman Palibrici has been living with. When Palibrici was presented in the police court today, he was held in bail of $1,000 for trial next Saturday and he furnished a surety on the bond. That he will not be severely dealt with, if not liberated is most certain, for the husband of the woman involved in the case and who was responsible for the arrest of the Filipino and who sought the arrest of his wife is willing to allow the charge against the couple go by default for he intends to procure a divorce and get rid of his mate. Palibrici and Mrs. George Thompson, the latter of 147 Worcester street, Boston, went to the Chateau on August 21 and registered as man and wife There they resided as such until the early hours of this morning. In the meantime, Thompson, who had been searching to ascertain the whereabouts of the woman, was informed that she was in New London. He came to this city and proved to his satisfaction that his wife was residing at the Chateau with the Filipino, he went to police headquarters and requested the arrest of the couple, although in the meantime he had elicited the service of the U. S. Coast Guard shore patrol, as Palibrici is a steward aboard the destroyer Cassin. A visit was made to the rooming house and it was definitely determined that the couple were living there. That course undoubtedly resulted in the failure of the police to apprehend the woman, for when Sergeant Patrick Murphy, who was assigned to the complaint went to the rooming house, he found the Filipino occupying a room, but Mrs. Thompson was not with him, she having suspected that a trap was being set for her and she had left the house, it being presumed that she boarded an early morning train for Boston. When it was discovered that the woman had left, a request was made of the Boston police to arrest her that she might be returned to New London by next Saturday and then be jointly charged with Palibrici with adultery. The woman was not found and this afternoon Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin instructed Captain Pinney to inform the Boston police in the event that Mrs. Thompson was arrested to release her as she was not wanted here, which bears out the statement made by the husband that he does not intend to reside with his wife in the future, but that he will institute action for a divorce.

Archie Blatchford, 477 Williams street employed as a public service operator was in the police court today charged with breach of the peace upon complaint of Mrs. John Laskey, 31 Shapley street. The case was continued till next Monday and Blatchford furnished a surety on his bond of $100 for appearance at that time. Blatchford was arrested at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Patrolmen Michael Dorsey and Elwood Bailey. A social gathering had been held at the Williams street house when Blatchford, having concluded his duties, arrived at his home. A short time afterwards a controversy arose between Mrs. Laskey's little son and Blatchford and it is claimed that the taxicab driver struck the boy. Mrs. Laskey interfered and it is claimed that Blatchford seized the woman and used Mrs. Laskey so vigorously that she was marked from the imprints of his fingers.

Following the New London police being informed last night of the death by suicide of Margaret Macomber in a Brooklyn lodging house by gas asphyxiation, no trace of relatives were located here. A. M. Johnson, 182 Norwood avenue, who had corresponded with the woman, was located and from him it was ascertained that the Macomber woman had a cousin, Annie Coleman, residing at 7611 Third avenue, Brooklyn, but other than that Johnson had no knowledge. The body is now at a morgue in Brooklyn.

Aaron J. Astrofsky, 26 Johnston road, Dorchester, Mass., was arrested this afternoon by Traffic Patrolman Clyde Murphy charged with blocking traffic on Main street. The autoist parked his car in such a manner that trolley cars could not pass.

For the first time in the history of the New England Steamship Line, operating steamers between this city and New York, the service is to be curtailed. The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, operator of the steamer line has announced that beginning at once an every-other-day service will be the rule. Steamer New Hampshire will leave New London at 11 o'clock at night Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday of each week, and will dock at Pier 14, East River. The steamer will clear from New York Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, arriving in New London at 5:15 p. m. The reason for the curtailment of the service is because of the falling off of patronage, both passenger and freight, due in a large degree to the common use of buses, automobiles and trucks, the latter for freight transportation.

STILLS SEIZED AT FARM ARE SENT TO NEW HAVEN

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 9—Prohibition agents conducted their first raid in many months in New London last night when they visited the farm of Frank Scialabba, in the rear of Hillside Home and Garfield avenue, seizing a still of 350 gallons capacity and another of the 50-gallon type. No liquor of any description was found with the stills, which were seized as evidence of illegal manufacture of booze. The owner of the still Salvatore Scialabba, was not at his home and it was said that he was in Boston. He will be arrested on his return to this city and Saturday Scialabba will be presented before United States Commissioner Russell H. Corcoran. The prohibition enforcement agents, several from Hartford and New London county, together with Special Investigator John Chapman, Boston, went to the Scialabba farm and paid especial attention to a barn for they had information that the stills were located there. The agents had little difficulty in obtaining entrance and there they found just what they expected, the two stills and expensive ones with everything at hand to manufacture liquor. The stills were seized and this morning Agent Harry Avery had the booze manufacturing implements loaded upon a truck, after which they were taken to New Haven and placed in storage.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the suspension of the driver's license of Christopher H. Cooper, 17 Stony Hill.

Joseph Longo, 39 Shaw street, reported to the police last night that a bicycle that he had left alongside a building on Bank street while he attended a motion picture performance, had been stolen.

The Connecticut company trolley car that left New London last midnight for Norwich, struck a motionless automobile, the owner of which was not determined, while the auto was parked beside the curb on Main street, near the corner of Masonic street. The automobile was somewhat damaged.

Mrs. Benjamin Bloomer and infant son, of 34 Chappell street, Mrs. Edward Higgins and infant son, 24 Methodist street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Patients dismissed at Home Memorial hospital today were: Mrs. Charles Rogers and son, Noank Mrs. James Kavarno and son, 121 Riverview avenue; Mrs. Robert Hurley, 285 Montauk avenue, James MacTough, of 55 Prest street.

Members of the Thames club will see a moving picture of big game and wild life taken by Dr. Carl Wurn of New York, next Saturday night, in a private showing that has been arranged by a committee of entertainment.

The plant of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries at Groton is planning to at least triple its present output. Signs point to larger catches this year and the management of the company is making preparations to have adequate equipment ready for the increased supply of raw material. In all probability employment will be furnished to between fifty and one hundred additional men.

Winds were so sharp on the Thames River last night that more than a score of vessels scooted into the port of Groton to seek safety. Early this morning whitecaps were all over the harbor and fear was felt for a while that a severe storm was brewing off the coast. This afternoon, however, the weather cleared and boats that had anchored proceeded.

The eighth annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women's Voters is to be held in New London November 14, 15 and 16 at the Hotel Mohican. An elaborate program of business and social affairs has been outlined.

At the October meeting of the auxiliary to John Coleman Prince post, American Legion, held last night in the Legion rooms, Mrs. Helen Bart was elected president of the organization. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Mrs. Isabel Davidson; second, Mrs. Elizabeth Fahey; chaplain, Mrs. Elizabeth Shelley secretary, Mrs. Ruth W. Dorsey; treasurer, Mrs Lucy Bryant; historian, Miss Beatrice Cruise; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Augusta Lundgren. After the business meeting refreshments were served.

Miss Edith Keeney of 8 Maple avenue, was hostess last night to Circle No. 11 of the First Baptist church The evening was spent in the enjoyment of games and music and the completion of tying a quilt, after which a collation was served.

The Ampico in Music Study

In addition to their Mason & Hamlin, the Sparks School of Music on Fairmount street recently installed a Marshall & Wendell Ampico reproducing piano. The Ampico is used in public and high schools, leading conservatories and private music schools throughout the country. Not an ordinary player piano, the electric Ampico re-enacts the individual touch and phrasing of the master pianists. Among the classical and popular pianists recording for the Ampico are Hoffman, Rachmaninoff, Ornstein, Confrey, Lopez and Frank Black. The Ampico is an invaluable aid to students, particularly those studying advanced classical music and the higher forms of modern improvisation and syncopation. The Sparks school gives instruction in classical and popular playing, orchestra preparation and professional work and includes instruction in practical harmony, improvising and arranging for pianists and instrumentalists. Many players lack this valuable aid. A liberal education in music is assured all sincere students. The school continues to secure outstanding results through highly intensified, individual training, effected by superior instruction and equipment. Students are demonstrating socially as well as professionally the excellence of the training received.

Elks Charity Fair.

The next big local event of the year, the Elks Charity fair, slated for the state armory here for four consecutive nights, October 17, 18, 19 and 20, gives promise of being the biggest and best affair of its kind ever presented for the approval of Norwich and vicinity. The fair being presented by the local lodge of Elks for the benefit of its charity fund, will be feaured by free acts, free prizes and other novelties too numerous to mention.

Each night, the committee of Elks in charge of the entertainment, in connection with the fair, will present an entirely different program of vaudeville and music by a different band. Probably the feature attraction of the four nights of fun, frolic and jollification will be that presented on the opening night. To open their fair, the Elks have secured at a fabulous price, none other than that famous pair of radio entertainers, Billy Jones and Ernie Hare, known to millions of the radio listeners of the world at the Happiness Boys.

One of the pioneer attractions in radio stardom, Jones and Hare have retained their hold on the public's affections. Every Friday evening uncounted millions tune in to hear the lively chatter and sweet singing of the above duo who have been blessed not only with beautiful voices, but with the rarely achieved acute sense of humor.

Both Billy and Ernie served their apprenticeships in the theatre, where they ran the gamut from vaudeville to musical comedy and light opera. Regular fellows, in every sense of the word, they are as popular among fellow artists and other members of the amusement craft as they are with their public—the radio audience. Busy as the proverbial bees, their days and nights are filled with working hours, as, in addition to the necessary rehearsals for broadcasting, their phonograph recordings and public appearances demand a great deal of time.

Be sure and hear the Happiness Boys in person at the Elks Charity fair at the state armory, October 17, 18, 19 and 20. Long may they be heard on the air and long may their invisible audiences thrill to the caressing tonees of their songs.

Balloons to Hover Over Norwich

Tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. 1,000 tiny toy balloons will be released from the roof of the Schwartz Bros. Furniture Co. building. Filled with helium gas, these balloons in all probability will float over the entire city for hours. Every balloon will bear a tag of some value, some of them will be good for free gifts, while others can be used as merchandise credits. The balloons are being released as a publicity stunt for the Schwartz Bros., sale of the Griswold, Richmond and Glock Co's. furniture stock that goes on sale in the local store tomorrow morning. Once released the balloons make an impressive sight. It is expected that crowds of children will be at the store to watch the balloons and the store management, wishes to particularly caution them to be careful while scrambling for the balloons at busy street corners where traffic is heavy.

Breed Theatre

"Wife turns gold digger!"

Such is the state of affairs in "Chicken a La King," Fox Films production. The story has to do with a drab little wife, who has been browbeaten and bullied for nearly twenty years. Then suddenly she is confronted with the startling facts that her Puritan husband has developed into a gay Romeo and is haunting a burlesque show.

The wife, instead of praying for guidance, goes determinedly to bat and enlists the aid of two members of the chorus. Together they fleece the old rogue until they make him see the error of his ways and he returns home a sadder, poorer but much wiser man.

"Chicken a La King" is a screen version of Mister Romeo, the stage play by Harry Wagstaff Gribble and Wallace Manheimer, and is said to be the finest directorial effort to date of Henry Lehrman.

Nancy Carroll, Ford Sterling and Arthur Stone have the leading roles. The supporting cast includes George Meeker, Frances Lee and Carol Holloway.

The picture is said to be a hilarious comedy romance which is sure to delight local audiences when it shows at the Breed theatre today and Thursday.

"The Little Snob," a Warner Bros. production starring May McAvoy, comes to the Breed theatre today for a run of two days as the added feature. This ritzy, rollicking, heart story of a carnival girl is from the story of E. T. Lowe, Jr., and was adapted for the screen by Robert Lord. The cast includes Alec Francis, Robert Frazer, Virginia Lee Corbin, John Miljan and Frances Lee. John Adolfi directed.

MONUMENTAL CHIMNEY IS LYON HOMESTEAD FEATURE

Commissioner H. H. Chapman of the state park and forest commission has just announced that the commission had just completed an interesting project of restoration of the birthplace of General Lyon near Phoenixville in Windham county.

In 1920 the commission purchased the site of the birthplace of Gen. Nathaniel Lyon, perhaps Connecticut's greatest Civil war hero, and called it the Nathaniel Lyon Memorial park.

About all that remained of the old New England farmhouse on the high hills of Eastford was the old chimney and the brush covered foundations.

Now, on the 110th anniversary year of the birth of the general, the old chimney has been restored as a monument. Truly it is a monumental structure occupying a third of the ground space of the old building. Built of rough hewn slab of native rock it contains almost enough material for a house in itself. In restoring the old chimney the park men found it to contain six separate flues, four of them from fire places and two from old fashioned ovens built into the chimney itself. There were evidently fire places on three floor levels With the splendid work of the original masons and the careful work of the restorers, the chimney monument ought to last another century.

General Lyon was born in 1818 in the old house now long since disappeared which surrounded this chimney, for the chimney supported the house and not the house the chimney as in modern buildings. The future general graduated at West Point in 1841. After serving in the Seminole and Mexican wars won his greatest renown in Missouri during the Civil war where at the Battle of Wilson's Creek he saved Missouri to the Union but at the cost of his own life.

In addition to the house site and home grounds the park commission has acquired some 216 acres surrounding it for park purposes and has the custody of the monument to General Lyon in the Phoenixville cemetery the nearest village to the old Lyon homestead.

When General Lyon was a boy most of the land in his neighborhood was under cultivation, but poor soil, bad roads and the drift of population to the cities has caused much of it to be abandoned and today it is largely brush land. The state forestry department is buying land in the vicinity for reforestation and now has over 4,300 acres in the Natchaug state forest mostly surrounding the park. This total of over 4,500 acres makes an ideal public playground and is much used by the people of the state, most of whom go first to the chimney monument to General Lyon. It can be reached by auto from Phoenixville which is on state route 101 between Willimantic and Putnam.

Since the commission has established picnic facilities at the Gen. Lyon birthplace organizations are using it more and more for this purpose. It has recently been announced that the Connecticut Forest and Park association will visit it during their field trip to the Natchaug state forest, October 20th.

Goat Atmosphere Needed.

FORT SNELLING, Minn.—(AP)—Several counties had to be canvassed for goats needed to make realistic the flight of refugees in a sham battle depicting a conflict in the Argonne battle of the world war. Scarcity of goats for the "peasants" to drive before them threatened to disrupt the performance.

GREENEVILLE

Miss Loretta Gadle has returned to her home on Hickory street after being a recent guest of Miss Elizabeth Donavan of Hartford.

WEDDING
Levitsky-Barnes

Miss Agnes Barnes, daughter of Mrs. George Barnes of Hartford and William Levitsky, son of the late Fred and Mrs. Levitsky were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at the home of the groom's mother, 61 Oakridge street, at 4 o'clock by Rev. Heindrich, also of Hartford, with a large attendance of relatives and family friends. Miss Viola Levitsky of this city, a cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid and Frederick Barnes of Hartford, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. The bride was handsomely attired in white satin and wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms, while the bridesmaid, Miss Levitsky, was charmingly gowned in a yellow crepe de chine and wore a picture hat to correspond. The bride's bouquet was of white gladiolus while her bridesmaid carried pink gladiolus. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a beautiful beaded bag and the groom presented his best man a set of gold cuff buttons. After the wedding ceremony a reception was held with guests being present from Boston, New York, Brooklyn, New Bedford, Willimantic and New London. The newly married couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts, namely, linens, silver and gold, pieces of furniture, cheques of substantial amounts. The bride has ben employed at Hartford while Mr. Levitsky is connected with the post office staff there. Mr. and Mrs. Levitsky left later in the evening on a two weeks wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Philadelphia and Atlantic City. Upon their return they will occupy their new bungalow which they had built in Hartford.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. John Houston of South Second avenue were pleasantly surprised by their friends Monday evening in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. BETTER BUSINESS BOOSTERS HAVE PROGRAMME FOR THE WEEK

The Better Business Boosters who are sponsoring the Merchants Institute to be held under the auspices of the Merchants bureau next week, met in the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday morning and approved the following program for the week:

First day, Monday—8.00 a. m. subject, "The Winning Salesman" Questionaire; 12.00 noon, subject: "Helpful Hints on Advertising". Afternoon: Conferences by appointment.

Second day, Tuesday—8.00 a. m., subject: "Knowledge Applied in Power"; Questionaire; 12.00 noon, subject: "Cooperative Plans for Trade Extension"; Afternoon: Conferences by appointment.

Third day, Wednesday—8.00 a. m., subject: "Push, Pep and Personality"; Questionnaire; 12.00 noon, subject: "What Business Management Means"; Afternoon: Conferences by appointment.

Fourth day, Thursday—8.00 a. m. subject: "The Art of Closing a Sale"; Questionaire; 12.00 noon, subject: "Where Have Our Profits Gone"; Afternoon: Conferences by appointment.

Fifth day, Friday—8.00 a. m., subject: "Salary Wise-Opportunity Foolish"; Questionnaire; 12.00 noon, subject: "Creating Community Spirit"; Afternoon: Conferences by appointment.

The program for morning sessions of the Institute are devoted to practical salesmanship.

The subject of the first morning's talk and discussion is First Steps in the Art of Selling.

Selling Points of Merchandise is the topic for the talk on the second morning, accompanied by demonstrations of what to know about goods and how to show them.

For the third morning, the talk will be on "The Place of Personality in Selling, with illustrations on how personality can be developed by the sales person.

How to Close a Sale, one of the most vital, as well as one of the most difficult subjects of the series, will be treated during the fourth morning session.

The fifth and last morning talk will show what to do after one sale is closed, and how to cash in on opportunities for increasing the sale.

All the talks on salesmanship are consecutive in the order of the entire process of making a sale.

The noon day meetings on the institute program are especially for managers, owners and executives, and those who expect to advance to these positions. The discussions at the noon day meetings are divided into two general classes: A Business Building, and Business Management, and Control. Advertising, Merchandise Display, Cooperative Plans for Trade Extension and Civic Betterment, constitute the Business Building part of the program.

The business control phase of the program will be treated under the topics of Mark-up, Margin, Profits, Turnover, Stock Control, and those factors upon which increased profits of a business depends.

ART ASSOCIATION ARRANGES FOR SEASON'S ACTIVITIES

The 1928-1929 season of the Norwich Art association opened Monday evening in Slater Hall annex. The president, Miss Alice M. Cogswell, presided. The reports of the secretary, Mrs. Austin Goodyear, and of the treasurer, Mrs. Fred Sudlow, were read and approved. Mrs. Philip A. Johnson reported for the docent committee that on September 24th all sixth grade teachers were invited to her home in order that the work with their children might be discussed. All there were much interested to hear Mrs. Frederick W. Lester explain her plans for the coming year. These plans have been started in Occum and Taftville to be followed in all other sixth grades. Lists of the gods and goddesses and of all books pertaining to Greek mythology have been made and $29 of the $55 collected has been spent. The teachers were urged to take these books to the school rooms. 550 pictures are ordered for the children. The program will include telling about the everyday life of the Greeks, the old Greek's idea of the creation and the stories of Perseus, and of Orpheus and Eurydice.

The program committee, Miss Nancy Lucas, chairman, outlined the following plans: For November a surprise which is not yet decided upon. December will see a real Christmas celebration, the one sociable meeting of the year. Attics are to be ransacked and old treasures will be brought to light for each member will come in costume.

In January Miss Irene Weir, the first director of the Norwich Art school and a niece of the late J. Alden Weir, well known artist, will come, bringing an exhibit of paintings and etchings and she will give an informal talk. Miss Weir has been much pleased to see the development of the school since the early days and it will be a great pleasure especially to the old students to have her here.

February and March will be preparatory meetings for the great event of the year which will come in April. At these meetings four or five representations of living models representing portraits will be given. These will be repeated in April with some others making a program of 14 representations of living models open to the public, similar to the exhibition so successfully given in 1913 which proved so popular. To describe the paintings and to lecture on portraiture there will be an out of town artist lecturer.

In May there will be a lecture on modern art.

The admission committee of which Miss Amanda Fisher is chairman proposed the names of three active and nine student members which were voted in.

After some discussion the future hour of the meetings was changed from 7:30 to 7:45.

The business meeting adjourned and Miss Lucas presented the evening's program which consisted of slides from the Metropolitan Museum of New York including pictures and printed matter which was thrown on the screen by Louis Walden. The subject was "Development of Painting" as shown in the galleries of the Metropolitan Museum. This is an introduction to the work of the spring when the subject of portraiture is to be taken up. There was first a general view of the Marquand gallery which showed the placing of the great altarpiece of Raphael and portraits by Sargent and Van Dyck. Italian, Flemish, Dutch, French, English, Spanish and American schools were represented by paintings by Fra Angelico, Botticelli, Raphael, Pinturecchio, Bellini, Tintoretto, Reubens, Van Dyck, Velasquez, Veronese, Memling, Giorgione, Reynolds, Rembrandt, Frans Hals, Vermeer, Ruysdael, Hobbema, Poussin, Claude Lorrain, David, Turner, Ingres, Corot, Rousseau, Daubigny, Benjamin West, Gilbert Stuart, Whistler, Sargent and Winslow Homer. From these studies of the past it was seen that a school of American painting has been developed.

MERCHANTS BANK BUILDING BOUGHT BY ELKIN SMITH

The two-story brick building at 71 Main street which has been the home of the Merchants National bank until the merger with the Uncas National bank, has been sold to the Norwich Plumbing Supply House, Inc., of which Elkin Smith is the owner. The bank property was in the last tax list at $39,000.

The purchase does not include the bank furnishings and equipment, which are to be removed to the present Uncas bank building for the use of the combined banks.

It is understood that Mr. Smith will use the building for business purposes, for which it will be extensively remodeled.

Mayflower Descendants

Local members have received announcements of the annual meeting and luncheon of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the state of Connecticut to be held at the Hartford club on October 23rd. The chairman of the committee on arrangements is Mrs. Edward B. Field; reception committee, Miss Jane B. Watson; decorations, Mrs. William Haine; hostesses, Mrs. Laurence Mouat, New Britain; tickets, Mrs. Philip L. Hotchkiss, East Hartford

CONN. SCHOOL CHILDREN ACTIVE IN JR. RED CROSS

Conducting "clean up" campaigns, protecting birds, beautifying school yards, and maintaining correspondence with children of many other lands are some of the activities of more than 115,000 Connecticut school children, members of the American Junior Red Cross, cited in the organization's annual report made public here Tuesday.

Enrolled under the motto "I Serve," the Juniors are said to be carrying on activities in their schools and communities the influence of which literally reaches around the world. Through a system of international correspondence fostered by the organization, they have been exchanging portfolios and letters during the school year with the juniors of other countries. A part of this international program is the sending of tokens of good will in the form of Christmas packages to children of foreign lands.

At home they have carried on local service activities, one feature of which is providing presents and entertainment for fellow Juniors who are ill, and for disabled veterans in government hospitals.

In Connecticut, 450 schools are participating in the Junior Red Cross, in which 115,072 pupils are enrolled. The juniors in this state are part of a world wide movement in which more than 12,000,000 school children are enrolled in more than forty nations.

STALLED MOTOR TRUCK RUN INTO BY TROLLEY

A motor truck of the United Fruit & Vegetable Stores, Inc., which was on its way from New London to the Norwich store of the company in the Young block on Franklin square, became stalled on the trolley tracks at Hempstead's on the Montville line and was run into by the trolley car that left New London at 6:45 Tuesday night.

The truck was little damaged but the trolley car had its front end badly smashed in. Motorman Winthrop Atel and Conductor Roy Leonard were the trolley car crew.

The truck came to a stop across the trolley tracks when it ran out of gasoline, and Morris Vachon, the operator, was unable to get it off the tracks while he went after gas, leaving his wife and sister-in-law, who were riding with him, to watch the truck. When they saw the trolley coming, they fled across the road to escape the crash.

NORWICH TOWN HOME CHAPTER DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

When Home chapter of the King's Daughters held its October meeting at the Johnson Home Monday afternoon, the final lesson in Acts was discussed, with the leader, Mrs. William E. Manning, in charge. For the study period at the next meeting, Nov. 12, the lesson will be the first two chapters of Exodus. It is expected that members will study this part of the Scriptures, so as to be prepared to ask and answer questions at the meeting. Monday the secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. The report of the work committee submitted by Mrs. Manning noted that the work for the Needlework guild was completed. Announcement was made that the next meeting of Home chapter sewing society would be held this week Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Herbert R. Branche of Mohegan road, for an all-day service.

The State King's Daughters convention is to be held at Central Baptist church, Norwich, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 7 and 8. The leader expressed her desire for a large attendance of Home chapter members, each of whom is expected to entertain one or more delegates, during the convention, or to contribute the equivalent in money. All out-of-town delegates are to be entertained in King's Daughters' homes on those dates. Mrs. Manning chose for the delegates from Home chapter to attend with her, Mrs. Edmund A. Prentice, Mrs. John C. Aatterbury, Mrs. Dwight L. Underwood, and Mrs. Albert G. Senft, Mrs. Woodbury O. Rogers, Mrs. Homer D. Gager, Mrs. William A Gordon, Mrs. Edward Briggs, Mrs J. H. Bailey, Mrs. Charles Copeland and Mrs Edwin E. Lathrop.

During the meeting Mrs. John Olsen, for the pleasure of those present played the piano number Home Sweet Home, with variations. Mrs. Manning entertained with a reading "The Two Outsiders."

Thus far the proxy supper planned last spring by the chapter has netted the sum of $35.50 and more is expected to be forth-coming.

Under direction of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Edmund A. Prentice, chairman, sandwiches and coffee were served during the social hour. Mrs. Prentice was assisted in serving by several members.

THE METHODIST CHURCH WEEK END ACTIVITIES

"All Things Come Alike to All" was the sermon theme at the First Methodist church Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter had two texts, Ecclesiastes 9.2 "All things come alike to all" and Romans 8.28, "We know to them that love God, all things work together for good." There was a selection by the choir in charge of Doris Rose, who was organist in the absence of Mrs. Lewis Aldrich. "Braver Than a Buffalo," was the title of the story told the children by Mrs. Helen Haviland Potter.

There was an attendance of 26 at the C. E. meeting when James Ringland led in the discussion of the topic "Workers with God." Over forty attended the evening service when the pastor gave a talk on the subject "Hymns of Our Faith". Norma Rose, Muriel Rose, Florence Gembel and Margaret Phillips sang "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life" Virginia Ward sang "I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old" with pantomime. Doris Rose gave the solo "He Leadeth Me" A number of the hymns were sung during the service by the congregation. "Abide With Me" was a solo hymn by Virginia Ward. In the absence of the organist, Mrs. LeRoy Miner played for the service.

The Boy Scouts held a meeting Friday night at the Methodist parsonage in charge of Rev. George Warren Potter, acting scoutmaster. Lewis Aldrich the assistant scoutmaster was present and helped in the game period also assisted in giving tests at the close of the meeting. By a vote of the scouts, Arthur Bennett was elected scribe. The scouts voted to begin an efficiency contest at the next meeting to continue over a period of six months. The scoutmaster announced that he would award a gold medal to the winning scout. Following the opening ceremony the scoutmaster put on a series of contests in the form of games that were of an instructive nature. One contest was won by the team captained by Edward Eccleston and another by a team captained by Arthur Bennett. Edward Smith passed his tenderfoot test at the close of the meeting. There was an attendance of 11.

"The Spirit of Aggression" was the theme of Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey at Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church. Acts 8:29, Then the Spirit said unto Philip, go near and join thyself to this chariot. During the session of the Sunday Sunday school at noon, Miss Juanita Jones of Kentucky, field worker for young people in the Woman's Christian Temperance union, gave a short address.

To enable members of the C. E. society of the Congregational church to attend the temperance rally at the Central Baptist church, Sunday evening, the regular meeting which was to have been conducted by Miss Grace Wheeler was omitted.

The Sunday afternoon religious service at the Sheltering Arms was conducted by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of the First church. The musical part of the hour was in charge of the Misses Ruth and Louise Sterry, who sang two special duets, also assisted in the hymns. Miss Louise Sterry was at the piano.

Under the heading of The Social Conscience the lesson for the study period at the mid-week service of conference and prayer in the Congregational chapel Thursday evening will be, "Christian Fraternity." Romans 14:7-13, 1 Corinthians 10:23-33, the scripture reference, Is the Spirit or Exercise of Brotherhood as sensitive, or as strong as it should be with Christians? How may it be made keener?

The work committee of the League of Service of th eFirst church, has planned a meeting for Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank C. Sterry, of Lee avenue.

James H. Floyd, D. V. S., and Frederick H. Wyant, district agent of the Connecticut Humane society, were in conference recently in the societies interests, in the vicinity of Preston City.

Sour Stomach Sign of Carelessness

POLITE society frowns on those whose stomachs "grumble." For careful people heed this warning that the contents of the stomach is sour and fermenting. Those who don't, may some day develop gastritis—or even ulcers.

Nine times out of ten indigestion and allied stomach disorders are due to excess stomach acid, which impedes normal digestion and forms sour gases that cause intense pain. To restore good digestion you must eliminate this cause. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

So, do buy a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today. This not only means instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach a little "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent various disorders

CONTINUANCE TO AWAIT FINDING BY CORONER

(Special to The Bulletin)

GROTON, Oct. 9.—In the town court today in the case of Ferguson Rennie, Jr., Mystic charged with manslaughter, the case was continued two weeks. Prosecuting Attorney Broran requested the continuance upon the grounds that it had been his policy in the case of a charge of this nature not to seek a penalty or discharge of the prisoner until such time as a finding has been rendered by Coroner E. G. McKay, Norwich. The automobile Rennie war in charge of had been parked near the town hall, Poquonoc, and when the brakes became released, with Rennie absent, the auto descended a grade and struck Mrs. Annie Edwards, Mystic, who died from her injuries a short time after the accident.

Mellcio Patricio, a Filipino, was charged with adultery, and being a deserter from the navy, he was ordered turned over to the military authorities by Judge Cornelius C. Costello, where he will be subject to a court martial and in which event the case against him will be nolled in the civil court. Mrs. Frances Lorenzo, with whom Patricio had been living as man and wife, was charged as was her paramour, but her case was continued a week that she may be permitted to go with her four children to Cape May, N. J., where her husband, who is residing, has promised to provide for his wife and children.

Change in Boat Line Service

The New England Steamship company started its fall sailing schedule on the New London line on Sunday. The steamer New Hampshire will leave New London at 11:00 p. m. and will arrive in New York, at Pier 14 North River, foot of Fulton street, at 7:00 a. m. Returning, the steamer will sail from New York at 10:00 p. m. and dock in New London at 5:15 a. m.

Beginning October 7th, the boat leaves New London on Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, and will return from New York on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

This gives a boat from New London to New York on three days a week instead of six.

CHURCHES RESPOND FOR RELIEF FOR FLORIDA

Since the last issue of The Bulletin which acknowledged various amounts as having been received from different sources by the Norwich chapter of the American Red Cross as contributions to the fund for the relief of the sufferers from the hurricane in Porto Rico and Florida, the following churches have responded to the appeal:

Christ Episcopal, $17.25, Central Baptist (additional) $13.50; First Baptist, $28, First Congregational $44.19, Trinity Methodist $76.50, United Congregational (additional) $2.

Individual contributions have been received from the following: Miss Abbott, Miss C. T. Gilman, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Shedd, Miss Jessie Gibson, Jacob Munz, Mrs. L. O. Smith, Miss Eva Virginia Smith, Miss Eloise C. Smith, Dr. W. W. Leonard, Elizabeth C. Robinson, E. R. Woodworth, American Legion auxiliary, Grace Circle, Kings Daughters and "A Friend of the Cause."

The quota as assigned to the Norwich chapter of the Red Cross has been raised and the amount forwarded to Washington, but when it is considered that the quota figures were fixed upon the preliminary estimates and that subsequent detailed surveys in the afflicted regions have developed that the first figures were far too low it is the earnest hope of the Norwich chapter that contributions will continue to come in from those who are charitably disposed. The daily papers are continually stating that the demands upon the Red Cross have exceeded all expectations so it is clear that all contributions will be gratefully received and under the trained direction of the representatives of the Red Cross on the ground, will be properly spent in relieving distress and will be accounted for in detail at the conclusion of the relief work, as is always the case when expenditures are made under the direction of this wonderful organization.

WILL GLADLY ANSWER LETTERS FROM WOMEN

Asking for Information About Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MRS. GLADYS ROGERS
Route 5, Grand Ave., Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl about 14 years old, when I was just entering womanhood. Then after I married, I took more of it. During the time before my baby was born this medicine gave me splendid results. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation also and recommend these medicines to my friends and will answer letters asking about them."—MRS. GLADYS ROGERS, Route 5, Grand Avenue, Atlanta, Georgia.

A Lot Better By Taking It

Trafford, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I could not eat a thing. I had no appetite whatever and never felt good. I was talking to my friend one day and she passed the remark of how thin I was getting since I got married and I told her my trouble and she advised me to take the Vegetable Compound. I feel a lot better now since I have been taking it regularly and I can eat most anything. I recommend your medicine to anyone who tells me of troubles like my own, for I know what it has done for me. I have also used your Sanative Wash. I am willing to answer women if they ask about the medicine."—MRS. E. GELATIC, Box 503, Trafford Pa.

Protect Yourself and Your Family with Crystal-Clear Non-Shatterable
Security-Plate Glass

Cadillac-La Salle Security-Plate Glass—an actual demonstration with driver at wheel. A regulation American League baseball thrown with all his strength by a boy seven feet from the car failed to shatter the window.

IN THE new Cadillacs, La Salles and Fleetwoods there are revolutionary new safety features of vital importance in this day of high speed and congested streets and highways. Unquestionably, they make these cars the safest in the world.

There is no hazard of flying glass in case of accident. For all doors, windows and windshields are equipped with Cadillac-La Salle crystal-clear, non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass.

What does Security-Plate Glass mean?

It means that if the glass in a windshield, door or window of a new Cadillac or La Salle is struck by ball, stick or stone, or if one of these cars is in a collision, there is no danger of flying glass fragments. In other words, security-plate glass means greater protection for you and your family. Thus the subconscious fear of injury is removed—you ride or drive with your mind at ease.

But security-plate glass is by no means the only new safety feature in the new Cadillacs and La Salles. There are the new Cadillac-designed Duplex-Mechanical four-wheel brakes. These brakes give much more positive, powerful braking action, but require amazingly little effort on the part of the driver.

And there is the Cadillac-La Salle Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift transmission—a remarkable device that enables one to shift gears easily, instantly, without clashing, and that adds greatly to getaway in traffic. You would gladly have paid extra for these new safety features in your present car could you have obtained them. But they are found only in the new Cadillacs and La Salles—and there is no extra charge for them.

LA SALLE $2295

The new La Salle is priced from $2295 to $2875, the new Cadillac from $3295 to $7000, all prices f. o. b. Detroit. The General Motors Time Payment Plan is a convenient way for you to enjoy all that Cadillac and La Salle offer, while you pay for the cars out of income.

WOULD HAVE P. E. PULPITS KEPT ALOOF FROM POLITICS

Bishop Anderson, in Opening 49th Triennial Convention in Washington, Rebuked Sectionalism and Intolerance—Would Not Countenance Any Law That Would Compel Men to Teach Their Children a Special Brand of Religion—Declares the Church Should Not Spend Its Energies on Social and Political Reforms.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—The Protestant Episcopal church in the opening sermon of its 49th triennial convention, which began here today, was urged to eliminate politics from pulpits.

In addition to this message, expressed in forcible language by the Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, bishop of Chicago, in his opening sermon, the head of the church and an open air congregation of 20,000 heard President Coolidge define the country's greatest possible service to the world as the perfection of its own moral progress.

Bishop Anderson roundly rebuked sectionalism and intolerance and asked: "Are men to be compelled by law to teach their children a special brand of religion?"

"Whenever the church spends its energies on social and political reforms or undertakes to fight the world's political and social battles by using the world's weapons, or identifies itself with the world in hope of producing a glorified human society by external pressure, the result will inevitably be a loss of morals.

"It is beginning at the wrong end. It is patching up the machinery of society which may work today and break down tomorrow, instead of reconstructing the motives of men."

The distinguished audience included Mrs. Coolidge, who sat with the president's military and naval aides and left with the president at the conclusion of his greeting.

The service formally opening the meeting of the church governing body was held with pomp and ceremony on the wooded slopes of Mount St. Alban, near the site dedicated to Cathedral purposes 30 years ago and on which the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul is steadily rising as a testimonial to the spiritual aspirations of the Episcopalians throughout the land.

Led by a vested band and a choir of 250, the thousands crowding the natural amphitheater sang the processional hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," as the ranking clergy of the church proceeded two by two toward the small glade where a rustic pulpit stood under a canopy of huge oaks.

As the nearly 2,000 clerical and lay delegates in vestments and robes took their places, a bright autumn sun was shining on the leaves of red and brown and on the bright stoles and capes of the bishops.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas Casady, missionary bishop of Oklahoma, offered the opening prayer, after which the Rt. Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, and the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington, escorted the president to the platform while the bells in the tower of Mount St. Alban's parish church pealed "America."

The Rt. Rev. John Dallas, bishop of New Hampshire, led the audience in prayer and the Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, bishop of Maryland and presiding bishop of the church, pronounced the benediction.

Throughout the ceremony workmen were busy on the buttressed amphitheater and choir of the new Gothic edifice and the sound of their work could be heard plainly throughout the service.

SENATOR ROBINSON IS IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10—(AP)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, democratic vice-presidential nominee, came to San Francisco today prepared to discuss his party in relation to the nation's business.

After having handled the controversial Colorado river development subject at Los Angeles last night without gloves, pledging himself with Governor Smith to immediate Colorado development, if elected, the senator prepared his address for San Francisco this evening with equal rights in business as its central theme.

The message he brought was an undertaking of the democratic party to promote prosperity for all, and not, he declared, for a favored few.

The senator made three rear platform appearances en route from Los Angeles.

At San Jose he told a crowd gathered at the station to greet him that "getting things done" was a characteristic of Governor Smith, democratic presidential nominee, and that the time to get things done in national government had come.

FORMER COLUMBIA BOY WAS SLAIN IN FLINT, MICH.

FLINT, Mich., Oct. 10—(AP)—Lawrence Hutchins, 20, son of a farmer residing near Columbia, Conn., is dead here as a result of his interference last night on behalf of a girl he did not know when she was accosted on the street by two youths. Melvin E. Raskin, 23, is held as Hutchins' slayer and his brother, Samuel Raskin, 20, is held as a witness. Both are hotel bellboys.

Hutchins, who is a General Motors technical student here, was on his way home when, according to information given police, he saw two youths molesting Ann Lovjska, 19, a waitress.

The girl, who identified the Raskin brothers as her tormentors, said they insulted her and that one of them grabbed her by the arm. When Hutchins interfered, the girl said, Melvin Raskin knocked him down. He died a short time later from cerebral hemorrhage, caused by concussion of the brain. Police said Raskin has confessed. Hutchins came here a year ago from Connecticut. His father is H. B. Hutchins.

DEFENSE WINS POINT IN QUEENS SEWER CASE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—After the defense in the conspiracy trial of Maurice E. Connolly, former Queens borough president, and his sewer design engineer, Frederick Seely, had scored a victory at the outset of the case today, Special Prosecutor Emory R. Buckner drew from a witness the admission that prices charged by the late John M. Phillips, for his patented lockjoint pipe used in Queens sewer jobs were excessive.

Mr. Buckner, in cross-examination, got from another defense witness testimony that responsibility for the drawing of these specifications rested upon Seely.

The defense victory was a ruling by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins throwing out two of three conspiracy counts, thus decreasing the possible maximum penalty from three years in jail to one year should the jury convict. The state elected to try the defendants on one remaining count of conspiracy to defraud the city.

BURGLAR WAS CAUGHT SLEEPING IN BATHTUB

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 10—(AP)—A burglar with a penchant for sleeping in bathtubs slept too long this morning, when he invaded a rooming house and decided to take a nap. Police were called and after finding a revolver and some goods in the possession of Fred Gendreau, of this city, placed him under arrest for two breaks committed earlier in the morning.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 10—(AP)—The dirigible Los Angeles returned to the naval station at 9.35 o'clock tonight from a flight to Texas. It left here Saturday night.

SELECTING JURY FOR TRIAL OF L. N. LEOPOLD

WATERBURY, Oct. 10—(AP)—Eleven jurors had been selected this afternoon when the list of talesmen called for the trial of Louis N. Leopold, charged with first degree murder, and causing death by wilful burning of a building, had been exhausted. Judge Carl Foster ordered an additional list of 50 veniremen summoned to appear in court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock for examination to select the final juror. The hearing of testimony in the case will probably start at the morning session tomorrow.

William J. Lee, of Beacon Falls, a receiving clerk in a factory, was the 11th juror selected this afternoon. Others secured at the afternoon session of the court were: A. N. Benedict, florist, of Seymour, and Henry F. Nugent, a retired mail carrier of Ansonia. Two jurors were selected this morning. They were John W. Kelly, of Ansonia, a retired mechanic, and C. Anson Coe, a poultry raiser of Southbury.

During the first two days of the trial the Leopold defense has exercised 16 of its 25 challenges while the state has used but nine of its allowance of 25. During the two days Judge Foster has excused 55 of the talesmen after examination for reasons disqualifying them.

RECOVERS CONTROL OF FORTUNE OF $1,000,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Dr. John S. Adriance, 67, of Garden City, descendant of an old and wealthy Dutch family, today recovered control of a fortune estimated at more than $1,000,000 which was taken from him in 1924 when he was adjudged incompetent by a sheriff's jury.

Supreme Court Justice Levy approved a referee's report that Dr. Adriance, who for many years was prominent in homeopathic medical circles, had fully recovered his health and was competent to manage his affairs.

The action to take administration of his fortune from him was instituted by two brothers, Henry D. Adriance of New York, an attorney, and Dr. Vanderpoel Adriance of Williamstown, Mass. He was sent to a Westchester sanitarium and released in 1926.

In 1910, Dr. Adriance married against the wishes of his family. His wife left him two years later under a separation agreement whereby she received the income from a $1,000,000 trust fund.

FRED STONE MIGHT LEAVE HOSPITAL IN THREE WEEKS

NEW LONDON, Oct. 10—(AP)—Fred Stone, the veteran comedy artist, whose plane crashed here in August, seriously injuring him, is expected to be able to leave the hospital in three weeks. Doctors advised him today that if he desired he could be taken to his home this week. Stone refused, and declared that when he left he would walk out and not be carried out. The comedian will return to his home at Forest Hills, N. Y., for a few weeks and then plans on a southern fishing trip with his brother-in-law, Rex Beach, the noted author. In discussing his stage future and the possibilities of dancing, Stone stated that his return to the stage would be next fall and that his legs, which were badly smashed in the plane crash, would be more limber than ever.

ACTRESS FRANCES GOODRICH TAKES STEPS FOR DIVORCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—The first step in a suit for divorce by Frances Goodrich, actress, against her husband, Hendrik Willem Van Loon, author, was taken today when she got a supreme court order permitting service of papers in the action by publication and by mailing a copy to Van Loon at Walcheren, Veere, Holland, where he is said to be living with his former wife, Helen Criswell.

The complaint names Miss Criswell, who was the author's second wife, as co-respondent.

Van Loon and Miss Goodrich were married last October at Elizabeth, N. J.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 10—(AP)—Six George Hubert Wilkins, with his two companion explorers arrived here today on the steamer Southern Cross, and was welcomed at the dock by a large crowd.

Wilkins said he probably would remain here until October 24 when the steamer Victoria will transport his party to Deception Islands, about 60 miles from the main Antarctic coast. Graham Land, where the base of the expedition will be established. From there Wilkins hopes to chart from the air much of the surrounding country.

COLUMBIA MIGHT START FLIGHT FOR ROME TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Charles A. Levine announced tonight that the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia will take off from Roosevelt field for Rome tomorrow soon after dawn if weather conditions permit.

Levine said he would not be a passenger in the plane. Roger Q. Williams, veteran pilot, will be at the controls, he said, and Peter Bonelli, formerly navigating officer of Cesare Sabelli's sesquiplane Roma, will occupy similar post on the flight of the Columbia.

Zeppelin Take-Off Set For 8 a.m. Today

Passengers Warned to Have Their Belongings Aboard in Readiness for Start.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., Oct. 10—(AP)—Gloom and pouring rain today [illegible] Graf Zeppelin in its hangar [illegible] postponed until tomorrow at [illegible] scheduled start for the transatlantic flight to the United States. Dr. Hugo Eckener, who is to command the big dirigible, said this evening that he expected at least a lull in the wind by tomorrow morning which would enable him to get his unwieldy charge out of its housing.

He said that if he could reach the ocean, presumably over the coast of France, he would expect no further appreciable difficulties on the flight.

Passengers for the voyage, visitors to the city and the newspaper reporters and cameramen gathered here were on the verge of sinking into a stupor of indifference because of repeated postponements, when they were suddenly stirred into renewed eagerness by an announcement posted in all hotels that passengers must have their belongings aboard the dirigible by six o'clock tonight, holding themselves in readiness to start soon thereafter.

Dr. Eckener, however, said that he had given up any idea of getting away before 8 a. m. as he wished his crew to have a full night's sleep before they started on their journey.

No such rest interval was in prospect for the passengers, however, for they were busy until a late hour with their final farewell celebrations. Despite the pouring rain, numerous automobiles dashed into the enclosure at the airdrome bringing the belongings of passengers, all of which were stored aboard in readiness for the takeoff.

FEAR OUTBREAK OF GANG WARFARE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—(AP)—The police today attempted to avert a threatened new outbreak of gang warfare between North and South Side factions following an attempt last night to kill "Spike" O'Donnell, South Side gang leader.

Among those sought for questioning was John "Dingbat" Oberta, republican ward committeeman and nominee for state senator, long an associate of Joe Saltis and Frank McErlane, head of the rival beer running gang faction.

O'Donnell and a companion were fired on with a machine gun, shotguns and pistols last night in front of a South Side garage owned by O'Donnell's brother, Steve. O'Donnell got two bullets through his coat and a spent bullet left a bruise on his arm before the assailants fled in an automobile. Members of O'Donnell's gang returned the fire, police said.

Near the scene of the shooting the police found an automobile bearing spurious license plates which they believed belonged to Oberta.

Only a few months ago O'Donnell had a narrow escape from death when he was fired on from a passing automobile. Questioned by the police he admitted the shooting probably was an attempt on his life, but declared that the beer business had nothing to do with it.

RADICALS GIVE UP NEW BEDFORD TEXTILE STRIKE

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 10—(AP)—A telegram signed by James P. Reid, president, and Albert Weisbord, secretary of the National Textile Workers' union, recently organized at New York, was received at the textile mills committee headquarters here tonight instructing the local branch to abandon the textile strike in this city.

Organizer William T. Murdoch announced the receipt of the telegram from national headquarters at a meeting of the textile mills committee tonight. He stated that the strike was off and that Reid and Welsbord were coming to this city to explain the situation to the members.

The textile mills committee group, which is affiliated with the National Textile Workers' union is composed of the radical element which has been responsible for the disorders during the strike here and hundreds of its members have been arrested. When the seven textile unions affiliated with the United Textile Workers voted to accept the compromise proposal of a five per cent. cut and returned to work last Monday, the textile mills committee declared the strike still on and the leaders urged their members to picket the mill gates and battle the police if necessary to keep the workers out of the mills.

When the mills opened last Monday morning the police routed the textile mills committee demonstrators, making many arrests and each day has seen the textile mill committee ranks rapidly dwindle.

SMITH IS SCHEDULED FOR THREE SPEECHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Three speeches will be made by Governor Smith on his second campaign trip in his fight for the presidency on which he starts late tonight from New York.

The democratic presidential nominee at his press conference at the Biltmore hotel late today announced that he would speak at Sedalia, Mo., on Tuesday, Oct. 16 and at Chicago Saturday, Oct. 20, previously the only speech announced for the nominee's second campaign trip had been at Louisville, Ky., Saturday. All the speeches will be delivered at night.

Governor Smith, who leaves at 11 p. m., will make a ten day swing through a part of the "solid south," its border states and Illinois. He will return to Albany, Sunday, Oct. 21.

SUICIDE OF LOWELL CHAIN STORE MANAGER

LOWELL, Mass., Oct. 10—(AP)—Raphael M. Malo, 22 year old local chain store manager, who was found in the basement of his store with a bullet wound in his head on September 16 and who died after being taken to a hospital, committed suicide, according to a finding of state police officers late today. The state officials investigated the case at the instance of District Attorney Robert Y. Bushnell who acted upon the request of Malo's relatives.

Lowell police who originally handled the case declared that the wound which caused the man's death was self-inflicted and today's finding of the state officers corroborated the original report. No reason for Malo's act has ever been revealed.

Embargo On Express Matter In New York

Result of Strike of 9,000 Employes of the American Railway Express.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—George M. Harrison, grand president of the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, and a special mediator of the board of mediation at Washington are expected here tomorrow to try to settle the strike of American Railway Express employes which tied up express traffic in New York today. The strike began late last night.

L. R. Gwyn, vice-president of the company, today announced receipt of a telegram from Harrison declaring the men's action to be unauthorized and that the president had issued instructions for them to return to work immediately pending adjustment of any differences with the company.

Officials of the local union of the Brotherhood, however, said the employes had declined to obey the president's instructions. It was then learned that Mr. Harrison, who was in Cincinnati would come here tomorrow to take charge of the situation and that a mediator also would arrive.

The company estimated that 9,000 men had left their jobs. They included clerks, drivers and loaders, and the tie-up of express traffic led the company to declare an embargo on all merchandise it handled in this city, estimated at total 700 carloads a day.

Robert Morgan, vice-president of the Brotherhood, said the strike was prompted by the company's refusal to recognize rain, duly elected representatives of the employes here.

Gwyn revealed that negotiations had been in progress up to last Monday on a $5 weekly increase asked by the men, and that a meeting of company and union officials had adjourned without reaching an agreement. Gwyn thought the company had offered a compromise proposal of $1.69. He added that the next normal step would be submission of the issue to the board of mediation at Washington.

Merchandise was piling up throughout the metropolitan area all day and the company asked consignees to remove goods in their own vehicles.

"MILLIONAIRE COP" DEPOSITED MORE THAN $856,000 IN BANKS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10—(AP)—District Attorney John Monaghan, conducting the grand jury investigation of police corruption, today revealed that "Sam" Griffin, who, while a policeman, was called "the millionaire cop," had deposited more than $856,000 in banks after he retired as a "dry" raider and became a cafe proprietor.

Griffin has been examined in connection with the special grand jury's investigation that already has led to the trial of three police officers and arrest of more than thirty others.

"Some of this money represented collection," said Monaghan, "and some of it represented beer money—near and high-powered."

The district attorney's statement concerning Griffin's bank accounts came after the records of the so-called "millionaire cop's" financial operations in four institutions had been under examination by the grand jury.

He said that Griffin, who resigned from the police service, on March 22, 1926, since May of that year deposited in the four accounts, $856,594.

WINSTON CHURCHILL MEMBER LABOR UNION

LONDON, Oct. 10—(AP)—History was made in Whitehall this afternoon when Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, was solemnly received into membership in the Amalgamated Union of Building Trades Workers. The union of bricklayers and masons. His induction into organized labor took place in the dignified precincts of the treasury under direction of James Lane, mayor of Battersea, who is a divisional official of the union.

The proceedings were private but Lane later displayed the chancellor's signature to the prescribed forms, one of which declares that he has followed the trade of bricklayer although the period of his activities with the trowel was not specified. Churchill's invitation to join the union arose from the discovery that he was laying bricks at his home in Kent several weeks ago. He told Lane today that he was continuing this work and improving his craftsmanship.

TESTIMONY IN CASE OF YALE SENIORS COMPLETED

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 10—(AP)—The taking of testimony was completed today in the case of Alexander Knapp, of Baltimore, Md., and Sydney R. Prince, Jr., of Washington, Yale seniors charged with assault with intent to rob and impersonating an officer. The jury will have the case tomorrow morning.

Prominent character witnesses came to the Franklin county court to aid in the defense of the youths who declared on the stand that they were intoxicated at the time of the alleged hold-up of a Waynesboro grocer and recalled few details of the night's events. Among the witnesses called by the defense were Prof. H. A. Farr, senior class dean at Yale; Congressman John McDuffy, of the Mobile district, Alabama; Dr. M. G. Porter, of Baltimore, and Judge W. G. Brantley, of Washington, former Congressman from Georgia.

POISON ALCOHOL DEATHS IN NEW YORK PLACED AT 30

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—The federal grand jury today investigated the city's wave of poisonous alcohol deaths, now officially placed at 30.

Soon after getting the inquiry under way, United States District Attorney Charles H. Tuttle left for Washington. It was reported he had been summoned there for a conference with prohibition authorities on the situation here.

Meanwhile, Chief Medical Examiner Charles Norris announced autopsies upon 30 of the victims brought to the morgue since Saturday disclosed 25 deaths from wood alcohol and five from ethyl alcohol. Several bodies remained to be examined. Two reported alcoholic cases were found to have died from other causes.

Police continued raids on speakeasies in the lower East Side and Greenwich Village in search of the source of the poison liquor.

WATKINS HAS PLEADED GUILTY TO TWO CHARGES

Of Conspiracy to Defraud the Public Out of $141,000 and of Making False Financial Statement to the State Bank Commissioner—Maximum Penalty is 15 Years—His Wife and Two Brothers-in-Law Pleaded Guilty to Conspiracy—Judge Allyn L. Brown Will Pronounce Sentence Next Tuesday Afternoon.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 10—(AP)—The trial of Roger W. Watkins came to a sudden and unexpected close in the superior court this afternoon when the former Hartford broker pleaded guilty to the two main counts of conspiracy to defraud the public and the National Associated Investors, Inc., out of $141,000 and to making a false financial statement to the state banking commissioner.

At the same time, his wife, Mrs. Margaret E. Watkins, and his two brothers-in-law, Guy Tressler and Maynard Tressler, pleaded guilty to the charge of conspiracy. After their pleas, the quartet were remanded to the county jail by Judge Allyn L. Brown to await sentence next Tuesday afternoon. The counts to which Watkins pleaded guilty carry a maximum sentence of 15 years in state prison. The counts to which the others pleaded guilty carry a maximum sentence of five years in state prison.

The pleas came just as the state was preparing to go into the more sensational features of its case against Watkins, to bring out the names of those for whom Watkins carried secret accounts on his brokerage books, giving them the profits on stock which they had never bought. Earlier in the day the state had succeeded in showing that Gov. John H. Trumbull and Secretary of State Francis A. Pallotti had received profits of $1,100 or $1,200 each from the N. A. I.

Watkins' lawyer, William B. Egan, was asked at the introduction of that evidence and the states threat to introduce further evidence of the same kind had anything to do with the Watkins quartet pleading guilty.

"That had nothing to do with it," said Mr. Egan, who, it developed, had one of the secret accounts with his associate, Frank E. Healy. "We would have done this thing of pleading guilty before, but couldn't, because I could not afford to hide behind my clients. If I had had Watkins plead guilty at the outset, people would have said I was doing it to avoid these disclosures. Now that it is out."—Mr. Egan made a gesture of indifference and did not complete the sentence.

"What was Watkins' attitude in pleading guilty?" the lawyer was asked.

"Watkins' attitude was that he would plead guilty to the whole 26 counts rather than have his wife mixed up in the trial," answered Mr. Egan.

Mr. Egan explained the reasons for the Watkins couple and the Tressler men pleading guilty:

"We believed that the Tresslers would have to rely on their unsupported testimony to defend the case," he said, "and in that case the court would probably be justified in finding them guilty of the first count of conspiracy. From the standpoint of Mrs. Watkins we were afraid to put her through the ordeal of this trial. Because of her nervous condition we did not dare to let her take the stand. We felt the same as to the two Tressler boys.

"As to Watkins himself, the evidence introduced by the state tended to show he was in entire control of the situation. That might easily be a matter of fact for the court and I doubt if the court could come to any other conclusion than that he was guilty of the charge of conspiracy."

WARDEN OF PENITENTIARY CHARGED WITH DRUNKENNESS

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio, Oct. 10—(AP)—Herman C. Blosser, deputy warden at the state-owned brick plant at Junction City, where fire destroyed a convicts' dormitory early last Monday with the loss of nearly 20 lives, was arrested here today on the charge that he was intoxicated on the streets of Logan, Ohio, last Saturday night. Blosser surrendered after a warrant had been issued by Mayor J. P. Rochester of Logan. He characterized the action as an "unjust attempt of some one to gain notoriety as a result of the fire."

Warden P. E. Thomas of Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, who received a report from prison officials today absolving the brick plant guards of any responsibility for the loss of life, also issued a statement that he considered the arrest of Blosser an attempt to blacken his character.

"I have received no reports which would lead me to believe that Blosser was drunk at the time of the fire," said the warden.

LOUISVILLE WINS LEGION CONVENTION NEXT YEAR

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Oct. 10—(AP)—Last minute political maneuvering in the race for national commander held the attention of delegates to the national convention of the American Legion here tonight after a prolonged business session at which Louisville was chosen for the 1929 convention. Detroit and Miami, Fla., were the only other contenders.

Among the inducements for holding the convention in their city, Legion men from Louisville offered signed contracts from the hotels to furnish rooms at a maximum of $3 a day and the statement that $100,000 already has been raised toward a convention fund.

With the election of a new national commander to succeed Edward E. Spafford, retiring chief of the organization, as the principal business on the program at tomorrow's final session.

Political strategists were making intensive drives for votes tonight.

FOUND DIAMONDS VALUED AT $50,000 IN STREET IN WESTERLY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10—(AP)—Fifty thousand dollars worth of diamonds lay in the street in Westerly for nearly two hours today and nobody bothered to pick them up. The people who were looking for them couldn't find them and the people who were walking over them didn't even stoop down to look at them.

The diamonds, in the sample case of a New York jewelry salesman, were left on the curb in front of the South County Public Service Co. building. The salesman, leaving the jewelry store of A. L. Castritius, apparently loaded his automobile hurriedly and overlooked the sample case. Upon his arrival at Warwick he discovered his loss and frantic telephone calls to Westerly enlisted police aid.

Nicholas Smith, a clerk in a Westerly store found the missing case. The salesman arrived back in Westerly in a state of collapse and had to be taken to a hotel and put in bed.

REV. DR. C. A. BARBOUR PRESIDENT OF BROWN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 10—(AP)—Rev. Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, who today was elected president of Brown university, effective in June of next year, has long been prominent in church circles in Rochester.

He served for 13 years as pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist church and is now president of Rochester-Colgate Divinity school, recently formed by merger of the Colgate Divinity school with the Rochester Theological seminary.

Dr. Barbour was graduated from Brown in 1888 and was ordained three years later after completing his studies at the Rochester seminary.

He is president of the Baptist World Alliance congress and for several years was associate secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. of North America.

CURTIS TALKS OF HIGHER TARIFF FOR FARM RELIEF

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10—(AP)—Republican hopes for a higher tariff on agricultural imports and for early solution of the farm marketing problem were re-stated tonight by Senator Curtis, the party's vice-presidential nominee, in his final appearance in the northwest.

In the St. Paul auditorium where Governor Smith waged the democratic cause recently, Senator Curtis tonight warned of a "break-down in the protective tariff system" under democratic rule. He reiterated that Governor Smith had "indicated his favor" toward the Underwood tariff act of 1913 "which cost the farmers of this country billions of dollars, because it permitted foreign agricultural products to flood American markets in competition with the products of our own farm."

Senator Curtis put in the afternoon with party leaders. He was informed that "a real contest is on" in this state and he told the leaders that he was "wonderfully pleased" over the outlook as he had found it in the northwest. In fact, he predicted to newspapermen an "overwhelming republican victory in the nation" and a "break in the solid democratic south."

WOMAN KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING IN YALESVILLE

MERIDEN, Oct. 10—(AP)—Mrs. Mabel A. Hull, 45, of 272 Livingston street, New Haven, was killed, and Mrs. David Welton, Jr., 42, of 250 Livingston street, New Haven, was severely injured at 4:35 o'clock this afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding, was struck by a northbound train on Mooney's crossing in Yalesville.

Although it was not certain which woman was driving, it was believed that Mrs. Hull was the operator, as a driver's license in her name was found in the wreckage of the machine. An eye-witness said that apparently the women did not observe the approach of the train, the automobile going over the crossing slowly and nearly having cleared the rails when struck.

The automobile was thrown about 40 feet, landing side of the rails, a mass of wreckage. Mrs. Hull was killed instantly. Her companion, whose injuries do not appear to be serious, was taken to the Meriden hospital.

SLANDER SUIT AGAINST CLERGYMEAN DISMISSED

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 10—(AP)—A verdict of "no cause for action" was returned tonight in Mrs. Helen Brumley Baldwin's slander suit against the Rev. William H. Bridge. The same verdict was given for the clergyman's counter claim. The jury deliberated three and a half hours.

The suit was the outgrowth of a communication written by Mrs. Baldwin to a Boonton newspaper in which she accused nationally known persons of "playing the communistic game." Her suit was based on Mr. Bridge's reply, published in the same paper, in which he charged her with making "lying imputations."

Among the witnesses who testified at the trial which began Monday were Mrs. Lucia Ames Meads of Boston and Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, who were among those accused of communist tendencies by the plaintiff.

200 POUND DEER MANGLED WHEN IT RAN INTO AUTO

WINSTED, Conn., Oct. 10—(AP)—A menace that is becoming prevalent to automobile drivers was encountered last night by Fred Happ who was considerably surprised and bewildered when a 200 pound deer from out of the woods at Rogers corner in Pleasant Valley, ran in front of his machine and became entangled so that his life had to be taken. One of the animal's legs was broken and the deputy game warden was summoned to put it to death. The strange accident caused Happ's fender to be smashed and also broke the headlights.

COLUMBIA YOUNG MAN KILLED IN FLINT, MICH.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 10—Residents of the town of Columbia were shocked today at the news that Lawrence A. Hutchins, 20, native of the town and son of Henry B. and Cora Little Hutchins of Columbia, had met with a violent death shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday night in Flint, Michigan, where he is employed, while attempting to rescue a girl from the beastly assault of two men. Hutchins, who was on his way home from a night school conducted for the employes of the General Motors company in Flint came upon the attackers a short distance from the business section and he immediately took up the defense of the girl. The assailants turned on him and struck him several times causing him to fall heavily to the pavement and sustain a fractured skull. He was rushed to the hospital but died shortly afterwards. The two assailants were taken into custody by the police. The youth's parents were reached by telephone and account of the young man's tragic death briefly given by the Flint authorities.

Lawrence Hutchins was born in Columbia, January 31, 1908 and he received his grammar schol education in that town. About one year ago he entered the employ of the General Motors company in Flint. He was well known in both Columbia and this city and was a musician of considerable ability. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Howard Stanley of Andover and Miss Margaret E. Hutchins of Columbia and one brother, Carleton W. Hutchins of Columbia.

A warning to housewives was sounded today by the chamber of commerce against the alleged unethical practice of solicitors who are selling household articles on the strength that a percentage of the profits are to go to an orphanage. The chamber has secured definite information on the status of certain propositions using orphanages and other human appeals as backgrounds for the sales of merchandise. Two particular soliciting organizations from New York city are being warned against through out the state. These organizations are selling flavoring extracts and housewives are told that an orphanage in a New Jersey town will receive a share of the profits. A similar proposition was worked here a few months ago and checked by the chamber of commerce when salesmen from Providence, R. I., mentioned an orphanage there in making sales. The orphanage mentioned exists but was found to be a very small affair with the scope of its activities so limited that it was not listed in the Providence Community Chest fund nor was it endorsed by the Providence chamber of commerce. People who are solicited in this manner are advised to call the chamber of commerce just as soon as the salesman leaves their house so that a representative of the chamber can make a check of the proposition offered.

A positive statement is pending on the definite progress made toward securing new industries for this city and a statement will be issued within a few days, especially with regard to the proposed silk industry. A meeting of the silk manufacturers and the local committee was held here a few days ago and another conference was held in New York today. While this work is going on Secretary Earl J. Arnold was out of town today to interview officials of another concern which has been under consideration for several weeks and another representative of the chamber of commerce was in New York city to meet with still another group of manufacturing officials seeking to interest them in locating in this city.

The body of Mrs. Ida Bramble Marsh, who died at her home in Saugatuck Saturday, arrived here this afternoon for burial in the Willimantic cemetery. A committal service was conducted at the grave by Rev. Harold H. Critchlow of the Methodist church. The deceased was well known in this locality. Her husband, Everett S. Marsh, who is station agent and telegraph operator at Saugatuck previously conducted a grocery store in Mansfield Hollow.

The managers of the Gem and Strand theatres on September 7th presented a petition to the board of aldermen asking permission to open their theatres on Sunday evenings from 5:30 to 10:30 p. m., beginning October 1 and ending April 1, instead of from 6:30 to 10:30 p. m. as at present. The matter was referred to the corporation counsel who gave an opinion on the petition to the board at the meeting Monday night to the effect that the mayor of the city, selectmen or burgesses had the right to grant theatres permission to open Sundays between the hours of 2 and 10:30 p. m. These were the hours mentioned in a resolution setting October 24 as the date for a public hearing on the petition. In order to avoid any misunderstanding the theatre owners have requested that attention be called to the fact that the hours named in the petition are from 5:30 to 10:30 and not from 2 to 10:30 p. m.

Peter McArthur died at his home in Williamstown Mass., Tuesday night. He was born in Scotland, G. B., a son of Duncan and Allison McKinnon McArthur and was a former resident of this city. Besides his wife he leaves two sons, James D., of Willimantic and George F. McArthur of Eaglebridge, N. Y.; one sister, Mrs. Elsie Gillnas of Moosup and a niece, Mrs. Benjamin Larned of this city.

The inventor of a new metal window screen which will be the product o a new industry to be established here has signed an agreement and accepted the amount of money raised here for stock in the company. The first installments on pledges made by local people are now due and as soon as they are paid the new machinery will be ordered. The final location of the plant has not as yet been determined owing to a continued investigation of suitable locations by the chamber of commerce committee.

Dr. Herman P. Foehrenbach of New York city, summer resident in Windham and his son George, 18, were found guilty of charges of violation of the game laws in police court this morning and each fined ten dollars and costs. Dr. Foehrenbach who was charged with possession of two wood ducks paid an assessment of $35.84 while his son, who was charged with killing two wood ducks paid $22.77. A charge of hunting after sunset against the boy was nolled. The arrests were made by Deputy Game Warden George A. Willis of Chaplin assisted by Deputy Game Wardens John Ethridge off Eastford and Charles Fitts of Hampton.

The democratic caucus for the selection of party nominees for representatives from the town of Windham to the state legislature and to nominate ten justices of the peace will be held next Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the superior court chambers of the town building, it was announced today by Valentine L. Murphy, town committee chairman.

Mary F. McGuinness of Providence, R. I., has sold to Grace A. Sullivan of this city and Charles A. Vanderman of Hartford, a tract of land near Babcock's Pond, Westerly, bounded easterly by lands of James N. Thompson, southerly by the sea and westerly by lands of Charles H. Palmer. The transaction includes a dwelling and improvements.

In connection with Fire Prevention week now being observed in the schools of the town the fourth grade pupils of the Windham street Model school visited the Bank street fire quarters of Engine Company No. 1 this afternoon for a demonstration of the administration of the department and the use of the equipment given by Acting Fire Chief Michael J. English. The visit this afternoon was one of a series scheduled for the week.

COLCHESTER

FORTY-TWO NEW NAMES ENTERED WITH REGISTRARS

The registrars of voters were in session at the town clerk's office all day Tuesday for the purpose of receiving names of persons eligible to be made voters. Forty-two new names were entered during the day. 156 names were entered at the registrars' meeting a few weeks ago. It is expected that all of these applicants will be given the elector's oath before the coming national election and the largest vote in many years is anticipated. Both parties are working hard in an effort to get the new voters in line. It is expected that there will be several political rallies during the next few weeks.

Mrs. David Elderkin is reported as being somewhat improved from an attack of chronic appendicitis.

GAS IS STORED IN EARTH, OLD WELLLS BEING TANKS

TULSA, Okla., —(AP)—Man is storing natural gas in nature's own "tanks"—the cavities far below the earth's surface.

Gas found in the Burkbank field of Oklahoma as petroleum companies seek a richer treasure—oil—is piped to old gas wells whose supply has been exhausted. The new gas is pumped into these old wells, so the new wells whence it comes can be drilled deeper in the quest for oil and at the same time the "by product" of the oil enterprise saved.

The old wells, thus replenished, are sealed until winter, when the demand for gas in distant cities increases fivefold. The wells are then connected to pipelines as needed.

Little loss results from leakage. The pressure, ranging from 128 to 280 pounds a square inch when the wells are refilled, is reduced only about five pounds when they are opened again. A pressure of only six ounces is required for burning gas in a kitchen stove.

Nine old wells have held a half million cubic feet of gas at one time. This supply was forced by pumps back into the "sand," which is really a porous rock containing cavities like the minute air sacs in lungs.

REINDEER ARE BROUGHT TO U. S. FOR CHRISTMAS

SEATTLE, Wash., —(AP)—Santa Claus did his Christmas shopping early this year. As a result thousands of children throughout the United States will be thrilled during the holiday season by displays of real reindeer-drawn sleighs.

Some 350 of the antlered animals were brought to Seattle at the end of summer from the Kuskokwim river country in the Alaskan interior and were pastured near here to await Santa Claus' call. The herd will be distributed among all the nation's largest cities to serve as Santa Claus teams before Christmas.

The reindeer were rounded up by Eskimos and were transported on barges down the Kuskokwim river to Bethel, where they were put aboard steamers to Seattle.

Stormy weather encountered by the steamship W. M. Tupper, which left Bethel with 270 of the herd, resulted in the death of 40 animals.

17TH ANNIVERSARY OF NATIONALIST CHINA

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 10—(AP)—Nationalist China is in the midst of a three day celebration of the 17th anniversary of the overthrow of the empire. The observances began yesterday, were at their height today and will close tomorrow.

Today was the big day because it was the actual anniversary of the outbreak of the revolution of Wu Chang on October 10, 1911. It also was the first independence day in which the people have had the opportunity for venting enthusiasm.

Peking, which was the culminating prize of the Nationalist armies; Shanghai, Tientsin and other northern cities were liberally beagfiged with the Nationalist emblem. Canton, Nanking and other centers of Nationalist strength made the occasion exceptional and festivities of some sort were the rule throughout the balance of the country, although in many localities the Nationalist authority is admittedly nebulous.

The government celebration centered in Nanking where all officialdom extolled the success of the revolution and predicted great things for the future under the new state council. Chiang Kai-Shek, who has just been named head of that new council and therefore "president" of the Nationalist government, officially assumed his new post.

He pointed out that although the military campaign had ended in victory, permanent success for the Nationalist cause would depend on "a continued spirit of unity among the people of the country."

C. T. Wang, head of the ministry of foreign affairs, read messages of felicitation from President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg and also from the governments of Holland, France and Germany.

In Shanghai Nationalist banners were everywhere in evidence and military reviews and official receptions were held.

At Hankow, in striking contrast to last year, when anti-foreign feeling was rife, the celebration was marked by good fellowship between Chinese and the foreign lony.

In Manchuria, in which province the Nationalist flag has not yet been hoisted officially, there was a celebration which centered in Mukden, the capital. Chang Hsueh-Liang, governor of the province in succession to his assassinated father—the defender of Peking—led the festivities.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS AIDING CUBA CELEBRATE

HAVANA, Oct. 10—(AP)—Banishing convention business, the United States Spanish War Veterans gave up today to aiding Cuba celebrate the 60th anniversary of its "Grito De Yara," battle cry of its ten-year war. The 7,000 or more visitors to the convention participated in parades receptions and luncheons aided in dedication of the plaza at the Main memorial, and attended a field day at Camno Colombia, 14 miles west of Havana.

Tomorrow they will elect officers and name a convention city for 1929.

It was believed tonight that Denver, Colo., would be chosen for the convention next year. William L. Grayson of Savannah is slated to be elected national commander.

President Machado of Cuba devoted his entire day to help entertain the veterans of '98.

Dissolution proceedings under the anti-trust laws against an alleged radio trust composed of four of the largest electrical manufacturing companies in the country will be pressed by the Radio Protective association.

HUNTER BEATS WILLIAMS FOR REP. NOMINATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 10—There was only one contest in a harmonious republican caucus in the town hall this evening and in the contest William S. Hunter of Goodyear was nominated for representative with 125 votes over George A. Williams of Dayville, who received 18 votes. Arthur W. Williams was nominated for representative from the first district in the town. Messrs. Williams and Hunter were members of the legislature from this town in the 1927 session.

Judge Sabin S. Russell was unanimously nominated to succeed himself as judge of probate. The caucus nominated the following candidates for justices of the peace: W. Fenner Woodworth, Sabin S. Russell, E. L. Darbie, L. A. Woisard, Charles S. Francis, George W. Kent, Bernard F. Coggswell, Rev. C. A. Downs, Ray A. Whipple and Lena A. Lewis.

The caucus was called to order by Attorney E. L. Darbie, chairman of the republican town committee. Alma Forcier of Goodyear was selected as chairman and Frank T. Preston as clerk.

With the democratic caucus on Thursday night, all political nominations for the November elections will be complete in Killingly.

JUDGE TUCKER RECEIVES GIFTS ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Oct. 10—Judge James N. Tucker of East Killingly is 80 years of age. This fact is of more than passing interest to the people of the town of Killingly, where he has spent his life and where he has been publicly honored in official positions.

Monday evening on the anniversary of his birth he received congratulations from a number of callers and numerous gifts and remembrances.

Judge Tucker was for a number of years judge of the town court of Killingly and he also served until October 1, of this year for many terms as a member of the board of relief. Through the course of years he has been a member of the town school committee and has filled other public offices.

It is recalled, too, that he was at one time editor of the Windham County Transcript and its East Killingly correspondent for approaching half a century.

Perhaps no resident of the town can recall from personal records and memory as much relative to the detail of the development of Killingly during the past 60 years as Judge Tucker. He is a mine of information on Killingly affairs and has the faculty of presenting them interestingly and entertainingly. As one of the town's best known and most respected citizens, he has now on having attained four score years of life the wishes of his fellow townsmen for many more years of happiness and usefulness.

A work that will be included in the activities of the assessors this year will have to do with valuing properties formerly owned by the Connecticut Mills company, but coming into the list this year as separate parcels. The mill company was assessed on its property as a whole. During last winter and the early spring of this year the company disposed of the great majority of the dwellings it owned on Lewis boulevard, Morin avenue, Connecticut Mills avenue, North street and other thoroughfares in the section of Danielson that it developed during the past dozen years. Lists on these will be filed during this month by the present owners. Such lists will be scanned with interest by the assessors, as they now represent what might be termed "new business".

Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart of the Danielson barracks, with Captain William Jarvis of the Putnam police arrested Harold Jodoin of Putnam with a stolen car, near East Thompson, this morning, as more fully related in the Putnam news. Jodoin, it will be recalled, was arrested some months ago for another escapade, part of which transpired in this town.

Drivers of cars with defective brakes furnished more business for the Killingly town court this morning. Officers checking cars have found that numbers of drivers of machines have been negligent as to the care of brakes, and in some instances the brakes were practically valueless as to stopping a car proceeding at a good rate of speed.

Russell Danielson heads the board that has charge of publication this year of the Killonian, the Killingly high school paper. Mr. Danielson is editor-in-chief. The associate editor is Miss Gertrude Reynolds and Frances Swainson the literary editor. The news editors are Peter Berris and Mildred Pierce. The business staff is made up of Robert Grenon, Francis Hammett and Andreas Havelas. George Kesaris is in charge of boys' sport department and Miss Henrietta Thompson cares for the girls' sports department. Thomas Day is in charge of the department of humor. Mildred Pierce is the bookkeeper, Charles Creighton circulation manager and Mary Havelas typist.

This eastern Connecticut territory will not remain uncombed in a search that Rhode Island agents of Henry Ford are making for a Pope automobile of the model of 1898 and of the dos-a-dos type. It is said that a model of this car is wanted to demonstrate the fact that demountable wheels and interchangeable wheels were in use on that model of car 30 years ago and that the Ford company has not infringed patent rights of another automobile concern as is alleged in a suit. The dos-a-dos type car was one in which there was a seat for a passenger beside the driver and another seat in which two other passengers might ride, back to back with those in the front seat.

Another dam has been constructed and a pond has formed back of it on the property of the Snake Meadow club, southeast of here. The dam is across the famed Snake Meadow brook where so many trout fishermen roam on spring days. The new dam is near the southerly border of the club property and about a third of a mile below the original dam constructed by the club a few years ago. The new dam is on the site of an old one said to have been built upwards of a century ago to control water for the operation of a plant of some sort. As Snake Meadow is a state-leased brook and is regularly and heavily stocked with trout, the new pond is regarded as an asset both for the development of fine trout and the opportunity it will afford fishermen to angle for them under very interesting conditions when another season opens.

This week's meeting of the Roundabout club is to be at Dayville with Mrs. Harry Whidden.

Party workers in Killingly have completed their plans for getting applicants to be made voters to appear at the town hall building Saturday to qualify as electors. There is a long list of applications.

Miss Harriet C. Hall, a summer resident of Brooklyn, is at her Providence home for the winter season.

Henry W. Babson is leaving Friday to spend the winter, as is his custom, at Winter Haven, Fla. Today and yesterday Mr. Babson received many birthday greetings through the mails from his friends in the southland.

Friends resident here will be in Providence Thursday afternoon to attend the funeral of Benjamin Whittaker of Nasonville, Mr. Whittaker died Tuesday at St. Joseph's hospital in Providence.

Attesting the age of the organization is the announcement of the Williamsville Fire Engine company dealing with its coming 95th annual ball. Williamsville was the original name of the busy village of Goodyear, and the fire company has retained the name.

Though William S. Brown, the owner, was non-committal about the matter today, a story persists that negotiations are again underway for the sale of the Attawaugan hotel.

Deputy Game Warden Gurdon E. Withey is afield every day, observing hunters out in numbers these first days of the open season.

It was stated this afternoon that Judge Sabin S. Russell will again be without opposition in either the republican or democratic caucuses for re-nomination as judge of probate for Killingly.

Howard C. Milton of Haverstraw, N. Y., is visiting with friends in this vicinity for a few days.

Meeting in the various voting districts of the town yesterday, the registrars received numbers of applications from persons who wish to be made voters.

Portraits and Sketches of Connecticut Women will be the subject presented to the Killingly Woman's club by Mrs. Arthur W. Logee and Miss Elizabeth R. Woodworth when that organization meets on Wednesday of next week.

Peter Annis of Lewis boulevard will be presented in the town court Thursday morning to answer to charges preferred against him following a raid by state officers and seizure of beer, wine and alcohol at his home last Saturday night.

On November 6, voting in Killingly will be by districts—in Danielson, in Dayville and East Killingly. This is the rule in all presidential elections.

Cool October nights are driving the confirmed rounders to cover, and police here are again having their experiences with men willing to be arrested and sent to jail. Officers are frowning on this practice and as a general rule order such persons out of town.

Enrollment of children of school age continues in Danielson and will be completed in the near future.

STEINER CLUB, NORWICH, MEETS WITH MRS. HAYES

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Hayes entertained the Steiner club of Norwich Monday evening at Lawton Inn. Ten tables of bridge were played. The first club prize was won by Miss A. O. Mayo; second, Miss Mary E. Rogers; third, Mrs. Bernard M. Covle. The guest prizes went to Mrs. James L. Crawford, Mrs. Timothy Driscoll and Miss Nellie Mullin. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Hayes, assisted by her sister, Miss Katherine Kirby.

The first meeting of the fall season of the Lincoln club was held Monday evening in the vestry of the First Congregational church. Supper was in charge of Ray Greene and Ralph Hopkins. Rev. Mr. Richardson of Sterling spoke on vacations. Plans were made for ladies' night.

A few local people attended the 100th anniversary service at Parker Baptist church Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Barstow left Wednesday to spend a few days in Southbridge, Mass.

Sometime Monday evening two cement sign posts at the corner of Main street and Railroad avenue were knocked down, and the sign in front of Walter Kingsley's was broken off the post. Several street lights and fences were damaged.

SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT ON WIFE WITH INTENT TO KILL

WINSTED, Oct. 10—(AP)—Frank A. Jenks, of Torrington, charged with shooting his wife a month ago, changed his plea of not guilty in the criminal superior court today to guilty of assault with intent to kill. Judge Alfred C. Baldwin sentenced Jenks to a term of 12 to 15 years in the state prison at Wethersfield.

PUTNAM

SHEA AND DAVISON ARE NAMED FOR REPRESENTATIVES

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 10—Representative William P. Shea and William E. Davison were nominated on the republican ticket for representatives from Putnam at the republican caucus here this evening. Archibald Macdonald, Jr., was the chairman and Judge M. H. Geissler was named moderator and Arthur C. Keith was clerk. Following the nomination of the representatives Henry N. Benoit present judge of the probate court was nominated for re-election to the office which he has held for two years. The third purpose of the meeting was the nominating of seven justices of the peace and the following were placed on the ticket: Irving H. Miron, A. Macdonald, Jr., M. H. Geissler, Howard C. Bradford, Ernest C. Morse, Joseph J. Dupre and Arthur S. Macdonald. There were no contests, Rep. Samuel Rich withdrawing his name as candidate.

HAROLD JORDIN ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF CAR

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 10—Harold Jordin, 20, of Sawyer district, was arrested today by Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police and by Lieutenant in Command Ross V. Urquhart of the Danielson state police barracks in East Thompson, with a stolen car then in his possession.

Jordin was grilled by Lieut. Urquhart and Capt. Jarvis at the Putnam police station and admitted to the stealing of several cars that have been reported missing during the past two months, one of which was the Nash car owned by Horace Hayes of Grove street, which was taken from Church street about a month ago and a few days later was deserted on the Sawyer district road.

Jordin began his criminal career shortly after his release from the Windham County home in the Sawyer district. A number of petty offenses were proven against him by the Putnam police, which resulted in his return to the home. When released he took an automobile from a relative in Pomfret. He was arrested and found guilty of the offense and served some time in the county jail at Brooklyn.

A few months ago he was again arrested by Capt. Jarvis, in company with a young woman and was charged with rape, after an automobile ride in another stolen car, which he had abandoned in the town of Killingly. He was found guilty of the two charges in Thompson town court and was sentenced to three months in the county jail at Brooklyn. Jordin after serving his sentence left Putnam for Cambridge, Mass., where under an alias he continued his career as an automobile thief. He was arrested under the name of Joseph Dupre for the theft of a car, and was sentenced to serve time in a Cambridge jail. Shortly after his release was again under arrest in the same city for the theft of another automobile. On October 4, he was released from his term of probation and he came back to Putnam.

Since his return, three cars were reported to the state and local police as stolen. One a Massachusetts car, the other a Ford belonging to a resident in Thompson and the third a Ford truck, the property of Mrs. Susie Hazzard of Mechanicsville.

The latter was wrecked and deserted on the Killingly highway last Saturday evening and when the police learned the owner's name, she informed them she did not know the car was missing. Jordin was at once suspected, and it was found that he had slept in a barn in Thompson on the evening of the accident, and when found in the morning was a victim of several gashes and wounds, apparently received in an accident. The officers could not prove a case against him on this charge and a watch kept over him. This morning it was reported that a strange person was seen with a Massachusetts car on the East Thompson road, and the operator was acting in a suspicious manner. Capt. Jarvis and Lieut. Urquhart of Danielson went at once to the scene and found Jordin with the car in his possession. He was promptly taken into custody and after several minutes of grilling admitted all of the thefts.

He will be brought to trial on Friday morning in the Putnam police court.

MECHANICSVILLE WOMAN FOUND TO HAVE STILL

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, October 10—State Trooper Donald E. Geddes of Danielson state police barracks and Officer Joseph G. Page of the Putnam police today arrested Mrs. Susie Hazzard of Mechanicsville, one of the biggest retailers of home made liquors in this section of the state.

State Trooper Geddes and Officer Page entered the home of the woman early this afternoon and found two large 30-gallon stills in operation and a number of quarts already made. Mrs. Hazzard today was brought to the Putnam police station, where she was held without bail awaiting trial in the North Grosvernedale justice court.

"Fire Prevention" was the subject of William P. Warren's theme read today before the members of the Putnam Rotary club at their weekly luncheon held at the Putnam Inn. The document read was in keeping with the week which is being observed throughout the nation as "Fire Prevention" week.

REPUBLICANS HOLD VERY ENTHUSIASTIC PARTY RALLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Oct. 10—If a representative gathering of party members from all parts of the county and state is any indication of a campaign victory, then a republican triumph is assured in November, judging from the host of members of the G. O. P. that attended the monster rally under the auspices of the Windham County Republican club, held Tuesday evening at Putnam.

Delegations poured into Putnam for an hour before the meeting was called, most of the guests being from other cities and towns in the county besides Putnam. As the members entered the main dining room of the inn their eyes were attracted to the attractive decorations about the walls of the room in the form of the national colors, and life size portraits of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis, the party standard bearers.

The dinner was the first part of the programme and was followed by the meeting, called to order by Mrs. C. Winfield Noyes of Willimantic, president of the club. Mrs. Noyes spoke a few words of appreciation of the large gathering and thanked her guests for the vast amount of support being given during the campaign weeks. Mrs. Noyes commented upon the apparent success of the party in this county and expresses a repetition of the victories of the past to take place in November.

The first speaker of the evening, introduced by Mrs. Noyes, was John Donahue, of the State tax department. It was Mr. Donahue's first visit to Putnam and he expressed himself as well pleased with his first impression of the little city in the northeast corner of the state. Mr. Donahue explained that Miss Katherine Byrne, vice chairman of the state republican central committee had planned to have been present at the meeting, but was forced by a last minute engagement to abandon her plans of leaving Hartford for her home. Mr. Donahue in his talk brought to his audience the regrets of Putnam's only woman political leader, who is now established in the G. O. P. circles in Hartford.

The second speaker was George H. Cohen, United States assistant district attorney of Hartford, a colorful figure in the court rooms and well known to Putnam people. The subject of Mr. Cohen's address was a national platform issue, "The Tariff Question." Mr. Cohen thoroughly discussed the subject upon which he spoke, making it very clear, "because I will tear it to shreds," he said. Mr. Cohen received a large hand from his listeners as he retired to his table.

The third speaker of the evening was State Tax Commissioner William H. Blodgett, a state wide personality during the last few months of the exciting campaign. Mr. Blodgett devoted the greater part of his speech to the republican platform, delivering a general summary of the party from its birth to the present campaign.

The rally of last evening was one of the most successful and held the largest attendance of any this year, and undoubtly will see another before the sixth of November, according to word received from the party officials.

When the democrats of the town meet in caucus on next Tuesday evening, October 16, only the name of Leon A. Talbot will be presented for the nomination as candidate for representative to the legislature, it was made known today by Mr. Talbot and the members of the democratic town committee. Mr. Talbot and a few of his campaign lieutenants appeared before a representative gathering of the democratic town committee Tuesday evening, telling the committee that he had publicly announced himself a candidate for the nomination, but would refuse to accept if a running mate was nominated on the ticket with him. Mr. Talbot gave as his reasons, his feeling that the democratic hopes for a victory in the election would be blasted if a second nominee is appointed.

The members of the town committee agreed with Mr. Talbot and flatly killed the current rumors that a second man would be nominated, when they announced that only Mr. Talbot will represent the party.

Other busines taken up before the meeting consisted of the making of the final arrangements for the Democratic Al Smith rally to be held Thursday evening October 11, at the state armory on Harris street, when three of the most widely known Smith supporters in the state appear to address the prospective gathering. The feature of the evening will be an address delivered by Congressman Boylan of the Empire state and a personal friend of Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic presidential nominee.

Volumes of corn mash still continue to pour into the sewer crib at the outlet of the sewer on Park street, according to a report from the city engineer this morning. A few weeks ago, the information was given out to the press and the fact that the town distillers were pouring their surplus materials used in the manufacture of their liquors into the city sewer system was published together with the news that an investigation by officials was pending.

Superintendent of Fire Alarms Charles T. Thayer has instituted a new system in the city in regards to a daily test of the Putnam fire alarm system, which will determine whether the bells are in working order. Each evening at 7:05 o'clock, the regular test call of two strokes on the system will be struck in. This has been in effect for the past few evenings and has drawn much favorable comment from the taxpayers.

Chairman Edmund Dubois of the democratic town committee and president of the Putnam Al Smith club, was in receipt of a message of acceptance from the Rev. George Gilbert of Middletown, informing him that he would be present in Putnam, Thursday evening, to address a gathering of the members of the club which will be held at the state armory on Harris street. It was also announced late this afternoon by Mr. Dubois that Senator Citron, who is engaged to speak here this evening, will deliver a speech before a group of textile workers on Providence street this (Thursday) noon-time. The meeting will be held in the open air, the local chairman stated.

Franklin B. Christmas, a local printer, has entered a Worcester hospital to undergo treatment for a recent illness.

Twenty-seven cans of speckled trout arrived on a large van of the State department of fisheries and game this morning for distribution in the brooks of Thompson, Putnam and Pomfret. The fish were met by a delegation of sportsmen at the Putnam railroad station, headed by County Game Warden J. Fred Ash, who checked the allotments. This morning's group of trout were raised on the shores of Cape Cod and were directed to Putnam through the state board of fisheries and game. Thomas Henley of Pomfret took charge of nine cans containing 200 of the species in each can and placed them in the Quaker, Wolf Den and Barkmeadow brooks in that town, the last stream named is the circling creek at the foot of Hickey hill near the Putnam line. Samuel Rich of this city took charge of the Putnam allotment and with his deputies placed the fish in the various streams in the outskirts of the city. No definite amount of fish placed in the streams could be obtained today. The Thompson trout were distributed by George Whitney of North Grosvernedale and were released in the streams flowing through that town. The shipment of the fish received this morning is another gift of the state department of fisheries and game. When the angling season dawns in April 1929, there is little doubt but what a considerable number of the much cought after fish will be taken.

Warden Ash said today that another shipment, similar to that delivered in Putnam today, will be taken to Danielson tomorrow where they will be released by sportsmen in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Beebe of Mechanics street and Mrs. Beebe's mother, Mrs. orothy J. Bartlett were in Boston today.

Varicose Veins
Reduced Or Money Back

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is such a powerful, penetrating antiseptic oil that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you and sells lots of it.

CONNECTICUT INDUSTRY

Those who have been connected with or who have watched manufacturing activities in this state over a period of years understand what changes have taken place. They know that industries which used to flourish in this part of the country are no longer to be found. Others have decreased in number and volume of production while certain ones have found it necessary to establish branches elsewhere in order to meet the competition.

Connecticut and the New England states are just as able to produce manufactured goods as ever, but time has brought development elsewhere, time has forced factories nearer to the source of raw materials and in that change New England has suffered.

The Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut believes that there is an opportunity for manufacturers in the field of foreign trade. It is so strongly convinced of this that it has arranged for a foreign trade conference to be held at Hartford the 24th, at which there will be present Dr. Julius Klein of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and his corps of trained assistants to present the possibilities in serving foreign demands and to point out the method of overcoming the obstacles which have prevented participation in foreign trade in the past.

This is a matter which should make a strong appeal to Connecticut manufacturers, especially those who have found it impossible to operate at full capacity because those in the same business in a more central part of the country possess an advantage, and those who have sent part of their equipment elsewhere and are only running their plants on a limited scale. If there is a chance for this part of the country to engage in the business of meeting foreign requirements and get that business through mass production it is certainly something in which manufacturers should be interested.

Certainly these trade experts can be expected to have an interesting story to tell. They should be able to throw light upon a field in which interest has not been very great as long as the demands of the domestic field have kept them busy. Changing conditions call for new tactics and it is not improbable that the foreign trade conference will be able to show the way to those who are seeking such an opening. Connecticut manufacturers will probably not require a second invitation to be present.

CONNECTICUT CHESTNUTS

Hope continues that the time will come when the chestnut will be brought back and be made immune from the blight which has almost destroyed it. It is a fight that is being closely followed by the department of agriculture and the bureau of plant industry gives out information to the effect that there are sprouts in the infected region which are now of a size to produce nuts. This is referred to as a sprout here and there but it is thought "that these few will be sufficient to keep this great species of tree in existence for many years."

In this part of the country the chestnut tree has virtually disappeared, except for the bare ghosts of once noble trees. There are, however, occasional small trees, and quite often sprouts which shoot up from the stumps of trees which are making a valiant struggle for life.

From the Barstow farm in Canterbury there was brought to The Bulletin office last week several branches of a chestnut tree which appeared not only thrifty but bore burrs, which had been partially opened by the frost showing good healthy chestnuts. They resembled old times and we doubt not there are other instances where similar persistence on the part of chestnut sprouts to live can be shown.

Whether such trees can survive is a question. The experience has been that they also submit to the disease before many years. Long since have the chestnuts been given up as doomed but nothing would be more welcome to the woodland owners of New England than the means of overcoming the destructive fungus disease that has laid so many of them low.

DEMOCRATIC TINKERING

When Charles Curtis, candidate for vice president on the republican ticket, calls upon Chairman Raskob of the democratic national ticket to resign he does so because Mr. Raskob promised to do so if it could be shown that the democratic presidential nominee had endorsed the Underwood tariff bill.

The whole discussion revolves about Mr. Smith's tariff reference in his acceptance speech. At that time he said: "The democratic party does not, and under my leadership will not, advocate any sudden or drastic revolution in our economic system which will cause business upheaval and popular distress. This principal was recognized as far back as the passage of the Underwood tariff bill. Our platform reiterates it in unmistakable language."

Mr. Curtis puts emphasis on the fact that Mr. Smith intended his hearers to understand that the principle of not causing a business upheaval and popular distress was recognized in the passage of the Underwood bill, and for many others, than Mr. Curtis, it is impossible to make any other interpretation. Mr. Curtis regards that as an endorsement of the Underwood bill and that endorsement he subjects to merciless fire when he insists that that measure "robbed American farmers of almost $3,000,000,000; threw American labor out of employment; failed to protect American industry and failed to bring in sufficient revenue to run the government."

But for the opening of the World war there would have been a much worse situation as the result of that measure. It was in effect long enough to cause too much trouble and to demonstrate the mistake in adopting it. The war acted as a high tariff barrier and brought about different conditions, but the country has sufficient experience with that law to make it certain it wants nothing more like it. It wants no more democratic tariff tinkering and it cannot fail to be skeptical of democratic tariff promises when it finds the democratic presidential candidate giving endorsement to such legislation.

HUNTING FATALITIES

The hunting season has opened. Like the season of thin ice that means that fatalities can be expected and they have already made an early appearance Carelessness in the handling of firearms and shooting without making sure that the target is what it is thought to be have already resulted in the deaths of three hunters. How long the list will be before the season is over is problematical.

There are those who handle a deadly weapon, even if it is loaded, quite the same as they would a walking stick or a harmless utensil. Two New Hampshire boys brought about their own deaths by just such actions. One of them had been duck hunting and on leaving the boat grabbed hold of the barrel of the gun to pull that out after him. The result was that the trigger caught somewhere, he received the full charge in his body and death followed quickly.

A second boy displayed the same lack of appreciation of the danger of carelessness in handling his gun while on a hunting trip and almost repeated the experience of the other young man. The third death was that of a man in New Brunswick who was mistaken by a member of his hunting party for a bear. It was another case of shooting first and finding out afterwards whether it was a bear.

The cases may vary slightly but each year there are those who shoot themselves in the feet, get a charge of shot in their body or head because they treat a deadly weapon with too little respect. The discharge of many guns is easily accomplished. A twig a fence, a stone wall or the throwing of a gun when a hunter stumbles may be responsible for taking one's own life or that of a companion. Such cases are of course accidental but they could be easily avoided if there was due regard for the penalty which stands ready for collection when carelessness prevails. Such cases seem not to get the consideration which others inclined in the same direction should give to them.

CROSSING THE BORDER

It has been no secret that there have been large numbers who have come into this country illegally by being smuggled across the borders. It is not an easy thing to stop them, although many are caught. In connection with better enforcement an effort was made to place identification cards among native born Canadians in order that they might be distinguished from the natives of other countries who had gone to Canada and from there were crossing into this country.

There are many Canadians residing in Canada who are employed daily in industries in this country. Their right to cross the border was not questioned but it was desired to separate the sheep from the goats, and it was believed that better enforcement of the immigration law quotas could be accomplished in that manner.

As is often the case under such circumstances there was resentment on the part of the native Canadians and the matter was carried to the courts. The result was that the courts held that under treaty arrangements Canadians were entitled to come in as they had been coming, that is that there should not be any new requirements from them on crossing the border, and this view has been upheld by the United States supreme court in declining to review the case.

Our relations with Canada along the border have been of the best and they are not to be disturbed. The enforcement of the immigration laws will not be relaxed, but it must be carried on without the indirect aid of the identification cards which it was planned to require from the native Canadians. The courts have spoken and the decision will be respected.

MR. CHEERIO MEETS A SEERESS

"The dancer's a wonderful success!" purred Mrs. Blabiah. "Don't you think so?"

"Uh huh," responded Mr. Queerie edging away.

"Oh, and have you had your palm read?"

"My palm read!" snorted Mr. Queerie. "Those fakers ought to be—"

"But La Gitana is really wonderful" gushed Mrs. Blabiah. "Simply wonderful! She told me things that—well! And I don't know what Henry would say if he knew that we're going to cross the water this sum—"

"Ah, the pretty gentleman enters the tent of La Gitana," Mr. Queerie jumped. In escaping Mrs. Blabiah the pretty gentleman had indeed sidled into the canvas shrine of the chiromancer. Resignedly Mr. Queerie stretched out his hand.

"But it's marvelous!" exclaimed La Gitana, starting as she looked upon the palm. "The hand of Napoleon! An exact duplicate!" Mr. Queerie assumed the Napoleonic scowl, which changed to a look of anxiety as he thought of Waterloo. "Except that the life line is twice as long and I see no defeats, added the sybil, whereupon Mr. Queerie scowled more impressively than before.

"You have had many battles in reaching your eminent place in the business world. Other men would have quit, but you fought on until your genius triumphed."

"Why," thought Mr. Queerie, "it's positively uncanny how she can tell that."

"But with all your business triumphs," continued La Gitana, her eye upon a fraternal emblem he wore, "your genial disposition has endeared you to your associates, for on your life line I see a banquet and a token from brothers."

"This," thought Mr. Queerie, "is really miraculous."

"You have a powerful attraction for those of the opposite sex." Mr. Queerie straightened his tie with his free hand. "But you think only of one—yes, here I see you married her, a dark"—La Gitana noticed her subject's change of expression— " no, a fair woman."

"Astonishing," thought Mr. Queerie. " I wonder if she knows anything about the future."

"You are approaching a crisis in your business affairs," announced the oracle.

"That must be the Quill Pen Cutters' union," thought Mr. Queerie.

"But," he was reassured, "you will emerge victorious if you conduct yourself exactly as Napoleon would have done."

"I see," remarked Mr. Bobbie, as he entered Mr. Queerie's office a few days later, "you've put a bust of Napoleon on your desk. I'm especially interested in that, because I have—"

"Yes," interrupted Mr. Queerie, "I got it because my hand—"

"Because," persisted Mr. Bobbie, "I have a hand exactly like Napoleon's."

"Let's see it," said Mr. Queerie. Mr. Bobbie extended his palm.

"What gave you that idea?" demanded Mr. Queerie. "Your hand's utterly unlike mine."

"What's that got to do with it?"

"Only," explained Mr. Queerie, "that my hand is an exact duplicate of Napoleon's—except for Waterloo," he hastened to add. "La Gitana told me."

"La Gitana!" exclaimed Mr. Bobbie. "But it was La Gitana who told me my hand was Napoleon's, line for line, except for defeat."

"La Gitana?" repeated Mr. Queerie. "Did she tell you anything more?"

"Lots," said Mr. Bobbie. "She's a wizard! Told me that I'd had some tough fights getting where I was in business, that most other men would have quit. She also knew I was popular in fraternal circles, and that I could be a regular Romeo if I wanted to."

"Anything about the future?"

"Oh, yes," answered Mr. Bobbie. "She told me I was approaching a business crisis, but that all I had to do was to act like Napoleon."

Mr. Queerie pressed the buzzer for his stenographer.

"Miss Remwood," he said, indicating the bust of Napoleon, "have you any use for this plaster doodad?"

"Oh, I'd love it," answered Miss Remwood. "It will make a dandy door-top!"—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

A New Antidote For Poisoning

By Mark Lewis Emerson, M. D., Oakland, California.

Cases of poisoning generally die a horrible and agonized death, sometimes lasting several days or weeks. Fifty per cent. of the cases that came in with mercurial poisoning died in from one to twelve days during the year of 1919, at the Cincinnati General hospital. This is about the average of all cases, the fatality being about fifty per cent.

Heretofore there have been many remedies recommended for metal poisoning such as mecury or corrosive sublimate, arsenic, lead, bismuth, zinc, aluminum. Now one remedy will do the work. The antidote is very simple, being a mixture of sulphur and soda known at the drug store as sodium thio sulphate. It is practically harmless, acts very promptly and is almost a specific for any metal poisoning, providing it is used reasonably soon. It never is too late to use it if the patient is still alive, as it will do a lot of good even in advance cases of metal poisoning, especially arsenic, lead and mercury.

For instance, a patient took seven grains of bichloride of mercury. The physician was notified; on his way to the patient he stopped in at the druggist and got a box of ampules of sodium thio sulphate and injected one ampule into the patient's vein. This injection he repeated several times during the next twenty-four hours. The patient recovered very promptly.

It is also given to children who eat rough on rats and ant poisoning or any other kinds of poisoning made from arsenic. It is also given in powdered form by the mouth.

The average case of mercury poisoning is vomiting and purging considerably, so that the ideal method of giving this new remedy is by intravenous route. It acts splendidly in lead poisoning. One dose will relieve painter's colic. There are many industries that now use a great deal of lead, especially in making ethyl gas, the new anesthetic. Several men died of lead poisoning before they discovered sodium thio sulphate as an antidote. Its remarkable action is shown in arsenic poisoning even though given late. Remember it can be used in any case of metal poisoning that you may hear of.

Just because we have a new remedy for metallic poisoning does not mean that you should discard the old remedies, such as giving mustard water to cause vomiting in acute cases of poisoning. Continue to use all the old remedies until this new remedy can be supplied or while you are waiting for the physician to come. In acute metallic poisoning use lots of water to wash out the stomach, keep the patient vomiting over and over again. In one case of mercury poisoning, after washing out the stomach with five gallons of warm water there were still traces of poison to be found in the water.

Handling new lead is more poisonous than old lead because it has not become oxidized. People handling lead in any form or working with lead paint should be very careful to wash their hands frequently and especially before eating and handling food.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 — Any student of politics who can get his sights down from attempts to envisage the elements of the Hoover-Smith bout in the country at large to contemplation only of the situation "over on the Jersey shore," as the one time Broadway song hit had it, will be rewarded by a close up of puzzling complexities.

It's mighty difficult to say with certainty what the New Jerseyites are going to be voting about as the major issue in their eyes when they go to the polls in November.

Parties Mutual Problems

Two years ago a group of republican stalwarts like Mellon, Hughes and others, in dinner table fashion talked over the intra-party problems such issues as prohibition, farm relief and power development had created for republicans and democrats alike. It was a private affair and frankness was possible. Some of those present described Mr Hughes as having summed up matters finally in the statement that it would be a decade at least before the cross cleavages within each party on these questions would cease to impede the development of orderly, constructive legislative programs by whatever party was in power in Washington.

The situation in New Jersey as it looks at this distance apparently typifies what they had in mind. For in New Jersey, Senator Edge, republican, and Senator Edwards, democrat, both wringing and ringing—wets, are battling with equal vigor for their party presidential nominees. As a matter of fact, Edge can lay claim to an actual effort last year to modify the Volstead act. A bill he introduced proposed to strike out the one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol limit and substitute for it prohibition of beverages "intoxicating in fact." That is the language of the eighteenth amendment. It is also almost identical with the recommendation for modification Governor Smith pledged himself to make as president in accepting the democratic nomination. Yet Edge is for Hoover. He finds nothing in the Hoover pronouncement on modification to prevent his full support of the republican nominee.

No Wet Issue in Jersey?

One old New Jerseyite of republican faith contended to the writer that the election there was going to be "just a republican-democratic dog fight." His analysis of the prospects in November led to prediction of a Hoover plurality possibly ranging up to 200,000, although he admitted the state was overwhelmingly wet in sentiment and champing on the bit for early prohibition modification. Increased "white collar" commuter population from New York with increasing cross-river transportation facilities, the strength at one time of the Ku Klux Klan in New Jersey, the ebbing labor population in textile mill centers as these great industries open new and larger branches in North Carolina or elsewhere in the south, the importance voters in a great industrial and manufacturing state attach to tariff protection; all these things entered into this particular Jerseyman's calculations.

All of which is interesting and might be very illuminating—about Nov. 7. But if prohibition is not to be an important campaign issue in very moist New Jersey, what about farm relief in the corn belt or power legislation in the mountain states? What is this election about, anyway?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Question

Mr. Editor: A man came along the other day and asked who owned my place. He said he had a few men who were running out some lines and I might kick but it would do no good as they were working under a legislative law of 1925 and I would find upon reading same that the only thing I could do was to let them do as they wanted to and any objection taken within 60 days of the filing of their report at the town clerk's office to the superior court at my own expense and I would find the result would be the same.

So they went ahead and measured and guessed and stretched and contracted my lines until they had obtained their required points to suit, and had large trucks come and unload large six foot cement posts and tore down my walls and went inside my walls in some cases 12 feet and set their posts and in a month or so along came a blue print by registered mail showing how many feet they had gone up my lawn and taken in my syringe bush and over in my barn yard and taken three maple trees 50 years old, and gone six feet beyond the land boundaries at a 100 year elm and placed their mark then across the road into the pasture 15 feet and took a bee line across the front of my best mowing (building) lot to my next neighbor taking from the front of this lot, fronted by a face wall that has been there over 118 years, a strip from 25 feet at one end to nothing at the other, then jumping across the road again and going into another lot 8 or 10 feet way back of the deed marker, to another neighbor where they take the front off his store and continue on taking over one third of his residence that has been built over 100 years. Now all I have to do is go to the town clerk's office, for the first time, I have been to Hartford at the State library and I have been to the county clerk's in Norwich and to the records of the town of Colchester and to the records of the town of Bozrah and can find no incumbrances of this kind on my property. But never the less I have left me no true line of fence or wall in a frontage of over 4,000 feet, and in order to protest some memorandum bok of Joshua Hempstead or some other guy of over 120 years ago I must spend money to try and keep what I have had possession of and my predecessors owned for the past 100 years.

A legislature passed this law. It was evidently to the satisfaction of all the members and this is it: Section 49, Chapter 263, page 4099, 1925. "Whenever in the opinion of the highway commissioner, the boundary lines or limits of any state aid trunk line highway shall have become lost or uncertain, the highway commissioner, may cause a map or maps of such highway or trunk line to be made and re-establish such boundary line or limits as, in his judgment, the same may have been established, and, for the purpose of establishing such lines, the highway commissioner, may condemn land under the provisions of Section 35-36-37 of this act, or may make agreements with any adjoining owners of the land concerning such lines. The highway commissioner, shall by written notice to the selectmen of the town in which such highway or trunk line shall be situated and to each known adjoining proprietor on any such highway or trunk line highway, by registered mail to the last known address, give a description of such boundaries or limits as re-established and file with the town clerk of such town a copy of such map or maps which shall clearly define the line of such highway or trunk line highway and the bounds thereof, and the lines, boundaries and limits so defined by said highway commissioner, shall be the lines, boundaries and limits of such highway or trunk line highway, and all title within such lines or boundaries shall pass to the state unless changed by the superior court on appeal taken within 60 days from the date of the filing of such map or maps, by any person or town affected thereby. The highway commissioner shall mark such boundaries by a uniform and distinctive marker. The expenses, costs and fees of the highway commissioner, for legal, engineering or other services, land damage or other damage in re-establishing such boundary lines, shall be paid from the funds received from the commissioner of motor vehicles."

So you see all I have got to do is to go back and find the proof of 120 years ago take it to the superior court through a lawyer and in a few years perhaps be able to put up new walls which of course the highway commissioner will help me do.

Shall I let them have it, and ask them to take more if they need it or shall I say that you took all this land you required 120 years ago and built walls to show it and why should I be made to suffer because you did not take enough at this late date? Of course I am only one of hundreds on this line, and other sections are now having the visitors. I for one would feel better about it if they did not set the markers first and had a little preamble.

A LAND POOR FARMER.
Bozrah Oct. 10, 1928.

Hoover's Gratitude

One of the few figures in our national life I came to know was Herbert Hoover, with whom, as secretary of commerce, my business threw me into contact. On one occasion I was told this story by one of his chief assistants.

It seems that two boys were working their way through Leland Stanford university. Their funds got desperately low, and the idea came to one of them to engage Paderewski for a piano recital and devote the profits to their board and tuition. The great pianist's manager asked for a guarantee of $2000. The boys went ahead and staged the concert. They worked hard, only to find that the concert had totaled them only $1600. So, after the concert the boys sought the pianist, told him of their effort and result, and handed him the entire $1600, accompanying it with a promissory note for $400 and explaining that they would earn the amount at the earliest possible moment and send the money to him.

"No, boys," returned Paderewski, "that won't do." Then tearing up the note and returning the $1600 to the boys, he said to them: "Now, take out of this your expenses, give yourselves each 10 per cent of the balance for your work, and let me have the rest."

The years rolled by, the Great War came and went, and Paderewski was striving with might and main to feed the starving thousands of his beloved Poland. There was only one man in the world who could help Paderewski and his people. Before he could stretch forth his hand for help, thousands of tons of food began to come into Poland for distribution by the Polish Premier. After the starving were fed, Paderewski journeyed to Paris to thank Herbert Hoover for the relief sent him.

"That's all right, Mr. Paderewski," was Hoover's reply. "I knew the need was great. Besides, you don't remember it, but you helped me once when I was a student at college, and I was in a hole."—Edward W. Bok, in "Perhaps I am."

Its big roomy oven is heated on all five sides, for better baking

In order to bake evenly, an oven must be evenly heated. One of the features of Glenwood oven construction that has helped to make Glenwood baking famous is the even heating of all five sides of the oven.

In this Glenwood "C" coal range, the back of the oven is heated just as thoroughly as the top, bottom and both sides.

Insists His Discovery Opens Up Catarrh Stuffed Nostrils In Three Minutes---Sometimes Less

Advises All Catarrh Victims to Throw Away Stomach Medicines. End Loathesome Catarrh With Opex and Get Rid of Disgusting Mucous Forever.

30 Days Free Trial Says Lee & Osgood

Catarrh, one of the most loathesome of diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests, that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But Opex changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on Opex and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how Opex puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use Opex you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming through the nostrils—and it will come through no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.

The price of a bottle of Opex that will last two months is $1.00—it is easily worth one hundred dollars to any man or woman who wants clean healthy nostrils free from disgusting mucous.

Opex will end the most stubborn case of catarrh in a few days, because it soothes and heals the sore, inflamed membranes, reduces the swelling and purifies the entire nasal tract.

To make it easy for catarrh sufferers in this vicinity to secure a bottle of Opex and a specially constructed Opex atomizer, Lee and Osgood has agreed to keep a supply on hand at all times and will gladly show anyone how easy it is to get rid of disgusting catarrh at trifling cost.

Opex is for sale with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly returned. Opex is delightful to use because of its Wholesome Fragrance. The Opex Co., 11 W. 30 St., New York City.

Conn. Mother Praises Doctor

There isn't a mother living who won't agree that no half-sick child should be the subject for an experiment with medicines of uncertain merit. When your child is bilious, headachy, half-sick, feverish, restless, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy, you know that nine times out of ten it's a sign her little stomach and bowels need purging. And when you know that for over fifty years leading physicians have endorsed one preparation for this condition, there doesn't seem to be any reason for "trying" things.

Rich, fruity California Fig Syrup clears the little stomach and bowels gently, harmlessly and in a hurry. It regulates the bowels, gives tone and strength to them and to the stomach; and helps to give your child new strength, energy and vitality. Thousands of Connecticut mothers praise it. Mrs. J. McCarter, 39 Buckingham St., Hartford, says: "I'll never forget the doctor who got me to give my little girl, Doris, California Fig Syrup. Nothing else helped her bowels, which seemed to be weak. She was very nervous, run-down and bilious before I gave her Fig Syrup, but it stopped her trouble quick. I have used it with her for colds and little upset spells ever since. I consider her a Fig Syrup baby."

Insist on the genuine article. See that the carton bears the word "California." Over four million bottles used a year.

TO INVESTIGATE THE DEATH OF RUSSIAN PRINCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A man described as Prince Alexander V. Turin of Russia, died suddenly today under circumstances which led authorities to begin an investigation to determine whether he was a victim of poison alcohol, which has claimed 30 lives during the past few days.

Turin died while visiting the Riverside drive home of Mrs. Sparska Rodkoff. He was seated in a chair when he complained of feeling ill, and fell to the floor. He was dead when the ambulance surgeon arrived.

Mrs. Rodkoff told that Turin's death followed a luncheon at which he drank a cocktail and several glasses of whiskey. Dr. Charles Norris chief medical examiner, ordered the body removed to the morgue for an autopsy.

Mrs. Rodkoff told police Turin was a prince. He was said to have been the youngest colonel in the Russian army during the World war.

MEN PLAN FORMATION OF BIBLE FEDERATION

Formation of a Bible federation in eastern Connecticut was planned at a meeting held in New London Tuesday night by representatives of men's Bible classes from Willimantic, Norwich, Gales Ferry, Mystic, Poquonoc Bridge, Waterford, New London and Niantic.

The speaker of the evening was William O. Florian, president of the state federation, who gave an instructive talk on the formation of a federation, tracing its history back three years and giving some examples of the wonderful work accomplished in New Haven, Bridgeport, Hartford and other centers where men of all creeds and nationalities meet as a brotherhood class.

All delegates were enthusiastic over the idea and will report to their respective classes next Sunday and meet again at the First Baptist church in New London on Oct. 16 at 8 p. m. for the actual work of forming the organization. All churches are invited to send as many representatives as they can to this meeting.

Wednesday Mission Services

At the mission which is being held at St. Patrick's church, congregations of increasing numbers on Wednesday heard Father Mark at the 5 o'clock mass as he continued his brief sermons on The Passion, while at 7, Father Gilbert's sermon was on the third commandment. Wednesday evening, Father Gilbert gave the instruction, its theme the necessity of a firm purpose of amendment. The evening's sermon was by Father Mark, whose subject was "After Death—Judgment." The three missionaries are greatly encouraged by the number of men receiving holy communion each morning, at the masses at 5 and 7. Each evening following benediction, confessions are heard until 10:15; each morning during 5 o'clock mass and during 7 and after. In the afternoon the hours are from 4 to 5:45.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR CHANGES IN FORMER UNCAS BANK BUILDING

Work upon the remodeling of the former Uncas National bank building in Shetucket street is to begin at once, following the award of the contract Wednesday to the Peck-McWilliams company of this city as the lowest bidder. When the remodeling is completed, which the contract provides shall be within four months, the building will be occupied by the Uncas-Merchants National bank, which at present is located at 29 Shetucket street, across the street from the offices of the city gas and electric department.

Other bidders on the work were Archibald Torrance, C. Morgan Williams, P. F. Sweeney and Louis Ortman, all of this city and the General Bank and Equipment company of Boston. The plans were by this Boston company and the work will be carried out under its supervision.

Under the plans accepted the whole interior of the main floor of the building is to be torn out, including the present vaults, and the rear wall will be extended to the building line on the railroad tracks in the rear. A new vault of the latest burglar-proof construction is to be erected in the rear and to this will be attached the new modern vault door from the Merchants bank building on Main street. The bookkeeping room and the directors' room will be on the second floor, leaving the entire lower floor for banking offices and working space. The exterior of the building will remain unchanged and the cashier's office will be at the left of the entrance on the main floor. From this there will be seven teller's windows running towards the rear of the building. The customers' room and president's office are to be located in the rear and to the right of the lobby. The whole arrangement will result in greatly enlarging the bank space beyond what it was when the Uncas bank used the building.

Plumbing and wiring contracts are to be let at a later date. These will include new fixtures and a men's and ladies' room.

In order to carry out these plans it has been necessary to take over the offices on the second floor which have been occupied by Carl W. Brown and Gilbert S. Raymond, who have already removed to other locations. The law offices of Perkins & McKay, which are on the front of the second floor, have not been disturbed, however, and the third floor of the building is now rented to the B'Nai Brith lodges as headquarters for that organization.

The bank's building committee is Henry F. Powers, Charles D. Greenman and C. Morgan Williams. While the work is going on the Uncas-Merchants National bank will occupy the quarters at 29 Shetucket street.

MAINE FIRM PURCHASES ULMER COMPANY PLANT

The Ulmer Leather Co., plant on Forest street has been sold to the Van Tassell Sole and Leather Corp. of Portland, Me. The transfer of the ownership of the business was filed on Wednesday with the town clerk. The Ulmer family have conducted the business since 1895. The transfer is made by Henry F. Ulmer of this city, Johanna Ulmer Hayes of Wynnewood, Pa., and Eleanor Ulmer McLaughlin of New York. The property is subject to a mortgage of $19,300.

From 1903 Henry F. Ulmer, son of the late Frank Ulmer, has conducted the tannery until five years ago when he was forced to retire because of his health. Since that time Lloyd R. Cochran has conducted the plant as manager.

The new owners, it is said will continue operation of the plant and will specialize in the making of leather soles. Up to the time of the sale the plant has been manufacturing belts.

INSPECTED SITE FOR INN AT GOLF GROUNDS

Representatives of the Treadway Inn organization and officials of the Norwich chamber of commerce on Wednesday afternoon inspected the proposed site of the new inn to be erected at the property of the Norwich Golf club. The inspection party comprised C. M. Hart, New York, architect for the Treadway people, Joseph Peck, another representative of the Treadway organization, H. D. Larrabee, president of the Norwich chamber of commerce, William G. Park, chairman of the chamber's hotel committee, Robert W. Perkins, James Roantree, F. Russell Smith and Shepard B. Palmer.

After inspecting the proposed site from the ground, Mr. Hart climbed to the roof of the club house to view the surrounding scenery. He was greatly impressed with the scenic view and stated that he is firmly convinced that the new inn will be an unqualified success. He was especially impressed with the stretch of the Thames river which can be seen from the proposed site. He said that without doubt the inn could be built with a southern exposure for the larger part of the building and at the same time include the river view.

$100 IN FINES AGAINST MOTOR VEHICLE DRIVERS

At the Wednesday morning session of the city court 20 out of 25 automobile drivers summoned to court by the state police for violations of the motor vehicle laws were fined $5 each. The remaining five drivers received absolute nolles in their cases. Those fined were George Blum, Sigurd Anderson, Thomas Doyle, Esther Stanlin, Clarence Gwiszdowski, Clara O'Connell, Ino Rondina, Frank Becker, James Cirves, Justine Morrison, Walter J. Kopanka, Morris Sussman, Alfred Saut, Cornelia Tobin, Nelson Theroux, and Samuel Davis, all of Norwich, Jonas Schleier of Preston, Harry Wrazz of Mansfield Depot, William Hines of Baltic, William Roy of New London and Valimore I. Couture of Taftville.

After they had shown that they were were either on the way to have their lights fixed or have spare bulbs in their cars, when stopped by the state police the following were discharged: Fred Hever, Carlton J. Cripps, Ivar Anderson, Joseph Pothier and John Utterstatt of this city.

FINED FOR FAILURE TO GRANT RIGHT OF WAY

When the case against George A. Geer of Willimantic was called in the city court Wednesday morning the charge of reckless driving was changed to failure to grant the right of way. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

The accused was summoned to court by the state police after his machine became involved in an accident near the Starr farm, Sept. 29th. His machine hit a Nash sedan owned by Isabelle Booker of this city, causing damage of about $200. Geer admitted that he was to blame for the accident and that he was looking for direction signs and did not see the Booker machine until too late to stop.

Congregational Children for Convention

By train, by trolley, by auto, by truck, and on foot, hundreds of Congregational boys and girls between the ages of eight and twelve, living within reasonable traveling distance of Bridgeport, will gather in that city next Monday afternoon, for a great children's rally at 4 in the afternoon being held as an advance session of the 119th annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions which convenes October 16-18. More than 109 churches in Connecticut and New York have been invited by Miss Agnes S. Kelsey, secretary of children's work in the American board, to send delegations.

Judge Reserves Decisions

In the superior court at New London Tuesday, Judge John Richards Booth reserved decision after hearing trial of the suit of Angelo Covello of this city on a claim for a $1,500 commission from Philip J. Hendel of New London. Louis Alexander of Hartford and Morris Silverstein of Westerly, He claimed to have found Nicholas Mooney as a customer at $50,000 for the property at 86-108 Franklin street on Sept. 30, 1927.

Judge Booth also reserved decision on Wednesday on the suit of Anna P. Burdett of Detroit, Mich., against William H. Ost, administrator, which is an appeal from probate of the will of Edward A. Colby.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE HELD FOR FIVE TOWNS' SCHOOLS

A most instructive and interesting teachers' meeting and institute was held last Friday under the supervision of Edwin B. Floyd of Norwich. Teachers from the towns of Canterbury, Lisbon, Scotland, Sterling and Voluntown attended. The morning session was opened about 9.30 with a talk by Mr. Floyd in which he stressed the value of more professional reading and gave many valuable suggestions as to what to read. Mrs. Ray of Voluntown read a paper on how the normal instruction furnishes material useful in connection with the aim of making better citizens. An exhibit of books, seatwork, standard tests and posters was to be seen and a keen interest was manifested in. Attention was called to the fact that October 8-13 is Fire Prevention week, October 26 state convention and November 5-11 national education week. The present methods of teaching groups of subjects in their natural relation, training for tolerance and open-mindedness, and using lessons to help the development of pupils rather than as a task was stressed.

Miss Brown explained her work on the problem "How England became the pivot of world trade and the center of a great empire?" Miss Kimball also talked on her problem "To what extent is the United States self-supporting?" and "How much do tropical fruits aid in this?" Much valuable material may be obtained free from industrial houses by teachers to be used in many lines of school work. New report cards whereon will be reported the attitudes and habits of the pupils were discussed.

The main speaker for the morning was Miss O'Neil who spoke on "Unit Work in the Lower Grades." Many valuable ideas were given by her. She stressed that true teaching is done in a natural setting with a center of interest to work upon. Things which children do stay in their minds where mere words will not. Such unit work is valuable because, 1. the children help plan and do the work. 2 It allows for independent work. 3 It gives children an incentive to go to work. 4 It carries the interest over from day to day. Group work teaches children how to handle tools, how to care for tools and to clean up and put away tools and other materials—certainly habits worth forming.

At noon a lunch was served at a small cost, the money to be used for a motion picture machine for the new school. The seventh and eighth grade girls did the soliciting and Mrs. Philips and Mrs. Camp served with other assistants.

After the pleasant social noon hour, the afternoon was devoted to junior achievement work. Mr. Hagen, Mr. Barber and Miss Fraser worked until nearly six o'clock with interested and animated groups of teachers. Many sample of completed articles were shown and explained so that a choice of work might be made. Then the definite steps were carefully covered so that the teachers can go to their respective pupils and carry on the work effectively.

The organization fostering this work started in Massachusetts and furnishes tools and materials to schools, or other organization at a minimum cost and with the most convenient arrangements. A wide variety of activities, such as sewing, puzzle making, calendar making, placque making, wooden toy making, other wood work, metal work and leather work, was demonstrated. Such work will be most interesting and valuable to the children in developing a good quality of handwork, and these five towns are very fortunate to have the work thus organized.

FOUND ASPHYXIATED IN GAS FILLED KITCHEN

Mrs. Lillian F. Hall was found dead on the kitchen floor of her home, No. 57 Division street about 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night by her niece, Miss Lillian Boynton. Death was caused by illuminating gas from a jet on a gas stove, which was found turned on.

Miss Hall has been alone in the house after 7 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Boynton notified neighbors and Dr. Paul F. Gadie was called but Miss Hall's death had ensued before he arrived. Dr. G. H. Gildersleeve was notified and after conducting an investigation gave Undertakers Church and Allen permission to remove the body to their rooms.

Miss Hall is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Arthur C. Boynton of Norwich, Mrs. David Spence of Iowa and Miss Hattie Hall of Norwich and one brother, William Hall, also of this city.

Leaders for Hoover-Curtis Legion

A chairman for each senatorial district will form the nucleus of the Hoover-Curtis Legion for Connecticut, according to a plan announced Wednesday by Col. Charles H. Allen, chairman of the legion for this state. Each district representative will be called to a general meeting in Hartford soon to outline plans for an enrollment of voters on a statewide scale.

The object of the Hoover-Curtis Legion is to secure membership at $1 each for the advancement of the candidacies of the republican national nominees.

Took Window Guessing Prize

Miss Gertrude Galligan of 452 Main street, won the prize in connection with the recent fall opening window contest. Miss Galligan guessed nine out of twelve window prize winners. Miss Jessie C. Breckenridge of 46 Thirteenth street, received honorable mention by guessing eight out of twelve prize windows.

CONTRACT AWARDED ON FRANKLIN SQUARE BUILDING

The contract for the erection of a new building on Franklin square, two stories on the front and one story at the rear, for the Metropolitan Chain stores of New York, has been awarded to P. F. Sweeney on his bid of $33,885. This does not include plumbing, heating and electrical work.

Three other bidders were Archibald Torrance, William S. Spencer and the Peck-McWilliams company. The building will occupy the site of the former Stead building, which has now been torn down, and will also take in part of the site formerly used by the Wauregan hotel in the rear of the grill room.

According to specifications by Chandler and Palmer, the plan of the building is as follows:

The new building is to be 50 feet wide, with a depth of 120 feet. The front portion of the building on Main street will be two stories in height, while the rear will only be one story in height. A large basement will cover the whole area. Access for supplies will be in the rear through the alley-way between the Thayer building and the McGrory building, which will be used in common with the Wauregan hotel.

The basement is to be used for storage of supplies and is to be divided into small compartments and stalls in which will be placed materials to be sold in the store above. The basement floor will be of concrete with a specially hardened dust-proof surface.

Boiler room is to be about mid-way between the front and rear of the store. A new chimney will be built on the easterly side of the building to take care of the boiler.

Besides the storage space, a large rest room will be built for employes, which will be located in the front portion of the basement. Access to and from the basement will be by two separate flights of stairs.

The floor level of the store is to match the sidewalk, thus obviating the need of steps. The main doors will be on the Main street side, between which large glass show windows will be specially built.

The second floor front of the building will be carried on four columns so that the lower floor will be all glass. On the left side of the building near the front will be built a luncheonette which will be equipped in a most modern up-to-date fashion. On the right will be located a stairway to offices above on the second floor. There is to be six offices on the second floor which will be leased out.

The main floor will be laid out in counters for different commodities with special radiators located under the counters. Wood panelling about seven feet high will decorate the store on all sides, except the front on the main floor. Above this panel work will be a wall of white hard plaster, with metal ceiling.

The front of the building will be all glass except columns on side and the base course along the sidewalk will be a moose-a-beck polish granite.

A mammoth sign, Metropolitan Chain Stores, Inc., will extend across the whole of the front of the building. The sign will be 50 feet long by 30 inches in height. Above this will be buff brick with limestone trimmings.

The floor to the entrance of the three doors will be laid up in four-inch red quarry tile. A new granite side-walk will be built the entire front of the store.

SHOESTRING DISTRICT WILL NOMINATE STATE SENATOR

A republican candidate for the state senate from the 20th shoestring district, comprising 16 towns of New London county, will be named at the senatorial district convention which will be held at the county court house in this city next Monday at noontime.

Senator J. James Floyd of Waterford, who represented the district in the upper house of the general assembly at the 1927 session, has declined to seek renomination and it is expected that Mason M. Manning, who represented the town of Stonington in the lower house in 1923, 1925 and 1927, will obtain the senatorial nomination.

SCHULER LEADS OFF IN WEST SIDE PINOCHLE

The West Side Pinochle club opened its first series of the fall and winter season Wednesday evening, Conrad Schuler making high score, 7,720, for the evening. Dr. N. B. Lewis is in second place with a score of 7,225. The scores:

FUNERALS

Mrs. George Fraser

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mrs. George Fraser which was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at her home, No. 71 Lafayette street. There was a wealth of very beautiful floral tributes. Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong, rector of Christ Episcopal church, conducted the service and the burial was in Maplewood cemetery. Rev. Mr. Budlong conducting the service at the grave. The bearers were Geore Durr, Edward Hindle, Hermon J. Gibbs, Martin Durr, Charles B. Harvey and Charles Dow. Undertaker C. A. Gager had charge of the funeral arrangements.

WEDDING

Jarvis- Phillips

Aubrey W. Jarvis of 18 Clairemont avenue and Mrs. Bessie Phillips of 94 Laurel Hill avenue were united in marriage in this city on Monday by Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Jarvis has been a resident of this city for many years and had held the office of cemetery superintendent for several years until the change in the political complexion of the city government in the June election.

Rostovtzeff to Lecture in New London

Michael Rostovtzeff, member of the French Academy; professor of ancient history in Yale university; distinguished archaeologist and but just returned from the conduct of an archaeological expedition to the banks of the Euphrates, an expedition under the joint auspices of Yale university and the French academy, will deliver a public lecture, free of charge, at Connecticut college on Saturday, October 13th, at 3 p. m. In his lecture this eminent historian and archaeologist will present for the first time in America, the results of the expedition just finished, and if the slides illustrating the recent excavations arrive from Europe in time, they will be shown. There is good reason to expect that the slides will be here.

This lecture is given as a part of the program of the Connecticut branch of the New England Classical association, which is meeting at Connecticut college this week.

Painting Griswold Hotel

Forty painters have started work on painting the outside of the Griswold hotel at Eastern Point. The work is expected to take several months. The exterior of the hotel has not been painted for nine years.

GROTON FISHERIES PLANT IS TREBLING CAPACITY

Production of more than 1,000,000 pounds of filet of haddock each week will be the aim of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries corporation plant in Groton within two weeks, it was announced Tuesday by Manager L. F. Kedzie.

With the addition of another plate freezer in the plant within the next ten days the facilities for output will be increased another 50,000 pounds a day, which will bring the facilities for output up to 175,000 pounds of fish a day, or 1,050,000 pounds a week.

With the new equipment which has been installed in the plant during the past two months the facilities for producing filet of haddock have practically trebled since the plant was opened a year ago.

Gov. Trumbull Will Broadcast.

The advantages and resources of Connecticut will be broadcast to millions of people throughout the central west by Governor John H. Trumbull between 7.25 and 8 o'clock on the evening of Saturday, November 17 over Station WMAQ operated by the Chicago Daily News. Governor Trumbull's address will be over 3,000 words in length.

In connection with Governor Trumbull's address the Chicago Daily News will issue a special rotogravure section containing a wide assortment of photographs of Connecticut.

Station WMAQ broadcasts on a wave length of 670 kilocycles. The Connecticut program will go on the air at 8.25 (eastern standard time).

Drying Wood Caught Fire

Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft and Squad A, responded to a telephone call about 10:45 o'clock Wednesday night from the Wauregan hotel. A quantity of wood which had been drying under the oven in the hotel bakery had caught fire and smoked considerably. Employes of the hotel extinguished the fire and sent in the call to the fire department in order to make certain there was no further danger.

Woman Fainted in Bargain Rush

During a jam early Wednesday morning at a sale at the Woolworth store on Main street, a woman whose name was not learned fainted. She was one of many trying to enter the store and was jostled and jammed which caused the fainting spell. The woman was quickly revived in the open air and within a few minutes was back in the crowd of bargain seekers.

Will Re-Build Amston Store

The grain store at Amston which was destroyed by fire last spring is to be rebuilt.

Guadeloupe

What few possessions France still retains in the New World were nearly blown away when the West Indian hurricane struck the Lesser Antilles.

The storm broke first and worst on Guadeloupe, according to dispatches. French Martinque, the adjacent home of wicked old Mt. Pelee volcano, also suffered, but Guadeloupe, largest of all the Lesser Antilles, has been laid waste.

To the visitor coming ashore at Point a Pitre, the commercial capital of Guadeloupe, does not look like a town prepared for the worst.

"But it always is," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters in Washington, D. C. "Point a Pitre is prepared, and Basse Terre, the capital, and all Guadeloupe is prepared for hurricanes, earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. Its preparedness is to be seen principally in the construction of its houses. Suburbs of Point a Pitre have been laid flat, say the reports, which thus give more morry to the outside world, probably, than to the Guadeloupians. Frequent experience with hurricanes has taught them to build with light wood. Let the wind blow their houses down. This type of house can be built quickly and cheaply.

"Guadeloupe with its nearby islands, Marie Galante named for a Spanish flagship; Desirade, named because it was the desired island sighted by Columbus; and the Saints, comprise an area half as large as our smallest state, Rhode Island. All year around the 220,000 natives enjoy the perfetcion of a tropical sea climate; all the year except when ahurricane bursts out of the east.

"Two shipping lines connect Guadeloupe to France The island people are proud of France. They copy her sidewalk cafes and her food; they cling to a French patios; three thousand of them marched to Moscow with Napoleon; and many of them served under the Tri-color in the World war.

"By travelers, however, Guadeloupe is remembered chiefly for her porteuses, her swizzles, and for obeah.

"Observers have tried in vain to account by racial origins for the splendid figures and poise of the women porters, or porteuses, of Guadeloupe. African blood is dominant in the islands but from what slaves came these tall, brown-skinned, well-built women who use their heads so skilfully? One meets them in the morning on the roads coming into Point a Pitre, each with a basket of produce balanced on her head. Dressed in voluminous skirts of brilliant plaid calicos, the porteuse strides by carrying a hundred pounds aloft as easily as an American woman carries a pocketbook.

"The swizzle is a drink made of ingredients produced by the islands —Guadeloupe rum added to crushed limes, ice and alittle syrup. The concoction is whipped into a froth and sipped at the end of each sentence daringa leisurely conversation.

"Obeah, on the other hand, is something that does not exist. Almost no one can be found who wil ladmit he believes in it, yet many do. Obeah is a charm; it is black magic, allied to the practices of voodoo worship. In the past sudden and unaccountable deaths have been charged to the ibeah 'doctors' so the government and the church authorities have tried strenuously to eliminate this pagan custom brought from Africa. Advice sometimes is given to strangers that in a crisis they can escape any difficulties with the natives by shouting an obeah curse which will make them scatter like chaff in a hurricane."

Jack Boyer hooked a bass that was all of eighteen inches long at Mendota, Cal. He brought it to the surface, the line strained and the pole bent with the thrill that only a fisherman can understand. Then the fish wiggled from the hook, the taut line swished and the barbed hook landed firmly in Boyer's nose.

Since the world war there has been an acute shortage of pack animals in Albania, while the number of women has almost doubled. The result is that while a good pony or donkey costs as high as $150 the native Albanian finds he can buy a young wife for as little as $25. In some cases he can acquire a epouse for a few sacks of potatoes or five or six bushels of corn.

The park commissioners of Seattle, Wash., harried by an earwig invasion, bought 7,000 toads and scattered them over the acres of Volunteer park. The board then congratulated itself that the problem had been solved and sat back contentedly for the toads to grow big, strong and rapacious. About a dozen of them did. The rest have gone head first down the gullets of sea gulls.

YANKEES MAKE MERRY ON HOMEWARD TRIP AFTER WINNING CHAMPIONSHIP

(By J. Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

EN ROUTE with Yankee Special, Albany, N. Y., Oct. 10—(AP)—No conquering hero in sport ever was accorded more noisy or sustained acclaim than was Babe Ruth today as the special train bearing the world's champion Yankees sped in triumphant style from the conquest of St. Louis.

Baseball's greatest showman and most colossal clouter basked in the spotlight of his latest achievements with all the characteristically boyish enthusiasm that was shown by the crowds of youngsters that scrambled at various stops to cheer him. Until late at night, after repartura from St. Louis, persons gathered at stations in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio in the hopes of getting at least a fleeting glimpse of Ruth and his mates.

Today, hundreds of schoolboys and girls clustered about the special train in the Buffalo yards during a half hour stop, yelling wildly for Ruth as well as his hitting mate, Lou Gehrig. The demonstration was repeated at Syracuse, Schenectady and Albany. These Yankees, who defy all laws of baseball averages, all precedent and all figuring against them, are returning home like a lot of kids who have been out on a lark or a high school football game. It may be the secret of a good share of their success.

It is a question in Babe Ruth's mind whether he got his biggest "kick" out of hitting his third home run in the final game, off Alexander, an old nemesis, or out of his great running catch of Frisch's foul for the final out.

"I wanted to belt another one to show up those birds who were tossing pop bottles and giving me the razz out there in left field," said the Babe. "But, boy, I liked that catch. Wasn't that a dandy?"

The attitude of the Yankees, with their sixth pennant in eight years, their third world's championship victory and a record of eight successive series triumphs behind them, is "watch us next year." They are already talking about taking their fourth pennant in a row, to set an American league record and equal the mark of the Giants in the National.

There are certainly few signs that they are slowing up. Ruth was given up as "through" three years ago when he developed his famous case of indigestion. Two seasons later he set a new record of sixty home runs.

Late this season he was again crippled and pictured as being on the chutes. If so, the Cardinals haven't heard about it.

The Babe is 34 now. Next season will be his sixteenth in the majors. He believes he can carry his 225 lbs. or more through at least five more campaigns. He was signed for three years at $70,000 per annum on a contract that has one more season to run. The astute Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, is convinced it was no mistake.

The satisfaction of owning the first team to win two successive world's series without a defeat or even a tie appears to offset any annoyance Colonel Ruppert may have at the consequent loss in game receipts this sort involves. In fact Colonel Ruppert smiles at the thought of refunding approximately $160,000 to customers who bought tickets for a sixth game at the Yankee stadiupm. The Cardinals must turn back around $125,000, representing the reserved seat sale for the fifth scheduled game.

If the four straight scored by the Yankees over the Pirates last year was accepted as convincing evidence of baseball's honesty, the duplication of this performance, depriving the clubs and leagues of any appreciable profit, must end any debate whatever on the subject.

It will be a long time, however, before the experts cease debating that quick pitch of Willie Sherdel's on Ruth in the fatal seventh inning of the last game or before they quit seeking an explanation for the Cardinal rout.

The simplest explanation is that the big bats of Ruth and Gehrig beat the National leaguers but it doesn't explain why the Cardinals themselves were so weak in nearly all departments of play.

"Phychology beat them" in the opinion of John Heydler, the National league's chief executive, who believes they went into the series too confident and failed to recover from the shock of defeat in the opening game.

"The Cardinals had heard about the Yankees in such bad shape and about themselves being such favorites, that they were unprepared for what happened, mentally," Mr. Heydler said in St. Louis. "It seemed to me this hurt their confidence and that they failed to recover it, especially after seeing the pitcher they had counted on so heavily, Alexander, knocked from the box."

ACADEMY HARRIERS GET INTO ACTION SATURDAY

The Academy cross-country squad will open its season Saturday afternoon at the campus, running Chapman Tech of New London between the halves of the Academy-Coast Guard Jr. Varsity football tilt.

The schedule as announced last night, lists four runs with one more pending for the first team while although no schedule was given out, the second team will also have a few meets.

The schedule follows:

Saturday, Oct. 13—Chapman Tech here.

Friday, Oct. 26—Westerly there.

Thursday, Nov. 1—Bulkeley there.

Monday, Nov. 12—League meet at Stonington.

Thursday, Nov. 18—Bacon Academy here, (Pending).

About 20 candidates have been working out for the past month under Coach Matthew J. Sheridan with four veterans, Navick, Lyons, Robinson and Peck in action. Weisgraber, who was elected captain broke his foot last winter and has been forced to withdraw from the season's work.

Among the second team meets in mind is one with Bulkeley, age old rival of the Wildcat to be staged here during the next two weeks.

SCRUB TEAMS SCORE HEAVILY AGAINST VARSITY

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—When the upset season in football really got under was the big teams don't have to await until Saturday to get a taste of narrow escapes. If today's scrimmages had been regularly scheduled contests, Harvard, Syracuse and Pennsylvania would be licking the wounds inflicted by their supposedly weak rivals.

After the Crimson varsity had rolled up a 19 to 0 lead over the freshmen, the yearling players found a weakness in the first string line and let loose a line battering and forward passing attack that tied the score before the regulars were aware of the danger. It required an hour and 40 minutes of play before the varsity players came out ahead by a 26 to 19 count.

Equipped with the formations used by Nebraska, their opponent of Oct. 20, the Syracuse freshman again took the measure of the varsity. Coach Andrews made a number of changes in the first team's lineup but the players were unable to solve the Nebraska style and the frosh scored two touchdowns.

Penn took on Villanova for a 30 minute scrimmage session and could gain no better than a tie. Each team scored two touchdowns. Villanova made the only sustained march of the day, going through the Red and Blue team for a touchdown. Their first counter came on two forward passes. Penn evened the count against the main liners with a successful pass and an intercepted one.

While these three were in difficulty, other major eastern teams were running wild in their mid-week scrimmages. Against stiffer opposition than the Omelettes had offered previously, the Princeton varsity scored four touchtowns in short order. The Pittsburgh varsity also had little trouble with the freshmen. Williams and Parkinson making big gains through the line.

At Cornell, Coach Gilmour Doble still is experimenting with his lineup, trying several new men today, but the indications are that he will stand pat on the team he used last week when the Red faces Hampden-Sidney Saturday. The Lehigh squad again was shaken up before a hard scrimmage to develop a wining team to meet Gettysburg. Nearly the entire first string line was sent to the second squad and the varsity backfield, weakened by injuries, was rearranged.

Penn State, Army and Dartmouth had lighter workouts after hard drills early in the week while Mal Stevens at Yale was forced to call off a scheduled scrimmage because most of his first string players were in the hospital. Only Charlesworth of the Yale first team reported for practice while 12 members of the first squad were out with colds or minor injuries. The Nittany Lions worked on their defensive game in a light scrimmage. Jess Hawley called off scrimmage to give the Green team a drill on fundamentals. The Cadets practiced their aerial offense and defense that played such a big part in last Saturday's game with Southern Methodist.

GOV. SMITH WELCOMES RETURNING CHAMPIONS

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—The world's champion New York Yankees returned to their home baliwick tonight from St. Louis to receive a roaring reception as well as a greeting from Governor Smith.

Through a cheering crowd of fully 3,000 persons in and around Grand Central station, where their special train arrived shortly after 9 o'clock, the team, led by Babe Ruth, Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Manager Miller Huggins, was taken directly to the governor's suite in the Hotel Biltmore.

Ruth, beaming as his 225 pounds towered above the governor, was the first to greet the presidential nominee.

"Congratulations on those hits," said Gov. Smith as he grasped the big fellow's hand, while holding collar and tie in his left.

"If I could count on as many votes as you have kids yelling for you, I'd be sure I'm going to be elected," continued the governor.

"You've got mine, anyway," responded Ruth.

Gov. Smith turned to shake hands with Col. Ruppert and Manager Huggins, congratulating them both and then introducing them to Mrs. Smith, as well as other members of the party that was preparing to leave shortly afterwards on the nominee's southern trip.

Gov. Smith finished putting on his collar and tying his tie, chatting meanwhile with Ruth.

"Say, did you hear about the place that wouldn't let the baseball returns of the world's series be announced on Sunday?" the governor asked Ruth.

The Babe looked amazed and the governor added:

"Well, I'd like to see that place. It must be a hot one."

Gov. Smith posed with Ruth and other players for the photographers.

The home-town reception to the Yankees was the noisiest they have ever received in any of their triumphal returns to the city from baseball wars. The team that even most of the experts here had expected to be defeated had come back as conquering heroes.

Ruth and Lou Gehrig, as was the case all along the route of the trip back from the Missouri city, were singled out for particular ovations.

"Oh, you Babe!" shouted the crowd at the station, pushing forward to get through a special cordon of police and grasp Ruth's hand as he was hustled out the corridor and into the hotel.

In addition to thousands in the station, others crowded the lobby of the Biltmore hotel, even though they were only able to get a fleeting glimpse of the Bambino or his mates.

Princeton Swimming Coach Named

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 10—(AP)—The appointment of Howard Stepp of New Haven, Conn., as varsity swimming coach for three years was announced by the Princeton University Athletic union.

Stepp has had five years of coaching experience as assistant to Bob Kiphuth at Yale. He was loaned to Princeton by the Yale authorities last spring after the resignation of Frank Sullivan, former varsity coach, and coached the Princeton team until the end of the season.

As a school boy in New Haven, Stepp won the New England championship in the sprints and diving in 1923.

Boston College Has Stiff Drill

BOSTON, Oct. 10—(AP)—Joe McKenney's Boston college football team hampered by the absence of only one regular, did its last hard work today before the game with Duke university here, Friday. Scrimmage with the second team, using forward passes plentifully, and the usual drills on fundamentals and signals comprised the day's practice.

SCHWARTZ BEING GROOMED FOR CENTER AGAINST MAINE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Oct. 10.—Defensive formations by the first team in the Connecticut Aggie practice scrimmage this afternoon in an effort to stop the Nutmeg eleven to a scoreless tie last season in that department when it met Maine university this year at Orono. The game will be the second contest on the Aggie schedule and one of the objectives of the season. Last year the Blue and White lost at Storrs by the margin of one point, the final score being 14-13.

No serious injuries were received in the Wesleyan game held last Saturday excepting a few minor cases that will keep several men from active scrimmage this week. Captain Andrew Sayers of Hartford and regular tackle for the past three seasons received a sprained back and Coach Dole is using Moe Levson of Middletown in the right tackle position. Levson is a sophomore and regular on last year's yearling eleven but a broken nose received earlier in the season of practice drills placed him on the injured list and retarded his chances for a berth on the team. He recovered, however, in time to see action last Saturday and his showing gave him the first call to fill Captain Sayers' shoes. It is very probable that the Middletown lad will start against Maine Saturday if the injury to Sayers does not respond to treatment. William Knaut of New Haven and now playing regular center on the team received a minor injury to his hand that brought back an earlier damage and made it necessary to refrain from too active scrimmage this week. In the Wesleyan contest, Frederick Schwartz of Norwich, a sophomore, was given the call to take Knaut's place as pivot man on the line. Schwartz, who has a natural ability as a center, showed up well and is being used by Coach Dole this week in the varsity line.

LACOSTE IN AMERICA BUT ON BUSINESS TRIP

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Rene LaCoste has arrived here from France on a two months' business trip. LaCoste ranked with his countryman, Henri Cochet, at the head of the world's amateur tennis players. He doesn't expect to touch a tennis racket while here. His visit to the United States is in the interest of a well-known foreign automobile company of which his father is president.

He intends to be in New York for most of the two months although he probably will go to Detroit to look over motor manufacturing plants there.

A reunion with his fellow French tennis players—Cochet, Rene de Buzelet, Christian Boussus and Pierre Landry—is to take place tomorrow when Henri, recent winner of the American championship and successor to LaCoste as captain, leads the French team back from the coast where they have been playing. Arriving here tomorrow the players are to sail for home on Friday.

This is LaCoste's first visit to this country since he and his mates won the Davis cup at Philadelphia a little more than a year ago. That was his goal and since then he has been tapering off on his tennis, having failed to defend his American championship last month on the plea of being too busy.

U. S. WOMEN WIN FROM CANADIANS IN FIRST MATCH

RYE, N. Y., Oct. 10—(AP)—The United States team of women senior golfers triumphed in the first international match with the players from Canada, by 35 to 4, over the Westchester-Biltmore course today.

In the 12 matches, all but three of the United States representatives won all three points of their individual matches. Mrs. F. E. Dubois, U. S. senior titleholder; Miss Georgianna Bishop, of Brooklawn; Mrs. Ronald Barlow, Merion, Pa.; Mrs. G. W. Roope, former U. S. senior champion; Mrs. S. S. Laird, Jr., of Westchester-Biltmore; Mrs. S. E. Bentley, Brae Burn; Mrs. Charles Downey, Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. J. C. Barclay, Hackensack; Mrs. E. W. Stifel, Wheeling, W. Va.; Mrs. M. D. Patterson, Westchester-Biltmore all won three points.

Mrs. Barlow's 85 was the best score of the day, Miss Bishop and Mrs. Roope were 89 and Mrs. Downey, 90.

Lady Ball, of Toronto, captured two points for her team from Mrs. Richard Payson, of Portland, Me.

Other Dominion point scores were Mrs. J. N. Laing, Mount Bruno, and Mrs. Albert Brown, Toronto, each winning one point.

CORBETT INJURES HAND IN TRAINING TIGER SILVIA TO MEET PAUL TONIGHT

TONIGHT'S CARD TWO STAR BOUTS 8 Rounds Each

Tiger Silvia of Fall vs
Eddie Paul of New London
Sheik Leonard of Norwich vs.
Bernie McQuade of Worcester

Two Six-Round Bouts

Young Belizzi of Bridgeport vs.
Battling Eurk of Westerly
Rene Lubear of New Haven vs.
Max Maravetch of Meriden

Two Four-Round Bouts

Vic Darr of Norwich vs.
Jimmy Debs of Worcester
Babe Janis of New London vs.
Johnny Ryan of the Coast Guard

It will be noticed on the above card that there has been a shift in the main bout and that Tiger Silvia is booked to fight Eddie Paul of New London in place of Eddie Corbett of Bridgeport as first planned. The reason for this change is that Corbett reported in Norwich Wednesday afternoon with an injured hand received in training for the bout. Corbett has a sprained thumb and came to Norwich so that the local deputy and doctor of the state athletic commission might examine him. It can be seen that through no fault of the matchmaker or promoter it has been necessary to change the main bout.

Matchmaker Fakourey went to Providence last night and secured Tiger Silvia as an opponent for Eddie Paul. The selection of Silvia to box here was a happy choice as Silvia is equally as popular as Corbett and promises that there will be plenty of action. Silvia is no stranger to Norwich and New London boxing fans as he has fought at the New London arena twice this season. Although he lost both decisions he put up a whole of a battle and it was no fault of his that he lost to George Day. He lustfully deserved the verdict as he without a shadow of a doubt whipped Day from start to finish and how Day got the verdict has been a mystery to local fans. In his bout with Steve Smith the Bridgeport boy gained the verdict by a narrowest of margins, and the decision was not so popular with the crush customers. Silvia only last week knocked Rubber Tommy in a bout in Providence. Silvia is in prime shape for the bout this week. Taken all in all the fans will see just as good a bout as though Corbett was the opponent of Paul. Corbett will attend tonight's bouts to show that he had every intention of going through with the bout but for the unfortunate accident.

The other star bout brings together Norwich's own little scrapper, Sheik Leonard, and Bernie McQuade of Worcester in an eight-rounder. The Sheik is just starting on the comeback trail and for his first bout he has been matched with one of the toughest boys in the Bay State, one which wants to see the Sheik come through with a win but it is the general opinion that the blond boy is in for a tough half hour. However this does not mean a thing to Leonard. He takes them as they come and says nothing regardless of the outcome. The crowd when Sheik steps into a ring there is always something doing. The fans cheer back and enjoy a real slugging match. The Sheik never known to put a player and he always gives his best regardless of how good his opponent is. This bout will be as good as the main bout if not better.

Because Jimmy Clinch, the protege of Kid Kaplan was stationed in the second round of a bout over in the western part of the state Tuesday night he has been crossed off the card. This is done to give the fans a bout for their money. To take Clinch's place Battling Eurk of Westerly has been secured to box Young Charlie Belizzi of Bridgeport, former Norwich lad. Eurk is in good shape having just completed training for a bout that was supposed to have been held in Westerly this week but was called off.

The Rene Lubear-Maravetch bout is the other six-rounder and should prove a real appetizer for the two main bouts as both boys are fast and hard punching lads.

Vic Darr of Norwich, the local lightweight favorite, is up against the hardest battle of his pugilistic career tonight when he swaps punches with Jimmy Debs of Worcester. Debs is the best lightweight in Worcester and if Darr loses it will be no disgrace as he is going against a boy with plenty of experience in the professionals while the local boy is fighting his third bout as a pro.

Babe Janis and Johnny Ryan, both New London boys, one with the Coast Guards and the other from Joe Connelly's stable, furnish the action in the curtain raiser. Janis was always popular with the Norwich fans and many will turn out just to see him perform once more.

MASS. WOMEN GOLFERS RETAIN KITTREDGE CUP

HARTFORD, Oct. 10—(AP)—Massachusetts women golfers kept possession of the Kittredge cup today by defeating Connecticut, six points to three, in the annual interstate matches at the Country club, of Farmington.

The Massachusetts women not only won the team match, but they carried off most of the medal golf prizes. Seven of the first ten low gross scores for 36 holes were made by members of the Massachusetts delegation.

Mrs. Baker, in the course of putting together her 85 today, beat Mrs. H. A. Martelle, of Hartford, in the number one position, 3 up and 2 to play. Connecticut's only points came when Mrs. M. J. Lawlor of Waterbury, beat Miss Edith Stevens, of Boston, 5 and 4, when Miss Elizabeth Skinner, of Long Meadow beat Mrs. R. M. Gardiner, of Weston, 6 and 5, and when Mrs. Ross McCain, of Hartford, beat Mrs. Stevens, of Boston, one up.

Those besides Mrs. Baker who won matches for Massachusetts were: Miss Martha Brewer, of Weston, who defeated Mrs. G. L. Austin, of Hartford, one up; Mrs. R. M. Batchelder, of Brae Burn, who beat Mrs. Thomas Hacknall, of Ridgewood, two and one; Mrs. J. B. Woodin, of Brae Burn, who disposed of Mrs. W. G. Reycroft, Brooklawn, 3 and 1; Mrs. W. C. Guinzy, Brookline, who beat Mrs. R. S. Tenn, New Haven, 5 and 4, and Miss Harriet Ellison, of Brae Burn, who beat Mrs. A. R. Ellis, of Hartford, 5 and 4.

Hawley to Travel by Plane

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 10—(AP)—Jess Hawley, head coach of the Dartmouth college football squad, and Harry R. Henage, supervisor of athletics at Dartmouth, will travel to Chicago by airplane for Dartmouth's game with Northwestern November 24. They announced today that they had accepted an invitation of H. C. Davis, a Dartmouth graduate, and donor of the Davis field house to make a flight with him.

YALE TEAM BADLY WRECKED BY SICKNESS

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 10—(AP)—Yale is facing a varsity eleven shortage for the Georgia clash, due on Saturday, owing to severe colds that has seemed to settle an the first string men. The hospital seems to be more popular to the gridders than the practice field. Today, Coach Mal Stevens had a heavy workout planned with scrimmages to last almost the entire session but was forced to call it off because of lack of first string men available. While not a single case of serious injury has been listed since the opening of the practice afternoons, yet Stevens has been hampered by minor injuries and colds.

Of the first string men unable to attend the workout today were, Hoben, quarterback; Palmer, back; Greene Kell and Stewart, guards; McEwen, Oldt and Godman, ends; Hubbard, fullback; Switz and Lampe, halfbacks. With the exception of Charlesworth, the center, the entire first team were unable to report. However, Stevens believes that before the end of the week comes he will be able to have at least one scrimmage with the eleven that will face Georgia. Fearing further minor injuries today with the available material he had, Stevens put the men through a light workout and a short supervised scrimmage.

Stewart, Switz and Lampe are in the infirmary with colds, Hoben has a bad leg, McEwen, an injured eye, Oldt, the best drop kicker Yale has this season has a bad knee, Hubbard has nose trouble, Greene has a broken finger and Kell has a twisted ankle. It is probable that Oldt, Kell, Lampe, Hubbard and McEwen will be able to be in the lineup Saturday.

Plans for tomorrow are in the air as Mal Stevens is unable to tell what material he will have for practice. Since the Maine game last week, Eli gridders have not been able to get together for any scrimmage session and it is probable that there will be no opportunity for one until Friday.

FRENCH TENNIS STARS WIN AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Oct 10—(AP)—A French tennis combination all Davis cup players, maintained their prowess against American players today by capturing two out of three singles tilts and tieing in doubles play. Darkness ended the play before the doubles match was over. It was officially sanctioned match play between the two nations.

The foreign combination included Henri Cochet, the world's best; Christian Boussus and Pierre Landry. They battled W. F. (Junior) Coen of Kansas City, Wray Brown of St. Louis and Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines.

Cochet defeated Coen 9-7, 6-3, and Boussus won from Brown 1-6, 8-6, 6-3, but Coggeshall battled Landry to a standstill to win 3-6, 6-1, 8-6. Coen and Brown paired against Cochet and Boussus won a set 6-3 but lost another 4-6.

HARVARD VARSITY HAS TOUGH TIME BEATING FROSH

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 10—(AP)—After getting away 19 to 0 lead only to have their lead smashed and the score tied, the Harvard varsity football team barely won a victory over the freshman team by a score of 25 to 19 during one hour and forty minutes of play here today.

With 19 points rolled up against them, the freshman suddenly let loose a line battering attack and succeeded in breaking up the varsity defense against forward passes, rolling up three touchdowns. The final score was made by the varsity on a 65 yard run back of a kick-off of Dana Greeley, a third string quarterback.

There will be no scrimmage tomorrow and Friday the squad practicing in the morning and attending the Boston college-Duke university game in the afternoon.

BROWN WILL HAVE LINE AVERAGING 190 LBS A MAN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10—(AP)—Tuss McLaughry juggled the lineups of the A and B teams of his Brown varsity football squad this afternoon and then sent the two elevens through an hour's scrimmage to observe the result of the shakeups.

It was the Bruins' last hard session before the game with the University of Dayton eleven at Brown stadium Saturday afternoon. Tomorrow and Friday, McLaughry will devote to tapering off, using dummy scrimmage instead of the more strenuous workout and giving plenty of signal practice to keep the new plays firmly in the minds of the squad.

The altered lineup of the A team will give McLaughry additional weight to pit against the reported heavy Dayton team. With Burly Harry Cornsweet at end in place of Johnson, the line will get 30 additional pounds of weight. As the line worked today Westworth who only scales 170, is the only man under 190.

ACADEMY PREPARING FOR C. G. BATTLE SATURDAY

The Academy is spending this week in stiff preparation for its game with the Coast Guard Academy Junior Varsity eleven at the campus the coming Saturday Plenty of hard work is on the program with the defects noted in last Saturday's game being straightened out.

Saturday's game shapes up as one of the stiffest early-season assignments for the Wildcats. The New London outfit is reported as being a rugged bunch, capable of extending the locals to the limit. This will be the first meeting of these two teams on the gridiron but it also will show plenty of old time rivalry, this being the second of three clashes that the Academy has had with New London elevens this season.

WINNIPEG SET NEW RECORD FOR GELDINGS

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 10—(AP)—Winnipeg, for which E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., paid $25,000 recently set a new world's record for pacing geldings at Fort Miami harness races here today in turning the mile against time in 1:58 3-4. The former record of 1:59 1-4 was held jointly by Winnipeg, Sir Roch and Frank Bogash.

The quarterly times were: 30, :58 1-2, 1:28 1-2 and 1:58 3-4. The last quarter was into a stiff head wind. Sep Palin was the driver.

AMATEUR BOXING AT UNCASVILLE FRIDAY

On Friday evening, Artie Kumpff, known to the boxing world as Kid Wilson, stages an amateur boxing show under the auspices of the Uncas club at Pappas hall in Uncasville. This is the first boxing card that has been staged in Uncasville since long before the war. Kid Wilson has a string of 22 boxers who will be matched with amateurs from Norwich, Danielson, Westerly and Willimantic This card should furnish action as boxing fans known that Wilson in his heyday was quite some little scrapper himself. Popular prices will prevail.

KID WILSON

DARTMOUTH SQUAD HAS DRILL IN FUNDAMENTALS

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 10—(AP)—The Dartmouth grid squad drilled on fundamentals today as Coach Hawley pointed his team toward Saturday's game with Allegheny and the more important contest with Columbia the following week.

After the backs had practiced broken field running and the backs and ends had drilled on handling forward passes, Coach Hawley took his first and second teams into the varsity stadium, signal drill. The coach perched himself on the top-most seats so as to get a better view of the men carrying out their assignments. Al Marsters spent most of the afternoon practicing kicks from placements.

Kid Chocolate Wins

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Kid Chocolate, Cuban Negro bantamweight won the decision over Eddie O'Dowd of Columbus, O., in a hard fought ten round bout at the Manhattan Sporting club tonight. The Cuban weighed 118 1-4 pounds, 2 1-4 less than his veteran opponent.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Jimmy Skunk Has a Good Time
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

A little fun will smooth the way
And brighten e'en a gloomy day.
—Jimmy Skunk.

Jimmy Skunk has a sense of humor. He likes his little joke. He knows just how afraid of him everybody is and he likes to see them afraid. So Jimmy kept walking towards Reddy Fox and appeared not to notice that Reddy kept backing up. In a few moments Jimmy was between Johnny Chuck and Reddy.

"It seems to me, Reddy, I have never seen you looking finer," said Jimmy, advancing two or three steps.

"I'm feeling fine, Jimmy. In fact, I never felt finer," declared Reddy, retreating two or three steps.

Jimmy advanced a few steps more. "How is the hunting?" he inquired.

Reddy backed off a few steps more. "Hunting has been pretty good," said he, "but now that the grasshoppers are nearly gone we miss them."

"So you like grasshoppers, do you?" said Jimmy. "There's where you show your good taste. I've been getting fat on grasshoppers this summer. I'm so fat that I'm positively lazy. But I can't resist nice, plump grasshoppers. By the way, what do you expect to find up here in the carrot patch?" All the time that Jimmy was talking he had been advancing and Reddy had also been retreating.

"It doesn't look as if I shall find anything," replied Reddy in a discouraged tone of voice. "Did you see Mrs. Peddi over there?"

Jimmy turned and pretended to see Mrs. Reddy for the first time. "Why, Mrs. Reddy, how do you do?" he cried. "I certainly must pay you my respects." Jimmy turned and began to amble towards Mrs. Reddy. Mrs. Reddy sat right where she was until Jimmy was almost to her. Then she began to back away, all the time trying to appear not to. Jimmy kept right on going and Mrs. Reddy kept right on backing away. She was doing her best not to show that she was losing her temper, but with every step she took backwards her temper grew shorter.

Jimmy Skunk appeared to be looking for beetles. He wandered back and forth, always keeping between Mrs. Reddy and Jerry Muskrat and Mrs Muskrat and all the time moving in such a way as to force Mrs. Reddy farther and farther back. You see, Jimmy Skunk is the most independent little fellow in all the Great World. He carries a little bag of scent—a strong scent that nobody likes. In fact, when Jimmy throws it in the face of an enemy that enemy is likely to cough and strangle and lose his breath, and for a time be quite blinded, to say nothing of having himself for days and days after because of the smell he carries around with him. So all the people, big and little, of the Green Forest, have great respect for Jimmy Skunk. This was why Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were trying so very hard to be polite, and why they kept backing away as Jimmy advanced. They didn't want to be within range should Jimmy lose his temper and try throwing that scent.

Now, Jimmy knew all this. He knew it perfectly well. He was enjoying the situation very much. He knew that Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were trying to catch Jerry Muskrat or Mrs. Muskrat or Johnny Chuck. And he knew that there was a chance that the two working together might get one of them. So, pretending not to notice what was going on, he kept driving Reddy and Mrs. Reddy farther back.

"So you like grasshoppers, do you?" said Jimmy

At last Mrs. Reddy's temper got so short she could stand it no longer. She suddenly snarled as Jimmy moved towards her. "Go away from here, you meddlesome busybody," she snarled, "and don't interfere with other people's business. Nobody asked you to join our party!"

"If nobody has, I do now!" spoke up Johnny Chuck.

"Thank you, Johnny, I think I'll stay a while," said Jimmy.

MANSFIELD CENTER

At the Congregational church Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Alice W. Jenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jenner of this town and Hartford, became the bride of Floyd Atkins son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Atkins of Taftville, formerly of Mansfield City. The recemony was performed by Rev. Mrs. Hawthorne Jones, who used the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Helen Amidon of Scotland as maid of honor. The other attendants were Miss Abby Jane Woodle of Philadelphia, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs Alfred Staebner, sister of the groom. The best man was Mervyn Little and the ushers Alfred Staebner and Clinton Atkins. The bride wore white taffeta and net wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor wore green crepe de chine and carried yellow roses and the other attendants wore peach and orchid crepe de chine and carried old fashioned bouquets. The wedding music was played by Mrs. L. B. Teney. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs Atkins will be at home after a wedding trip at Ocean View Heights, West Mystic, where a new and furnished house is ready for them. There were guests at the wedding from Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Torrington, Hartford and Mystic.

The first meeting of the Junior C. E. society was held Sunday at 11.30 at the library. Mrs. Frank Atwood is the leader.

The Ladies' Aid society plans to hold a rummage sale in Willimantic this week.

The Women's Church guild will meet this (Thursday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Hall, Jr.

WINDHAM

The first meeting this season of the Parent-Teacher association was held in the school auditorium Monday afternoon with 27 members present. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $57.30. Receipts since the May meeting included tennis court fees $16.50 proceeds from card party $18, and Exchange club supper $25. Part of the efforts of the association this winter will be toward purchasing silver for use at suppers etc. as dishes have been bought for the hall by the Men's club. Attention was called to the county organization meeting at Plainfield on the 24th. A committee was appointed to look into the matter of a suitable inscription on the outside of the school building. The November and April meetings will be held in the evening with special programs to interest the fathers in the association. An article from the Child Welfare Magazine on the duty of parents to take more interest in and visit the schools was read by Mrs. John F. Woods. A social hour followed, in charge of the officers. Sandwiches, tea, and cake were served, Mrs. DeWitt Lathrop pouring. A silver offering was collected. The officers and committees for the year are: President, Mrs Vantine Anderson; vice presidents Mrs. W. R. Dean, Mrs. DeWitt Lathrop; secretary, Mrs. Harry Moseley; treasurer, Mrs. L. P. Oehrig; program committee, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Mrs. John F. Woods; hospitality, Mrs. E. K. Leffingwell; press, Miss Gertrude Arnold; finance, Mrs. Guy Richmond, Mrs. Horald Leffingwell, Mrs. L. P. Oehrig; membership, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Wayland Jacobs, Mrs. Frank Barber; refreshments, Miss Emma Neale.

Keeney Lathrop, U. S. N., was at home from Craster's Island, Newport R. I., over the week end.

Mrs. Walter G. Parsons of Boston is at Miss Emma Neale's.

Mrs. W. R. Dean is under observation in St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Smiley are entertaining Mr. Smiley's mother from Winchester, Mass.

Earle Harvey and a classmate were home from Storrs college Sunday.

SPRING HILL

Mrs Olive Wildes, who has been staying at the home of her mother during the summer, is now a patient at St Joseph's hospital, Willimantic.

At the town meeting last Monday it was voted to accept the $100 bequeathed by the late Homer Remington of Willimantic for the care of the Spring Hill cemetery.

Rev. Florence Jones was called to the Torrington church to preach last week.

LIBERTY HILL

The Willimantic Ministers' union held a meeting at the Exeter-Liberty Hill church Monday forenoon. An address on The Problems of the Rural Church was given by the Rev. Edwin E. Sundt of Willington. The Women's society of the parish provided one of their fine lunches at the church rooms in the parsonage. After dinner speaking and jokes were greatly enjoyed. The ministers and wives remarked they knew where to come to get something good to eat. The dinner was sliced cold ham, mashed potato, sweet potatoes, chopped cabbage, sweet pickles, cake pie, coffee, cheese and rolls.

Mr and Mrs. Earl Hoxie and Alfred Brown attended the Brockton fair Saturday.

Mr and Mrs. M. S. Davoll, Misses Mary E. and Nancy R. Fuller were guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fuller in New London Sunday.

At the Exeter-Liberty Hill church next Sunday a collection will be taken for the Connecticut Home Missionary society. This society contributes to the support of the local church.

The text of Rev. J. H. Knott's fine sermon Sunday morning was the 3rd and 9th verses of the 3rd chapter of John. The evening consecration service of the C. E. society was in charge of Mrs. Annie L. Harvey.

Monday morning there was a heavy frost.

Apples are dropping quite fast.

ATWATER KENT

SOME of our customers couldn't believe that really fine radio cost so little, until we showed them by letting the 1929 Atwater Kent all-electric set demonstrate itself.

"Let us bring this set to your home," we said to these skeptics. "Let us plug it into a lamp socket and then we'll stand back and never say a word while you snap the switch and turn the FULL-VISION Dial and bring in the programs and make any test you please. If you don't want to buy—the pleasure is ours."

The result is we're sending Atwater Kent 40's into customers' homes as fast as we can get them from the factory. This sweet-toned, powerful, compact, beautiful, modern receiver is simply irresistible—once you try it.

The same free home demonstration offer is open to you. Please be prompt in dropping into the store or telephoning. What with the Presidential campaign coming, to say nothing of a wealth of fine programs on the air every day, these new Atwater Kents are selling fast. Say "Home Demonstration" NOW.

More Attention to Your Coal Now, Means Less Attention to Your Heater Later On

IF, instead of buying just any coal, just anywhere, you will order Old Company's Lehigh from your local Old Company's dealer, you will save time and effort later on.

For this coal is of an exceptional density and purity that makes it burn long and steadily—with a minimum of attention to the heater.

In fact, when a household heater is properly fired with Old Company's Lehigh, one helping of coal in the morning and another at night is usually all that is required.

Old Company's Lehigh is still mined from the same great vein that gave America her first commercial supply of anthracite back in 1820. This coal, never surpassed in purity, continues uniformly high in heat and low in ash.

Your local Old Company's dealer is interested in giving you satisfactory heating service. Let him advise you how to use your coal most efficiently and economically.

POETRY

A Day

Oh, be forewarned, all lovers of the spring,
This is not spring—that comes so late, so soon.
This is not fall. This is not anything,
Unless a disembodied day
That drifts in from the moon.

How thin the honied sunlight falls
Upon pale rows that slant into the haze
Where some half-sleeping water calls,
Mild, to mild air that cannot wake the cheek.
Oh stranger among days!
Oh ghost of some old spring!
How did you smile when winter kept his sting
And slip in softly in the wintry week?

You are a season in yourself;
A veil so soft and sheer;
A drop that from some planet falls,
Trembles, and hangs clear
Of all the seasons; whispering—
"Oh, take me, I am here!
Not spring, not fall, not winter,
Not summer. But outside the year."

—Margery Mansfield, in Christian Science Monitor.

The Bold Buccaneer

A Spanish freebooter was Pedro the Ripper,
Who harried the main in his twenty-gun clipper;
No bolder rapscallion
Ever scuttled a galleon
Or cut off the ears of an Amsterdam skipper.

With swashbuckling gait and an insolent bearing,
He startled the world by his desperate daring.
Vindictive, ferocious,
His deeds were atrocious,
As massacred foes with a vengeance unsparing.

He killed, so it seems, just for inhuman pleasure,
No pirate cared less about prizes or treasure;
He'd slaughter with rapture
Each crew that he'd capture,
Determined to deal out no half-hearted measure.

But now he's at rest, so I pray do not harden
Your hearts, but in mercy concede him a pardon;
He's been spanked already
And tucked in his bed, he
Is sorry he chopped down the flowers in the garden.

—Homer Brewer, in the Kansas City Star.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

He—As a matter of fact, you are the only girl I ever kissed.

She—You mean as a matter of fiction.—Boston Transcript.

Well Known Actress—I don't wish to attract attention. I don't like publicity.

Her Press Agent—Great stuff! We'll make a big story of this.—London Mail.

"Petticoat rule," about which we used to hear so much, is now more appropriately referred to as "Invisible government."—Everybody's Weekly.

Man (in night club, excitedly to woman)—Quick! It's a hold-up! Hide your jewels.

Very Undressy Woman—But how, you inspired idiot? Am I to swallow 'em?—Punch.

"So Mabel kept a diary throughout her vacation."

"She calls it that, but there's so much in it about the nice boys she met, call it a Him Book."—Exchange.

He—I'm going to buy myself a harem.

It—What do you mean? You can't buy a harem can you?

He—Sure. I saw a sign at a gas station that said: "Six Gals for a Dollar."—California Wampus.

Fond Mother (just returned from bridge party)—I hope you children have been good.

Young Hopeful—Oh, yes, mummy. We let the bath run over and we're playing Niagara on the stairs.—Family Herald.

"I'll have to charge you $50 for improving your hearing," said the doctor.

"What?" inquired the patron.

"I say your bill will be $50."

"Can't hear you, sir."

"Then I won't charge you a cent."

"Thank you, doctor." — Chicago Tribune.

NOANK

ELLIS, OF ST. LOUIS COLLEGE, GETS A BALL FROM BABE RUTH

Hubert Ellis, who is working his way through St. Louis college, was a great outfielder for the Bulkeley team in New London, during his high school days, earning his letter and scholarship to college. During the summer, in that city he was a baseball fan taking in many games and rooted for the Red Birds to win. He is called Auburn Ellis by his classmates. Getting a ticket for the third game of the world's series and before the game got started he went down to the Yankees' bench and shook hands with Babe Ruth and had a short talk. Taking his place in the grand stand, a young fellow came in and took the seat beside him and when the game was half over he said to Auburn Ellis: "I am One-Eyed Connelly and I carried Babe Ruth's glove in and said that I was his cousin from New York; rode on the St. Louis special train for nothing and here I am in this Missouri city!" He was telling the Noank fellow "I got the worst beating in my life in England, when I tried to crash the gate to see Mickey Walker fight! Never again will I try that stunt in England!" After the game, Babe Ruth saw Ellis at his hotel and put his name on a baseball, also told him how to play the outfield "and some day with your college team it will come in handy." Auburn Ellis was some proud to get the dope from the home run king of the world. He will tell his classmates all about it. Also he will try out for the baseball team.

A large crowd of dance fans gather at Corona hall, Tuesday evening, many coming from out of town. Russ' orchestra of New London, six music boys, gave plenty of peppy music and long dances, and fifty couples enjoyed them.

During intermission Light Foot Jake Mahon, of Hope Valley did the Harvard Hop the old way, as the piano was tickled by Bernard Carson. Philip Steele of the north shore had his banjo tuned up and he sang "I dream that I kissed her good night." Several times the crowd called him back. The hall was decorated with purple and black crepe paper, with dark blue balloons flying from the ceiling. A new dance was tried out, the shoe dance, where every fellow would make a noise with his shoes, like 200 soldiers with trench shoes taking a hike on the city streets.

Two steeplejacks from Mystic came down to the Baptist church Tuesday morning with their ropes and swing chairs, to take down the weather vane on the church, also to paint the steeple, which is 210 feet in the air. Foreman Watrous got his ropes all ready to go up but found the wind was blowing too hard, a 62-mile gale, so he had to give it up for the day. A large crowd gathered to see how the two human flies were going to rig up their tackle to take down the vane, but they did the stunt quickly without the people seeing how it is done, a trick known to themselves. Human Fly Watrous said it is safer up in the air than on the ground. You cannot get hit by an automobile in the air, 210 feet from the street. He was telling about a big job in Rochester, N. Y., on a tall building to paint the flag pole on a big hotel, 730 feet in the air and how small the people on the street looked. But after a steeplejack goes up once he is never afraid again. "The only thing I am afraid of is a hornets' nest. They often build them around the steeple somewhere. You cannot brush them off and they are the worst enemies of steeplejacks while in the air."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tourjee have returned after a short visit in Kenyon, R. I.

For Every Homemaker In Norwich and Vicinity!

The Griswold, Richmond & Glock $75,000 Stock and Schwartz Bros. $250,000 Stock, Combined in the Most Sensational Furniture Sale Ever Held in All of Eastern Connecticut.

Schwartz Bros. today offer the people of Norwich and its adjacent locality, a great and unusual opportunity. A furniture event extraordinary. Just a few short weeks ago, arrangements were made to purchase the very high grade and exclusive stock of the Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co., of Meriden, Conn., a firm so noted for the fine line of furniture that it carried, that some of the most arsitocratic home owners in New England have made special trips to Meriden to make their selections. This fine old firm, after 74 years in business, decided to retire indefinitely from all further participation in the furniture field. We were "lucky" enough to find it out, and by taking the whole stock for one figure we were "lucky" in securing this wonderful stock of Grand Rapids, Widdicomb, Jamestown, Karpen and other famous makes at a mere fraction of its real worth. That's the story of Schwartz Bros. Lucky Buy, and today we are ready to pass on the results of our good luck on to you. In addition we have re-marked our own immense stocks and included them in this sale. IT'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME TO INVEST IN LIFETIME FURNITURE . . . LOSE NO TIME IN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF IT.

Mrs. William Belowitz and children Mary, Sadie and John, have returned after a week end stay with relatives in Hanover.

M. J. Shea spent a couple of days last week in Brattleboro, Vt., in the interest of the Central Vermont railway.

Bumsteads Worm Syrup

"To children as equal of worms" Worm CAKES are followed by SAVER PILLS. Delicious, tasteless, effective. Cost of SANTONIN, is negligible. Kill worms, blood clear, vigor restored. Sold everywhere or by mail, 25c a bottle. Dr. C. A. Venables, M. D., Philadelphia

STUDEBAKER President outsells every other Eight!

The Studebaker President Eight is outselling every other eight in the world, regardless of price or type!

Never in motor car history has any new car swept so swiftly to dominance. The President Eight is less than a year old. It was introduced in January of this year. In July it took the lead in the eight-cylinder field (25 makes.)

Never in Studebaker's 76 years of manufacturing has such magnificent tribute been paid to Studebaker engineering genius and craftsmanship.

Studebaker gratefully accepts the obligation which this leadership entails! It pledges you anew, the most thoroughly capable, the most comfortable, the smartest automobiles your motor money can buy.

President Eight out-performs all other motor cars!

30,000 miles in 26.326 minutes

19 days and 18 nights at averages of 64 to 68 miles an hour—a feat performed by four stock President Eights under constant A. A. A. supervision—Never before did man, or any product of man's hand and brain, ever travel so far so fast!

Riding Comfort Your Money Cannot Buy Elsewhere!

Studebaker alone offers you the matchless case of ball bearing spring shackles—the greatest advance in motoring comfort since balloon tires! No greasing—no adjusting of the 12 vital chassis points for two years and more of average driving—and meanwhile marvelously smooth and restful riding!

A ONE-PROFIT PRICE

INDUSTRIALS AND SPECIALTIES WERE FEATURES OF AN UPWARD MOVEMENT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—Violent advances in the high priced industrials and specialties, several of which reached record high prices, featured the resumption of the broad upward movement in today's stock market. Extreme gains in the volatile issues ran from 5 to nearly 15 points but some of these were cut down by profit-taking, which was quite heavy toward the close. Total sales ran well over 4,000,000 shares for the first time this week.

The brisk upturn was predicted on the speculative theory that the recent reaction had sufficiently corrected the weakened technical position of the market, and that many issues had been over-sold. Bullish enthusiasm was created by the recent lowering of money rates.

Fresh import of gold from England, the increase of nearly 76,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation last month and the excellent car loadings statement for the week ended Sept. 29, which showed substantial increases over the corresponding weeks of 1927 and 1926.

Call money renewed unchanged at 3 1-2 per cent. and was in plentiful supply at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady. Widespread predictions that the peak of fall commercial demands would be passed within the next two weeks and that easier money rates could be looked for until the approach of the holidays helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm.

Montgomery-Ward, which sold as low as 147 this year, soared nearly 14 points to a new high record at 275 1-2 on reports that the company would have 200 stores in operation January and financed out of earnings, unconfirmed rumors of recapitalization, and financed out of earnings. Unconditional advance in Allied Chemical to a new peak at 234 3-4, but the stock later sold down to 228 3-4, up 7 1-4 points net. American Smelting soared 10 points to 268, the best price in its history. Radio came back into the speculative spotlight with a rapid climb of over 10 points to 215.

American Express, By-Products Coke, Case Threshing, Commercial Solvents, Curtiss Aeroplane, Dodge Bros. A, Dunhill International, Dupont, Fox Film A, General Refractories, Grand Stores, International Business Machines, Keith-Albee preferred, G. R. Kinney, Mullins, Paramount Famous Lasky, Purity Baking preferred, Warner Bros. A and Warren Bros., all closed 5 to 10 points higher.

General Motors touched a new peak at 219 5-8 and then slipped back to 216 1-2, up 1 point. New peak prices were registered by at least 30 other issues, the list including Air Reduction, General Ice Cream, Victor Talking Machine, Goodyear Tire, Lee Rubber and Seneca Copper.

Rails moved up with the industrials, Texas & Pacific standing out with a net gain of 8 points at 180. New York Central, Norfolk & Southern, Kansas City Southern and a few others moved up 2 to 3 points.

Except for a further slight advance in sterling cables to $4.85 3-16 there were no changes of interest in the irregular foreign exchange market.

A drop of 1 1-2 to 2 cents a bushel in wheat futures due to the pressure of low grade Canadian offerings, featured the commodity markets. Cotton closed virtually unchanged. Coffee prices were slightly firmer and sugar quotations held steady.

TRAFFIC SAFETY ADVICE FROM STATE C. OF C.

"To Help Reduce Automobile Accidents in Connecticut" the Connecticut chamber of commerce has compiled and published an attractive folder containing information relative to the motor vehicle laws and pointers on good driving. The folder, "one of a series of constructive activities by the state chamber 'For the Welfare of Connecticut'," carries statements from Governor John H. Trumbull and Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel on the traffic safety problem of the state.

The folder bears a slogan "The quickest way to make Connecticut safe is to start with yourself", and points out the part each one—the operator, the pedestrian, the property owner—can play in this program of reducing accidents.

The 70 pertinent facts in the folder are classified under seven headings. Two of the sections deal with accidents, one setting forth nine "accident breeders" or forms of recklessness on the part of the driver which result in the majority of the accidents in the state. The other accident section contains abstracts from the state law on what things to do immediately following an accident.

Another important section of the folder is entitled "Obey the Law—Avoid the Penalty." This section sets forth 14 different statutory offences for which a person may be fined, jailed or have his license suspended.

Specific things which the law forbids, such as "increasing speed before completely passed by overtaking vehicle signally intent to pass," are contained in another section entitled "Don't Do These Things." This section also contains six parking regulations.

The more unfamiliar points of the motor vehicle law are covered in a section entitled "Study These Points." Among these items are "your car must be operated without unnecessary noise," "repairmen must obtain from owner of automobile written authority for repairs amounting to over $5," and "a licensed operator instructing a person in driving is responsible for the operation of the car and must be in a position to control it."

Eighteen essentials of good driving are contained in a section devoted entirely to the operator. In the section of the folder devoted to pedestrians and property owners the pedestrian is urged to "look each way before crossing a street," "exercise care in boarding or leaving trolley cars" and cautioned "not to emerge suddenly from behind standing objects." The property owner is asked to "cut bushes at corners and on curves which obstruct the sight line" and are urged "not to erect buildings or other obstructions to the sight line."

The state chamber is offering the opportunity to its member concerns and to others of securing the new folder in quantity at the cost price of printing for distribution to their employes and customers. In this manner it is hoped to distribute 50,000 copies of this folder throughout Connecticut. It is believed that this distribution will help in the present campaign to reduce the growing number of automobile accidents in Connecticut.

Governor Trumbull's foreword follows: "The growing amount of traffic which fills our Connecticut highways means that operators should and must be more thoughtful and more careful—both to protect themselves and to protect the other fellow.

"There is no place for the careless and indifferent driver.

"The traffic safety problem has become one of the chief problems of Connecticut.

"I hope that every motor vehicle operator in Connecticut will study the important points set forth in this folder issued by the state chamber in an effort to help reduce automobile accidents. This folder contains in brief and readable form the high spots of our motor vehicle law.

"Study this folder. Follow the suggestion it makes. Help reduce automobile accidents in Connecticut."

Commissioner Stoeckel's statement follows: "To take part in street and highway traffic has become the daily task of everyone—whether he be in a car, or on foot. To do so with safety to himself and to others is a duty imposed by both moral and statute law. The reason there are so many failures which make trouble and accidents, is not so much on account of inherent inability to perform, as it is because of a form of distraction commonly called carelessness. The necessary conclusion is that everyone must be educated not to be careless. Every item of information which can be put out and every thought and all publicity issued upon this subject is of great value.

"So this folder issued by the state chamber of commerce in its effort to reduce automobile accidents is most useful.

"It once more brings before the motor vehicle operator as the most important single actor in this situation strong argument to impress him with the imperative need that he especially, on account of his great responsibility to others, must at all times be both careful and attentive and train himself in the qualities of alertness and consideration."

NO CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE IN MRS. MURATORI'S DEATH

Mrs. Giovana Muratori, 41, of New London, who had her skull fractured when she was thrown from a motorcycle in that city, on September 2, did not meet her death through the criminal negligence of anyone, according to a finding made by Coroner Edward G. McKay.

Coroner McKay makes the following finding in the case:

On September 2, 1928, the said Giovanna Muratori was living in New London, with her husband, the said Alfredo Muratori, together with their two children, aged four years and three years. On said day a sister of the said Giovanna Muratori was visiting them over the holiday. The said sister lived in Stafford Springs, Connecticut.

On the said date at about 8:00 p. m. (standard time), the said Alfredo Muratori suggested that the family and the sister-in-law take a ride to Ocean Beach. He owned a motorcycle with a large side car attachment on its right hand side sufficient for the seating of two grown persons. The party assented and all boarded the motorcycle; the said Giovanna Muratori and her sister with the two children occupied the side car and the said Alfredo Muratori operated the motorcycle.

This family and their guest rode from their house on Smith street and eventually came onto Pequot avenue. They road southerly on said Pequot avenue on the way to the beach and came to a place on said avenue where School street intersects it from the west. At this time there was considerable moving traffic on the road going both south and north and the said Alfredo Muratori was driving along in his lane on the west or his right hand side of the road. All the motor vehicles traveling on the road at this place had their lights on. On the south side of the said intersection of School street and Pequot avenue there does not appear that any motor vehicles were parked on either side of the street. The road is surfaced with bituminous macadam and on the said date and time was dry.

Immediately after passing the intersection of said Smith street and Pequot avenue, the said Alfredo Muratori noticed an automobile with very strong headlights coming directly toward him. The said automobile passed him, but in so doing it grazed the handle-bars of the motorcycle and caused it to become uncontrollable. The motorcycle swerved over to the right and collided with the stone curb which is the beginning of the sidewalk. All of the occupants of the motorcycle were thrown out onto the sidewalk or the road. The said Giovanna Muratori struck on her head and received the fatal injuries from which she later died.

The evidence does not clearly establish the circumstances of the accident. The left handle-bar of the motorcycle showed a scratch that could have been caused by an object moving along it; the said handle-bar was also bent. It does not appear that the said motorcycle overturned after striking the sidewalk. The driver stated that the lights were strong and seemed to come over to his side of the road. The automobile which is claimed to have brushed the motorcycle did not stop and the driver probably did not know that the motorcycle had been hit.

I am satisfied and find that the death of the said Giovanna Muratori was not caused by the criminal act, omission or negligence of any other persons or persons.

GIVE PENNSYLVANIA AND RHODE ISLAND FOR HOOVER

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—(AP)—J. Hampton Moore, former mayor of Philadelphia, and Congressman Richard J. Aldrich of Rhode Island today told Col. John Q. Tilson director of the republican eastern speakers' bureau, that Pennsylvania and Rhode Island will give comfortable majorities to the republican presidential ticket. The Hoover-Curtis ticket will carry Pennsylvania by over 500,000. Moore said Aldrich predicted that Rhode Island would give the ticket a 10 000 to 20,000 majority.

WHY NOT CALL AMBROSE SULLIVAN FOR YOUR CEMENT WORK?

Perhaps there is some kind of cement work you have been planning to have done this past summer but you have kept putting it off? Now that fall is coming upon us fast why not get that work done before cold weather sets in and another year rolls around?

Ambrose Sullivan, phone 2808-5, Norwich, is just the man you need for this type of work. His prices are extremely reasonable and his work is of the highest type. No cement job is too large, and none is too small for him to do. He specializes in a mix of 1-2-4, the best in other words, and cement sidewalks are his specialty.

There is nothing that beautifies your property as does a good cement sidewalk. They wear longer and there is no after expense in their upkeep. The trend is all for cement sidewalks at the present time, few people going to the expense of putting in tar sidewalks. Once tar sidewalks were the vogue but everyone remembers how they soften up in the heat of the summer, holes appear in them in winter they crack open. Cement sidewalks do not feel the weather. They keep that same new appearance for many years, are safe to walk upon and are economical in everyway.

Why put off having any cement work done at this time of the year? If you are worrying about the cost of the work, why not call Mr. Sullivan and allow him to quote you prices? He has many people who will be pleased to give you references as to the quality of his work. See Mr. Sullivan first and then forget your cement problems. He will handle them to your satisfaction and at a price that will pleasantly surprise you.

WHY NOT HAVE YOUR PLUMBING WORK LOOKED AFTER NOW?

Becker and Goldstein, of 77-79 Water street, Norwich, telephone 1306, are the men you should get in touch with if you are planning to have any plumbing done in the near future. Perhaps there is some small thing that you have neglected to have done during the summer? With winter rapidly approaching you should no longer put off this work.

The most valuable part of any plumbing job is the work of the men who install the plant. A fine heating system may be a wonderful thing, but if the men who install the plant are not qualified and do a poor job, the value of the heating plant is a complete loss. Poor plumbing stands out at its worst just at the season of the year when you need it most. In summer you do not need a heating plant but when the snappy cold days of winter are with us and the thermometer drops near the zero mark—then it is different. A poor job of plumbing at that time of the year is a terrible thing. Lack of sufficient heat, trouble wit hthe piping, and a hundred other little things stand out like mountains. No one wants the heater to fail in the dead of winter but this is likely to happen if the workmen are not fit to do good work.

Becker and Goldstein, guarantee their work and have many people who will gladly tell you the type of efficiency they put into their plumbing jobs.

In addition to being good plumbers, Becker and Goldstein handle those popular and long lasting Dupont paints. They also sell window Pont paints. They also sell window glass and hardware of all descriptions. See them before you buy or have any work done.

TAKE THE WASH OUT OF WASH DAY AND ADD TO YOUR DAYS OF JOY

Wash day has a long history in the United States. It is the usual synonym for Monday. Its history dates back to the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth for what was one of the first acts of the Pilgrims after landing in this country? The women took all the dirty clothes of the colony down to the ocean front and washed them on the nearby rocks. This was Wash day inaugurated in America.

But Wash day is gradually becoming a thing of the past. The New System Taftville Wet Wash, phone 3228-2, is going a long way to eliminate the day of dread for women in Norwich. Instead of Wash day, the woman of the house merely takes the telephone off the receiver and calls Norwich 3228-2. The New System Wet Wash does the rest.

Its a great habit, and the women of Norwich who haven't got onto the idea yet are fast falling in line. Future Mondays will be days of pleasure—not of Wash days.

LET THE SHU-FIX LOOK AFTER YOUR SHOES TO OBTAIN GOOD WEAR

Now that the time has arrived for discarding summer shoes your winter shoes are going to again come in for hard wear.. Why not have them put in first-class condition by The Shu-Fix shoe repair specialist, 256 Main street, Norwich? Unless the heels and soles are in proper shape you are not going to get the wear you should out of your shoes. Even a heel just slightly worn will throw the weight of your body in such a manner that the shape of the shoe will be destroyed and it will come in for some hard wear at points that otherwise would not have to carry much strain. It pays to be careful about your shoes for you know well enough the high prices that you have to pay for new ones. By having your shoes properly looked after from time to time by The Shu-Fix you will find that they will wear much longe and you will also have greater foot comfort.

Shu-Fix New Cement Process system has revolutionized the methods of shoe rebuilding.

The E-W Cement Press makes it possible for us to render this service to our patrons and to wearers of fine shoes. By this process we are in a position to offer to the ladies of Norwich the most up-to-date shoe repairing ideas.

We also use with this process of rebuilding, E-W Cement, which is a waterproof cement. E-W Flexible is known everywhere as the better flexible leather. It is oak tanned, not chrome, therefore giving the proper body for the E-K Cement process.

Where the Best Is None Too Good

Nothing is too good for our patrons. The utmost effort and pains we possess is put into every piece of work that leaves our plant.

WOMAN'S CAR SIDESWIPED AUTO OF JACK HALPERN

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Oct. 10—An automobile crash early this morning resulted in Jack Halpern, 65 Raymond street and Jerry Northrup, 34 Bolles avenue, being painfully injured. Halpern received numerous bruises and contusions and was attended by a physician, while Northrup sustained bruises, contusions and lacerations and was rushed to Home Memorial hospital where several stitches were taken in his scalp to close one of the wounds. He went to his home this afternoon. Halpern, with Northrup a passenger in his Paige touring car, was headed for Ocean beach at 12:30 o'clock. The car had reached a point on Ocean avenue, just north of Gardner avenue, when a car driven by Mrs. Caroline Berardi, 97 Walbach street, and traveling in the opposite direction approached. Just as the two cars were about to pass, the Berardi auto sideswiped the Halpern car. The collision caused Halpern's auto to overturn. Halpern was thrown out, but Northrup was made a prisoner in the overturned car. Passing autoists went to the assistance of the injured young men and because of Northrup's lacerations, he was taken to the hospital. Halpern's machine was wrecked, but Mrs. Berardi's car escaped with only slight damage.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Traffic Stalled on Main Street

Two special policemen were needed to keep traffic untangled, and keep the crowds in order that gathered in front of the Schwartz Bros. Furniture store, to watch 1,000 toy balloons that were released from the store roof. While the crowd for the most part consisted of children, there were plenty of grown ups who came to see the spectacle. Likewise the windows and roofs of adjacent buildings were loaded with people, one chap took advantage of the occasion to test out his marksmanship, by locating on a nearby roof and shooting balloons out of the air with an air rifle. The small balloons spread out over the city and were visible all over the skies for a period of ten to fifteen minutes, before they ascended out of sight. Each balloon had a white tag attached, good for either a free gift or a merchandise discount, while many of them descended within a few minutes the majority will stay aloft overnight, and will probably be found all over the city, and its out-lying districts. The balloons were released as a publicity stunt by the store to advertise its sale of the Griswold, Richmond & Glock Co's furniture stock of Meriden, Conn., that the firm purchased and that goes on sale to the general public today. Those who find tags from the balloons are requested to bring them to the store and redeem them within the next ten days.

Broadway.

Three very modern girls who choose different paths to an ultimate goal of happiness provide the motivation for "Our Dancing Daughters," which opens today at the Broadway theare as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature.

The production, with its modernistic theme, is set in an impressionistic background and was filmed upon a scale of lavishness that rings to the screen a new triumph in cinema artistry.

With Joan Crawford, Johnny Mack Brown, Dorothy Sebastian and Anita Page in the leading roles the M-G-M feature has a stellar cast. In support of the principal players such screen artists as Nils Asther, Kathlyn Williams, Eddie Nugent Dorothy Cummings, Huntley Gordon, Evelyn Hall and Sam De Grasse are seen.

The plot concerns a reckless flapper who kisses freely and loses the affections of the man she loves because of gossip that follows in the wake of her madcap adventures. Her chum, a girl who has loved, not wisely, but too well, obtains forgiveness from her fiance and is married only to find that her husband looks upon her former male friends with a suspicion he cannot erase from his mind.

The two girls, despairing of happiness, attend a gay bon-voyage party where the gold-digger, who married the man the first girl loved, creates a sensational scene. The husband, his eyes opened to his wife's duplicity, realizes he really loves the girl he rejected. In a moment of drunken freny, the gold-digging wife hurls herself down a flight of stairs and is killed.

The tragedy brings both couples to the realization that life is more than a whirl of pleasure and at last find happiness in domesticity.

Suporting the feature are three real entertaining Vitaphone acts which includes Beneamino Gigle, the famous Materopolitan Opera tenor, who will sing several operatic numbers. The Six Brown Bros., saxaphone artists, offer a pleasing array of songs in a manner that you will enjoy. "On the Air" is a comic skit that will keep you in a constant fit of laughter. Then there is movietone news—the talking newsreel.

Palace.

Norma Talmadge in "The Dove," her first United Artists picture is to be the feature at the Palace theatre. Based on Willard Mack's stage play, which ran for a year on Broadway, "The Dove" is a melodramatic, romantic tale of Costa Roja, the "red coast." Miss Talmadge is supported by Noah Beery and Gilbert Roland. Roland West directed the picture from the scenario by Wallace Smith and Paul Bern.

"The Dove" is the colorful, quick-action narrative of a virtuous dance hall girl, a courageous young American employed in a gambling house, and "the bes' damn caballero in all Costa Roja," Don Jose Maria y Sandoval. Against a background of guitars, stilletos, roulette wheels, fine ladies and grand gentlemen the characteriation of Miss Talmadge as Dolores, "The Dove" a beautiful dancer, comes to glowing life, according to advance reports.

Directed by Roland West, who has previously made Norma Talmadge pictures, and supported by Noah Beery and Gilbert Roland who were accorded considerable roles by the star, Miss Talmadge has a role of fire, tempestuous, loving, defying and yielding in its several shades. The film is said to retain all of the color which David Belasco put into the stage version of "The Dove," in which Judith Anderson and Holbrook Blinn appeared. Roland West, the director, believes the story is even more suited to films and that in "The Dove" Miss Talmadge achieves new heights in a part as different from her prior characterization as that was from its predecessors.

Norma Talmadge not only becomes a United Artists star through "The Dove" her first picture for that organization, but she is also now one of the eight owner-members of United Artists. Mary Pickford, Gloria Swanson, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, D. W. Griffith, Joseph M. Schenck and Samuel Goldwyn are the others.

Breed Theatre.

"The Girl from Chicago," a Warner Bros. production, co-starring Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy comes to the Breed theatre Friday for a run of two days. The cast includes William Russell, Carrol Nye Paul Panzer and Erville Alderson. Ray Enright directed. This brilliant melo-drama of the underworld is based on the story of Arthur Somers Roche and the scenario was executed by Graham Baker. It recounts the hair-raising adventures of a southern girl, who leaves her father on the old plantation to come to the city for the purpose of freeing her brother from the gang whose machinations have placed him in the shadow of the chair. "The Girl from Chicago," is one of the authentic melodramas, which have power to hold the imaginations and thrill the spines of beholders. But there is glamour, too, and humor, and warm humanity. You'll be satisfied.

Among 34/1 applications received by the registrar of voters, in Bristol, the name of Ashley Dayton, 99 years old, who expressed a wish to cast a ballot for the first time in the November presidential election.

Fire in Ash Pit Base

Shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday evening the fire department answered a telephone call for a small fire in the base of an ash pit attached to a fireplace chimney at the house at No. 170 Broadway, owned by Daniel T. Shea. Occupants of the house smelled smoke and called the fire department. The firemen removed a quantity of soot from the ash pit base. There was no damage.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, denounced bigotry and intolerance in the presidential campaign.

SUFFERED ECZEMA THIRTY YEARS RABALM HEALED

"I have been a sufferer from eczema for over thirty years," says William Johnson, 6 Hodgkins Street, Gloucester, Mass., "and during that time have received treatment and tried many remedies without obtaining even a little temporary relief. A few months ago I was using Rabalm for neuritis with wonderful results, and discovered to my great astonishment that wherever Rabalm was applied, there was a marked improvement in my skin. The eczema irritation was relieved at once, as it had never been before, and ever since, I have not only been comfortable but all signs of the trouble have been gradually disappearing, to my great satisfaction."

Rabalm is the result of a scientific effort to find an effective remedy for eczema, to stop pain and itching, heal blisters and restore beauty to skin. A white, stainless, pleasant-smelling ointment, Rabalm will not stain clothing and has no disagreeable medicine-cabinet odor when used on the face. Two sizes, 50-cents and $1.00 containing 3 times as much. RABALM is for sale by all druggists.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE THEIR CANDIDATES FOR REPRESENATIVES

Henry P. Beausoleil and Attorney Josiah Greenstein were nominated as candidates for representatives to the general assembly on the republican ticket Wednesday evening. There was a small attendance at the caucus which was held at the town hall and called to order at 8 o'clock by George M. Charbonneau, chairman of the republican town committee.

On motion of George G. Engler, Henry H. Pettis was selected as chairman of the caucus. Mr. Pettis said he was not going to make an address, as there was no need for one. He said the republicans in Norwich are convinced that it is for their best interests and for the best interests of the country to vote the republican ticket next month.

Mr. Pettis said that the democratic presidential candidate makes statements and that the democratic vice presidential candidate has to go around saying that the democratic presidential candidate didn't mean just what he said. Hoover and Curtis say what they mean. Hoover and Curtis stand for the same republican principles of the past eight years. Mr. Pettis predicted the election of the republican party's presidential nominees.

John R. Bowman was chosen clerk and read the warning for the caucus after which Chairman Pettis called for nominations for two representatives to the general assembly.

It behooves us to nominate for representatives men who are honest, and able to have knowledge of local affairs said Mayor Lee Roy Robbins in nominating Henry P. Beausoleil. Mayor Robbins said that Mr. Beausoleil has all the characteristics required of a representative to the legislature. Attorney Josiah Greenstein was nominated by Judge John H. Barnes, who said it gave him pleasure to nominate a brother lawyer and a young man. He is a member of the republican town committee, said Judge Barnes, and if he is good enough for the town committee he is good enough to represent you in the legislature. He is every inch a man and there is no question about his election. Mr. Greenstein was then unanimously selected as the party's second candidate.

JOSIAH GREENSTEIN

On motion of Town Clerk Harold S. Burt the following were named candidates for justices of the peace: Telley E. Babcock, Albert J. Bailey, John H. Barnes, Charles W. Cassidy, J. Frank Corey, Andrew B. Davies, Desire J. Dufresne, Frank N. Gardner, Josiah Greenstein, Edwin W. Higgins, Arthur F. Libby, Edmund W. Perkins, Henry H. Pettis, Lee Roy Robbins, Charles L. Stewart, George W. Weller and Earle M. Wood.

William S. Murray moved that the town committee be authorized to fill any vacancies that might occur in the list of candidates after which the caucus adjourned, having been in session about 15 minutes.

Republican caucus results in other towns of the county were as follows:

Old Lyme

Representative, Thomas R. Ball.

E. W. Clark was moderator and Benjamin P. Davis clerk.

Griswold

Representative, Miss Margery Brewster.
Justices of the peace, B. R. Gardner, William R. Palmer, Charles Ruszerus, Felix Guillett, William Montgomery.

William Montgomery was moderator at the caucus and the clerk was L. G. Buckingham.

Montville

Representative, Fred I. Phillips.
Judge of probate, Dan D. Home.
Justices of the peace, George H. Bradford, C. Everett Chapman, William R. Tinker, Oscar E. Church, Pansy S. Dart.

The moderator was Dan D. Home and the clerk Mrs. Carrie Craig.

Colchester

There was an attendance of about 50 at the republican caucus held in Grange hall. Chas. F. Brown was chairman and Wm. E. Adams clerk. Samuel P. Willard and Samuel Freeman were nominated for representatives to the state legislature. Edward T. Bunyard, C. F. Brown, Joseph London, Gilbert J. Murray, Samuel Gitlin, Max Seger and Wm. K. Raymond were nominated for justices of peace.

Judge John Condren was unanimously renominated for judge of probate.

North Stonington

A lively contest developed over the nomination for representatives in the North Stonington caucus. Horace G. Lewis and Irving R. Main won the nominations over Lafayette F. Main who was nominated twice, first in opposition to Mr. Lewis and then in opposition to Irving R. Main. Mr. Main made a very good run. Others who were in the contest for nomination as representatives were Henry D. Johnson and Vincent Jones. It was necessary to use the check list in voting.

Charles A. Palmer was nominated for judge of probate and J. Bard Bill, Lafayette F. Main, John D. Avery, William S. Morgan, Henry D. Johnson and Frank Brown were nominated for justices of the peace.

John B. Berry was moderator of the caucus and George W. Tryon was caucus clerk.

Lyme

Lyme republicans had a contest in their caucus and 94 votes were cast. Ray Harding being moderator and Ralph W. Emerson, Jr., clerk.

On the vote for first representative, J. Warren Stark was nominated, receiving 52 votes to 34 for Arthur Brockway and 7 for William Marvin.

For second representative William Marvin was elected by 62 votes. His opponent, Arthur Brockway received 32.

William Marvin was nominated for judge of probate.

Bozrah

Representative, Nathan Gilman.
Justices of the peace, Geo. K. Brush, Forest Leffingwell, Oliver C. Gardner.
Judge of probate, Wareham W. Bentley.

Oliver C. Gardner was the moderator and the clerk was Miss Alice Bishop.

Waterford

Representative, Frederick W. Jacques.
Justices of the peace. Anthony Dixon, Frederick L. Goss, Fred S. Simpson, John Hackett, J. James Floyd, Leon J. Belsain.

There were no contests and after the nominations had been concluded, Judge Victor Prince who has been nominated for probate judge addressed the caucus in an interesting way.

STONINGTON REPUBLICANS HOLD HOT CAUCUS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STONINGTON, Oct. 10—Stonington republicans had such a caucus tonight in the town hall as the party has seldom had in years past, for 1,200 men and women were crowded in front of Moderator J. H. Weeks as he called the caucus to order for the election of candidates for representatives, judge of probate and justices of the peace. Jerome S. Anderson was clerk.

For first representative, George E. Leonard nominated Henry A. Stahle of Pawcatuck, who already has served in the legislature in that capacity.

George R. Swain of Old Mystic was nominated by Sidney Siswick and the nomination was seconded by Tax Collector D. Everett Hoxie who said that the time seemed to have arrived when there is a demand for strict liquor enforcement and Mr. Swain seemed to be the only one who could be depended upon to support this.

Town Prosecutor George R. McKenna sprang to his feet and made a heated rejoinder to these remarks when he said that he did not understand this meeting was called for a debate on law enforcement and he felt he would be a coward if he sat still and heard the town court traduced. For six years Judge Williams had sat on the bench, he said, and he challenged anyone to present an instance where a case which had been brought before the court had been turned down by the court officials.

The vote on these candidates for representative was taken by paper ballot and with the use of the check list and with separate ballot boxes for the men and women, separate tellers and separate checkers.

It took an even hour for the women to vote and fifteen minutes longer for the men.

The result was announced as follows: Total vote 616; for Stahle 370, for Swain 246 and Mr. Stahle was declared nominated.

In the women's ballot box there were 116 votes for Stahle and 85 for Swain.

Following announcement of the result, Mr. Stahle addressed the meeting, saying that he had paid no attention to the propaganda alleging his connection with the liquor interests, but he should continue to be in the future, as he had been in the past, a supporter of the law.

Mr. Swain congratulated Mr. Stahle upon his election and declared that the republican ticket would have his undivided support.

Lorenzo D. Fairbrother, Jr., was nominated for second representative by a rising vote over A. W. Perry, and Judge Frank H. Hinckley was renominated for judge of probate.

The following were named for justices of the peace: Alberti R. Stillman, James Cooper, Claude I. Spencer, M. Josephine Dickenson, Henry A. Pendleton, William A. Wilcox, Jerome S. Anderson, Jr., Fred J. Moll, Albert A. Haley, Seth N. Williams, and T. Clifford Connell.

Announcement was made of a rally a week from Monday night at which the speakers will be Hon. F. C. Walcott, candidate for U. S. senator, and State Senator Mrs. Merritt.

NORWICH TOWN

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church is to hold a meeting this (Thursday) afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Fulton on Huntington avenue. DOGS WILL COMPETE IN COUNTY GROUSE TRIALS

The third annual grouse trial of the New London County Grouse Trial club will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Coen club grounds west of Chesterfield. The opening of the trials will be at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. They will continue through Saturday and will be adjourned in the evening until 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The judges are to be Fred J. Brooks of Hadlyme and D. T. Walden of New Haven, both experienced men in bird dog handling.

The event that holds special interest is the derby stakes in which the owner of the winning dog in addition to receiving a prize will take the handsome Mills trophy for one year. The trophy has to be won three times by dogs of the same owner in order to become the property of any owner. Only dogs that have not reached the age of two years are eligible to compete.

In the derby stakes two dogs are drawn to run together for 30 minutes and are handled as if they were on a regular hunting trip. The owners or handlers with a person who knows the terrain follow the dogs. The secretary of the club, the judges and spectators follow quietly behind the dogs.

Walter S. Griswold of 43 Gorton street, New London, is secretary of the club and entries for the trials may be filed with him before Saturday morning.

NORWICH ROTARIANS ARE INVITED TO WILLIMANTIC

Matters pertaining almost wholly to the club membership occupied the attention of the meeting of the Norwich Rotary club on Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel. President Edward W. Jewett presided, with Drs. Agnew and Freeman as song-leaders. An invitation from the Willimantic club was read, asking that the Norwich club unite with them at their meeting next Tuesday at the Nathan Hale hotel when Rev. John Calvin, past district governor, would be the speaker. A letter from Superintendent of Schools E. J. Graham was read expressing his appreciation of the opportunity given the school children by the Rotary club to hear the U. S. Marine band.

President Jewett gave a very entertaining report of the fall conclave at Lennox held last week at which the Norwich club had charge of one of the breakfast meetings.

The programme for the meeting was in charge of James E. Roantree, who introduced Charles A. Saxton, chairman of the club service committee. Mr. Saxton asked for reports from E. LaRue Bliven, chairman of the fellowship committee, and Mr. Roantree, who spoke of Rotary classification. An interesting talk on telephoning across the water was given by A. E. Payson. Henry Lyon told of the mechanics of a trans-oceanic telephone call.

Opening Bible Class at Y. M. C. A.

The opening session of the men's bible study class at the Norwich Y. M. C. A. proved very interesting. It was held Wednesday evening at 6.15 o'clock.

The scripture reading was from the gospel of Mark, and the topic was "Jesus selecting his team workers." Among the points developed in the discussion were the following: The man who is largely an individualist is not usually a large success. Most men need helpers, and the man who tries to do it all himself limits his usefulness. Some of the qualifications of leadership are courage, faith, intuitiveness, knowing one's job, but knowing that does not know it all. A leader must have optimism and enthusiasm; a leader must believe that others can do things and he must give them a chance. Jesus chose the twelve "that they might be with him" for training, etc. The object of Jesus in sending his men out two by two was probably because the net results would be better. Jesus sent his men out to give and not to get; this should be the ideal of every true man. No man can expect to win victories otherwise unless or until he has won victories in himself.

ANSWERS INQUIRIES ON WHAT MERCHANTS' INSTITUTE IS

Several inquiries made to the Norwich chamber of commerce office have resulted in the following statement as to the general objectives and purposes of the merchants' institute to be held here next week: What is a merchants' institute?

A merchants' institute is a series of get-together meetings of merchants and business people, everybody interested in Better Business.

The general object is to make available to local merchants the best plan and methods in use today by the most successful merchants throughout the country. It is a series of meetings for the exchange of merchandising ideas.

The program is specific and definite in its character. Local investigations are made, and the answers to the following questions help determine the manner in which the subjects are discussed and the material used in them:

Who are your real competitors? Are they in your own town or larger cities?

Why do your competitors win trade from your trade territory?

Are you making a net profit out of your present volume of business?

Is your turn-over as rapid as other competing stores in neighboring towns and cities?

Is your advertising pulling, or are you sending out advertising that was given no thought or attention and it failed to show results?

Are your salespeople just waiting on customers or are they selling merchandise?

Are they greeting the customer courteously and offering their services in a pleasing manner?

Are your windows just stopping the lookers or are they selling merchandise through them?

Is your merchandise arranged in your store according to tested plans for selling merchandise, or are you using the habits and customs of our grandfathers?

LEBANON D. A. R. HELD MEMORIAL TO MRS. HARRISON

Gov. Jonathan Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., of Lebanon, held its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the parlors of the First Congregational church, with the regent, Miss Annie Gillett, presiding.

The meeting opened with salute to the flag, Lord's Prayer and singing America. Reports of the secretary and treasurer read and accepted. A letter was read about the work at Ellis Island, asking for donations for the work. The regent gave a report of the regents' meeting held in Windsor. After the business meeting the following program was given, arranged by the program committee: Defense of Citizenship, read by Mrs. L. P. Ayer and Mrs. R. A. Race; song, Columbia the Gem of the Ocean, by all. The program was a memorial to Caroline Scott Harrison and introduction to the program was given by Miss Annie Gillett; Questions and Answers by Miss Blanche Smith and others about Mrs. Harrison. All joined in singing Mrs. Harrison's favorite song, "Love's Old Sweet Song"; Ode to Mrs. Harrison, by James Whitcomb Riley, read by Mrs. Marjorie Ayer; song, "Juanita." The meeting closed with the D. A. R. pledge. There were 18 members present.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Byron Blakeslee, Mrs. Otto Pudtz and Mrs. Walter Burgess served sandwiches, cake and tea.

TAFTVILLE

At the regular monthly meeting of the Community club held in Newent on Wednesday evening a minstrel was given under the direction of George W. Weller, Jr. The first part of the evening was devoted to a business meeting after which the minstrel was put on. Mrs. Adam Leupold, Mrs. George Heimboldt and George W. Weller, Jr., were on the committee for the evening's entertainment. After the minstrel refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, Mrs. William Emerson, Mrs. James Emerson, Mrs. William J. Reynolds. The program was as follows: Opening chorus, entire company; I'm a Bum, Edward Thomas; In My Bouquet of Memories, Miss Betty Newton; Who is She?, Clayton Sharples; Chloe, Miss Gladys Thoma; Old Man Sunshine, Little Boy Bluebird, George W. Weller, Jr.; Dance by Miss Mary Martin; Girl of My Dreams, Richard Oat; duet, Miss Elsie Heap and Miss Flossie M. Meyer; closing chorus, entire company. George W. Weller, Jr., Victor Davis and Edward Thoma were the end men. The scene was a cabaret, the end men acting as waiters. The chorus was composed of the following: John Houston, Robert Schmidt, Edwin Heap, Melba Monty, Helen Thoma, Frieda Sarosky, Edna Krodel, Mildred Troeger and Miss Louise Sigrist, pianist.

Makers of History—Intolerant of Tradition

The Reo Flying Cloud has made motoring history. It proved that a car could be beautiful, enduring, swift, powerful, economical and comfortable. It made possible the purchase of all the desirable qualities of motoring in one car. It lived up to the idea behind it, "A Reo must do all things well."

The Reo Flying Cloud has made history because back of it stands a group of men intolerant of tradition, unhampered by the inheritance of mechanical features that must be preserved, given free reign to develop or to acquire whatever might be essential to making an ideal automobile for America.

From road to roof, from stem to stern, the Reo Flying Cloud is a skillful blending of all that is best in modern engineering practice and modern design.

For brakes, it has the best the world affords for motor cars. Its engine retains no obsolete practices. Its steering ease and safety are unsurpassed. So on throughout its construction in every part.

To the Flying Cloud's far-in-the-lead design, to the finer materials of which it is built, are added a carefulness and precision of workmanship usually considered unnecessary in its price class.

There is a Reo Flying Cloud near you. Try it out. Learn the pleasure of driving a car which does all things well.

STORM FORCED ZEPPELIN TO TAKE SOUTHERN COURSE

Detour South Will Add 500 Miles to the 5,000 Mile Journey From Friedrichshaven to Lakehurst, N. J.—The Graf Has a Flying Range of 9,300 Miles—Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Ship's Commander, Expected to Reach New York Sunday Morning—Was Last Reported Over Spanish Mediterranean Coast at 8.15 P. M., E. S. T.

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Graf Zeppelin, giant dirigible, late Thursday night was believed heading southwestward down the southern coast of Spain, toward Gibraltar, with adverse winds cutting its sped to below 50 miles an hour.

The big dirigible was last reported sighted over Tarragona, a small city on the Spanish Mediterranean coast, at 8:15 p. m. (3:15 p. m. E. S. T.) an hour and a quarter after it had flown over Barcelona. At Tarragona the dirigible was said to be heading in the direction of Valencia, 150 miles further down the coast.

Maintaining the rate of speed exhibited in the stretch between Barcelona and Tarragona the dirigible might hope to reach the Strait of Gibraltar about dawn or 1 or 2 a. m. E. S. T. just less than 24 hours after its departure from Friedrichshafen.

From Gibraltar it was indicated the Zeppelin would pass out to the open Atlantic on its voyage to America, probably choosing a southerly route, to Lakehurst, N. J., where it expects to arrive Sunday morning. It is expected to pass south of the Azores and probably will not be sighted there.

So far as could be ascertained all efforts to get in touch Thursday night with the zeppelin by means of radio had failed, and there was little hope of its being reported again on its way to Gibraltar unless possibly at Valencia.

FIRST COMMERCIAL TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR VOYAGE

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Ger., Oct. 11—(AP)—Bound over the same track that Columbus followed 436 years ago, the giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin tonight was nosing her way westward toward the United States on the first commercial trans-Atlantic air voyage.

In the place of 88 aboard the historic caravel that led the way to the new world in 1492, were 60 persons, including one woman, who boarded the dirigible at Friedrichshafen this morning and began the long voyage across southern Europe and the Atlantic to the United States.

Just twelve hours later, the dirigible passed over Barcelona, Spain, well on her way over a course along the southern Atlantic route, westward toward the Azores and America. The northern route had been abandoned even before the flight started because of stormy weather conditions and even the southern route, so far as the continent was concerned, was none too good. Out at sea, however, conditions were reported more favorable.

"I expect to reach New York Sunday morning," said Dr. Hugo Eckener, the ship's commander, just before the departure. "The last weather reports timed 2:00 a. m., speak of heavy storms. Under these circumstances of course, it is impossible to determine the exact route in advance. In general, however, I can say we will stick to the southern course, flying over France and then heading southward to avoid a depression which is moving to and fro between Newfoundland and Ireland. The northern route is out of the question."

The Graf Zeppelin's commander, who already has one trans-Atlantic dirigible crossing to his credit, that of the ZR-3, now the Los Angeles in 1924, followed this course precisely.

Within three minutes of the casting off at Friedrichshafen, the Graf Zeppelin headed across Lake Constance and disappeared in a blue haze, while the shouts and cheers of the spectators at the flying field still were echoing. Like clock work, the dirigible sped on, averaging between 55 and 60 miles an hour. Basle was reached at 3:33 a. m., eastern standard time, and the Franco-German border an hour and a half later.

Then the ship swung to the southwest and passed over Lyons at 7:25 a. m., (E. S. T.) Here the Graf Zeppelin turned directly southward and sped down the valley of the Rhone, over Monte-Limar at 9:05 and Arles about an hour later. At 10:20 a. m., she reached the Mediterranean and left the shores of France at the wireless station in the village of Sainte Marias Dela Mer.

Once over the Mediterranean, the great ship headed westward toward her goal. The detour toward the south added 500 miles to the 5,000 mile journey from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N. J., but the added safety more than made up for the extra mileage. The ship has a flying range of 120 hours and a radius of about 9,300 miles giving a wide leeway.

The latest estimate of the length of the flight was made by Commanders

PHILA. POLICE STILL ACCEPT PROTECTION MONEY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11—(AP)—Police still are accepting protection money even under the shadow of the grand jury investigation which already has led to the trial of three police and the arrest of more than 30 on charges of bribery, Judge Edwin O. Lewis intimated today while hearing the case against men arrested last night when the Club Roman was raided.

The club was raided by county detectives and prohibition agents who found a quantity of supposed liquor and paraphernalia for horse race gambling. At present at the time of the raid numbering 33 were arrested.

Judge Lewis today held seven alleged proprietors and 10 members for court in bail ranging from $7,500 to $500. At the outset of the hearing, Lemuel B. Schofield, assistant district attorney, said that the club had been running openly and with the knowledge of police.

"This sort of thing couldn't have gone on unless protection was paid, even up to yesterday," Judge Lewis said.

The court held Philip J. Foley and Joseph Fletcher, both of this city, in $7,500 bail each as the alleged proprietors of the club.

John A. Martin, secretary, was held in $3,000 bail; J. Harry Baer, alleged gambling master; Joseph Kane, bartender, Edward Kunkel, steward and William Jones, Negro, porter, all of this city, were held in $1,000 bail each.

Ten customers were held in $500 bail as witnesses and sixteen others were discharged.

CRITICIZED TARIFF PLANK IN DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 11—(AP)—The tariff plank in the democratic national platform was criticized by Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur in a statement here today. He asserted that careful analysis of the democratic tariff pledges reveals that the traditional policy of "tariff for revenue only" still is the policy of the democratic party.

"The democratic tariff," the secretary said, "is based on a principle which places the resident of the United States on a free competitive basis with those in other countries."

Secretary Wilbur said he believes the tariff is one of the great issues in the campaign and that the voters realize it.

"I am convinced," he said, "that Mr. Hoover will be elected. There are many undercurrents in the campaign but there is no question in my mind that Mr. Hoover and the republican party have the greatest support. The importance of good government of a protective tariff and other republican principles are appreciated by a majority of voters."

12 STATIONS TO BROADCAST SMITH'S LOUISVILLE SPEECH

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—The National Broadcasting company announced tonight that 32 stations would broadcast Gov. Smith's campaign speech at Louisville, Ky., on Saturday evening from 8 to 9 o'clock, Eastern standard time.

They include:

WEAF New York; WEEI Boston; WTIC Hartford; WJAR Providence; WTAG Worcester; and WCSH Portland, Me.

CLOSING SESSION OF SPANISH WAR VETERANS

HAVANA, Oct. 11—(AP)—The United Spanish war veterans in their closing session today voted to meet at Denver, Colo., next year for their 31st annual convention. All officers were elected by acclamation, the new national commander is William L. Grayson, of Savannah, Ga.

Sixty resolutions were passed including one to petition the president and congress of the United States to meet "the crisis confronting service men of 1898-1902" and grant pensions to men serving less than 90 days, receiving honorable discharges for physical disabilities and who had reached 50 years of age $50 a month. The resolution further asked $65 a month for disabled veterans and $90 for those needing an attendant.

An urgent appeal was made for victims of the recent Porto Rico storm and the convention authorized that funds be taken from the treasury and sent to the storm area.

MOVED FURNITURE OF OUSTED PASTOR INTO STREET

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11—(AP)—After forcing open two doors of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational church parsonage, sheriff's deputies, armed with a writ of possession, today moved the personal properties of the Rev. Dr. Frank Dyer, ousted pastor, into the street. A dozen men and women, apparently members of the church anti-Dyer faction, aided the officers.

Ejection of the pastor's furniture and clothing was the sequel of yesterday's court action, which virtually terminated a fight of nearly a year, waged by Dr. Dyer to retain his pastorate and control of the church against the opposing and finally successful faction. A superior court order was issued giving possession of the church and parsonage to the anti-Dyer faction. A previous order has enjoined Dr. Dyer from further occupation of the church pulpit.

DEVON MAN SOUGHT FOR $15,000 ROBBERY IN WEBSTER

MILFORD, Conn., Oct. 11—(AP)—Edward Duhaime, 21, of 13 Baldwin avenue, Devon, reported to be sought by Webster, Mass., police for a $15,000 safe robbery in that city, has not been home for several weeks, his father said here tonight.

Mr. Duhaime declared that when he last heard of his son he was visiting with his cousins, Eugene and Bernard Hamel, Waterbury, who are also said to be sought by police in connection with the robbery.

Duhaime, Milford police say, was arrested here last spring for theft of a car in New Rochelle, N. Y. He was tried in New Rochelle and placed on probation.

CURTIS ATTACKS SMITH'S POSITION ON FARM RELIEF

JANESVILLE, Wis., Oct. 11—(AP)—Governor Smith's position on farm relief was assailed here tonight by Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, in his closing campaign speech in the agricultural area. The senator read statements purporting to give the views of Governor Smith on the agricultural question last year and two years ago.

LAID CORNERSTONNE OF THE NEW YALE LIBRARY

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 11—(AP)—In the presence of relatives of the late John W. Sterling, of New York city whose gift made the construction of the new Yale library possible, the cornerstone of the new building was laid today by Edwin M. Herr, chairman of the building committee of the Yale corporation, assisted by James Gamble Rogers, who designed the structure. George R. Church, of New York city, senior trustee of the estate of Mr. Sterling delivered the memorial address and President James Rowland Angell responded for the university. Rev. Edmore M. McKee, pastor of the University church gave the invocation and benediction.

Mr. Church in his address declared that Mr. Sterling had accumulated his fortune "chiefly for the benefit of Yale." He told how Mr. Sterling after his graduation from Yale in 1864 had taken up law eventually building up a large practice but had never forgotten his alma mater.

President Angell in his response declared that Yale had for more than a decade felt the need for a building of the proper size and of adequate appointments to house its great library and that the university was deeply grateful to the trustees of Mr. Sterling's estate "for their decision to erect this memorial and for their generous and sympathetic understanding of the problems which it has presented."

MEXICAN REBELS START REVOLUTIONARY MEASURES

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11—(AP)—Reports from the states of Jalisco and Michoacan, where government troops recently started a new offensive to suppress the activities of insurgent groups, indicate that such groups have consolidated their forces for desperate retaliatory measures.

The newspaper El Sol says that last night after attacking the town of Tucaucesco, Jalisco, where they were repulsed with numerous dead on both sides, the insurgents swooped down upon Tonaya nearby. They were repulsed there too, but before several federals, including Capt. Leon Gaona Villa, commander of the garrison, had been killed. The insurgents after these two reverses attacked the village of El Grullo, where the home guard defeated them, and capturing the leader, Pedro Monroy, executed him.

The passenger train from Guadalajara to Mexico City was derailed early this morning between the stations of Castillo and Kings, insurgents having placed large rocks on the track. The timely arrival of federal troops is believed to have prevented an attack on the train.

HOW HUNGARY VIEWS KELLOGG PEACE PACT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(AP)—The Hungarian government does not believe that the treaty for the renunciation of war will have satisfactory result unless the signatories devise an efficacious means other than war of settling crises between countries.

This was stated in the Hungarian government's note received at the state department today and which signified the official intention of that nation to adhere to the pact.

The note said that with war eliminated, the signatories would have to place at the disposition of the nations of the world some different but efficacious means of solving the crises developing through injustices by one nation toward another. It implied that the mere pact itself was insufficient to bring peace among nations when differences arose between them, and stated that the Hungarian government would take steps to make its adherence to the treaty valid under the supposition that the signatories will seek to find a means to settle future injustices peacefully.

OIL MAGNATE SINCLAIR SUMMONED AS WITNESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—Assistant Federal Attorney Todereld announced today that Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, had been subpoenaed by the government to appear as a witness, if needed, in the trial of Edward Andrews and Elmer F. Brown, internal revenue agents who are charged with demanding a $10,000 bribe and accepting that amount from Sinclair's attorneys. Reginald Ragland and other members of Sinclair's legal staff also have been subpoenaed.

The trial will be held before Federal Judge Thacher and a jury.

SAYS HOOVER AND CURTIS WILL CARRY MASSACHUSETTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general and former governor of New Hampshire, today told Col. John G. Tilson, director of the republican eastern speakers' bureau, that the republican presidential ticket will carry Massachusetts and that Benjamin Loring Young of Boston will be elected United States senator in that state.

"Mr. Young is making a wonderful campaign against Senator David I. Walsh," he said, "and I believe he'll beat Walsh. I also feel very confident that Hoover will carry Massachusetts."

ROBINSON ATTACKS BOULDER CANYON DAM LEGISLATION

RENO, Nev., Oct. 11—(AP)—Senator Joe T. Robinson chose this Colorado river basin tonight for his second attack of the week upon Herbert Hoover's view on Boulder Canyon Dam legislation.

The democratic vice-presidential nominee charged Mr. Hoover with "instability and vacillation" regarding the huge power and irrigation project on the Colorado. A condition which he said as "in striking contrast to the firm stand of prompt action" taken by Governor Smith.

French Submarine Two Days Overdue

The Ondine, With Normal Crew of 40 Officers and Men, Was on Trial Trip.

PARIS, Oct. 11—(AP)—A distinct note of anxiety was sounded in the French press today at the disappearance of the submarine Ondine, two days overdue at Bizerta, the fortified seaport of Tunis.

The ministry of marine however, insists that there is no cause for alarm, and assigns as reason for its nonappearance to a probable stop to repair some damage or other.

The Ondine, which is a submarine of a small coast defense type, with a normal crew of 40 officers and men was on a trial trip and was not yet officially part of the French navy. Her cruising radius is 2,000 miles at a speed of ten knots.

STOPS TO BE MADE BY HOOVER TRAIN IN NEW ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(AP)—In the seclusion of his study, Herbert Hoover worked today upon the speeches he is to make at Boston and New York on his visits there during the next two weeks.

The republican presidential nominee for the first time since he opened his personal headquarters on Massachusetts avenue let an entire week day pass without putting in his appearance there.

While he was pondering the phraseology of the two adresses, final arrangements were being made at his headquarters for his Boston trip. Accompanied by members of his family and personla staff and a corps of newspaper correspondents, the nominee will leave for the New England metropolis Sunday night at 11 o'clock.

Except for operating stops at Baltimore, West Philadelphia, New York and New Haven, Conn., his train will not pause until it reaches Springfield, Mass., on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock. It will remain 15 minutes there before proceeding to Worcester, where a 25 minute stop will be made. Leaving Worcester at 10:20 o'clock, the next stop will be at Newtonville where the nominee will detrain for an automobile ride of an hour and a half which will end at Boston common. There he will be welcomed by the mayor and make a brief talk himself.

The nominee will spend the afternoon at the home of Governor Fuller and his party will leave Boston on the return trip at ten o'clock, shortly after his speech at the arena has been concluded. His train will make five operating stops on the return trip, at Providence, New Haven, New York, West Philadelphia and Baltimore. It will reach Washington just about ten a. m. Tuesday.

WINTER WEATHER IN THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGION

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 11—(AP)—Wintry aspects took the place of balmy Indian summer in the Rocky Mountain region today.

From Montana to northern New Mexico lower temperatures prevailed and Montana experienced its first general snowstorm which swept down from Alberta, Canada. Cold rain turned to snow in many sections and at Great Falls a snow storm continued throughout most of the day.

Wyoming felt the chill of the storm and snow was reported in many sections. Casper received the heaviest fall but the snow melted nearly as quickly as it fell. In Colorado snow fell only in the higher reaches of the Rockies but falling temperatures in nearly every section seemed to justify the weather bureau's prediction of snow and colder weather tonight and Friday.

The storm continued west of the Rockies, Reno, Nev., reporting a light snow that melted quickly, and Salt Lake City experiencing a cold rain followed by a flurry of snow. Pocatello, Idaho, reported light snow and colder temperatures forecast for tonight. At Truckee, Calif., three and a half inches of snow fell this morning.

The storm extended east of the mountains into western Kansas and Nebraska. In western Kansas freezing temperatures were predicted in sections where a few days ago, the temperatures soared as high as 90 degrees above zero.

MRS. MORTIMER DAVIS NOT SEEKING DIVORCE

NICE, France, Oct. 11—(AP)—Mrs. Mortimer Davis, more widely known as Roszika Dolly of stage dancing fame, announced flatly in an interview here today that she had no intention of seeking a divorce. Rumors that a dissolution of her marriage was in prospect became current after publication of her father-in-laws will showed that she personally had been barred from participating in his $150,000,000 estate.

The younger Mrs. Davis was emphatic in saying that the public knows little, through persual of Sir Mortimer Davis' will, about her financial arrangements with the family.

"I see no reason why I should discuss by finances with the public," she said. "But I am virtually forced to say that more than generous, financial provisions, covering every eventuality were made when I was married.

Sir Mortimer Davis, father-in-law of the former stage star, died in Cannes, France, last March. He was president of the Imperial Tobacco company of Canada but had numerous other financial interests and also was known for his racing stable. His will provided that his son, Mortimer Jr., and his widow should share equally in the net annual revenue of the estate, but that none of it should go to his daughter-in-law.

"I and my husband are very happy together. I am never going back on the stage," Mrs. Mortimer said.

YOUNG GIRL TOOK POISON WITH SUICIDAL INTENT

NEW BRITAIN, Oct. 11—(AP)—Dorothy Craig, 17, of Forestville, was taken to the New Britain hospital today suffering from a dose of poison taken with suicidal intent. A short time after police had picked her up walking along the street ill, after she had taken the poison, her parents notified the Bristol police that she was missing from their home. Police believe that the girl, who has suffered from nervous trouble and placed this as the motive for the attempt at suicide. How she got to New Britain and where she obtained the poison, the girl would not say. Her condition is not critical.

D. V. McNutt Heads American Legion

Indiana Educator Elected National Commander on the Third Ballot.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 11—(AP)—An Indiana educator, Paul V. McNutt, today was elected national commander of the American Legion at the final session of the organization's tenth annual convention here.

McNutt, dean of the law school of Indiana university at Bloomington, succeeds Edward E. Spafford, of New York city, retiring commander. He won on the third ballot, the break coming when Captain John D. Ewing, Shreveport, La., newspaper publisher, who led on the second ballot, withdrew in favor of McNutt.

When it was apparent that more than a majority had been rolled up for McNutt his election was made unanimous.

The new commander is national executive committeeman of the Legion for Indiana.

When selected to head the Indiana university law school in May, 1925, he attained the distinction of being the youngest member of the Indiana faculty ever to be made a dean. He is 37 years old. While he was state commander the Indiana department broke all previous membership records, perfected its international organization and took a firmly established place among the "big ten" departments of the Legion in the United States.

During the war, McNutt was commissioned a captain of field artillery at the close of the second training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Before his discharge he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He is a colonel in the officers' reserve corps and commands the 326th Field Artillery. He also is vice president of the National Reserves organization.

McNutt is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national college honorary scholastic fraternity.

Five regional vice commanders were elected. They are E. L. White, Westville, Conn.; Lawrence McGann, Chicago; George Malone, Reno, Nev.; Miller C. Foster, Spartanburg, S. C.; and Walton D. Hood, San Antonio.

Rabbi Hermann Deck of Pottsville, Pa., was named national chaplain.

PLANE COLUMBIA WRECKED SOON AFTER TAKE-OFF

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Oct. 11—(AP)—The famous monoplane Columbia lifted its lemon wings against the sun today on a trans-Atlantic flight, an adventure it has experienced before now, and three minutes after its take-off it was a twisted wreck crashed against the earth, another experience to which it is no stranger.

The crew of the Columbia for today's flight, which had Rome as its destination, consisted of Roger Q. Williams and Pietro Bonelli, both of whom escaped without injury.

The Columbia, loaned to Williams and Bonelli for the trans-Atlantic flight by its owner, Charles A. Levine, who himself has flown in it to Europe, started down the famous trans-Atlantic runway at 11:53 a. m. It lumbered slothfully under its load of 504 gallons of gasoline, then gradually picked up speed. At 11:55 it took the air. Williams, at the controls, could not get the ship up. At not more than 50 feet it strained over the deadly declivity where two years ago Rene Fonck cracked up the ship in which he was leaving for Paris. Three men were killed in the burning of Fonck's plane.

Once over that gully, Williams tried to force the Columbia up, but he hit a bad strip of air and the plane sank like a foundering boat.

He signalled Bonelli to lighten the ship by kicking the dump valve and dropping the gasoline. Bonelli kicked but the valve, just tightened to close a leak, would not work.

Williams and Bonelli then realized they were facing one of the most dangerous moments in an airman's life, a forced landing in an overloaded plane, a happening all too likely to burst a tank and envelop the plane and occupants in flames.

Williams picked out a smooth spot on the old Westbury golf links, adjoining Curtiss field, and brought the ship down beside a sand trap and with a high bunker straight ahead. As the plane struck he kicked the rubber hard right, so that if a tank should burst the flaming fluid would be thrown out sideways instead of over pilot and navigator.

YALE SENIORS FOUND GUILTY OF SIMPLE ASSAULT

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Oct. 11—(AP)—A jury in Franklin county court today found Alexander J. Knapp, of Baltimore and Sydney R. Prince, Jr., of Washington, students in the senior class of Yale, guilty of simple assault. They were found not guilty on charges of assault with intent to rob and impersonating an officer.

Judge Watson R. Davison instructed District Attorney Clittenger to file two additional charges against the youths who were arrested as the result of an alleged hold-up of H. M. Howe, Waynesboro grocer early on the morning of September 4. Prince will now stand trial for driving an automobile while intoxicated and Knapp for permitting an intoxicated person to drive his automobile.

Judge Davison deferred sentence pending the outcome of the charges filed today.

Knapp and Prince took the stand in their own defense yesterday and testified they were intoxicated at the time they are accused of attempting to board Howe's truck. They declared they thought Howe was a rum runner and that they wished to buy some liquor.

EXPRESS EMPLOYES IN N. Y. VOTED TO RETURN TO WORK

Service, Tied Up Since Late Tuesday Night, Was Resumed Late Yesterday—Settlement Was Made by G. M. Harrison, Grand President of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks—All of the Strikers Are to Be Retained in the Employment of the Company.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—The strike of American Railway Express company employes, which has tied up express traffic in metropolitan New York for nearly two days, was ended today when the strikers voted unanimously to return to work.

The vote was taken at a mass meeting attended by about 5,000 of the striking employes in the metropolitan area at which George M. Harrison, grand president of the International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, urged that they "go into court with clean hands" by carrying out the terms of their contract with the company.

The company agreed to take back all the men, and to consider their grievances at a conference October 17 at which the employes will be represented by Thomas Derrick, head of the New York local; President Harrison, Vice President Roberts and H. J. Chapman of the international union, and a second representative of the local body.

Harrison told the mass meeting that under the national railway labor act and their contract with the company their strike was illegal even though probably justified by the company's acts. The company's refusal to recognize union representatives, he said, was also in violation of the federal law, but when the company agreed to meet union representatives at Wednesday's conference the principal object of the strike has been attained.

If the company refused to recognize the local representatives Wednesday, Harrison said, the entire international membership of 55,000 will be involved.

Members of the night force prepared to return to work at 10 o'clock tonight.

The strike started Tuesday night without previous announcement.

TRIAL OF LEOPOLD HAS STARTED IN WATERBURY

WATERBURY, Oct. 11—(AP)—Morris Shellnitz, of New Haven, admitted this afternoon at the trial of Louis N. Leopold that he had been given liquor and small sums of money while at the St. Mary's hospital by Detective Sergeant Henry Johnson, of the Waterbury police. Shellnitz, who was indicted last June with Leopold on two counts of first degree murder and two counts of wilful burning of a building took the witness stand unexpectedly this afternoon as a witness for the state at the trial of Leopold which opened Tuesday. Trial of the case was suspended until next Tuesday when court adjourned this afternoon due to tomorrow being Columbus day.

Shellnitz took the stand and identified Leopold and told a story of the happenings of the night which he says are the truth. The examination was featured by many objections by the defense most of which were overruled. Shellnitz three times answered a question by State's Attorney Lawrence L. Lewis by saying Samuel Weiss went to see Leopold. The question asked each time called for another answer. Attorney John H. Cassidy after the third time said that he felt that the answers, after being warned, was sufficient to demand a mistrial.

Judge Carl Foster denied the motion and then turned to the jury and warned them that they should not consider the statement of the witness that Weiss had gone to see Leopold. Attorney Cassidy then pressed his motion for a mistrial stating that the repetition of the statement by the court made it worse. The motion was denied and the defense was allowed an exception.

Shellnitz was subjected to a lengthy cross examination and was still on the stand when court adjourned. He will resume his testimony next week.

GENERAL CONVENTION OF THE P. E. CHURCH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(AP)—An inspiring demonstration by Episcopal women, crystallizing in the donation of more than a million dollars for missionary purposes marked the second day of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church. Other activities included the organization of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, and the beginning of the important task of considering revisions of the church Book of Common Prayer.

At 5 o'clock in the morning women began to assemble at the National cathedral gates for the triennial corporate communion, the first service ever held on the floor of the cathedral, now under construction. By 7 o'clock all the seats were filled. Overflow services attended by 10,000 were held in three chapels of the cathedral and more than 5,000 knelt in prayer at an improvised outdoor altar.

The united thank offering for the missions, made up of checks, and the coins of many nations to symbolize the universality of the gifts, was offered on a golden alms basin and later taken under heavy guard to a local bank to be counted.

A recommendation that the Episcopal church take part in another conference similar to the Lausanne meeting last year for promoting world Christian unity was offered to the House of Deputies in a committee resolution signed by Bishop William T. Manning of New York, and other leaders.

DAVIES INDICTED AS ACCOMPLICE IN KIDNAPING

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—Irving Davies, alias Cohen, of Chicago, was indicted today by the Kings county grand jury as an accomplice in the kidnaping on June 1 of Daniel Greenfield of Brooklyn, described by police as a representative of a New Jersey bookmaking syndicate.

Police said they have under arrest two other of a band of five believed responsible for kidnaping Greenfield and suspected of two other kidnapings, and that they are prepared to apprehend when wanted the two other members of the band.

The kidnaping of Greenfield became known today when the case was presented to the grand jury. Greenfield, police said, was held prisoner for two days in a Brooklyn house and released only after he went with his captors to a bank and paid them $14,000 ransom of the $50,000 they had demanded.

Davies has been held since Sept. 16 as an alleged bail jumper from Chicago. The others under arrest are Gustave Berger of Brooklyn and Alfred Cassons of Iselin, N. J.

TUMULTUOUS WELCOMES FOR SMITH ON HIS TOUR SOUTH

GOV. SMITH'S TRAIN, En route to Tennessee, Oct. 11—(AP)—Hailed by large and enthusiastic crowds in nearly a dozen cities and towns along the route of his special train, Governor Smith today invaded Virginia and North Carolina and brought to those traditionally democratic "solid south" states the first personal campaign appeal of a presidential nominee of that party in many years.

Making his second campaign tour, in his fight for the nation's highest office, Governor Smith was given tumultuous welcomes by crowds along the way and in many places bands blared forth the tunes of "Dixie" and "The Sidewalks of New York."

At the capitals of the two states, Richmond and Raleigh, the nominee made his longest stops, staying for more than an hour at each city. Wearing his famous brown derby, the governor left his train at the two capitals and headed long automobile processions through crowded streets to visit the state houses. At the Virginia capital, Governor Smith made the first impromptu speech of the trip. Introduced by Gov. Harry Flood Byrd as the "next president of the United States," the nominee expressed his gratitude for the enthusiasm and affection shown by the Virginia people.

Tomorrow, Governor Smith will carry his presidential fight into the border state of Tennessee, where he will make two stops at Chattanooga and Nashville, the state capital. During the trip between the Tennessee cities he will be carried back for a brief incursion into the "solid south," touching a town or two in Alabama.

On Saturday he will invade another border state—Kentucky, where that night he will make the first formal speech of his trip and the seventh of his campaign, at Louisville.

ATTACKS SPEECHES MADE BY MRS. WILLEBRANDT

NEW YORK, Oct. 11—(AP)—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee in 1924, called upon the American people in an address broadcast last night over a nation-wide radio hook-up to remain true to the nation's birthright of religious liberty and civic equality.

He denounced the statement that a Catholic was disqualified for the presidency as a "betrayal of American ideals" and declared a "muddy deluge of literature and propaganda" was being let loose upon the country to lead the people astray from their traditions of religious freedom.

He singled out Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, for criticism, asserting that her speeches had "rightly shocked the country."

"Public opinion," he said, "waits with eagerness for a rebuke of her action by her official superior, the president of the United States, or by the candidate in whose name she speaks.

"It is not that she as an officer of the government should speak for prohibition or against it, but that she should urge upon church councils and clergymen that they use their clerical influence to muster all their members in support of a given party or its candidate.

"God forbid that we should ever see religious bodies divided along political lines, that we should ever see any political party dominated by any religious sect or denomination or that the clergy of any church should ever attempt, or succeed in the attempt when made, to lead its membership into any political fold."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGNING IN BOSTON

BOSTON Oct. 11—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for governor of New York, speaking at the City club here tonight, predicted that if Herbert Hoover is elected president there would be danger of a "deadlock" between the president and congress "which would do little good to the nation."

"Frankly, I do not believe for one minute," he said, "that my friend, Mr. Hoover, if elected president, would succeed in having anything but a four years' struggle with our friends, the senators and representatives on Capitol Hill. His is not the type of mind to meet the legislative mind. He has not the patience to work with them to settle differences, to achieve results."

Mr. Roosevelt addressed the members of the City club in the first of two addresses he is to make in this city. Tomorrow night, he will address a public gathering at Mechanics building.

In tonight's address, he addressed his remarks to voters "not bound by irrevocable ties to one party or the other." He stressed his long friendship for both presidential candidates and praised Secretary Hoover's ability to carry out specific tasks such as his relief work in Belgium and in Poland.

SUB-COMMITTEE FOR SCHOOL BOARD ARE APPOINTED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Oct. 11—Dr. Frank E. Guild, re-elected chairman of the Windham town school committee has appointed the following sub-committees for the year: Teachers, H. C. Lathrop, Guild, Thompson, Parker and Sweeney; property, repairs and insurance, Hillhouse, Lathrop and Sweeney; transportation, King, Keating and Parker; library and text books, Thompson, Hillhouse and Snow; evening school, Parker, Snow and Sweeney; supplies, King, Backus and Keating; graduation exercises, Snow, King and Backus; auditors, Lathrop and Sweeney. Principal Egbert A. Case has been re-elected secretary of the board.

The two-day program for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the local Methodist Episcopal church, October 19 and 21st has been completed by Rev. Harold H. Critchlow, pastor and a general committee. The history of the church, some of which during the early years is based on tradition, is an interesting record of endeavor and sacrifice for the cause of Christianity from a modest beginning with meetings in schoolhouses. A chapel was later erected and Rev. Horace Moulton became the first pastor in April, 1828. The church has not been without a leader since. Prior to the coming of Rev. Mr. Moulton a Methodist "class" was conducted for years in the home of Jehaliah Fuller, a stone house in the yard of the Willimantic Cotton mill. Mr. Fuller moved to a house near Eaton's ice-house in Mansfield in 1827 and with his own family of ten children as a nucleus continued to conduct classes. William C. Boone was another staunch leader prior to the coming of the first resident pastor. The house occupied by Mr. Boone was on the site of the Willimantic Savings institute and has been removed to 26 Bank street where it still stands. The first chapel on the present site of the Alling block on Main street was mainly built by the members of the church who overcame almost insuperable obstacles for over a score of years, but these hardships made for strength and sturdy growth and in 1850 the present structure was started, being dedicated later the same year. With additions and improvements, it is still well equipped for church work.

In 1851 the congregation built the double concrete house south of St. Joseph's church on Jackson street and for a decade it was occupied by the presiding elder and the pastor. This property was sold and in 1868 the present parsonage was built during the pastorage of Rev. Edgar E. Clark. Because it stood alone in a wooded area, now Prospect street, at the time it was called "Clark's Folly" for many years, but now, after three score years it has been a good home for the ministers.

The church has enjoyed continued growth and with the development of its work has added different auxiliaries including the Ladies' Aid, the Sorority, the Woman's Auxiliaries of the Home and Foreign Missions and the Epworth League, organized in 1892, with the church school holding first place as an auxiliary owing to its plan and motive.

Of six cases taken up in police court this morning five were disposed of and one, that of George Shepaum of 47 South Park street, charged with evasion of responsibility after an accident, was continued until Thursday, October 18, on recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney H. S. Gaucher. The five cases concluded were of charges of intoxication, intoxication and assault and intoxication and breach of the peace. All of the accused were fined, three of them being taken to the county jail to work out the amounts.

The case against Shepaum has to do with an accident on Windham Road Wednesday evening when a touring car operated by Shepaum struck John D. Prince, 52, a resident of that thoroughfare, who was walking along the trolley tracks toward this city, just beyond the city limits. As a result of their investigation the police held Shepaum at fault and made the arrest at the latter's home later in the evening. Prince was treated at St. Joseph's hospital by Dr. Jenkins for a laceration on the scalp, another on the left side of the face, a fractured rib, bruises about the body and a contusion within the mouth.

At least six arrests have been made in this locality during the present week as a result of the state-wide drive being conducted by the state police department under the supervision of Commissioner Robert T. Hurley against motor vehicles with defective equipment. Officers W. E. McKenzie and Frank A. Starkel have notified the following to appear in police court Tuesday, October 16: Orrin A. Cone of 166 Quercus avenue, no tail light; Edward Geigler of Mansfield Depot, no tail light; Roy C. Frederickson, South Coventry, defective tail light; E. Edward Kamlecki of 114 Hillside avenue, Hartford, failure to carry a registration certificate; A. R. Delude of 15 Quarry street, failure to carry a registration certificate; and Robert Newton of R. F. D. No. 2, Mansfield Center, failure to carry a registration certificate. The officers will continue to be in this city during the remaining evenings of the week.

Professor F. A. Ferguson of the Connecticut Agricultural college reviewed researches on Cold Light, an effort to produce light without fuel, at the weekly meeting of the Exchange club held in the Nathan Hale hotel Wednesday night. The club appointed two committees, one to conduct a survey of welfare work and another to assist in naturalization work. Arthur C. Persons was introduced as a new member.

Democratic caucuses were held this evening in Lebanon, Columbia, Andover, Coventry, Chaplin, Scotland. Caucuses in Ashford and Hampton will be held Friday night, while the Windham and Hebron caucuses have been called for Monday evening.

The Hill Bridge club met with Mrs. G. Everett Harrington Wednesday with five tables in play. The guests were Mrs. William Turnbull of Hartford and Mrs. William S. Lines of Phoenixville. Mrs. Ralph U. Wolmer won first prize, Mrs. E. Frank Burbee, second and Mrs. George W. Hickey, consolation award.

The restoration of the driver's license of William H. Guilford of Mansfield avenue has ben made by the state department, according to notice received by Chief of Police Thomas F. Grady.

There were 30 tables in play at the first of a series of Odd Fellow-Rebekah whists held at Odd Fellows' hall Wednesday evening. Arthur Swanson and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, representing the two organizations, were in charge of the whist. The following prizes were awarded: Door prize, Raymond Aubin; ladies' first, Mrs. S. A. Peckham; second, Miss Alice Peterson; third, Miss Minnie Auburn; men's first, Charles Mazzi; second, William Congdon; third, George Rathburn.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Clough and son Howard of this city with Miss Frances L. Clough of Williston, Mass., attended the golden wedding of Mr. Clough's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clough in Tolland Wednesday. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. B. A. Clough.

Miss Emily Watrous of Leonard Bridge underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital today.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Wilcox have returned from a vacation spent in northern Vermont.

The family of Mrs. James W. Hillhouse have taken an apartment in London, England, for several weeks. Their daughter, Miss Marion Hillhouse is taking a course of study there.

The banks and all offices in the town building will be closed Friday, Columbus day.

Mrs. Ashton C. Persons left today to spend a week with her sister, Miss Fannie Bishop in North Adams, Mass.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

OPENING DAY OF FAIR ATTRACTS BIG ATTENDANCE

The first day of the Stafford fair opened today with an unusually large crowd of visitors. The weather was clear and mild and helped to bring a throng of out of town attendants. A steady line of cars was entering Stafford from all directions at an early hour and traffic officers were stationed at the intersections in the highway to help guide the fair-goers, also to keep traffic clear.

At the fair grounds the midway extends the entire length of the grounds and drew big crowds. The various booths, athletic shows and fortune tellers help to make up a whirl of activity.

The association spent several thousand dollars during the past summer installing a water system on the ground, so that running water may be secured in any of the buildings, a great convenience, while modern lavatory facilities insure sanitary conditions on the grounds. In addition to local officers, a number of policemen from Springfield helped maintain order.

This was Children's day, when all children were admitted free. The public schools were closed to give pupils an opportunity to attend the show.

The race track is in excellent condition and offers some of the finest horse racing in the east. (Racing results on Sporting Page).

In the main hall the exhibits are varied and interesting. The Cyril Johnson Woolen company, Warren Woolen company, Phoenix Woolen company, Phoenix Woolen company, Riverside Woolen Mills, Rhode Island Worsted Mill and Stafford Worsted mill, all manufacturers of woolen and worsted cloths and yarns, have splendid exhibits of their respective products. Schwanda & Sons, manufacturers of pearl buttons have an attractive display of their output.

The fruit and vegetable display in charge of M. H. Parker of Mansfield, as well as the exhibit of fancy articles and needlework are features of the Main hall.

The poultry show, with several exhibits from distant states as well as entries from local fanciers, is a big attraction. The poultry building provides ample space and accommodates all entries to advantage.

The cattle exhibition in charge of Rufust L. Leonard of Rockville is a big feature. The cattle sheds are filled and cattle that have not passed an official tuberculin test are not allowed on the grounds.

The stage attractions today were of a high standard and kept the occupants of the grand stand well entertained. The New Departure band of Bristol furnished music.

Stafford chapter of the Red Cross has a tent located near the Main hall for the purpose of first aid and health education. This work is done by the public health nurse and a group of young women in cooperation with the state department of public health.

"OVER THE COUNTER"

DEAR DOT:

Real Autumn evenings these. Fine evenings for a theatre party and right now I want you to set aside any one of the evenings of next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday—any one you choose, mind you, to come to the GEM THEATRE with me.

You are probably asking yourself what this special occasion might be. Indeed, dear Dot, it is a "special" occasion, for on those nights the stupendous motion picture production, "THE KING OF KINGS," a picture that cost $2,500,000 to produce, will be showing at the GEM.

"THE KING OF KINGS", which comes to Eastern Connecticut for the first time, is the masterpiece of that master producer, Cecil B. DeMille. Of course you readily identify that name with the most pretentious productions of the screen, and this great production has been acclaimed everywhere as the most artistic, beautiful and satisfying of his long series of successes.

The author is Jeanie Macpherson, admittedly the greatest photoplaywright. The nature of her work in "THE KING OF KINGS" is such that I venture to say that you will never forget the picture.

Now about the players. There are scores of the best known figures of the screen embraced in the cast of "THE KING OF KINGS." These include the mighty H. B. Warner, Victor Varconi, William Boyd, Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Robert Edeson, Ernest Torrence, Sam De Grasse, Casson Ferguson, Kenneth Thompson, Montagu Love, Joseph Striker, George Siegmann, Bryant Washburn, Dorothy Cummings, Mabel Coleman, May Robson, Julia Faye, Josephine Norman, Sally Rand and many others. Just think of that for a cast!

The story is of the final montas of the life of Jesus, most graphically pictured. The scenes of His Ministry are finely presented. His betrayal, the last supper, trial before Pilate, the condemnation, the Via Dolorosa, the crucifixion and finally, the Resurrection, contribute to the screen a succession of pictures which for massiveness, beauty and charm, are unrivalled in any other screen production ever filmed.

Probably no other picture ever produced exerts the powerful appeal to the average person that "THE KING OF KINGS" inspires. It is reverent, awe-inspiring, uplifting, and it offends no sect or creed.

Will you not join me in seeing this picture of pictures. Bring the family, Dot. This picture is good for all to see.

Your friend,
JANE.
